HOME MISSIONS.

The One Hundred Ninth Annual Report.

With gratitude to the great Head of the Church for signal favors during the year the Board of Home Missions presents to the General Assembly its one hundred ninth Annual Report. The Board sorrowfully records the death during the year of three of its members: Mr. T. H. Perrin, who died July twenty-fifth, 1910; Mr. H. Edwards Rowland, who died January ninth, 1911; Mr. Calvin B. Orcutt, who died January thirtieth, 1911.

Mr. Perrin was one of the Cumberland representatives on this Board; living in the West he was seldom able to be present, but always manifested a deep interest in our work.

Mr. Rowland was for many years a member of the House Committee and chairman of the Auditing Committee.

Mr. Orcutt was a member of the Finance Committee and chairman of the Committee on Church and Labor.

They were faithful and beloved, and the Board records its grateful appreciation of the services they rendered.

Also during the year the following missionaries have been called to their reward:—

Rev. A. S. Diackwood	Stepnenville, Texas.
Rev. L. J. Braswell	Dyer, Tennessee.
Rev. John Cairns Cram	St. Thomas, North Dakota.
Rev. Joseph S. Gibb	Waltham, Massachusetts.
Rev. Angus McKenzie	Vancouver, Washington.
Rev. Tomas V. Martinez	Toa Alta, Porto Rico.
Rev. Andrew N. Moore	Purcell, North Dakota.
Rev. Jedidiah S. Onion	Minnewaukon, North Dakota.

FINANCES.

The total receipts of the year were $1,192,859.59. There has not been much increase in the income from the churches and societies, due in large measure, perhaps entirely, to the urgent calls for local work made necessary by the tides of immigration that have invaded so many of our eastern communities. Our income from legacies, aside from the great Kennedy gift, has been $180,101.88. During the year the Board received two million ninety-nine thousand dollars of the munificent legacy from Mr. Kennedy, announced in our last Report. The Church has the right to know the use to which the Board will put this fund. It has adopted the following paper expressive of its purpose, which we hope will meet the commendation of the Church at large.

THE KENNEDY FUND.

The Board of Home Missions has given much serious thought to the wisest and most efficient use of the large bequest made to it by the late Mr. John S. Kennedy. Upon the recommendation of the Finance Committee at the meeting of the Board held in May, 1910, certain general principles as to the handling and use of the bequest were adopted by the Board. As the Board has just been put in receipt of the larger portion of this bequest it is proper that it should consider more in detail a plan for the conserving and use of this large amount of money.

With great heartiness and devout gratitude the Board again puts on record its deepest appreciation not only of the largeness of the gift which Mr. Kennedy has made to the Board of Home Missions, but also of the true-hearted spirit of stewardship which influenced Mr. Kennedy in disposing of his estate.

The Board would also make mention of its deep appreciation of the fact that Mr. Kennedy saw fit to give his money to the Board not for an endowment nor in any way conditioned. Undoubtedly this broad-mindedness was due to the fact that Mr. Kennedy was for many years a member of this Board and learned by experience the wisdom of committing even large sums of money to the Board without condition, in the fullest confidence that the Board and the Church would make the best use of it according to the time and need. The Board of Home Missions would endeavor fully to merit this confidence and desires the needed wisdom to enable it adequately to meet the great expectations which Mr. Kennedy so warmly cherished.

Care is to be taken in the handling of this large bequest so as to stimulate the Church to a similar vision of duty and opportunity which Mr. Kennedy had to so marked a degree. The Board should avoid such an administration of it as would encourage on the part of needy churches an undue dependence upon the aid of the Board; rather should such churches be persuaded to do larger things for themselves.

Since the wiping out of the heavy debt a dozen years ago, under which the Board struggled so long, it has followed a policy of economy which has compelled it to pay salaries wholly insufficient for the missionaries to live upon. The Board has also been compelled to decline entering upon many new and promising fields lest either the salaries of missionaries now employed should be further reduced, or a heavy and cumbersome debt incurred which would not be approved by the Church.

The following facts have claimed attention. An amount of work has recently come on the Board far in excess of its normal income. It appears in four principal directions:—

- I. The inflow of immigrants, imposing an instant and large obligation upon the Church of Christ, an obligation which must be promptly met. The budget for this item for 1911-1912 is sixty-five thousand dollars. This is a wholly inadequate provision. It may properly be increased, however, indefinitely as competent ministers are secured for this particular work.
- 2. The rapid extension of western work. The last census shows marvelous increase in population in the far West, in three of the states exceeding one hundred per cent. Conditions for weal or woe are crystallizing with a rapidity never known before in nearly all the West, the Northwest and the Southwest. Calls for help this year far surpass those of any preceding year, being one hundred forty thousand dollars in excess of a year ago. The old rate of missionary advance, therefore, will not match the new conditions. Religious destitution in many sections is alarming. In Colorado there are a hundred villages and settlements of from one hundred fifty to a thousand population without any Christian ministrations—Protestant or Catholic. In greater or less measure this doubtless holds in a dozen other states.
- 3. The city problem must be faced. It involves large expenditure. The scope and methods of past missionary enterprise must be succeeded by a comprehensive scientific study of the problem, and an outlay of money and a use of men commensurate with the grave issues at stake. It is said that in San Francisco in a population of one-half million there are only twelve thousand Protestant church members. In New York City, where a positive proportionate decrease of Protestant church members in the past decade is revealed, the present percentage of church members is 8.55 in a population of 4,447,883.

Other departments of the Board's activity not included in the above schedule, such as that of Church and Labor, Church and Country Life and the Indian Department, also call for greatly increased expenditure.

4. The present salaries of missionaries are a discredit to the Church and a hindrance to the increase of the ministry. There are four hundred forty-three home missionaries whose total salary does not exceed eight hundred dollars per annum. If these salaries were at once raised to eight hundred dollars it would be necessary for the Board of Home Missions to grant $185,844.00 in addition to the amount raised on the field. Missionary service calls for the best men. We cannot hope to call or hold them on salaries below the plainest living. Therefore the Board proposes as one line of advance to seek such increase of salaries as present business conditions demand, as the dignity of the ministry and the honor of the Church require, and the ability of the Board may permit.

With these main ends in view the Board will need for several years to come an annual income of at least three hundred thirty thousand dollars in excess of the average of the past five years.

The Board therefore proposes as follows:—

We have received two million two hundred fifty thousand dollars and further payments will increase the total sum by an amount not now known, but probably less than a quarter of a million. The income from this total will be something over one hundred thousand dollars a year.

The Board has decided to use in current work; first, the interest income from the legacy; and, second, in a series of years so much of the principal as the meeting of this important responsibility of our Church may require.

It is the purpose of the Board to devote this money in the following directions indicated above, subject to such changes of proportion as circumstances may in the judgment of the Board require, as follows:—

1. It is likely one hundred thousand dollars may be required annually for advance work in the newer regions of the country and in the cities.

- 2. An indefinite sum annually for the increase of missionaries' salaries. As it is proposed to increase salaries only as the presbyteries and churches concerned shall cooperate, the churches assuming a proportion of the additional amount, this sum cannot be definitely determined. It will be a process of education. Less will be called for during the first years; more afterward, as the need for it and the feasibility of it shall come to be realized by the churches.
- 3. A further sum is to be used in hospital, school and church equipment, as the judgment of the Board may from time to time determine. There is an increasing call for such buildings largely in excess of the Home Board's and the Woman's Board's treasuries to provide, and these Boards have not been able to keep in proper repair the buildings now owned because the current funds were more than exhausted before the item of repairs was adequately provided for. In no case, however, would the Board think of making a bulk appropriation for any new property. Its policy is to get the largest local subscriptions possible; then to make general and special appeals to the Church, and after that to make a grant out of its funds. But fifty thousand dollars per year for new buildings and for repairs would be a moderate estimate of need.

The Board is deeply sensible of the increased responsibility it assumes in the administration of this sacred fund; but it humbly believes that the Providence which has enabled it thus to provide for an expansion of work forced upon it by an almost sudden convergence of opportunities will guide it to the best ways of discharging its duty to the Church and to the memory of the man who had vision to see what Israel ought to do.

This partial meeting of immediate issues is rendered possible by the insight and devotion of one man. These issues are only enlarged and rendered more definite by his munificence. The foundations thus laid must be built upon by those with similar devotion.

KANSAS CITY CONFERENCE.

In February the secretaries of the Board with the field secretaries, synodical missionaries and pastor-evangelists held a two days' conference in Kansas City, Missouri, in the consideration of home mission problems, and especially of the plan of pastor-evangelists inaugurated a few years ago. Varying opinions from different parts of the field made it necessary that there should be a careful induction of facts, study of conditions and formulation of such policy as facts and conditions should indicate. The conclusions reached by the conference may be summarized as follows:—

The plan of pastor-evangelists has developed so much success and gives such definite promise that it will be wise to continue it as a policy of the Board.

The general field administration by large districts and secretaries in charge of them directly responsible to the Board is also increasingly justified.

A general demand for synodical organization appeared justified and required by the increasing volume and variety of home mission work throughout the country.

In view of the policy thus announced the Board is this year continuing, and in somewhat stronger force, its work and service of pastor-evangelists. In some parts of the field they are presbyterial—recommended by the presbyteries and commissioned by the Home Board for presbyterial service under the direction of the home mission committee. In other synods where a synodical organization has become effective they are synodical officers under the direction of the synodical home mission committee.

The plan has now been in operation long enough and sufficiently well organized to justify the expectation that it will result in the quickening of churches, in the ingathering of people, and in more effective organization of the entire missionary work of presbyteries and synods.

HOME MISSIONS COUNCIL.

The Home Missions Council now in the third year of its history represents the fifteen principal denominations of the country. It is trying to make a careful and systematic study of church conditions throughout all the missionary field with a view to reducing waste and friction and securing cooperation in missionary efforts and federation in social and moral reforms. It cooperates thus with the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America in advancing on missionary ground the large ends for which that Council was organized.

One of the fields of operation of the Council during the year has been its cooperation with many other religious bodies in projecting or carrying out plans for a great missionary exhibit in Boston under the title, "The World in Boston," different denominations to take different objects of the home mission propaganda for their exhibit. That given to the Presbyterian Board of Home Missions was the Indian work of all the Protestant bodies. The Rev. Thomas C. Moffett, D. D., Superintendent of our Indian Department, with the assistance of the Rev. W. B. Humphrey, has prepared an exhibit of Indian curios, life and mission work, which it is believed will constitute one of the most attractive features of the great exhibition.

THE ADVISORY COUNCIL ON CHURCH EXTENSION.

The interest of the Board of Home Missions in the Assembly's Advisory Council on Church Extension continues peculiarly strong. The Council held its annual meeting of 1910 in November, the sessions convening in the offices of the Home Board. A full report of the action taken by the Council is presented directly to the General Assembly through the president, the Rev. W. T. Jaquess, D. D., of Michigan. The question of immigration, affecting particularly the Board's special Department of Immigration, is always live in the discussions of the Council. Special attention is called to the action of the Council under this head as given in their report.

The question of a more adequate salary standard was earnestly discussed. The Council put on record its hope that the system of supplementing salaries through missionary boxes may be discontinued as speedily as possible, the salaries being brought to a proper standard independent of this method of supplement. committee was appointed to consider the whole question of vacancy and supply with the hope that through a thorough study of the question some plan might be evolved by which the great shortage of adequately equipped men on the home mission field might be made up.

THE DISTRICT OF THE SOUTH AND SOUTHWEST.

For this section the Rev. B. P. Fullerton, D. D., LL. D., presents the following statement:—

The District of the South and Southwest covers that section of the country in which the Presbyterian Church in the United States is located. Immediately succeeding the union of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, and the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, there were those in the Presbyterian Church in the United States who felt that there was serious overlapping and that the territory properly belonged to them. It is noticeable that this position is being abandoned and a better understanding with the latter Church has been reached. An effort is being made to come to an agreement upon a comity basis whereby we can work side by side in Christian fellowship.

The sincere efforts of the best men in both Churches are directed first of all toward the prevention of overlapping in new territory, and in the second place to exchanges of churches when possible in places where there are two churches and one is sufficient. Two presbyteries in the two Churches in Texas have come to an understanding and some exchanges have already been made, and there has been as a result a saving to both Churches in the expenditure of money and in the economy of men. In Florida, which is now a part of the Synod of Alabama, there is no place where the two Churches exist side by side. This is the result of an agreement made some years ago between the two Churches in Florida.

If there has been a feeling in the Church at large that discredit has been brought upon our common Presbyterianism by the overlapping of the two Churches in some places in the South, that same feeling is just as justifiable with respect to the North and East. But if there is overlapping in the South which cannot be prevented, much as it may be deplored, our Church, if it be true to its attitude on the subject of union, cannot leave these weaker churches in this section to shift for themselves or go into another denomination. They did not hold positive views on the subject of union, but when the courts of the Church decided in favor of it they were obedient to those in authority, and because of their loyalty have in some sections suffered not only social and ecclesiastical ostracism, but the loss of thousands in property; and to treat them now with scant attention simply because there is some overlapping is to break a bruised reed and to open an already deep wound.

Gifts from the district for home mission evangelization are not so large nor so widely distributed as is desirable or as they should be, but almost the entire district has been under heavy expense, created in part by the readjustment incident to the union of the two Churches. Then these past few years have been a time of reorganization and it has been difficult for the people to find themselves and their strength and to give direction thereto. It is manifest, however, by the desire on the part of the people in this district to know the latest and best methods in the organization and life of the church, that a better day is not far in the future.

ALABAMA.

The Rev. William B. Witherspoon, D. D., has been continued as the pastor-evangelist for three presbyteries of this synod. In addition the synod indorsed the Rev. W. M. Crawford as an evangelist, commended him to the churches within the synod and agreed to supplement the amount received from his evangelistic efforts by a specific amount to provide an adequate salary for him during the year ending April first, 1911. The results of his work have not yet been tabulated and cannot be presented in this report.

The uncertainty arising from litigation has been removed by the decision of the Supreme Court of the state favorable to the union, and work upon church buildings and manses, which has been delayed by reason of this, is now going forward. The churches in this synod are mostly in rural communities and organizations for aggressive work are difficult to form. However, these have gone forward slowly and apparently with a good degree of hope.

At the last meeting of the synod a plan of synodical organization was adopted by which it has become the duty of the synod's committee to review all presbyterial estimates before they are sent to the Board. This has brought the presbyteries into closer relationship and the chairmen of these presbyterial committees have been led to see the need of a closer oversight of the work in each presbytery and a larger sympathy between the presbyteries of the synod. Pastors have become more contented and settled in their work.

During the latter part of January and the first part of February a visit was made to the Presbytery of Florida, which includes the entire state and is affiliated with the Synod of Alabama. This visit revealed the fact that in Florida there is an open door for our branch of the Presbyterian Church. The Presbytery has referred all home mission matters to its executive commission, which has been diligently at work upon the problem and hopes to present a better showing of the work in that state.

ARKANSAS.

The Rev. Jesse W. Hudiburg, pastor-evangelist for the Synod of Arkansas, resigned his work the first of January, 1911, to become pastor at Mayfield, Kentucky. Mr. Hudiburg's work was eminently stimulating and helpful to the churches in that synod.

The synod's committee has elected and the Board has commissioned the Rev. Charles E. Hayes, D. D., as successor to Mr. Hudiburg. Dr. Hayes comes to this work with ten years of experience in the same work in the Synod of Illinois. He entered upon his work March first and the committee is greatly encouraged at the prospect with him as its leader.

The presbyterial boundaries have been rearranged and four presbyteries have been erected out of the seven heretofore within the synod. Strong men have taken important pastorates within the synod. Better system has been introduced in church life. By action of the last synod the home mission committee was made a home missions commission, and a plan for compact synodical organization was adopted, which puts a large part of the administration of home mission work within the synod in the hands of this commission, respecting of course the rightful authority of presbyteries. All presbyterial estimates will be carefully reviewed by the commission before being presented to the Board.

The pastor-evangelist for the four presbyteries will be under the direction of the commission, to which reports will be made, and which, in cooperation with the field secretary, will take charge of home mission affairs within the state.

The Supreme Court of this state decided the litigation growing out of the union favorable to union and that has removed one of the greatest obstacles in the way of progress within the synod. Repairs on church buildings have been halted; new buildings have been waiting for this decision. Now that it has come a new spirit has taken hold of the men in the state and new plans are being adopted for a larger and more aggressive work in behalf of the cause.

KANSAS.

The Synod of Kansas, while self-supporting under the Board, requests that the relationship between it and the field secretary be not disturbed.

At the last meeting of that synod the synodical home mission committee was made a synodical home mission commission. This commission has met with some difficulty in providing for the expense of the home mission enterprise within the synod, and while there is now a small deficit, it is hoped that it may be overcome and the work not be crippled. The report from that synod will be made to the Board by its own commission.

KENTUCKY.

In this state we have an executive committee appointed by the synod whose work it is to raise special funds to supplement the amounts granted by the Board so as to make adequate the salaries of home missionaries. During the past year the Board's work and this splendid organization have been unified so as to make this committee the organized agency of the Board within the synod for promoting all home missionary work, and henceforth all home missionary work in the synod will be conducted as in other dependent synods.

The Rev. Francis J. Cheek, D. D., succeeded Mr. Murdock as synodical superintendent and hereafter the two pastor-evangelists are to report to this committee and be under its direction, subject to call for work in any part of the synod as the executive committee may direct, and always in the closest cooperation with the synodical superintendent. For efficiency and splendid organization the Kentucky Executive Committee presents a good model.

MISSISSIPPI.

The Rev. R. L. Phelps continues as pastor-evangelist for the three presbyteries of this synod. This is one of our weakest synods and presents some of the most difficult problems in the district. We have very few self-supporting and strong churches. The population of the state increased 15.8 per cent. during the last decade. Factories are being started and new industries are growing over the state which promise yet larger commercial development.

Our work has been crippled in this state by litigation, the issue of which has not yet been announced, and until the Supreme Court of the state renders a decision in the case at law it will be difficult to do much aggressive work.

In the Presbytery of New Hope a Laymen's Evangelistic Committee has been organized and already approved evangelists have been secured. It is hoped that simultaneous evangelistic meetings may be conducted in the three presbyteries during the year.

At the last meeting of the synod the synodical committee was organized more compactly and instructed to take into account all the home mission work within the synod; give direction to the pastor-evangelist; review presbyterial estimates of need; introduce improved financial methods within the presbyteries and stimulate all churches to make the largest possible offerings to this cause.

MISSOURI.

By action of the last synod the Rev. John B. Hill, D. D., was continued as synodical missionary up to November first, 1911. The Rev. W. C. Hicks resigned as pastor-evangelist of the Presbytery of Ozark and the Rev. C. H. Mitchelmore was elected as his successor. The Rev. W. H. Wilson was elected pastor-evangelist for the Presbytery of Salt River.

In this state litigation and a decision adverse to the union have crippled our work very much but in sections of the state there has been a manifest deepening of interest. In the City of St. Louis an Emergency Fund of thirty-five thousand dollars is being provided for the completion of our home mission churches and for adequately equipping them for work. There has also been a large development of work among the foreigners in the cities of St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph. In August a conference of home missionaries, chairmen of presbyterial home mission committees and pastor-evangelists was held in connection with the Presbyterian Assembly of the Southwest at Hollister, Missouri. Two days were given to the earnest consideration of the problems confronting the Church, especially in that section of the state.

The last synod adopted a plan for compact synodical organization by which greater responsibility has been put on the synod and its home mission committee in the administration of home mission affairs within the state.

At a late meeting of the synod's committee the estimates of need for the ensuing year were carefully reviewed. Blanks were provided missionaries and field workers that they might make suitable reports to the synod's committee. The committee determined to undertake the raising of twenty-seven thousand dollars for home mission evangelization within the state and has conducted a campaign of inspiration in securing subscriptions for this amount. Apportionments have been made to the presbyteries covering this sum.

Evangelistic meetings have been held by pastor-evangelists and others throughout the state, which have resulted in stimulating the work, gathering people into the Church and strengthening those already in it.

OKLAHOMA.

In this synod there is still a large opportunity for pioneer work. In the Southwest, known as the "big pasture," there has been a rapid development. The population of the entire state increased 109.7 per cent. during the last decade. Sections of the state have suffered very severely from the long continued drought and the work has been greatly crippled on account of it.

The Rev. F. L. Benedict, pastor-evangelist for the Presbytery of Cimarron, resigned his position after years of faithful service and returned to the pastorate.

At its fall meeting the synod adopted a plan for compact synodical organization which should become operative at once. Acting under this plan the synod's committee met immediately and divided the work of the Presbyteries of Hobart, El Reno and Cimarron between the Rev. G. P. Howard and the Rev. E. B. Teis as pastor-evangelists. The Rev. M. F. Cowden was made pastor-evangelist for the Presbyteries of Ardmore and McAlester; the Rev. Ralph J. Lamb for the Presbyteries of Oklahoma and Tulsa; and the Rev. J. A. McDonald, D. D., for the Presbytery of Muskogee, the presbytery providing one-half his salary, the other half furnished by the Board.

The synod's committee has reviewed with great care the estimates of need as presented by the various presbyteries and reduced these estimates wherever possible. Hereafter reports of field workers will be made to this committee, to the field secretary and chairmen of the presbyterial home mission committees, which will mean a closer cooperation between all the forces employed for the upbuilding of the Church within the synod. Special evangelistic meetings have been held in many of the churches within the various presbyteries and large gatherings have been the result.

In the City of Oklahoma at least two missions have been established and three others are in prospect. There has been perhaps the largest development of our work in this city during the past year that has ever characterized it in a single year.

TENNESSEE.

The Rev. Calvin A. Duncan, D. D., synodical missionary for this synod, gave two months during the fall to the special work of assisting in providing the balance of the Tennessee Building Fund ordered by the General Assembly.

The Rev. James H. Miller, D. D., has been continued as pastor-evangelist for five presbyteries in the western part of the state. In this section of the state fifty churches have been completed or are in process of construction in places where we lost all of our property by the decision of the Supreme Court. Churches have been combined and new buildings have been erected for the combined churches where that has been thought best. churches in this state have been so disturbed by litigation and their attention so given to church building that very few evangelistic meetings have been held. Under the direction of Dr. Miller the Rev. Warren H. Wilson, Ph.D., of the Department of Church and Country life, has conducted with great profit to the churches in this district a number of conferences upon "The Country Church" in connection with the spring meetings of presbyteries. At the Bible Conference held last August in Lebanon, Tennessee, conferences were held by home missionaries, pastorevangelists, synodical missionaries and chairmen of home mission committees in the interest of home missions.

At its meeting in the fall the synod adopted a plan for compact synodical organization which makes the synod responsible for a large part of the home mission administration within its bounds. Presbyterial estimates of need have been reviewed by the synod's committee before they have been forwarded to the Board. Henceforth reports of field workers will be made to the synod's committee, to the field secretary and presbyterial committees.

TEXAS.

In this synod there has been a readjustment of boundaries in the case of certain presbyteries. The Presbyteries of Austin and San Antonio have been combined under the name of the former. The Presbytery of El Paso has been erected out of parts of the Presbyteries of Brownwood and San Antonio. Therefore, while a new presbytery has been erected, the number of presbyteries remains twelve as heretofore.

The Rev. M. P. Elder has served as pastor-evangelist for the Presbyteries of Waco and Austin, succeeding the Rev. T. W. Davidson. The Rev. J. Gilmore Smith, Ph. D., has served as pastor-evangelist of the Presbytery of Brownwood. The Presbyteries of Denton, Fort Worth and Paris have been put under the supervision of two pastor-evangelists, the Rev. F. E. Leech and the Rev. L. C. Collier.

A drought, which is pronounced the severest in many years, has prevailed in the Panhandle and in West Texas. Many people were forced out of West Texas and our churches have suffered great loss on this account, which may necessitate their asking larger aid from the Board of Home Missions this year than last. Although our ministers have received less from the churches in the drought smitten district than was expected at the beginning of the year, yet they have remained at their posts and have done a splendid work. The gifts to the Home Board from these districts will not be so large as the brethren themselves hoped. In the Presbytery of Abilene, where the drought has been most severe, a campaign of home mission education and inspiration was conducted by the home mission committee; but for the drought this would have resulted in a large increase in the work of that presbytery.

The population of the state has increased 27.4 per cent. during the last ten years. There are at least eighty thousand Bohemians in the western part of the state, especially in the Presbyteries of Brownwood and Waco, and at least twenty thousand of these are Presbyterians and welcome the work of the Presbyterian Church.

In this state the comity relations between the Presbyterian Church in the United States and our Church have had a practical demonstration, which shows a practical application of these relations is possible in a larger degree in other sections of the South and Southwest.

The progress of the work in this growing empire state has been limited by the amount of money at the disposal of the committees and the number of men available for the growing fields.

At its meeting last fall the synod adopted a plan for compact synodical organization and submitted it to the presbyteries; it is to become operative when two-thirds of the presbyteries approve it and notify the stated clerk of the synod of their action. By this plan the synod's committee will be responsible for a larger share in the administration of home mission work in the synod; will review presbyterial estimates of need before they are forwarded to the Board; will have a general supervision of all field workers within the synod and receive monthly reports from them, and at all times be in close touch with all parts of the field.

Evangelistic services have been held in many parts of the synod with good results. The number of additions to the churches has so far not been reported to me.

A general review of the work done and the organizations effected is encouraging and gives promise of a larger development in the future.

DISTRICT OF THE NORTHWEST.

following statement:—

The District of the Northwest is composed of four synods, North and South Dakota, Nebraska and Minnesota, containing twenty-six presbyteries, and eight hundred thirty-two churches. Less than one-third of these churches are self-supporting. Many of the aid-receiving churches can do little more than hold their own and so come to the Board each year asking for about the same amount. It is believed that the Home Mission Board can work in cooperation with the Brotherhood to very great advantage. Better organization in the churches is a fundamental factor in the development of the home mission work. Something has been done during the past year in organizing Brotherhoods in the churches of this district and the encouragement in this work has been beyond expectation. Three of the states, namely, the Dakotas and a part of Minnesota, have suffered very much from drought during the past year; therefore in many regions of the states named, especially in North Dakota, the crop failure has affected church work very seriously. If we are to maintain our work in this region larger grants on the part of the Board will be called for. The pastor-evangelists located men in vacant fields to the number of over one hundred and used students from various seminaries to the number of about fifty. They also report having organized fifty-one churches. We have one synodical evangelist and twenty-two pastor-evangelists, and the latter have each served a presbytery, and in two cases two presbyteries. The work done by these men with very few exceptions is to be highly commended.

The monthly reports made by the Board as to the money received from each of these men have served as a stimulus to the entire force, and will bring in an increasing amount each year. Ten of these pastor-evangelists serve in the double capacity of pastor-evangelist and Sabbath-school missionary. Those who are filling the combined office have made a good showing in both features of the work during the past year.

BETTER ORGANIZATION.

Better organization is the most important thing demanded in all the synods of this district. Consolidation of committees which has been effected already in presbyteries in Nebraska must appeal strongly to all the synods and presbyteries in the district. Such consolidation makes for economy and insures to an extent never before reached efficiency in the administration of both presbyterial and synodical affairs.

EVANGELISM.

One hundred twenty-six evangelistic meetings are reported by pastor-evangelists which resulted in six hundred twenty-five additions on profession of faith. It is encouraging to note that these pastor-evangelists are giving more attention to evangelistic work proper each year.

BUDGET.

Many of our presbyteries in this district have adopted the budget plan as recommended by the General Assembly, and all who have tried it are well pleased with the results. The sentiment in the various presbyteries of this district is very strongly in favor of the budget for the benevolences of the Church and a growing number are in favor of the one-budget plan pure and simple.

SELF-SUPPORT.

Fewer churches will reach self-support this year than in any of the past four years. The question of self-support, however, is being agitated in many of our churches, and when a better financial system has been adopted there will be an increasing number reaching self-support year after year. It is encouraging, however, to note that twenty-one churches so far as reported are asking less than last year.

"HOME MISSION EVANGEL."

For the past six months we have been publishing a paper, known as the "Home Mission Evangel," which though not yet self-supporting has had a constantly increasing circulation. It is believed that such a publication will add much to the success and interest in the mission work of the district.

MISSIONARY WORK IN LOGGING CAMPS.

The Rev. Frank E. Higgins presents the following account of his work among the logging camps, which are included in the District of the Northwest:—

At the close of my fifteenth winter of missionary work in the woods of northern Minnesota I feel it is but right to the work, and to those who have so kindly helped me and to myself to make the following statement.

I commenced the work while in charge of a small missionary field in Barnum in the spring of 1895. I had gone with some friends to the Kettle River to see the "drive"—floating the logs down stream that had been cut the winter before. Much to my surprise as we sat around the fire on the bank of the river after the evening meal several of the men asked me to preach to them. As I looked at that crowd of men I would have said, "This is the last crowd of men on the face of the earth who would ask a preacher to preach." Notice, they did not say, "We want you to talk, or to tell us a story," but they used the word "preach," indicating to me by that word that they wanted to hear the gospel. After some hesitancy I decided to do the best I could. So taking a big log for my platform, the men gathering near, we sang songs, offered prayer, read the Scriptures, and, as best I could, I gave the men a gospel talk.

I will never forget that first meeting that beautiful evening on the bank of Kettle River. It seemed as though all nature had joined in the service as I talked to those men of home, and mother, and better days. Many of them took me by the hand and thanked me for the service, and made me promise that I would come and visit them again. Many of them told me how they had been in the woods all winter long, year after year; how some of them had even remained over the period from the time the winter camp broke until the "drive" commenced: how they had been on the "drive" about thirty days, and that it would be thirty days longer before they would reach civilization. They said if I would come out again and hold another meeting it would do them so much good. So on week days during that spring I went over the trail to that part of the river where the men were working. I always found them ready to give me a welcome and each meeting was more interesting than the one before. That summer when the men came to Barnum, where many of them made their headquarters, I was much pleased to find them ready to attend my church. My congregation doubled in numbers, proving that my visits on the "drive" were not a failure.

The following fall when the men commenced going to the winter camps I received many invitations to come and preach for them. It was a great pleasure for me to go to the logging camps, for, while I had been brought up in the woods, I had never seen logging done on such a large scale as it is done in the West. I found the logging camps even better for holding gospel meetings than the "drive." Here the men are away from civilization for months. They spend the long winter evenings in the bunk house with but little to occupy their minds. I found that few, if any, had even a paper to read. A letter was a luxury; and, as many of these men are wanderers, they seldom hear from loved ones, if they have such. I saw that it was possible to get their confidence, and soon many of them were telling me the little secrets of their lives.

At the close of my first winter's work the men remembered me with a liberal collection, and that spring as I visited one of their number in the hospital in the closing hours of his life, he begged me to continue my work among the men. I made a study of the conditions of the men in the forest and was amazed to find that every winter there were thousands of men, not only in the woods of Minnesota, but also in those of northern Wisconsin and northern Michigan, and even larger numbers farther West. It is a conservative estimate to say that there are over thirty thousand men working in Minnesota, and living in logging camps; not less than ten thousand in northern Wisconsin; and as many, if not more, in northern Michigan; in western Montana, Idaho, Washington, Oregon and California there are not less than twenty thousand and in most of these states as many as fifty thousand men live in the woods. In all my travels I have not found a missionary or a religious society doing a regularly organized work among this great army of men; in fact, I do not know of any other class of men who have been so neglected as these sturdy sons of the forest. For over forty years these men have been going up our rivers to spend the winters, and they have seldom seen the face or heard the voice of the missionary. All these years they have been left to the mercy of the saloon, the brothel, the gambling hell; and the saddest part of it all is—conditions have grown worse instead of better.

During the last fifteen years there have been many more men in the woods than formerly. The old time lumber jack is fast passing away and in his place we have an army of mere boys from our farms who come to the woods for a few months to earn a winter "stake," little realizing the many temptations put in their way. The old timer went far away up the river where he remained all winter away from civilization, and, thank God, away from the temptations of civilization. But these days the timber is controlled by large companies that build logging railroads so that they may get out the timber they cut in one season. As soon as these roads are surveyed through the forest small towns spring up often composed of only tar-papered shacks or log buildings, saloons, gambling halls and other places of sin, until to-day you can in many cases stand at the camp door and see the saloon. Many of the men are too easily tempted, and, after years of neglect on the part of Christian people, have given up in discouragement; many are now tramps and bums. I have known almost a hundred saloons, besides many gambling places and brothels, in the short distance of twenty-five miles along one of these logging roads, all running wide open night and day. In the majority of these places Sunday is the biggest day of all. I have counted over twenty quarts of whiskey, besides several jugs full, in one car as the men were going to camp. I have stood for hours trying to keep the men from fighting; and have helped to unload them in their drunken condition at the various camps. It has been a common thing to see from ten to fifty of these men lying in the "snake" room and on the sawdust floors of the saloons, sleeping off their debauch. In a single night the wages of an entire winter's work were gone; the lumber jack was then either thrown into the lockup or told to take a "tie pass" out of town. And as many of them turned their faces again to the forest they could be heard saying, "It is no use trying any more."

The saloon has been and is yet in the majority of places the most inviting place for the lumber jack; if he wants to eat he goes to a saloon; if he wants to sleep he goes to a saloon; if he wants a shave or a haircut he goes to the saloon; and I know from experience that when it is twenty below zero a saloon is better than a snow drift. Some will ask, "Do the lumber companies take any interest in their men?" Yes, they care well for them while in camp, but few of them find it practical to do much for them while in town; many of the companies are so out of patience with the way the men tramp from camp to camp and from town to town, which is the result of the wide open policy, that they feel that little if anything can be done for them.

In the beginning of my work as I commenced launching out into fields where I was not so well known I found there were deep seated prejudices for me to overcome. Some of the men thought it was a scheme to get money, and I was not surprised when I began to look into the way the men had been treated in the camps, for every one that ever came to the camp seemed to have but one purpose in view,—to get the lumber jack's money; the tailor to sell clothes; the jeweler to sell watches or other jewelry; the cripple to ask for a collection to buy himself a cork limb, which he seldom ever bought, else the next winter he would not get a collection; the Sister of Charity, and occasionally what I call a "tramp preacher," visiting a camp but once and always asking for a collection. The prejudices growing out of these varied and constant appeals for money had to be overcome, and this could only be accomplished by years of hard work, which proved to these men and to the companies that I had but one object in view-the welfare of the men. But to-day I am thankful to God to have lived to see that prejudice overcome and to find such a call and such a desire on the part of the men and the companies that there is an open door and a welcome on every hand. Only once in these fifteen years has a company refused me admittance to its camps; and I feel sure to-day if that company had known the truth it would never have closed its doors.

During the first seven years that I visited the camps in Minnesota I had charge of a home mission field under the care of Duluth Presbytery, and during this time was fitting myself for ordination as it was not my privilege to graduate from any college or theological seminary. Each year my acquaintance among these men grew, for the hundred men reached in a camp one winter may be scattered over fifty camps another winter; so each year invitations from new camps increased. I soon found I had either to give up the work in the camps or give up my missionary pastorate. As soon as I received ordination I turned my attention to this work, but I soon realized how little one man could do in such a vast field. Invitations were already coming to me, even from the Pacific Coast where many of the men I had become acquainted with had gone. I saw I must have help; and this meant more men and more means. If I should be able to get the means, where would I be able to find men willing to take up this work? The men would have to be the right sort. More than once this work was started by men who were not adapted to it. Some hearing about it were anxious to try it, but when they found they must travel day after day, reaching a new camp every night, and two or three on Sunday, sleeping in a bunk or under the canopy of heaven, they soon grew weary and would again seek work in the towns. But God in a marvelous way showed me how this problem could be solved. One day while reading in the camp I came across an article telling how General Booth, addressing an audience in London years ago, while describing his plans for the organization of the army in every town, city and country was interrupted by the question, "Where will you get the workers?" In a flash he answered, "From among those who are converted." I dropped the paper that day, saying, "It is a vision. I see it. If God can raise up such splendid workers from the gutter for the Salvation Army, why can't men be raised up in the camps to do this work?" And, thank God, they have. This past winter four of the best workers we have had are converted lumber jacks. And I believe the time is coming when many such men will be raised up not only for the camps, but for the frontier towns and waste places. During the past year we have had nine missionaries in Minnesota. We have reached over ten thousand men with regular gospel services, distributed over five tons of reading matter, magazines and church papers, and helped many unfortunates.

While in town it is the duty of the missionaries to round up these poor fellows and put them to bed, oftentimes nursing them through their debauchery, as many of them are on the verge of delirium tremens, and helping them back to the camps. Another department of the work is visiting the various hospitals where these men are taken while sick. The Roman Catholic Church has a splendid system of hospitals all through the lumber districts. Shame on the Protestant Church that this has been left almost entirely to the Catholic Church. When the workers are in these towns they go to these various hospitals doing what little they can for those in need. Our plan for the future is as follows:—

Put a missionary over a circuit of from twelve to twenty of these camps, as the number may be conveniently located. The missionary travels among these continually, doing the work mentioned above. Our experience has proven that two hundred dollars, with what the men give in camp, will support one of these missionaries for the winter months; in many places, however, there is work for the entire year. Many small settlements are springing up that later will be permanent towns; here we must organize Sunday schools and churches, laying the foundations for future generations. Let us pray and believe that the Church will rise more nobly than ever to this great work.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN DISTRICT.

For this section the Rev. Robert M. Donaldson, D. D., presents

the following statement:—

The Rocky Mountain District covers an area of seven hundred thousand square miles and is larger than the entire area of the United States east of the Mississippi, exclusive of the four smaller states on the Gulf. It is a region packed with undeveloped resources, yet is contributing vast sums to the wealth of the nation. It includes all the precious ores, while the deposits of coal, iron, marble and asbestos will stand the world's drain for centuries. In at least two mountain states the agricultural output exceeds the mineral. The Federal Government is expending millions in each of these states to increase the acreage available for cultivation and habitation. These sovereign states have been molded from regions long abandoned to wilderness and desert. The builders of empires constructed the mirages—the dream cities—into real towns and cities of brick and granite and marble.

Prior to 1870 there was no organized Presbyterian church in Montana, Idaho, Utah, Arizona or New Mexico. Three churches in Wyoming had a membership of six each. Ten churches in Colorado had an average membership of twelve. This "handful of corn in the top of the mountains" has yielded marvelous increase. Five synods and twenty-two presbyteries with approximately four hundred churches and thirty-six thousand members are on this territory today. During the first decade of the twentieth century we have organized one hundred seventy-five churches which have a present membership of six thousand two hundred seventy-two. Since the date of their organization we have received into them a total membership of seven thousand five hundred thirty-six by examination and certificate. More than sixty new houses of worship have been erected within the last four years. Many of these are the only sanctuary in their respective communities.

Irrigation systems and "dry farming" communities account for fully one-fourth of our present fields. One-third of the entire number of our churches stand at an altitude of five thousand feet or more above sea level. Altitude promotes long vision; for three of our five synods are among the few which give larger amounts for foreign missions than for home missions. It is a generosity that courts critical scrutiny. The churches of this district last year contributed for all causes a general average of $17.41 per member. The general average of eight of the strongest synods in the East is only $17.62. It is doubtful, however, if either section has lived up to its full privilege.

This region is in the limelight as well as in the sunlight. Unemployed capital seeks undeveloped fields for investment. Unemployed labor from our own and other lands crowds the trail to every new opportunity for required toil. The very soil of the desert burdens itself with cereals and fruits as if in sympathetic response to the world's hunger. Here is the government's field of conservation and exploitation. Geologist and anthropologist uncover records and ruins that belong to antiquity. Students of statecraft, of political and social economy are trying their hands at state-building.

While this is an inland region, touching no ocean, yet internationalism is no dead issue. We have Mexico on the south, and Canadian provinces on the north. The separating line in each case is only imaginary. We are in physical and human touch with each. Without regard to future political relations we have much in common with them. What we make of our own country will go a long way toward determining the spirit of their Government and the character of their people.

The immigration phase of internationalism is also present. Human tides have followed our great streams to their very sources. If the glut of our cities is to be relieved we must make these trails the main-traveled roads. Ethically considered, the immigrant is raw material out of which the Republic must construct the finished product of its civilization. Wherever these abide, the Church has a Macedonian call.

Each state has its own peculiar characteristics and is to be considered by itself in this report.

ARIZONA.

The population of this new state includes some forty thousand Spanish-Americans with about an equal number of Indians. Our work includes churches, missions and schools among each of these. Owing to the sparse population and the weakness of our churches Arizona has but two presbyteries and is still a part of the Synod of New Mexico. However, the increase of population during the last decade was sixty-six per cent. Most of the newcomers are prosperous Americans, and the outlook for our work is encouraging. The completion of one of the great government irrigation systems assures a larger population in the near future as well as larger returns financially for the present population. The field work is done by a synodical evangelist.

COLORADO.

With about two hundred thousand foreign population in the state there is a special field for work of this nature. With an increased population of forty-eight per cent. during the decade just closed Colorado has added both to her field and her force. Americans who have opened up new agricultural regions came desiring the ministrations of the church. They have asked for it and have assisted promptly in supporting and developing new fields. In this they differ widely from the old type of frontiersman. A score of new organizations during the year represent the response of these newcomers to our mission workers. pastor-evangelist serves the Presbyteries of Boulder and Denver, and one serves Pueblo Presbytery. The Presbytery of Gunnison is without a field worker. With all the other states of the district Colorado shares the discouragement incident to a dry summer and short crops. This has seriously interfered with advance toward self-support in many fields. In winning new territory a section as large as New Jersey in which there was no Presbyterian church has been opened to us during the year, and in another part of the state a section as large as Massachusetts. There is prospect that other points in these new regions may soon be occupied.

IDAHO.

The State of Idaho had the phenomenal record of adding to its population during the decade more than one hundred one per cent. Most of these are Americans or English-speaking people and are developing that part of the state embraced in our new synod. It is transforming the nature of the work in this region. The original settlers within the bounds of Kendall Presbytery were mostly foreign born. The non-Mormon populations greatly simplify the problems of religious workers. This difference puts the work in Twin Falls Presbytery in sharp contrast with its neighbor on the east. Both presbyteries are in local-option territory. Boisé Presbytery has opened many new fields consequent upon the completed irrigation systems that have brought a large tract of land under water privileges. This state is being developed for us by a synodical superintendent.

MONTANA.

In the northwestern part of the state a new presbytery has been born and is asking permission of the Assembly to live and serve. Its erection is necessary for the proper development of our work in that isolated region. It will promote economy in administration and larger fruitage in service. It is set apart from a presbytery which extends from one end of this great state to another and includes an area about twice that of Ohio. Last year the Synod of Montana made an advance in membership exceeding fifteen per cent. This was the result of the work of our regular field force and pastors. It is a successful attempt on the part of our leaders to keep pace with the increase in population, which the last census designates as fifty-four per cent. since 1900. In Helena Presbytery four churches withdraw from the aid of the Board this year, and one in Great Falls Presbytery. More than a score of the organizations in this state are not on railroad lines and are reached with difficulty and expense. A comity agreement long in force has during the last year been interfered with more frequently than for a quarter century. It is due to more aggressiveness on the part of other denominations than they have shown heretofore. Notwithstanding this fact, practically all of our new organizations were effected where there was no other denomination at work. All of northern and eastern Montana suffered from drought last summer to such an extent that the legislature planned for their relief. From necessity this will interfere with large support from these regions until they recover. Three pastor-evangelists serve our four presbyteries.

NEW MEXICO.

Fifty years of struggle for statehood has given the migrating world a larger acquaintance with the material resources of this region. It is a reasonable expectation that the sixty-seven per cent. increase of population during the decade just passed is but the advance guard of multitudes that will follow. Their character will determine whether the resources of the state are to be devoted to Mammon or to God. The pernicious activity of the Roman Catholic Church to gain large concessions in lands and legislative favors is "good politics," from their point of view. Yet it is an attempt to perpetuate the same form of religion that for three hundred fifty years has kept the civilization of this region as barren as its unwatered deserts. The Protestant church can be too deliberate and cautious in its movements. If it were as seriously attempting to give the truth to this region as it should be, it could hold in check the partisan attempts to win advantage by trickery and by the cunning which has so long contributed to the poverty of the people and the wealth of the ecclesiastic.

All the world has learned that the old Santa Fe trail is a trail of hope and health for the invalid. On every hand you see men and women from every clime whose faces bear the dread brand of the white plague. They seek the dry climate where they can bathe in the healing light of God's unvarying sun. The Synod of New Mexico has founded a hospital in which Arizona shares responsibility. It is located at Albuquerque and is filled with patients. This ministry is as essential and as Christly as any line of church work, and was forced upon our people by conditions that were not of their own choosing. The field work of our three presbyteries in New Mexico is confined to one synodical evangelist.

UTAH.

Utah is still on the map. During the recent year it has been rediscovered—by the magazines. It has finally dawned upon publishers and general readers that Mormonism is to be reckoned Whether you call it a menace, or an octopus, or a viper, matters little. Its nature and influence are unchanged save in degree. It has ever been a bitter fountain out of which no pure stream can issue. Increased Gentile populations pushing into the state, together with the wide-spread information concerning the real spirit and work of the Mormon Church, make it possible to work in the light as never before. This field demands and deserves the study of specialists in applied Christianity. leave all experimenting to the pastor or missionary whose routine is sufficient to consume his time, and whose experiences are discouraging enough to sap his vitality is not a wise procedure. The tent work is still one of the most encouraging features in Utah. It is proposed to extend this line of effort and the cooperation of seminary professors and successful pastors in other regions is prayerfully sought. A synodical superintendent, is the sole field worker.

WYOMING.

There is a marked awakening in the material and spiritual interests of Wyoming. It has been in an almost dormant state for many years. Its resources were either unknown or inaccessible.

New lines of railroad are reaching its fertile basins and plains. The population was increased fifty-seven per cent. during the last ten years. It is estimated that eighty per cent. of the citizens are Americans. We have but two presbyteries in the state and two self-supporting churches. All the active work in northern Wyoming has been instituted within the last five years. Not an active church in Sheridan Presbytery possessed a house of worship one year ago. Since that time four have dedicated sanctuaries and two others are nearly ready for dedication. These new conditions are in striking contrast with the older regions, where two churches organized by Sheldon Jackson forty years ago are still receiving aid from the Board. Within a month a neat new church has been dedicated in a new town where two years previously ten thousand cattle were grazing. No residence or place of business is as complete and commodious. They have given their best to God. It is the only church for English speaking people in a territory forty miles square. Four or five other communities are stimulated to activity by this church.

While progress seems slow as the record is read year by year, yet enough has been accomplished in the Rocky Mountain District to enable us to look hopefully to the future. Better organization, men adapted to new conditions, and continued fidelity to the Head of the Church on the part of pastors and people will insure larger spiritual harvests than we have yet known.

PACIFIC COAST DISTRICT.

SYNOD OF CALIFORNIA.

ORGANIZATION.

For this section the Rev. William Sylvester Holt, D. D., pre-

Up to the present time the synod does not see that any good purpose will be served by special synodical organization or synodical control of the home mission work done within its bounds. The direct responsibility of the individual presbytery with review by the Board seems to the synod to meet all the requirements for the control of the home mission interests without the intervention of the synod. For this reason no steps have been taken looking toward synodical organization.

But at the meeting of the synod held last autumn in Fresno the reorganization of synod's home mission committee was made, looking toward greater efficiency in the work of that com-

Heretofore the chairman of the committee has automatically changed each year, rotating in regular order among the members. One result of this has been that all recommendations touching home missions, adopted by the synod under one chairman, have met with two obstacles: First, they are adopted after the church year is half gone; second, a new chairman has been charged with seeing that they are carried out during the half year left. Under the new plan the chairman is elected for three years, but is not allowed to succeed himself.

PLANS.

Looking toward self-support as a synod, the following action was taken at the annual meeting: "That the Synod keep steadily in view the goal set before it by the General Assembly's Advisory Council on Church Extension, and seek to contribute as much money as received for the work of evangelization, and to secure that end that:

(a) Those Presbyteries which last year gave over 50 cents per capita, shall this year increase to 80 cents.

(b) Those which last year gave over 25 cents and under 50 cents shall this year increase to 60 cents.

(c) Those which last year gave less than 30 cents, shall this year increase to 50 cents.

That unless otherwise ordered, the above recommendations shall be effective from the beginning of the next ecclesiastical year."

The intent of these plans and this date for their becoming effective is to obviate the difficulty formerly experienced from the fact that presbyteries have received the recommendations of the synod too late to follow them, and the synod's committee has not been in position to give its own recommendations personal attention.

It is understood that to make the above effective the synod's committee is preparing to submit plans to the spring meeting of the presbyteries next April.

PRESBYTERIAL SELF-SUPPORT.

This has been maintained by Los Angeles Presbytery as before, the presbytery both collecting and administering its own funds. The Board receives the benefit of any excess in the treasury of the presbytery. After April first, 1911, San José Presbytery will follow the plan of presbyterial control. It has also voted to send the Board the surplus after paying its own bills. Riverside and Santa Barbara Presbyteries have continued their former plans. Thus four of the presbyteries in the synod are self-supporting.

DEVELOPMENT.

The completion of the Western Pacific Railroad through the northern part of the synod is opening up new territory hitherto not readily accessible. The proposed pushing of the railroad from Reno, Nevada, to Lake County, Oregon, while not rapidly going forward, will bring new sections to view. Government and private irrigation plans are moving steadily forward, bringing in new settlers and developing new towns. Nevada, Sacramento and San Joaquin Presbyteries are most affected by the irrigation plans.

LUMBER CAMP WORK.

Nothing special has been attempted along this line during the past year outside of what has been done by the home missionaries and pastors of the fields contiguous to the vast timber belts of California. But the work is not lost sight of by the presbyteries within whose bounds the timber is located.

EVANGELISM.

Benicia, Nevada, Oakland, San Francisco and San Joaquin Presbyteries have had the services of pastor-evangelists commissioned by the Board. They have done a vast amount of work of all sorts according to the needs of the different presbyteries and the plans of the home mission committees. A study of that work as reported shows that up to February twenty-eighth these faithful men have made visits to 190 churches; preached 462 sermons; made 1668 pastoral visits; held 137 evangelistic services; in which 127 have professed conversion and 189 have been gathered into the churches; they have secured $4,729.00 for the churches, of which a considerable part was for the salaries of the ministers; and have sent the Home Board $401.95. If we could also tabulate the amount of money saved to the Board by the care of vacant churches it would amount to a large sum.

SYNOD OF OREGON.

ORGANIZATION.

One year ago last October the synod prepared and adopted a complete plan of organization involving synodical control in the home mission work. But the time was not ripe to enter upon the plan. However the synod is committed to the policy and will adopt it and work it as soon as the way is clear.

FORWARD MOVEMENT.

The last meeting of synod at Pendleton adopted a plan for a forward movement in all the missionary departments—home, foreign and Sabbath-school. It looked toward a general educational effort which should reach all the churches in the synod, to be under the care of a special committee elected for the specific purpose. The first half of December and such portion of February as should be necessary were set apart for the work. The program included visits to each church of experts to spend part of two days. Conferences on the "School and the Church," following the action of the last Assembly; on the "Budget Plan for Church Finance"; meetings with church officers for discussion of local problems; a supper with all the men of the congregation at the regular supper time when the business end of the Church at large should receive attention, and then popular meetings in the evening in which home and foreign missions should be the main topics.

It has been carried out with great thoroughness. No church has been omitted because it was small or remote. Only where the plan has interfered with evangelistic meetings has any interruption been permitted. The services of the home and foreign field secretaries, the synodical Sunday-school superintendent, the pastor-evangelists, the Sunday-school missionaries and such members of the committees concerned as could be secured were used. The conferences in general were well attended and the results all that could be hoped for. A follow up policy will make the results certain.

SELF-SUPPORT.

The Presbytery of Portland has maintained its own work on the same policy with which it was begun, and has raised more money for home missions than ever before. Five per cent. of the actual receipts, excepting only special funds designated by the donors for specific use, has been sent to the Home Board.

There is no other presbytery in Oregon to which self-support is even possible at present. If for no other reason the rapid increase of population which must be dependent for religious privileges during the first years of settlement makes the home mission demands imperative and beyond the ability of the people to meet. When land must be cleared—in West Oregon at very large expense, in East Oregon with compulsory preparation for irrigation—a home erected even of the most humble sort, land conquered to the crop raising point and taxes to be paid, the religious side of life has a new and pressing appeal that can be met only by the Board of Home Missions. But each presbytery is pressing for it by urging self-support in the individual church, and by increasing the gifts to the Board. While writing this word has come from one of our very frontier churches, away off the railroad, that it will assume self-support after April first. This too without any urging outside of its own desires.

DEVELOPMENT.

Oregon is beginning to feel the impulse of new life. Up to the present time the whole of the eastern part of the state has been left with no means of transportation except wagons for freight and stages for human beings. It is too late in the history of the world for the American to be content with such transportation. Mr. J. J. Hill says that Eastern Oregon has as good a country as Eastern Washington. He has shown his confidence in his judgment by building a railroad from the Columbia River up the now famous Des Chutes River into Central Oregon. The first trains began to run in March, 1911. Then the Harriman system has built into that section and has plans for continuance that are not well known outside of their own officials. But it is certain that great development will come to that whole region. We are alert to the whole situation and will see that our Church does its full part. In addition to the railroad irrigation is entering into the district. The Carey act and the government plans and private plans are all conspiring to give an increasing population.

The last census shows that the population of Oregon has grown from 413,536 in 1900 to 673,775 in 1910. Of this increase but thirty-seven thousand is credited to East Oregon, which has two-thirds of the area of the state. This shows that the transportation facilities necessary to carry people into that region have not been provided.

WORK FOR ITALIANS.

Under the authorization of the General Assembly and at the request of the Presbytery of Portland it was proposed early in the year that work be undertaken among the Italian population, which amounts to about ten thousand. After some examination of the conditions the presbytery found that the Baptist Church had already begun such work and therefore abandoned its own plans. At present the work done by the Baptists seems to be meeting the needs so far as Protestants are concerned.

EVANGELISM.

Grande Ronde, Pendleton, Portland, Southern Oregon and Willamette Presbyteries all enjoy the services of pastor-evangelists. Portland provides for its own, combining the office of pastor-evangelist with that of Sabbath-school missionary. The men in the other presbyteries are under the commission of the Board. Grande Ronde and Pendleton share the labors of one man. In those two presbyteries the pastor-evangelist has done the work of pastor-at-large as well as of evangelist. The same is true in Southern Oregon; but in Willamette he has devoted his whole time to evangelism. Their work so far as it can be tabulated has shown the following results:—

Visits to churches 119; sermons preached 450; pastoral visits made 972; evangelistic meetings held 278; professions of faith

179; added to the churches 136; money raised for the churches $605.00; sent the Home Board $204.92.

Again the amounts saved by caring for vacant churches will swell the total. This report covers the work of the three men under the commission of the Board and not the work done by the men in Portland Presbytery. In addition to the work done by these commissioned men evangelistic work has been done in many churches by the aid of workers who have been brought into the synod expressly to aid the self-supporting churches. The evangelistic spirit is abroad throughout the entire synod.

FEDERATION.

Very little is being done in Oregon for this. Comity is in force with the Congregationalists, but with no other Church. Of course it is impossible with the liturgical denominations. It is before the Church, and we will try to practice it so far as we may.

SYNOD OF WASHINGTON.

ORGANIZATION.

At the last meeting of the synod the whole subject of closer organization for the work of home missions was fully discussed and it was decided that at present it is not wise to make any changes in this respect.

SYNODICAL MISSIONARY.

The synod unanimously adopted a recommendation "that the Board continue the office of Synodical Missionary until May, 1911; that the Presbyteries, singly or in groups, make provision for pastor-evangelists in their Spring Schedules, and that the Synod apply to the Board for an evangelist whose term of service shall begin September, 1911, or sooner, at a salary sufficient to secure the services of a man fitted to do acceptable work in any of our average fields."

PLANS.

At the same meeting the synod inaugurated a home mission campaign in each presbytery to reach every church if possible for the purpose of encouraging improved methods of finance for local support and for benevolences. This campaign was carried out during the month of November. In the meetings with the men finance was carefully discussed, and the budget plan with weekly subscriptions was urged as the only method for meeting the full responsibility of the churches. The budget sent out by the Executive Commission of the General Assembly was set forward as a minimum only, and as providing the least sum with which the work now in hand can be accomplished. So far as heard from the campaign was a success in that the whole work of the Church was clearly set forth and the home mission responsibility properly emphasized as it needs to be in this great dependent synod. The synod is awake to the need of keeping its work well before its presbyteries and through them before the churches.

SELF-SUPPORT.

This is a live question in the Synod of Washington. There is a real interest in it, and it always receives attention; but thus far no presbytery has attained the goal.

In the meeting of the synod reference was made to the notable fact that the Congregational Church in Washington has assumed the self-support of its home mission work, involving a cost of one dollar and a half per capita to do it. This was used to stimulate the gifts of the synod, and the call was made to try to reach fifty cents per capita for the current year.

LUMBER CAMP WORK.

Two of the presbyteries, Olympia and Seattle, have asked for men for the lumber camps and this work will be pushed during the coming year.

EVANGELISM.

The synod took formal action on this subject. In general the plans of the Evangelistic Committee were favored: namely, to devote the month of February to personal work and the month of March to special evangelistic effort where at all possible. Each church making this special effort is to report the results to the chairman of the committee on home missions and evangelism. Following up this action of the synod the Presbytery of Bellingham sent out to all the churches a circular letter outlining an evangelistic campaign to be carried on by the aid of the pastors or by special evangelists when they could be secured. Then to make sure of the work the committee assigned the pastors to give help in definite churches so that each church might be ready for the work. This was done through the months of February and March. Of course it is not possible to know what the result of the meetings has been or will be.

In addition to this pastor-evangelists commissioned by the Board have been at work in the Presbyteries of Seattle and Spokane. Both these presbyteries share their worker with the Sabbath-school Board, so but half time has been given to evangelism. Other presbyteries desire the offices of a pastor-evangelist but have not been supplied, except that Bellingham and Wenatchee secured a man for March, from whom no report could be received so early. From the other reports it is learned that 70 visits have been made to churches; 201 sermons preached; 908 pastoral visits made; 73 evangelistic services have been held; 80 have professed conversion; 100 have been added to churches; $1,083.00 have been secured for churches; $51.19 have been sent to the Board.

DEVELOPMENT.

According to the census of 1910, the population of Washington is 1,141,990, which is a gain of one hundred per cent. during the decade. New railroads have been constructed across the state, and vast irrigation plans by the Government are to-day opening up valuable tracts to the settlers. The wonderful productiveness of the soil, the mild climate and the certainty of the crops are attracting the attention of the world.

What is being done in the apple country is almost incredible. At one place in the state five acres of apple orchards sold last year for fifteen thousand dollars and actually paid ten per cent. on that price; and this year orchards of one acre have yielded one thousand dollars worth of fruit. As such facts become known it is certain that more people will throng into the state. But it is while they are waiting for the yield of fruit—about five years—that the home mission work has to be done. Later the churches will become self-supporting and contribute to others. The home mission demand is imperative and pressing, and the Church will be wise which meets its full obligation to this nascent West.

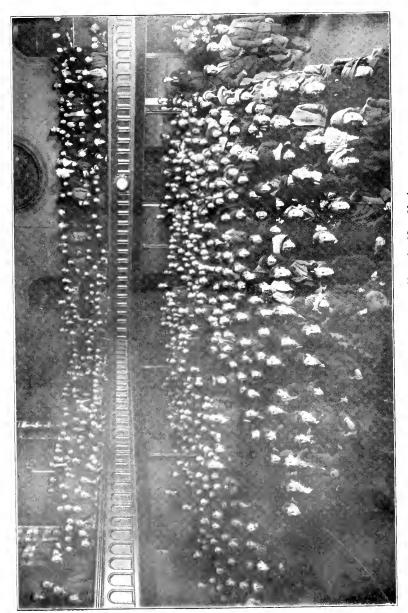

COMITY.

Our own Church stands for absolute comity. We have it with our Congregational brethren and will welcome it with all. The synod is committed to the principle and will abide by it and urge it until it is a fact among all the churches.

OUTLOOK.

The outlook for the entire Pacific Coast District is most hopeful. We are trying to realize our relations to the United States and also to get a vision of our world relations. The absolute necessity of pressing the work of home missions for ourselves we already appreciate. But God has given us a world vision also, and we are praying the words of the Sixty-seventh Psalm with all their latter day meaning pressed into them: "God be merciful unto us, and bless us, and cause his face to shine upon us; that thy way may be known upon earth, thy saving health among all nations."

DEPARTMENT OF CHURCH AND LABOR.

This department continues under the care of the Rev. Charles Stelzle who is assisted in the survey work by Mr. G. B. St. John.

The problem of the city has been given the most prominent place during the past year in the work of the department. For eight years it has been advocating certain methods of work through which the alienated workingman might be brought within the church door. Usually when these methods have been persistently and aggressively followed the ministers and churches adopting them have been more or less successful. It was felt, however, that the department should itself work out the plans which were being presented to the workers in the Church. The most difficult field in New York and perhaps in the entire country was, therefore, selected and on a prominent corner on the lower east side of New York, where a church building became available because the congregation had united with another church, a demonstration is being made with regard to the practicability of securing the attendance of workingmen. The Labor Temple, by which name it has become known, has attracted much attention from the very outset. The main auditorium is open every night for popular meetings, although thirty-three meetings are held each week. Frequently people are turned away, especially at the Sunday night meeting which is distinctively evangelical. Nine-tenths of the audiences consist of men and fifty per cent. are Jews. There is probably no church in America which has a larger attendance of Hebrews. The interest aroused in this enterprise of the Board has been nation-wide and it is being watched not only by the leaders in the Presbyterian Church but by those of other denominations.

During the month of February the department conducted in eight different cities a series of "One-day Conferences on the Downtown Church." These meetings were held in Schenectady, Buffalo, Cleveland, Columbus, Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville and Pittsburgh. In Chicago, Louisville and Pittsburgh the afternoon meetings were held in the theological seminaries and were attended by practically the entire student body and faculty. Mass meetings were held in almost all of the cities at night. It is felt that this was the beginning of constructive work with reference to the downtown city problem which will be of value particularly in industrial communities. A series of leaflets on the city have been issued by the department presenting illustrations of conditions and suggesting methods whereby these conditions may be past year has been the surveys made of various communities and cities. Among others two typical surveys were made: one of Sag Harbor, Long Island, with a population of about thirty-five hundred; and the other of Elizabeth, New Jersey, a typical industrial community with a population of approximately seventy-five thousand. In each case maps, charts and diagrams were prepared and statistics were gathered which served as the basis of some definite recommendations to the churches and other agencies engaged in the securing of better social and moral conditions among the people.

Practically all of the older features of the Department of Church and Labor have been maintained during the year, including the Correspondence Course in Applied Christianity, the representation of ministers at meetings of central labor unions, the holding of mass meetings of workingmen on Sunday afternoons, the writing of weekly and monthly articles for the labor press of the United States and the observance of Labor Sunday.

While the temperance movement inaugurated among workingmen a year ago has not been pushed as aggressively in a public manner as in the previous year, efforts have been made in a quiet way to so influence the labor leaders of the country as to restrain any attempt on the part of the liquor interests represented in trades-union conventions to commit these conventions to the saloon.

DEPARTMENT OF IMMIGRATION.

In the spring of 1908 the Rev. Charles Stelzle, in addition to the superintendency of the Department of Church and Labor, was appointed superintendent of the Department of Immigration. By reason of the growth of the work of both these departments it was deemed best to divide them and on November first, 1910, the Rev. William Payne Shriver, who had served for ten months as assistant in the Department of Immigration, was made superintendent.

The steadily extending interest of the Board of Home Missions in the recent immigrant population in this country is expressed through its Department of Immigration. (The Board's cooperation with the German churches, and its very large interest among the Spanish-speaking people of the Southwest and the Islands of Cuba and Porto Rico are not included in this department.)

Forty important centers in immigrant communities are now occupied by the Department of Immigration in cooperation with twenty presbyteries. The major part of the present work is in the metropolitan district (New York and vicinity) in the Presbyteries of New York, Brooklyn, Westchester and Nassau. With a population of over five millions, largely foreign born or of foreign parentage, this district not only presents a home mission field of tremendous proportions and of insistent needs, but furnishes the Department of Immigration an opportunity to carry on its study, observation and practical testing of methods at close range. By special arrangement the superintendent of the department also serves as superintendent for the Home Mission Committee of the Presbytery of New York with direct supervision over the seventeen centers now occupied in this presbytery among Italians, Hungarians, Bohemians, Ruthenians and a densely concongested Jewish neighborhood. Regular conferences for the discussion of practical methods and for the deepening of the spiritual life and Christian purpose of all the missionaries and visitors in the metropolitan district have been of fine personal helpfulness, and have developed an esprit de corps in the form of twenty-five workers. A model church building and neighborhood house is now being erected according to designs made by the department for an Italian community of twenty thousand in the Borough of the Bronx; a leaflet describing this typical building has been issued. During the year another important center on the upper East Side of Manhattan has been taken over where a ministry is maintained in the Swedish, Italian, Hungarian and English languages. A careful survey and house to house canvass has been made of the community surrounding Hope Chapel on the lower East Side, and plans are being carefully matured for a ministry to this almost solidly Jewish community with a population of from two to three thousand to a city block. Much has already been done to promote friendly relations and mutual understanding.

During the year the department has entered into cooperation with the Presbytery of Baltimore in the inauguration of a most promising work for a community of thirty thousand poles under the pastorate of the Rev. Paul Fox; a second center has been opened for the Italians. Ample and useful buildings have been provided in both cases. Cooperation has also been extended to the Austrian Immigrant Home, a notable type of social ministry to the arriving immigrant. This spring the department will direct a survey of the foreign communities of East Baltimore, together with a study of social and religious agencies now in these communities.

The erection on September twelfth, 1910, of the Bohemian Presbytery of the Central West, opens a new and highly promising field of cooperation for the Department of Immigration. During the year just beginning, three churches will receive aid and five other points will be developed through student work in the summer months. The needs of this new presbytery will be carefully studied.

Among other new centers occupied the past year mention may be made of a work among the Poles and other Slavic peoples in St. Joseph, Missouri. Also a second Slavic work in Kansas City. Kansas, which is receiving careful local conservation.

With the close of the year, March, 1910, Rev. Jaroslav Dobias, a missionary under the Home Board, has been dispatched to Texas on an evangelistic mission and tour of exploration and survey among the Bohemian communities of Texas in cooperation with the Home Mission Committee of the Synod of Texas. Mr. Dobias will not only visit centers already occupied by the Presbyterian Church, but in a fraternal spirit will visit other Bohemian congregations and the congregations of the Evangelical Unity of Bohemian and Moravian Brethren. It is planned that this careful study of the conditions among the more than twenty thousand Bohemians in Texas will be made the basis of a largely extended ministry.

The department has worked in cordial and mutually helpful relations with the Permanent Committee of the Synod of New York. Trips of investigation have been made with a representative of the synod's committee, including a tour of labor camps along the line of the new State Barge Canal from Buffalo to the Hudson River. Following this tour a survey of the Italian community of eighteen thousand in Utica, New York, was made with recommendations for setting up a work. An immigration exhibit was arranged for the meeting of the New York Synod in October, a service the department will be glad to render any other synod. The synodical committee has just appointed the Rev. Arthur H. Allen as an associate secretary to have special charge of work among immigrant communities. Under the direction of the Department of Immigration Mr. Allen spent three months in New York and environs working to increase his experience in survey work, methods et cetera. The department is ready at any time to furnish facilities and personal direction to any one desiring to make special studies of immigrant populations, or to prepare for similar positions in presbyteries or synods.

The work among the Ruthenians in New York and Newark has been somewhat arrested by the return to Canada of the Rev. John Bodrug who has specially fostered this movement. The commodious church building for the congregation in Newark, New Jersey, erected at a cost of thirty-two thousand dollare including the lots, was dedicated April ninth, when Mr. Bodrug returned for a month's special evangelistic services in both Newark and New York. As one result of the work thus far nine Ruthenian students are enrolled in Bloomfield Theological Seminary. In their restiveness and egress from the Greek Catholic Church the Ruthenians present a problem of peculiar difficulty, and yet one from which we may not turn and to which the Church must lend itself with patience and sympathy despite dangers of mistake or of being misunderstood.

The Church of The Holy Trinity (Italian) New York. Designed by the Department of Immigration for a congested city immigrant community.

A Group of Missionaries and Visitors working under the Department of Immigration in the Metropolitan District (New York and Vicinity).

The Rev. Louis Meyer as special lecturer on Jewish work for the department has carried on an active speaking campaign throughout the country. Mr. Meyer consistently advocated the so-called parochial method of ministering to Jewish communities. In March last Mr. Meyer resigned in order to give his message and work more of an interdenominational character. There is a constantly increasing searching of hearts in the matter of the mission of the Church to the Jews; but so far as we are informed up to this time neither the Department of Immigration nor any of the presbyteries have been successful in organizing any Presbyterian work for the Jews which may be pointed to as of peculiar and striking encouragement. The work under the department at Hope Chapel and the East Harlem Church in New York has been mainly directed to the children, with especial success in the vacation Bible schools during the six weeks of the summer months. Two hundred fifty children, largely Jewish, were enrolled last summer in the Hope Chapel school. The whole matter of the ministry of the Church to the Jews will continue to receive the very earnest attention of the Department of Immigration, and any suggestion growing out of or report con-cerning successful work among Jewish adults or children will be welcomed.

A campaign of education for the awakening and directing of the Church's interest in the immigration question has been forwarded. Informing and suggestive literature is being developed. During the year the following leaflets have been issued: What is the Presbyterian Church Doing for the Immigrant? the first summary of the Church's work through its various agencies; Italian Traits; The Discovery of the Pole; The Old and New Immigration; A Typical Church for a Congested City Immigrant Community; Typical Buildings Employed by the Presbyterian Church in its work among recent Immigrant Populations. Shriver is also preparing a series of Immigrant Studies for young people, Sunday schools and other adult groups, based on the Manual Method, which will be given this summer in an experimental way at the Young People's Conference at Winona. The Immigration Program issued by the Home Board for Washington's Birthday was used in over nine hundred fifty Sundayschools throughout the country to a total of one hundred twentyfive thousand copies.

In cooperation with the Advisory Council on Church Extension the Department of Immigration is perfecting in its office a registry of pastors and workers equipped with a foreign language and engaged in work among foreign-speaking populations. Also, a descriptive and statistical card catalogue of all Presbyterian churches and missions employing a language other than English, from which annual summaries may be collated.

The sum of $50,120.89 was expended by the Department of Immigration during the year ending March thirty-first, for super-intendence, education, survey work, and grants to the field. As noted in the first part of the report for the Department of Immigration, its budget of reported expenditures does not include the grants made to the German churches and Spanish-speaking peoples in Cuba, Porto Rico and among the Mexicans. For the year ending March thirty-first, 1911, disbursements by the Home Board for such work totaled $89,500.00. In nearly all cases the opening of a new center in an immigrant community involves a relatively large appropriation, and one liable to be of some duration. The department accordingly is making increased effort to see that the new centers to which it extends its cooperation are opened up with the best possible leadership, equipment, local supervision and support. It is futile to enter into this work without fully counting the cost.

It becomes increasingly clear to the department that the crux of the question lies largely in a thoroughly trained and competent leadership. This most difficult undertaking before the Protestant Church in America to-day has in many cases been entrusted to sincere men, who have yet lacked a working understanding of the methods and polity of the Presbyterian Church, have slight appreciation of the spirit and purpose of the democracy, and are without a knowledge often of the English language. That such men have failed to awaken the enthusiasm and enlist the support of their American friends, and have had only a limited success in organizing anything like an effective and comprehensive work is not a matter of surprise. The question of leadership for this important and exacting work is receiving the very careful study of the department.

DEPARTMENT OF CHURCH AND COUNTRY LIFE.

The interest of the country churches was studied for a full year in the Department of Church and Labor before the new Department of Church and Country Life was formed by the Board in November, 1910. By reason of the growth of the work it seemed wise to erect it into a separate department. The superintendent of the department, the Rev. Warren H. Wilson, Ph.D., had during the time of his connection with the Church and Labor Department held numerous local conferences in which the ministers of a given region discussed together the interest of the country community under the leadership of agriculturists, educators, ministers in the city and in the country who serve among the poor.

The program of the department consists of those proposals to which the country ministers so assembled—over two thousand in number—have given unanimous assent.

The work of the department is done in large part through volunteer pastors in the churches who cooperate as leaders in the agitation of interest in the country church. During the past year these men, twenty-four in number, have made addresses, written articles, held conferences and have done deputation work which has greatly multiplied the efficiency of the department. So great a territory is to be covered and so many are the small communities to be reached that this distribution of leadership is very necessary.

The superintendent of the department has presented the program of the country church to various meetings of church bodies—local, presbyterial and state-wide—as well as to a long list of agricultural colleges and other scholastic institutions, especially to those that have to do with the social sciences. The agricultural press is used in such a way as greatly to extend the influence of the department, and printed matter is circulated very widely.

Thorough investigation of certain sections of country churches has been undertaken and the equivalent of half a year's work of one man has been done in Pennsylvania, Illinois and Indiana in a scientific investigation of the economic, social, moral, educational and religious conditions which prevail in between one and two hundred country communities. The results of this investigation were prepared for an exhibit which has been used in the National Corn Exposition in Ohio, and will be set up at the General Assembly. There is great need of such precise knowledge of the existing facts in the country and of the graphic display of this knowledge which shall be convincing, simple and authoritative.

Miss Anna B. Taft, who has served in Massachusetts in the work on behalf of the country churches there, has come into the department as assistant, and in the work of the coming year her share will be very large, both in field work and in administration.

DEPARTMENT OF INDIAN MISSIONS.

The Rev. Thomas C. Moffett, D. D., Superintendent of the Department of Indian Missions, presents the following statement:—

This has been a year of greater effort and of larger development in the work of Indian missions than any year preceding. During the year visits have been made by the superintendent to the Synod of New Mexico, to the Presbytery of Tulsa, and to the missions of Kansas and Nebraska as well as to the Iroquois mission in New York State.

The records of last year show ninety-eight missionaries and helpers now under appointment by the Board. Four additional workers recommended by the presbyterial committees are ready to engage in the work as soon as their appointments are determined by the Board. With the securing of five suitable missionaries for fields that are vacant and new fields about to be entered, every station will be supplied, and it is the gratifying prospect that within a month after the opening of the new fiscal year the ranks will be fully provided with men devoted to the service of the evangelization and Christian nurture of these Indian populations for whom the Presbyterian Church has a special obligation and responsibility.

The first annual convention for the Presbyterian Indian work in Oklahoma proved most successful and will be followed this year by a convention and Bible institute to be held at Fort Gibson near Muskogee. This is a gratifying advance and completes the number of the annual conferences now held in each district where our Presbyterian work is established.

The summary of the work for the Indians covers reports from missions, churches and unorganized stations and schools in nineteen states among fifty-six tribes and tribal divisions. The totals are: churches 103 and stations 71; ordained ministers, white and native, 72; commissioned helpers, white and native, 50; communicants 6,665, adherents (estimated) 17,100; Sunday-schools 102 with an enrollment of 5,762. Under the Woman's Board there are twelve mission schools with an enrollment of 620, and 70 mission teachers and helpers.

For the first time since the establishing of the department there has been an evangelist at large for Indian work, the Rev. John N. Steele. He has been visiting the missions on the Cattaraugus Reservation, New York, and a number of the fields in Arizona, New Mexico and Oklahoma. In all of these missions there have been revivals of manifest spiritual power and a marked quickening of interest. In Phoenix Presbytery, Arizona, the Rev. Henry M. Campbell, D. D., chairman of the home mission committee, writes of special services being held in various parts of that country and much interest being shown and many conversions in the government school. Twenty-eight young men and women were received into his church at one service, all but one of these being baptized. Further progress is reported in the work among the Pima churches under the care of the Rev. Charles H. Cook, D. D., who has completed his fortieth year of faithful service among these Indians.

Most encouraging word has been received from our missionary, the Rev. Alfred C. Edgar at Needles, California, telling of the advance in his work for the Mohaves. He is ably assisted by Mr. Randall Booth a native evangelist who secured his own education in Los Angeles and who is in charge of the new station at Parker, Arizona. From Mr. Edgar's latest quarterly report we quote the following:—

"The middle of October I went to Parker. Was gone the greater part of two weeks. Made the seats for the mission.

Held two services in the mission Sabbath day and preached to the children in the evening. The attendance at the mission thus far has been very gratifying. Randall Booth continues to do good work for his people. Now that the mission is finished his opportunities for preaching the gospel to regular audiences are much better. I have made nine trips to the government school at Fort Mohave, where I have preached to very attentive audiences of children and employees. In all I have travelled during the three months not less than five hundred miles by team in preaching the gospel to the Mohaves other than those at the Needles."

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Foster, who have worked so successfully for many years among the Shevwits at Shem, Utah, are now starting for their new station among the Quinaielts and other fishing Indians on the coast of Washington where no Christian missionary has ever labored. The Shem field is left in the care of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McClure.

Our faithful missionary, the Rev. J. M. Cornelison at Pendleton, Oregon, gives enthusiastic accounts of his work and is ably assisted by the Rev. James G. Dickson, the well known Nez Perce Indian who is doing excellent work among the Umatillas. The personality of Mr. Dickson must be a large factor in his work. He knows whereof he speaks from direct personal experience, and is frank and fearless in the use of it. Mr. Cornelison adds, "Here is an Indian pastor-evangelist who can appeal to all Indians, and who at the same time can appear before any white audience to interest them in the cause of missions in general, and Indian missions in particular."

The anticipated enlargement of the work at the Omaha mission has been realized, and Mr. Beith gives the following account:

"Our church building was not large enough to hold all the Indians who came, so I talked with them about enlarging it. The Indians themselves raised eight hundred dollars in cash and some pledges were given. We decided to make a basement under the church for Sunday-school rooms and to build an addition, besides repairing the old church. The manse has been reshingled, repaired and painted outside. Services have been held during the summer, but we feel that our camp meeting August twenty-ninth to September fourth was the most effective. The Indians camped around the church. A large tent was put up and services held in it. The spirit of prayer prevailed mightily and God's presence was very manifest. The Christian life of all the church members was quickened."

Among the Sioux our indefatigable missionary, the Rev. John P. Williamson, D. D., reports:—

"During the three months ending December thirty-first I have preached fifty-six sermons, more of them in the Yankton Agency church than in any other because I live adjoining it. It is the largest church in the presbytery. I generally preach twice in the Indian language and once in English, but a large majority still prefer the mother tongue. The greater part of my time and thought are spent in correspondence with our leaders as to every sort of work that affects the interests of our two score churches and stations."

One new feature of development in the work of the past year has been the collating of statistics of seventeen evangelical Protestant Boards and societies which are carrying on work among the Indians of the United States. Incomplete reports from these Boards are tabulated as follows: churches 457, stations 255; ordained ministers, white 157, native 211; commissioned helpers, white 104, native 196; communicants 26,284, adherents (estimated) 55,591; Sunday schools 369, enrollment 17,034.

In industrial lines of education a sphere of great opportunity for the uplift of the Indian is found. The effort of the Protestant Boards in this respect is limited, but is successful where undertaken with adequate appropriations for its maintenance.

An open door of opportunity to reach twenty-six thousand Indian youth and children in schools has been afforded by the new "Regulations for Religious Worship and Instruction of Pupils in Government Indian Schools." Bible instruction and the nurture of the Christian life are given special attention in all of the schools, and the example and stimulus that come from daily association with cultured teachers and in the home life of the school are invaluable.

The increasing spiritual tone and zeal in gospel efforts as shown in reports from the field are indications of great promise in this year's work, and a most encouraging outlook for future advance is shown in more requests for workers and the entering of new fields.

The number of chapels and manses erected during the year, and the putting of some of the old mission buildings in more creditable and attractive condition has been a great gain to the work. The Board of Church Erection has cordially cooperated in making every grant that has been recommended by the presbyterial committees.

In the work of the department it is gratifying to report an increasing correspondence and a larger demand for Indian literature, also an evident desire on the part of the missionaries for more frequent visitation of the fields and more general oversight of the work.

Large preparations are being made for the missionary exposition called the "World in Boston" to be held April twenty-second to May twentieth of this year. The Indian Department of the Board is to have an extensive exhibit, and in this will be pictured Indian life in various picturesque phases in tepee and lodge, with native industries and sports. There will be a quartette of singers from the United States Indian School at Carlisle, Pennsylvania, and native costumes will be worn; blankets, pottery and the products of modern handicraft taught in the schools will be on exhibition.

The systematic plan of securing larger contributions from the Indians in support of their missions and churches is being worked out and it is expected that a decided advance will be made during the new year, cultivating self-reliance on the part of the native congregations.

The work of our Board of Home Missions among the Indians has created a deeper interest among government employees and among other denominations than ever before, thus resulting in increased cooperation and generous appreciation. It is a time of encouragement and of larger promise in the evangelical church work for the Indians throughout the United States.

ALASKA.

The full statement of conditions in Alaska presented in the 1910 Report may still be accepted as revealing the situation at present with the following supplementary facts recorded:—

PRESBYTERY OF ALASKA.

At Skagway the commercial demoralization has profoundly affected the church life. A city which once numbered perhaps eight or ten thousand has now a population of a thousand or less. Many vacant houses and other buildings help to add to the general atmosphere of depression. Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian and Episcopal churches once manifested each a degree of life. The Presbyterian church was for a time self-supporting. The Baptist church has now been abandoned; part time service is maintained in the Methodist church; the Episcopal church recently has been in charge of a lay reader; for a year past the Presbyterian pulpit has been vacant and the ministry of chance supplies has been desultory. It is acknowledged on the part of all that there is now no room for both a Methodist and a Presbyterian church. Negotiations are on for the consolidation of these two under some mutually satisfactory plan.

The hospital at Haines under the support of the Woman's Board still continues, though with inadequate equipment. In that center the medical need is very great and does not become less so as the Chilcat Valley develops mineral resources. The railroad is now projected up this valley, reaching several mines already opened and other points where ore is known to exist. The efficient Miss Wilderson, the nurse in charge of the hospital work, has discontinued her service under the Board and has left Alaska. Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Presnall are temporarily commissioned in charge of this work. Our missionary, the Rev. Allen

F. McLean, gives special attention to the hospital in addition to his other duties.

At Hoonah the native work was in charge of the Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Whipkey. After their leaving the field the work was committed to the Rev. and Mrs. George E. Good who previously were in charge of the white church at Skagway. During the summer Mr. Good was active in reaching fishing camps and canneries to which the population of Hoonah resorted for the fishing season.

Years ago a Presbyterian work was maintained at Killisnoo, an important fishing center, where herring are converted into high grade fertilizer. The work was discontinued following a disastrous fire. Natives have expressed a desire to have this work resumed. The village has the nominal ministry of a Russian-Greek church. Active work on the part of that Church has not been pressed here, however. Negotiations are in process looking to the re-establishment of active Presbyterian work, but no steps are to be taken which will duplicate missionary agencies.

Our work at Sitka has continued as usual during the past year, and promises large advancement in the near future because of the fine equipment the Woman's Board is putting in there, which is more fully recorded elsewhere in this Report. The Rev. Eugene E. Bromley continues as pastor.

For several years appeals have been made for the establishment of a church at Petersburg. Within the past few months this hope of years has been realized. A church and a manse have been erected. The plant is devoted to the use of the white congregation, though there is a native work at Petersburg of growing importance which will be prosecuted at the same time. The Rev. J. S. Clark, for several years in charge of our work at Wrangell, is also in charge of the Petersburg field. As soon as possible another minister is to be secured to share with him the double burden he now carries.

The white and native churches at Juneau continue under the care of the Rev. John B. Stevens and the Rev. L. F. Jones, respectively. The extension of the government's equipment has prompted the sale of some of the Board's valuable property for government and other uses. These negotiations are now in process.

The field on the west coast of Prince of Wales Island has been making progress under the supervision of the Rev. David Waggoner. On the recommendation of presbytery an additional native helper has been granted for special service at Klawock, the central station of this field. This arrangement leaves Mr. Waggoner more free for itineration on his mission boat. He is giving special attention to the new settlement on Fish Egg Island where rapidly developing fishing industries are attracting the permanent settlement of natives.

The Rev. Edward Marsden, the only ordained native missionary, continues to widen his activities in the Ketchikan region. Mr.

A Group of Sunday-school Members who have a perfect attendance record for two years, Fairbanks, Alaska-

Eskimos at Gambell, St. Lawrence Island, Alaska.

Marsden is a Tsimpsian and was formerly a resident of Metlakahtla. The work of Mr. Duncan at Metlakahtla is well known. During the past few months certain reorganizations have been in prospect under government supervision. Mr. Marsden has been called upon for counsel and assistance both by Mr. Duncan and government agents. Mr. Marsden's mother continues the devoted household helper of Mr. Duncan whose advancing age increases his dependence upon others.

PRESBYTERY OF THE YUKON.

Reference is again made to the full statement presented in the 1910 Report of the Board.

Point Barrow, our northernmost station, continues in charge of the Rev. Horatio R. Marsh, M. D., who, in addition to his pastoral work, continues to give medical care to the natives as may be needed.

Dr. Marsh writes that they now require a two years' attendance on the catechism class before church membership is granted to those so desiring. The Ootkiavik and Nuwuk churches, composed entirely of Eskimos, have more than two hundred members; the Sunday school has a membership of one hundred fourteen; and the Senior and Junior Christian Endeavor Societies each have about fifty members. He also adds:—

"The Junior Christian Endeavorers have started to be little missionaries in saving their Sunday-school papers and sending them down the coast to Wainwright and Icy Cape to the children who have no Sunday schools.

Our strong church at Fairbanks, manned most effectively by the Rev. J. H. Condit, is doing a steady and efficient work which is felt not alone in the city but throughout the great Tanana mining region. While there are perhaps not more than four thousand citizens in the town itself, the territory immediately tributary to it and dependent upon it numbers at least ten thousand. These are of that bright, intelligent and enterprising type that characterizes the whole of the great Interior of Alaska. The Sunday school is quite large, the prayer meetings well attended and the church services, especially those held in the evening, are of special interest. Mr. Condit is known throughout all Alaska as an exceptionally strong and attractive preacher and pastor. The work on the Creeks, especially at Chatanika and Ester, has been cared for as well as possible by Mr. Condit, but it has needed a minister of its own. Mr. Horace Hillery, a student from Occidental College, Los Angeles, and a candidate for the ministry, has been spending a vacation, necessitated by a nervous breakdown, in Fairbanks, and has assisted Mr. Condit somewhat in both the Fairbanks and the Creek work.

Cordova, organized last year, has raised all the remaining money due on the church and manse, which was completed at the total cost of about five thousand five hundred dollars. The church has been painted inside and new furniture added, and as soon as the weather will permit both church and manse will be painted on the outside and the grounds improved. The Rev. S. Hall Young, D. D., ministered to this church, which he erected, until the first of November, 1910, when he surrendered it to the Rev. M. Egbert Koonce, Ph.D., formerly our missionary at Rampart, and more recently in pastoral work in the East. Dr. Koonce and his wife have entered upon their work in this new and thriving coast town with enthusiasm and have the acceptance of the people. The church services and Sunday school are thriving, and with the expected great growth of the town next summer the church will take its place as one of our strong Alaskan churches.

In addition to the work of Cordova, Dr. Young held stated services during the summer at Glacier, Tiekell and Chitina up the Copper River railroad. At the latter point he secured a town lot and it will be cared for as a branch mission of the Cordova church. Katalla, near the great coal beds, promises to have a new and large growth as soon as the coal is released by the Government to be mined. This point has already been looked after to some extent by our missionary at Cordova, and will be occupied

Dr. Young has spent the winter in a campaign among the churches, and has been searching for suitable men for four important posts in these two presbyteries. A new and great gold field called the Iditarod is being developed in the Interior near the high waters of the Kuskoquim and Innoka rivers. A procession three hundred fifty miles long has been marching from Seward to the Innoka all winter—dog sleds, horse sleds and man sleds. The latest reports are that four thousand people are there at work, and by summer at least ten thousand will be in that region. The Rev. J. Logan Sample, an aged Presbyterian minister, spent a few weeks at Iditarod City last summer, and Bishop Rowe of the Episcopal Church also visited that region, but no effective work has been done towards establishing the preaching of the gospel to that group of miners. Unable to find a man to enter that remote and needy field, Dr. Young, with fine heroic spirit, has himself undertaken the work.

The development of the vast copper and quartz mines of the Interior will necessitate the speedy building of railroads to them, and these will in turn open up an immense and fertile agricultural region out of which the Agricultural Department at Washington has prophesied three or four great states will be organized. There is seemingly no limit to the agricultural and mining possibilities of Alaska.

The Yukon Presbytery, the largest in extent and smallest in numbers of all our presbyteries, is now a little more than holding its own, and with the addition of at least two new ministers this year and the rapid growth of population, promises to be a great maker of history in the future. Attorney General Wickersham, who made an official trip through Alaska last summer, on his return to Washington said, "I went to Alaska expecting to see a district. I discovered an empire"! And three other officials high in authority have pronounced Alaska the richest in natural resources of all the possessions of the United States. Let the Presbyterian Church, the pioneer Church of Alaska, still keep in the van of its Christianization.

PORTO RICO.

Our work in Porto Rico is grouped around five centers constituting five districts, all but one being in the western end of the Island. By an arrangement among the denominations entering Porto Rico twelve years ago the territory of the Island was so divided that there should be no denominational overlapping. The western part was given to the Presbyterians. The two principal cities, however, San Juan and Ponce, were left free for all the denominations.

Our first district, therefore, is at San Juan and the country immediately round about, and comprises the following stations: The Hugh O'Neill Memorial in the capital with two church organizations—one for Americans and the other for Spanish-speaking people; a church at Santurce, a suburb of San Juan, and the new organization at Cangrejo Arriba; the station at Toa Alta, about eighteen miles west of San Juan, and the churches of Corozal and Naranjito in the hills beyond.

The reports from the San Juan churches are encouraging. Our missionary, the Rev. E. A. Odell, in addition to conducting six services a week in the American and native churches, has charge also of the out-station at Toa Alta where three services are maintained weekly. This is the station served for several years by the Rev. Tomas V. Martinez, whose sudden death during the year is felt to be a great loss to our Porto Rican work. The churches of San Juan have received fourteen accessions during the year and have contributed nine hundred dollars toward their own support, besides making contributions to the various benevolent organizations. The membership of the San Juan churches numbers about two hundred.

Mr. Odell writes that the signs of encouragement in the Hugh O'Neill Memorial Church are that more men are interested in the church, that there is a growing sense of responsibility for the success of the church, and that there is more sympathy for the Spanish work.

The Santurce church in the beautiful residential suburb of San Juan is our oldest organized church. It has a church building valued at eight thousand dollars and a manse valued at twenty-three hundred dollars. Four services are held each week with good attendance and excellent results. Services also are held in four of the outlying wards of Santurce. Eighteen were received during the year on profession and four by letter. The membership of the Santurce church is two hundred seventy-two.

This congregation is also maintaining a chapel at Cangrejo Arriba, the erection of whose building was reported last year. The work has been continued with good success.

The Rev. W. Frank Gloeckner, pastor of the Santurce church, was absent for several months for a much needed vacation. On his return he writes:—

"Every year proves our people to be faithful to their trust. This year there have been times when the praying people of the church united in making special petitions for sick ones and troubled ones with the result that the Lord has heard our prayers and has strengthened our faith. Some have been sorely tried, but have come out victorious. During my absence the elders ably helped Mr. Quinones in conducting services and doing some pastoral work. We found a harmoniously working church on our return."

Corozal and Naranjito have for eleven years been the field of the Rev. Howard T. Jason. Corozal has a well organized church with a good building which has during the past year been completed at a cost of five hundred fifty dollars. This church has a membership of one hundred fifty-seven. At Naranjito, eight miles away, there is an organized church of thirty-five members and a new church building is in prospect. Three new stations have been opened since our last report.

Our missionary finds his chief encouragement among the young people and the children, and by the welcome which he gets when he goes out into the mountains preaching the gospel to those who have been without it, and who are, as he says, like children and are always ready to listen to the gospel message which he brings them.

The second district gathers around the central station of Isabela, in charge of the Rev. E. A. McDonald, who has been our missionary there for nearly five years. This district includes three organized churches, namely, Isabela, Jobos and Quebradillas, with eleven out-stations as follows: Guerrero, Mora, Coto, Marina, Llanada, Bejura, Guerrero Alto, San Antonio, Los Cocos, Cacao and San José.

There have been received during the year thirty-six new members, all but six of them on profession of faith. These churches have also done something toward their own support, and each one of them has contributed not only to the eight Boards of our Church, but also to the American Bible Society, to the General Assembly Fund and to other objects of benevolence. If all our churches were as faithful as these poor Porto Rican flocks there would be no vacant columns in the statistical reports to the General Assembly.

The church at Jobos—a purely country district, the erection of a chapel for which was reported last year—has had a year of continuous growth and affords a striking illustration of what the gospel can do to lighten the burdens and cheer the lives of people remote from all the currents of modern life. They have a large Sunday school and about forty adults, mostly members of the Sunday school, are attending night school in the old grassroofed chapel in order to be able to read the Bible and take part in the lessons on the Sabbath.

Mr. McDonald reports as follows:-

"The advanced work for the year consists in the opening up of districts not hitherto occupied by us for lack of working force.

"Work was begun in the district and village of Llanada and maintained for several months; but owing to the excessive rains and extremely bad roads we have not been able to go there during the last two months. When the weather settles somewhat we expect to again hold meetings there. The attendance and interest were very good.

"Work has also been commenced in two places lying east and south of Quebradillas—San José and Cacao—territory hitherto but little worked by us; both places seem to promise good results and we hope they may be permanent.

"Owing to the difficulty of obtaining a place for meeting, Los Cocos has been up and down. Just now it is in operation again and promises better results for the future.

"Other places are still open to us for new work, but we feel that with fourteen places in operation at present and twenty weekly meetings, besides Bible class work for preparation of members, we cannot now extend our labors further."

We have property in this district in four places to the value of about seven thousand dollars.

The third and one of the oldest centers is that of the Aguadilla field on the west coast—one of the most historic spots on the island. It was among the first stations to be occupied by our Church, and has had both in the central church and in the district round about a state of continuous growth. Services are now being held in fourteen stations. The Rev. Arnold Smith continues his services assisted by three native men and one Bible woman.

During the year two new stations have been opened—one called the Barrio de la Cruz where the services have been well attended from the first, and another at Maleza Baja, to which Luis Sanchez has been ministering. To many of those attending services at the latter places the gospel message comes as an absolute novelty; they have never heard that story before.

Other work being done by Luis Sanchez is the holding of cultos familiares, or services in the houses of the district. As he travels all over that district on foot he enters a house and asks if he can return in a week to hold services, and the people readily give their consent. He returns in a week and finds the service has been announced and from fifteen to twenty are waiting for him. It is hoped that permanent stations may later be opened in the places which have no services.

The organized churches are Aguadilla, Moca, Maleza Alta and Espinal with a total membership of four hundred ninety-two. At a communion service recently held in one of the districts all the members were present except three. Mr. Smith says:—

"The outlook for the future is bright. Not only are we reaching those who have never heard the gospel before, but also a number have lately shown special interest in the work who have been able to hear the gospel message for a long time and have hitherto appeared indifferent."

We have in this district only three buildings, two churches and one manse, of an aggregate value of nearly fourteen thousand dollars.

Up among the mountains eighteen miles above Aguadilla are the two interesting stations of San Sebastian and Lares. The Rev. E. S. Lheureux is the pastor of the church at San Sebastian, holding three services per week there and also preaching regularly in three out-stations. He has a student helper in the summer, and a Bible reader who has charge of a department in the Sunday school and visits in the country during the week. Mr. Lheureux says:—

"The outlook for the future is very good, better than formerly. The truth of the gospel is spreading from this center and the prejudice is not so strong as at first. While there is not the manifestation of faith we would like to see, we rejoice nevertheless in the manifestation of friendliness and the increasing opportunities."

Our church and manse building is valued at eight thousand dollars.

A few miles beyond San Sebastian in one of the most fertile mountain regions on the island, and one of the most densely populated is the beautiful little town of Lares where the Rev. A. Roy Thompson is our missionary. He has been devoting a good deal of his time to the country work in the thickly settled region round about the town, being accompanied in that ministry by a young man whom he hopes soon to ordain as a ruling elder. The church services have increased until now the building is well filled.

Mr. Thompson writes:—

"The difficulties are a little anti-American spirit of the ruling party and the opposition of those close to the priests' relatives; but the real obstacle is the eternal question,—whether salvation is worth its cost in ridicule and denying the pleasures of sin.

"The encouragements are the increase in church attendance, the twenty-one members that have been received and more 'appointed' for reception; the pleasure in going among these people with the gospel which at first they do not understand."

The urgent need at Lares is a church building. On Sunday evenings Mr. Thompson reports the church full to the doors, although his work has only just begun. He asks, "Where will we seat the increase?" Who will respond to this appeal?

The fourth district has Mayaguez for its center. From the first our work has taken strong hold upon the communities there and round about, and now services are being held in eleven stations. Two new stations have been opened during the year. The Rev. Judson L. Underwood, who has been a faithful and successful missionary there for the last eleven years, returned to the states in March, and his place as pastor of the Mayaguez church is taken by the Rev. Henry C. Thomson, D. D., who during the year had been the supply of the church at Anasco and also a professor in the Theological Training School. He will continue his work in the Training School in addition to his pulpit and pastoral duties.

The organized churches in that district are Mayaguez Central Mayaguez Marina, Hormigueros and Rosario, with a total membership of five hundred forty-three. With these are connected four Sabbath schools with a maximum attendance of four hundred thirty. There are three church edifices and one manse at a total valuation of twenty-one thousand dollars. The field has contributed during the year nearly eleven hundred dollars, four hundred ten of it being for repairs to the Mayaguez Central Church.

A number of the students in the Training School have had opportunity for useful service in many out-stations in this fruitful field. No less than twenty-three services are held weekly in the district.

One of the most interesting events on this field during the year is the erection in Mayaguez of a hospital, named the Rye Hospital because the principal part of the money for its erection and equipment was contributed by the First Presbyterian Church of Rye, New York, of which the Rev. Douglas Putnam Birnie is the pastor. The work of the dispensary, which has been under the care of Dr. Willis W. Creswell, has been handicapped by the lack of hospital accommodations. Patients in number from forty to one hundred a day have thronged the inadequate dispensary room, and of course there has been no place where operations could be performed or where hospital care could be given to the sick. These wants are now supplied to the great joy of the physician and his assistants and of the entire community. Clinics had formerly been held in Cabo Rojo and Palmarejo certain days of the week, but the calls in the city of Mayaguez had become so insistent and numerous that the physician was obliged to discontinue the outside service. That the hospital has been economically constructed is evident from the fact that having dispensary rooms and rooms and wards for twenty-eight patients, the total cost is only about thirty-five hundred dollars.

Since the retiring of the Rev. Judson L. Underwood the Theological Training School has been placed in charge of the Rev. James A. McAllister as principal. He and the Rev. Henry C. Thomson, D. D., give the theological training. Evaristo Lugo and Arturo Salguero are the teachers of academic work. these professors have additional duties outside of the Training School; the ministerial members of the faculty have charge of the work in the several out-stations of Mayaguez, Cabo Rojo and Anasco, a territory which in its aggregate offers a field of more than seventy-seven thousand people; the lay members of the faculty are also occupied in other missionary work; one of them is the editor and director of the weekly paper La Voz Evangelica, superintendent of the Sunday school and often conducts preaching services, while the other is carrying on the work at La Marina, our mission station down by the sea. The Training School is beginning to meet the pressing need for which it was founded, and each succeeding year will furnish workers as they may be required for the field.

The directors of the seminary have adopted a plan whereby students can be taken from their studies for a part of each year so as to supply the immediate need of additional helpers.

During the past year the school has also been of assistance to the brethren in Cuba, several students having come from that island to receive their training for the gospel ministry.

A building for the housing of this institution will be one of the needs in the future. It is now using a part of the building owned by the Woman's Board and used for the Colegio Americano.

Eight miles north of Mayaguez is the interesting little town of Anasco. Here the church building, the beginning of which was recorded a year ago, has been completed at a cost of four thousand dollars. Dr. Thomson has maintained services there steadily during the year. They have organized a new society called "The Christian Institute of Meditation." This is a substitute for Christian Endeavor in congregations where the latter does not seem to be useful. It has begun very successfully and seems to be educating the people to meditate on Bible truth.

Two other churches have grown out of the work at Anasco, namely, at Rincon and Sabanetas. There are also three other stations in the country round about where regular services are being held. Here, too, strong help is being given by the students of the Mayaguez Training School. The total membership of the three organized churches is one hundred seven.

At Anasco as elsewhere the mission school of the Woman's Board is a strong ally of the church services.

Nine miles south of Mayaguez is the prosperous town of Cabo Rojo where we have a well established church with a comfortable church building at a cost of three thousand dollars, and one hundred four members. The Rev. James A. McAllister has been continuing his service as minister at Cabo Rojo. He reports a steady increase of attendance and interest in all the stations connected with this mission. To a considerable number the members are reading the Bible in course—three chapters on week-days and five on the Sabbath—so as to read the entire Bible in one year.

There are seven out-stations around Cabo Rojo which are served by the Rev. Miguel E. Martinez, a graduate of the Training School, and students of the Training School so far as possible.

There is here a district of eighteen thousand people hungry for the gospel, waiting for an American missionary to give his whole time to that interesting, growing and extended work.

Up in the mountains eighteen miles from Mayaguez we come to Maricao, served by the Rev. Federico Garcia Davila in connection with Las Marias. In the past two years on this field Mr. Garcia has received twenty-two members on profession of their faith in Christ. A Sabbath school of twenty-five meets each week and four out-stations are visited. This region has a population of at least twenty thousand and results on this field are encouraging.

The fifth district is one of the largest in the island with San German as its center, the Rev. J. Will Harris continuing as its missionary. Twenty-five out-stations—some of them fifteen and twenty miles from the central work at San German—indicate the reach and influence of that station. Mr. Harris is assisted in his work by a number of native helpers and Bible readers. Forty-nine during the year joined the churches of this district on profession of faith. There are seven organized churches with a total membership of three hundred forty-four.

One of the features of evangelistic work in the thickly settled country regions is indicated by the missionary in the statement that at times he goes on religious excursions through the country preaching in as many as twenty places during the day, with as many as one hundred fifty members with him to help him to sing and preach. The growth of the work is shown by the fact that seven new stations have been opened during the year; two new churches have been organized and several more ready to be organized; one new church has been built at a cost of four thousand dollars, four chapels costing twenty-one hundred dollars, and one manse costing twenty-five hundred dol-

The difficulties the missionary encounters are lack of men to adequately serve the vast field; lack of suitable quarters in which to hold services; several places where there is an organized church having no chapel in which to meet; and long distances to travel. Like the missionaries in our country a hundred years ago, Mr. Harris says his study is in the saddle. The response of the people to these direct efforts for their salvation is remarkable. Many are searching for the truth in the Bible, and generally the first thing a new convert does is to buy a Bible and go in search of the lost. There are now sixteen candidates for the ministry in that district alone and several others preparing to study for the ministry.

During the year the Agricultural Institute, which had been opened at Palmarejo through the generous help of Juan C. Ortiz, a prominent citizen of that village, has been removed to the neighborhood of San German where a hundred acres of fertile land have been purchased, and where the school, thronging with students anxious to learn the practical arts of life, will give opportunity for unlimited usefulness and expansion. To his numerous pastoral labors Mr. Harris adds the care of this insti-

The report of the "Committee of a Joint Conference of Religious Agencies Doing Work in Porto Rico" indicates in its summary the harvest which Protestantism has reaped on that island in the last dozen years. Twelve denominations are at work, many of them, however, with very few stations. The principal ones are the Baptist, the Presbyterian, the Methodist Episcopal, the Protestant Episcopal and United Brethren, given in the order of the number of ministers and assistants at work. The total church membership which is indicated is eight thousand eight hundred ninety. There are four hundred seventytwo preaching stations and one hundred thirty-seven organized churches. The Bible schools have a membership of ten thousand three hundred twenty-six. The value of church property is about half a million, our own Church reporting the largest valuation, namely, one hundred thirty thousand nine hundred dollars. That Protestantism has taken a firm hold on the life of the people is indicated by the fact that out of their poverty a few years ago they contributed fifteen thousand three hundred sixty-seven dollars for religious work.

The opportunities for building strong Christian communities in Porto Rico are so great that the Board very earnestly desires that it may have a stronger equipment for carrying out its plans on that island. During the coming year it hopes to interest liberal givers in our Church toward the erection of a number of churches and manses greatly needed in many of the stations of our expanding work.

CUBA.

The Rev. J. Milton Greene, D. D., Superintendent of our work in Cuba, sends us the following statement:-

Before taking a brief survey of our work at the different points occupied by us, let it be noted that all our congregations, with one or two exceptions, pay for their Sabbath-school supplies, hymn books, lights and other incidental expenses, and that last year one thousand two hundred dollars were contributed toward salaries. This item during the present year will be considerably increased. To those who know the poverty of our people, representing as they do in the great majority of cases the humbler classes, this record must be considered creditable and hopeful.

Beginning with Havana we have the First church with seven out-stations, namely, Cerro, San Francisco and Vedado, under the care of the Rev. Francisco Castro; Aramburu, of which the Rev. Alberto J. Diaz, D. D., has charge, and where there is a day-school of over one hundred pupils. The services of Dr. Diaz are gratuitous, as are also those of his daughter who is one of the teachers in the day-school.

Another group of out-stations is composed of Marianao, Puentes Grandes and Cangrejera which are cared for by the Rev. Antonio A. Senti, our first ordained student. rent of Puentes Grandes is paid by the Christian Endeavor Society of the First church. Preaching services are held regularly at all these points and a Sabbath school is maintained in all except Cangrejera. The average attendance at both classes of services week by week is not far from six hundred. The edifice of the First church represents fifty thousand dollars. The only English service is held on Sabbath morning. In the afternoon the Sabbath school meets at three, with an average attendance of fifty; at seven forty-five p. m. a prayer service is held, and at eight p. m. the regular preaching service, which has steadily grown in attendance and interest; from one hundred to one hundred sixty are present every Sabbath evening, and from fifty to ninety on Wednesday evenings. A Bible class on Monday evening is a most interesting and fruitful part of the work, being attended by twenty to thirty young people. On Friday evening a service of prayer is held, at which one of the Christian Endeavor members presides under the direction of the pastor. The attendance averages not far from fifty. During the last year this church has contributed to the Board six hundred five dollars. The additions to the membership have been thirty-nine.

The next field in Havana Province is Bejucal, fifteen miles distant from the capital, where weekly services are held under the direction of the Rev. Antonio Mazzorana and the Rev. Francisco Castro (alternately) with an average attendance of forty. The great need of this field is a resident pastor. Seven new members have been added during the year and a marked improvement is visible in the spirit of the church.

Passing on some thirty miles toward the southeast we have Guines which, with its out-station San José, has for ten years been under the care of the Rev. A. Waldo Stevenson, who has now retired from the field and returned to the states for the education of his children. The day-school here under Miss Beulah L. Wilson has continued its work with a good attendance. weekly services have been maintained with an average attendance of twenty-five, and at the Sabbath school the average present has been about forty. Six new members have been received and the membership now is sixty, including fourteen at San José. The contributions to the Board for the year have reached a total of one hundred dollars. Beginning with the month of May these two congregations will be placed under the care of the Rev. José Vega, a converted Canon of the Roman Catholic Church, who has been laboring for four months among our churches with most excellent results.

Beyond Guines we come to the churches of San Nicolas, and Nueva Paz with a newly established out-station at Palos. This work is under the care of the Rev. José Ripoll, who is aided by Moises Gonzalez, one of the teachers in our day-school at Nueva Paz, and is in a flourishing condition. At Nueva Paz the membership is eighty-five. Two preaching services are held weekly with a total average attendance of one hundred fifty. The Sabbath school has an enrollment of one hundred twenty-five and an average attendance of ninety-five. The day-school under Miss Mary M. Coy numbers over eighty pupils and is a most valuable adjunct to the work in general. The church at San Nicolas numbers forty-three. Two weekly services and a Sabbath school are held with a total average attendance of two hundred.

Services were begun in Palos in January. This is a very prosperous town on the railroad. A preaching service is maintained here on Saturday evening with an average attendance of one hundred thirty-five, and a Sabbath school is conducted with an attendance of eighty-five. The situation here is full of promise. An adjoining town is Vegas, where work will be formally begun in June if the appropriation permits it. This station will be under the care of Ricardo Viamonte, an elder in the church at Nueva Paz and a licentiate of the presbytery. The additions to membership during the year were four in San Nicolas and seven in Nueva Paz. The contributions to the Board were thirty dollars in the former church and thirty-five dollars in the latter, to which the pastor has added fifteen dollars. In addition to these amounts eighty-nine dollars were contributed in Nueva Paz and seventy-nine dollars in San Nicolas for congregational expenses. We have a church building at Nueva Paz representing a value of three thousand dollars.

Returning to Havana and crossing the bay we come on the eastern side to Regla, and ten miles beyond to Guanabacoa, at each of which points we have a church with two weekly services and a Sabbath school in each, all under the care of the Rev. Antonio Mazzorana. Five members have been added in Guanabacoa and four in Regla. The contributions to the Board were thirty dollars in Regla and thirty-five dollars in Guanabacoa. The membership, after purging the rolls, is sixty-five for Regla and fifty-five for Guanabacoa. It has become necessary in all our churches to place many names on a reserve list. The Sabbath school in Regla has an average attendance of fortytwo, and that in Guanabacoa of twenty-two. Proceeding westward from Havana at a distance of twenty-five miles we come to Guira de Melena, where the Rev. Evaristo P. Collazo has a church of fifty members, with two Sabbath schools which have a total average attendance of fifty-six. Regular preaching services are maintained on the Sabbath and during the week with a total average attendance week by week of seventy-five. church has contributed to the Board thirty-five dollars. An out-station has recently been established at La Salud, ten miles nearer Havana, with promise of excellent results.

The only remaining church in Havana Province is that of San Antonio de los Banos, a town directly north of Guira and ten miles distant. The pastor is the Rev. José Fortuny, a converted Aesculapian monk who carries on this work in connection with that at Guanajay, ten miles farther toward the west. Both towns are on the railroad. Regular weekly services and Sabbath schools are held at both points; the total average attendance at San Antonio is sixty, and at Guanajay, seventy-five. These churches have contributed to the Board during the year one hundred dollars.

We now pass to the Province of Pinar del Rio, which all our missions recognize as the most difficult part of all the Cuban field. Among the Cubans themselves it has long borne the name of "The Black Continent." Given up especially to the culture of tobacco and among the last provinces to be connected with the capital by railroad, its inhabitants are exceptional for their ignorance, indifference and moral degradation. For this very reason we have from the first sought to establish as many centers of instruction as possible among them. But the work has been a severe trial of faith to our brethren, and the results have not been all that we could have desired. In the order of distance we have first Guanajay, already mentioned, and, fifteen miles south, Artemisa, where the Rev. Pedro Duarte is in charge. This place is a very hotbed of materialism, gambling and prostitution, but Mr. Duarte is an able, wise and untiring pastor, and as such is greatly respected. The nominal membership of this church is forty, but many are non-resident and many more have been caught in the maelstrom of worldliness and sin. Weekly services and a Sabbath school are regularly held with a total average attendance of about seventy. Two out-stations are being established at Puerta de la Guira and Canas. Owing to a succession of droughts in this province very many families have emigrated during the last two years to other parts of the island.

The next point occupied by us is San Cristobal, twenty miles farther west, where licentiate Jesus G. Hernandez has recently taken charge, succeeding licentiate José Lopez, who has opened new work at Paso Real, fifteen miles toward the west. Dr. Vega has recently held three services on successive nights at San Cristobal with a total attendance of over five hundred, and four services at Paso Real, at which over one thousand were present. The membership of the San Cristobal church is twenty-four. At the two regular weekly services and the Sabbath school the total average attendance is seventy-five. This church has contributed twenty-five dollars to the Board during the year. At Paso Real a very remarkable interest is shown, the attendance at the two preaching services, week by week, reaching three hundred, and eighty at the Sabbath school.

The only remaining work in this province is an out-station at Puerto Esperanza and the region about, where Antonio Hernandez, the father of Jesus, is laboring with excellent results. He is an elder of the First Church in Havana and a man of rare gifts both in Biblical knowledge and conversational power as well as in social attractiveness. His zeal for the conversion of his fellow countrymen knows no bounds. At his two weekly services and the Sabbath school about one hundred are in regular attendance. This point is a seaport seventy-five miles west of Havana on the north coast.

In the Province of Matanzas our only center is at the capital, where the Rev. E. P. Herrick, D. D., is the pastor. This church has a membership of ninety-two, and the total average attendance at the two preaching services and the Sabbath school reaches one hundred thirty. During the year fourteen have been received on confession of faith. This church has contributed forty-five dollars to the Board.

In the Province of Santa Clara we have first of all the church at Cienfuegos with its out-station called Bethel, under the pastoral care of the Rev. H. B. Someillan. Four weekly services are held and three Sabbath schools, in addition to two preaching services monthly in the city prison. The total average attendance at the weekly preaching services is one hundred fifty and ninety at the Sabbath school. During the year fifteen persons have been received on confession of faith, making the present actual membership seventy-seven. The church has contributed thirty dollars to the Board.

In addition to the work thus mentioned, we have a school under the care of the Rev. Alfred de Barritt with an enrollment of fifty of both sexes.

In addition to the school Mr. de Barritt is in charge of two out-stations at Rodas and Ariza, being aided by Narciso La Fuerza, a candidate for the ministry. At each of these points two regular weekly services and Sabbath school are held, with a total average attendance in Ariza of one hundred and in Rodas of eighty. In each of these places we also have a self-supporting day-school. Occasional services have been held at Limones where permanent work may soon be established. All these points lie north of Cienfuegos, Rodas being the most distant, about twenty-five miles.

These congregations have contributed to the Board during the year fifty dollars. The day-school established by Mr. de Barritt ten years ago at Cienfuegos in connection with the founding of the church has been a center of great blessing for the youth of that city, not less than fifty of whom have gone out from this institution to occupy responsible positions in the city, and one of whom, Mr. La Fuerza, is a candidate for the ministry.

The remaining two churches to be mentioned are those of Sancti Spiritus with two auxiliary chapels, and Cabaiguan, distant fifteen miles from the city. All this work is under the direct charge of the Rev. Hubert G. Smith, who is aided by Luis Gomez, an elder and a licentiate of the presbytery. The present nominal membership of Sancti Spiritus is one hundred seventy-six, with many non-resident and not a few who have practically back-slidden. One has been added during the year. Regular weekly services and a Sabbath school are maintained at the three points with a total average attendance of two hundred fifty. At Cabaiguan the nominal membership is twenty-six. One weekly service and a Sabbath school is held with a total average attendance of sixty. At Cabaiguan we have a church edifice worth one thousand dollars.

These churches have contributed during the year to the Board one hundred dollars. A most excellent day-school with three teachers is maintained here by our Woman's Board, with an enrollment of seventy. The three churches which have contributed to church objects outside of our own Board are Havana First, Guines and Sancti Spiritus.

WOMAN'S BOARD.

The following report from the Woman's Board, presented by its secretary, Miss Julia Fraser, has been approved:

The Woman's Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America herewith respectfully presents to the Board of Home Missions its Thirty-second Annual Report.

Since the last report Miss Violet M. Alden, for six years the successful and capable teacher of the high school classes at Albuquerque has passed away; she has left an abiding impression on the young men who were under her care, several of whom have worked their way through college and two are now in theological seminaries preparing for the gospel ministry.

The Rev. Robert M. Craig, who had been superintendent of the School Department of the Woman's Board for five years. and who, on account of ill health had resigned the previous year, died in June. His warm, tender heart and enthusiastic devotion to home missions endeared him not only to the missionaries on the field but to the Church at large where he was always a most welcome speaker. A grateful Church treasures the memory of these co-workers.

Affectionate appreciation is expressed for Mrs. Wilson Phraner, for many years an honored member of the Board who died last June. The other changes in the membership of the Board have been occasioned by resignation, due to ill health or removal. The following new members have been elected since the last annual meeting and are now effectively serving:—

Mrs. E. K. Hopper, Mrs. C. J. Young, Mrs. John MacDowell, Mrs. R. M. Stevenson, Mrs. A. C. McMillan, Mrs. H. G. Mendenhall, Mrs. W. W. White, Mrs. J. H. Owens.

Changes in synodical presidents are as follows: In Ohio Mrs. N. T. Houston is succeeded by Mrs. John L. Tait; Nebraska, Mrs. M. L. Stone by Mrs. J. B. Butter; Montana, Mrs. A. B. Martin by Mrs. H. S. Buell.

Fourteen meetings of the Woman's Board and nineteen of the Executive Committee have been held; unusually strong speakers for the "Third Tuesdays" have presented in most popular style the field work. While the attendance at these meetings has been good, it is well to emphasize the fact that they are popular gatherings and a cordial invitation to attend is extended to all. Attractive reports of these meetings have been prepared and sent to the religious press, and this mode of advertising the work of Presbyterian women is continually winning for the Woman's Board new friends and new support. Minutes of the sessions of the Woman's Board and of the Executive Committee have been mailed as usual to all presidents of synodical societies, and they frequently express appreciation of this effort to keep them in close touch with the work at headquarters.

A noteworthy event was the completion of twenty-five years of service by Mrs. Delos Edwin Finks as an officer of the Woman's Board of Home Missions. In grateful appreciation the Board extended a reception to Mrs. Finks in the Assembly Room. Two others in the office, Mrs. Emily B. Baker and Miss Florence E. Eaton, have completed twenty-five years continuous service.

In this connection it should be stated that twenty-five years ago Mrs. Darwin R. James was elected president of this organization. But four years prior to this, in 1881, she became vice-president and began regularly attending the sessions of the Board, addressed meetings everywhere, and developed intelligent interest in the organized effort of women for the evangelization of our country. A loving and grateful constituency of Presbyterian women all over the country still have the privilege of remembering in prayer their devoted leader who for so many years stood for an aggressive home mission policy.

The field secretaries—Miss Lydia A. Hays, Miss Abby H. J. Upham, Miss Helen Kiel—have most faithfully and tactfully presented the missionary work of the Woman's Board and strengthened its organization in the Synods of Indiana, Ohio, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Minnesota, South Dakota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, Missouri and Texas.

Miss Julia Hatch and Mrs. A. J. Aldrich have been most successfully doing the same work on the Pacific Coast, and all these women have won the enthusiastic and loyal support of our constituency.

ORGANIZATION.

Throughout thirty-three synodical societies, two hundred fifty-eight presbyterial organizations, and five thousand seven hundred ninety-four women's auxiliaries with a reported membership of one hundred forty thousand the effort to interest all Presbyterian women in the support of the special home mission work committed to them by the General Assembly has gone steadily forward. The aim to double membership is popular, and in many synods campaigns were inaugurated and special days designated when some women were personally seeking new members, while others were gathered in little groups praying for God's blessing on the undertaking. An encouraging number of societies have already reported that membership has been more than doubled because of personal and concerted work. In many churches the list of members has been intelligently studied and those naturally eligible for membership in the woman's auxiliary or in any of the young women's societies have been so designated and each has been personally invited to join such organization. In every case when the effort has been successful it is because a gracious woman used her personality to attract the uninterested and help her to become one of the interested. Reports of doubling membership will be made at the synodical meetings in the fall, and the final results will be announced at the next Annual Meeting of the Woman's Board, when it is confidently believed two hundred eighty thousand women will be definitely enlisted as an integral portion of this great national organization, pledged to a national work of surpassing opportunity. Let no woman even intimate that our Board is merely an organization, but all bear always in mind that it is a living organism dependent for its life and vigor upon the loyal cooperation of praying women all over this country.

Interested auxiliaries, helping to support our work, are among the Spanish-speaking peoples in Mexican plazas and in Porto Rico; among the Indians of the plains and in Alaska; in Utah, among the Mountaineers, Freedmen and the foreign-speaking populations; in fact often these auxiliaries, because of their fidelity in prayer and their liberality in gifts, stir us up to a greater loyalty. The solidarity of the women's missionary societies auxiliary to the Woman's Board, their unity in things essential, their diversity and flexibility in non-essentials, make our organization unique. There is none other comparable to it—there is none other doing the work so vital, so intimately connected with foundation building.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S DEPARTMENT.

The Young People's Department is a joint department, presenting equally the work of the Assembly's Board of Home Missions and the Woman's Board to Sunday schools and to young people's societies, including Christian Endeavorers and other societies of young people not organized exclusively for missions. In these organizations contributions are divided between the Board of Home Missions and the Woman's Board. The thirteenth annual report of the secretary, Miss M. Josephine Petrie, is published in full and a careful study of it will prove most illuminating. In addition to this work, Miss Petrie has also official charge of the Westminster Guild, the popular new society for Presbyterian young women, embracing Bible study and home and foreign mission study.

The Sunday nearest Thanksgiving continues to be the day on which a general appeal for the work of the Woman's Board may be made to all Sunday schools. Last year the contributions were asked for the general work of the Woman's Board and not for a special field, but Sunday schools pledged to the support of any special object or station may, as customary, so designate their offering received at Thanksgiving.

BANDS.

In contradistinction to young people's societies and Sunday schools are the bands, a generic term including organizations auxilary to the Woman's Board through presbyterial and synodical connections, composed of boys, or girls, or both, and of ages varying from six years to forty, as the secretary having this as part of her work realized when attempting to make a survey of bands the past year. It is hoped the bands composed of older women may in the near future adjust the plan of work so as to become women's missionary societies. The past year some have done this; others have become Westminster Guilds or young women's societies. The number of bands reporting this year is nine hundred. There are three hundred fifty-eight young women's societies which are not Westminster Guilds.

Cradle Roll Tens, the organization for little children under six years of age, are invited to contribute to the support of the Navajo Indian Mission at Jewett, New Mexico. During the past year one hundred new Cradle Roll Tens were enrolled, making a total of three hundred thirty, but it is acknowledged that this is an incomplete record.

HOME MISSION MONTHLY.

This deservedly popular magazine records a prosperous year, having reached a subscription list of such gratifying size that to regularly supply subscribers and the necessary extra copies it has required each month an average edition of thirty-five thousand two hundred fifty copies. It is the distinct endeavor of this publication to prove an informing and stimulating medium of communication between the work and its supporters, recording needs, conditions and progress of the home mission work, depending for its support upon Presbyterian women, while promoting best methods for arousing increasing activity throughout the constituency. The cost of publication on the individual subscription is slightly less than the subscription price, and this margin of profit when totaled has enabled the magazine to turn into the missionary treasury this past year two thousand five hundred dollars for the equipment of the large boys' building at Sitka, Alaska, toward which there has been paid the sum of seventy-five hundred dollars from the magazine's previous savings; in recognition of these facts, the building is to be known as The Home Mission Monthly Sitka Building. With the issue for the coming October the magazine completes its twenty-fifth year, during which time its support has come entirely from its subscription list; it has nevertheless been possible from time to time to place a surplus over expenses in the Board's treasury for mission work. The sum now totals twenty-seven thousand five hundred dollars.

OVER SEA AND LAND.

Again it is pleasant to commend to our loyal constituency our children's magazine, Over Sea and Land. We wish that every parent would use this publication for the entertainment and instruction of the children in the home. Month by month the magazine contains the latest news from our mission fields woven into interesting stories accompanied by attractive pictures. The future support of the work of our Mission Boards demands that the interest of the children of to-day be aroused and secured, and for this end the pages of Over Sea and Land furnish material helpful to parent, teacher, band leader, and Sunday-school superintendents.

ILLUSTRATED LECTURES.

The services of the missionary lecturer of the Board, the Rev. Delos E. Finks, have been in continuous demand. Mr. Finks' itineraries are usually arranged to cover a presbytery, many churches taking a series of two or three lectures each, that a comprehensive view of home mission work may be gained. While the purpose of these lectures is distinctly educational, their popular features call together large audiences, and result in appreciable returns through the regular channel of giving.

Delightful lectures, prepared to accompany stereopticon slides, may be secured from the Literature Department. Porto Rico is the most recent subject prepared for such presentation.

HOME MISSION STUDY CLASSES.

This mode of securing definite information on a special home mission field is growing in popularity. The various home mission summer schools and summer conferences have done much to stimulate such study by preparing leaders who are willing to conduct classes in their home churches. Practically the only difficulty in indefinitely multiplying classes is to find the acceptable leader. It is earnestly hoped that more of our young college women will be willing to lead home mission study classes. The study classes in the colleges this past year have been unusually popular, doubtless because the book, "Advance in the Antilles," proved an attractive subject and was presented in a most fascinating style. Last year one hundred forty home mission study classes were reported from women's missionary societies, and while this is an incomplete list, it is an encouraging advance over the ninety classes reported in women's missionary societies the previous year.

MISSIONARY BOXES.

There has been criticism regarding the custom of sending boxes to missionary pastors, it being urged that all salaries should be so increased that such aid should not be necessary. Although the Woman's Board realized the situation was serious, it hesitated to take action. Without any consultation whatever with the representatives of the Woman's Board of Home Missions, the Advisory Council of Church Extension, at its meeting in November, 1910, passed the following action:—

"That the use of Missionary Boxes as a method of supporting home missionaries should be discontinued as rapidly as possible; that no recognition should be made of the value of boxes or of other items other than cash in the official reports of home mission contributions, and that salaries of home missionaries should be increased till the need of boxes shall be eliminated."

teenth, 1911, the following action was taken:-

"The Board of Home Missions has long felt that missionary boxes should be eliminated as a method of partial support of home missionaries. It is now prepared to announce as a definite policy that, as rapidly as possible, it will seek such discontinuance. In view of the sentiment on the field and the sentiment in missionary societies, this cannot be done abruptly. But we hereby announce it as our policy to seek such increase of missionary salaries as will, at the very earliest possible date, remove the occasion for the use of missionary boxes."

In attempting to carry out these resolutions the Woman's Board has written to its usual correspondents, assuring them that when boxes are needed and where women's missionary societies have signified their desire to render such aid, it will continue to be the means of communication. Last year three hundred four boxes were sent to ministers' families, besides many subscriptions to religious papers and secular magazines.

As there is no possible criticism of boxes for mission schools they are not affected by this change of policy, but continue to attract many friends, for during the year three hundred sixty-five boxes of clothing, seven hundred yards of carpet, and thirty-nine rugs were sent to various stations. Thirty-three "wonder" bags and packages cheered and gladdened the lives of our teachers. Christmas gifts for all the schools—with the exception of five or six in the states and Cuba and Porto Rico, for which money was secured for a treat of candy, oranges and nuts—have been secured.

LITERATURE DEPARTMENT.

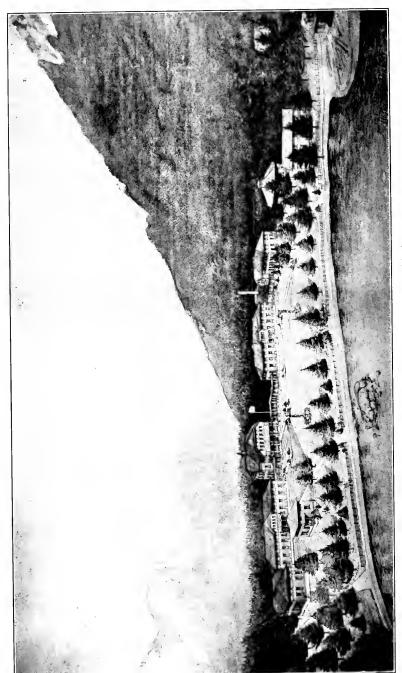

The Literature Department prints and distributes leaflets for both Boards of Home Missions. The Prayer Calendar, mission study text-books and publications of the Young People's Department are issued jointly and profits are equally shared, while leaflets presenting special work are the property of the Board thus advertised. The receipts last year for the Woman's Board were $5,439.63, representing a decrease of $689.83. Cause for this can be directly traced to the falling off in the use of the leaflets of the Woman's Board, due doubtless to increased demand for text-books for home mission study, the total sales of which amounted to $2,707.83, or an advance of $993.08. Receipts from the Prayer Calendar are in excess of all previous years, largely because of the faithful work of the secretaries of literature. Twenty-nine new leaflets and twenty-five reprints have been issued, comprising 442,116 copies of 4,618,002 pages. Issues published jointly by both Boards number 66,075 copies of 2,355,500 pages, of which there were 10,722 text-books of 2,833,-400 pages. The "Advance in the Antilles" has been the study book for both women and young people and is in great demand. The text-book for juniors, entitled "Star 49," is very popular.

Mite boxes to the number of 26,850 have been distributed and 279,672 collection envelopes, of which 103,922 were for praise meetings, 52,250 for the summer offering and 123,500 for regular collections in societies. However, this does not begin to represent the membership using the envelope system, for many societies prefer to issue their own envelopes so as to state the place and date of meeting. The demand for programs, invitations and offering envelopes for the observance of special services of prayer and praise has been most gratifying during the year. The leaftlet subscription plans are well patronized and by this method societies regularly receive either new publications when printed, or leaflets on the monthly topic.

THE COUNCIL OF WOMEN FOR HOME MISSIONS.

The second annual meeting reported the addition of one constituent Board, the Woman's General Missionary Society of the United Presbyterian Church, but the total number of affiliated women's national societies remains the same as last year—nine—because of the consolidation of two national societies of Baptist women. There are now five affiliated summer conferences,

The Sheldon Jackson School, Sitka, Alaska.

Northfield, Massachusetts; Winona Lake, Indiana; Boulder, Colorado; Mount Hermon, California; Minnetonka, Minnesota. The Council of Women has also established relations of mutual helpfulness with the Home Missions Council, the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, the National Indian Association and the National Board of the Young Women's Christian Association. The Presbyterian members of the Council are Mrs. F. S. Bennett, Mrs. D. E. Waid, Mrs. H. Lindeman, Miss V. May White, Miss Julia Fraser, New York; Mrs. M. V. Richards, Synod of Baltimore; Mrs. Herbert Campbell, Synod of Indiana; Mrs. Paul Raymond, Synod of Colorado; Mrs. R. B. Goddard, Synod of California. The primary object of the Council is to prepare the home mission text-books, strengthen home mission interests in summer conferences, schools, colleges, and at young people's summer conferences, develop a home mission literature, increase home mission comity and cooperation and the observance of Home Mission Day of Prayer—the fourth Thursday of February.

THE FIELD.

"Fidelity" summarizes the story of the year on the field. Faithfulness has characterized the missionary teacher, the Bible reader, minister, physician, hospital workers, native helpers, comprising the four hundred ten representatives supported by the Woman's Board in the one hundred fifty-nine stations among the Alaskans, Indians, Mexicans, Mormons, Mountaineers, Foreigners, Porto Ricans, Cubans, extending from Point Barrow at the extreme north to San Juan Hospital, Porto Rico. This does not include the work supported among the Freedmen—see the report of that Board for it. Laboring in season and out of season, in cold and heat, in pouring rain or drenching fog, or in the parched aridity of the desert our missionaries have been faithful to their trust, have magnified the Lord Jesus Christ, have through the gracious influence of the Holy Spirit won many precious souls for their hire, and have joyfully praised God for the measure of success which has been granted them. Things spiritual cannot be measured as can things temporal, and final results of missionary work can never be realized here, for redeemed souls are infinite—and their worth can never be comprehended or expressed by finite terms.

On the Alaska field the most notable event has been the work on the six new buildings comprising the Sitka plant. This industrial and boarding institution will hereafter be known as the Sheldon Jackson School, in grateful appreciation of the man who, more than any other, shaped the organization and early history of the Woman's Board of Home Missions and was also the great missionary and pathfinder of Alaska. It is fitting that the best and most complete plant which the Woman's Board has should bear his name, especially as it is located in Alaska. Upon the earnest recommendation of the superintendent of the Sitka school it was temporarily closed while the buildings are being erected. All individuals and societies supporting teachers, scholarships or shares in the work at Sitka were urged to continue their usual contributions, allowing the money to be applied on the erection of the buildings. At Point Barrow the combination building, used for church services and also for the missionary's home, had been totally destroyed by fire. As soon as word of this calamity reached headquarters, immediate action was taken to send necessary material for rebuilding to this isolated station. Dr. Marsh and the native Christians earnestly urged that two buildings be erected, one for church purposes, one for the missionary's home—the natives themselves contributing most generously for the church building. Reports of the work, other than that the material had arrived safely, have not been received at this time. At Haines the small hospital continues to be a ministry for helpfulness, and money for the betterment of this building is sadly needed.

The year on the Indian field has been characterized by a wonderful spiritual awakening; at one mission, where the Woman's Board has maintained Bible readers, sixty-two girls in the nearby government school professed conversion and all are leading changed lives. Tucson, our largest and best equipped Indian plant, is crowded to the limit, and Indian boys are being turned away constantly. The call of the desert, which is home, is sometimes irresistible to these wild Arabs, and recently one of the teachers, fearing a group of boys had answered the call and were running away, jumped on a pony and rode after them. Behind a great bunch of saccaton grass out in the desert she found the boys,—with their Shorter Catechisms reciting to each other the answers! Recently nineteen have won Bibles because of repeating the Catechism. At Jewett, New Mexico, the teachers observed the Week of Prayer with special services, and a deep impression was made on the older boys.

A touching appeal which reached the office as the books were closing, was the proffer by a Cherokee elder of ninety acres of beautifully located land for the new site of the Elm Spring school, demanding of course new buildings, which for years have been sadly needed. The Indian did this in memory of his little girl who died while a pupil in this school. Such proffered cooperation from one of a race too often judged unappreciative cheers our hearts and encourages us to renewed energy and greater liberality.

On the Mexican field a noteworthy event has been the erection of the school building and teachers' home at Embudo, for which the Mexicans contributed two hundred twenty-four loads of rock, thirty thousand adobe bricks, while forty women did all of the plastering. The contractor who began the erection of this building proved unsatisfactory before the foundation was finished, and our missionary, a young woman, with the nearest other commissioned American worker, forty-six miles away, undertook the work and most successfully completed it. This building cost $3,837.90, and the best carpenter from Sante Fe said he would not attempt to duplicate it for less than seven thousand dollars. At this plaza the Penitentes are very strong and they are divided into two groups, those who, in spite of the priest's orders to the contrary, send their children to our school, and are called "Penitentes Presbiterianos," while the others are called "Penitentes Catholics." This is the only plaza where a division in the order of Penitentes has ever occurred. One hundred twenty-five children are now in actual attendance at the mission school and since December an assistant teacher has been employed.

Notable changes are taking place in Utah. Fulfilling an agreement made a number of years ago with the Westminster College, the Salt Lake Collegiate Institute has been moved out to the beautiful new college building and later will become the preparatory department of the college. The Woman's Board pays five thousand dollars the first year for current work, this sum to be reduced at the rate of one thousand dollars annually for a period of five years. The Woman's Board has no connection with Westminster College and cannot credit funds for its support. At Logan a domestic science course has been installed in the New Jersey Academy, which is proving most attractive. At Mount Pleasant work is in progress remodeling the Academy, and the Ferron chapel school-house is now in use.

On the Mountain field thrilling reports come of the success of the Bible readers, who not only do evangelistic work in the homes of the people, conduct prayer meetings, and lead Sunday schools, but are frequently in great demand as district nurses. In one community it is necessary to hold the Bible school on Saturday afternoon, as Sunday is such a crowded day for the Bible reader she could not possibly reach the place that day. This young woman walks sixty miles each month simply to cover her Sunday-school work. Another Bible reader writes: "We had a great revival here during January at which fourteen persons were converted. All except two were heads of families. About the same number of backsliders were renewed." Miss Phillips at Dorland has most successfully inaugurated a new plan, allowing six girls who, by excellence of work and fidelity, have won the privilege of living in a small house on the school property, not only do all the work but also have the joy of planning it. They do the house work, purchase supplies, keep accurate expense accounts, cook the food and are most happy in the life. The teacher who, in addition to other duties, has been detailed to live with the girls, sends most enthusiastic reports of progress. The excellent record of past years at the three great Asheville schools has been maintained, while the other boarding and day-schools have had a happy and prosperous year. An enlargement of work among the Mountaineers has been made at Rock Creek, Tennessee. The cottage for the Bible readers at Gladstone, Missouri, has been completed, and these devoted missionaries are at last most comfortably housed.

Missions among Foreign-speaking populations are of absorbing interest and continually demand enlarging support. At Ellis Island the one missionary representing our Church to the incoming throngs of immigrants is constantly busy with the women and children—cheering and comforting and helping to send them rejoicing on their way. The past quarter she wrote five hundred ninety-six letters, sent telegrams, called in seventy-five homes in New York City, met about seven thousand two hundred people and visited three hundred ninety patients in the hospital. She loaned books, distributed good papers, four hundred Polish, three hundred Slovak, one hundred Bohemian, thirty Russian, thirty Croatian, and lesser numbers to several other nationalities. In October the Magyar Church at Beaver Falls, Pennsylvania, was organized with sixty-three charter members. Much house to house work on the part of the faithful missionary preceded this. The English night-school attracts many adult men who keenly appreciate the opportunity it affords to gain a working knowledge of the English language. work among the Italians in Cincinnati has been greatly blessed, while the Emily Yale schools of Chicago continue their helpful ministry.

In Porto Rico the new plan for the Colegio Americano at Mayaguez is more and more commending itself as the people appreciate the scope of the work. The girls who are serving as pupil teachers at the Marina Mission attend the Colegio half of each day and receive definite, practical training in the art of teaching, then return to the Marina for the balance of the day and teach. The hospital at San Juan continues to maintain its record for usefulness. The total number of patients treated during the year in all departments was twelve thousand two hundred fifty-two, which is a gain of three thousand over last year. Five hundred twenty-five of these were cared for in the hospital beds, and about five hundred of them sent home cured or greatly improved. At Guines, Cuba, some needed changes in plans of the new building, and delay caused by difficulties of construction at so long a range, have retarded the work, but it is confidently believed that the new building will be ready for the opening of the next school term.

For missions among the Freedmen the Woman's Board receives and transmits money designated for this cause, but has absolutely nothing to do with the administration, as that is vested in the Freedmen's Board at Pittsburgh. Neither are statistics of Freedmen's work included in reports of the Woman's Board. Once a year an entire issue of the official publication, The Home Mission Monthly, is devoted to advertising this great work—neither does the Woman's Board suggest a field topic for April, so that the constituency may plan for a meeting on this topic at that time.

On every field the story of the year, as gleaned from the quarterly reports of our missionaries, reveals such heroism and fidelity on their part and loyal cooperation from the people for whom we are laboring that we rejoice in our opportunity for service. At a recent home missionary meeting one of the prominent speakers said that what the Church needed most now is "The inspiration of a great idea, an awakened sense of the heroic." May this thought thrill our women so that more may now come to the help of the Lord against the mighty, that the "awakened sense of the heroic" may challenge Presbyterian women to do more, and those naturally qualified for leadership may joyfully give their time for strengthening this work in local, in presbyterial, in synodical societies, and on the Board. Wherever placed, whatever doing, may each have "the inspiration of a great idea—an awakened sense of the heroic." Then will the day be hastened when no missionary teacher will have to write, as one did recently: "It isn't the care and thought for the boys and girls who are here that we feel so much, as we do the burden laid upon our hearts for those we must turn away."

YOUNG PEOPLE'S DEPARTMENT.

The following report from the Young People's Department presented by the secretary, Miss M. Josephine Petrie, has been approved:—

The history of the Young People's Department for the past twelve months is one of continuous activity and variety, and the annual report is presented to the Board of Home Missions and the Woman's Board with a plea for careful and thoughtful reading on the part of all who are interested in the young people of our Presbyterian Church.

While the aim of the department is fundamentally to direct the education of young people's organizations along a specific line of work, the large majority of inquirers judge the value of the service to the Church at large by the financial returns, and therefore first place is given in our record this year to the amounts received from the various sources with which the department is in correspondence.

It should be remembered that contributions from organizations of young people and Sunday schools are credited as designated, the adjustment between the Board and the Woman's Board being possible through the undesignated funds.

Even should this department report a large falling off in total receipts, our young people are not going backward in their giving. Contributions from the Sunday schools of Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, West Virginia and Wisconsin are now used for local home mission work within their own bounds, except in a few instances where gifts are specifically made for the work under the care of the Board. In most of the self-supporting synods only work under the Woman's Board is presented to young people's societies. To guard the interests of this growing work of home missions great vigilance is needed, and it is hardly necessary to state that various plans are put in operation for keeping this business of the Church before our constituency.

When the secretary discovered a decrease of $1,000.00 from young people's societies on November first, a special request for a thank offering from delinquent societies on Thanksgiving Sunday was suggested to the synodical and presbyterial young people's secretaries, with a statement of the facts. Immediate response was given by many and the call was passed by them to local societies. On December sixth the returns began to come in and within the following quarter the full amount was received. The first of March a printed note of reminder of their privileges was sent to about twenty-five hundred chairmen of missionary committees in Christian Endeavor and Junior Christian Endeavor societies. Many of these had formerly contributed to this work but had allowed interests outside our denomination to absorb their gifts—and this "turning from the way" is by no means entirely the fault of the young people. Acknowledgments of these notices have brought a repetition of similar reasons—local appeals, the "Christian Endeavor Building Fund," the "support of the Young People's Department of the Board of Publication and Sabbath-school Work," assessments for state, county and district work, the sending of a box of clothing, or papers and magazines. And in perfect good faith they ask that these gifts, or their value, be reported in Organizations of young women and mission bands contributed last year $27,568.33 and this year $27,756.03. These organizations are auxiliary to the Woman's Board only, and their gifts are included in the figures of the Board of Home Missions and not divided as are those from young people's societies and Sunday schools.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

Before the meetings of synod a joint letter was sent to the chairmen of the committees on home missions, foreign missions, and publication and Sabbath-school work. This communication was signed by Mr. Trull, Dr. Henry and the secretary of this department and asked for the cooperation of these three committees with the three Boards in the securing of systematic missionary instruction in every Sunday school through (1) The adoption of a missionary policy embracing (a) systematic study, (b) definite prayer, (c) proportionate and systematic giving, (d) efforts to secure missionary recruits. (2) A missionary committee to make such policy effective. Responses to the letter were most cordial and a growing correspondence along this specific line is the result. These three departments have continued the publication of "Kingdom Comments"—a leaflet giving missionary illustrations on the International Sunday-school lessons, for which your secretary has supplied the paragraphs on home missions. The growing subscription list and call for single copies of the pamphlet have been most encouraging. It has been published at a small financial loss, but the demand for the publication seemed to justify an advance in price to five cents per copy, which will fully cover the cost of production and mailing.

Another joint effort of the three departments, which has been highly commended, is the Sunday-school rally held during the meetings of General Assembly. The demonstration of methods for presenting missions in the Sunday school has met with most hearty approval on the part of those attending the Assembly.

An illustrated twelve-page leaflet for Sunday schools ("Pictorial Home Missions") was prepared in the early fall and 33,000 copies have been distributed. In response to requests for other printed matter for this purpose, narrative leaflets and those of the general work of the Board and Woman's Board have been furnished.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL PROGRAMS.

The annual programs—for the two Sabbaths recommended by our General Assembly as special home mission days—have again been provided. For the Thanksgiving Sabbath 80,000 copies were sent on request, and for the Washington's Birthday celebration over 125,000 copies were supplied—the largest order in our history. The Sunday schools ordering numbered about 950, and while this is a very small representation of Presbyterian Sunday schools, we have reason to know that many of them would have taken no home mission offering but for the programs. The fact is apparent that the recommendation of the General Assembly is not considered mandatory, and it is also evident that systematic giving is not encouraged in hundreds of Sunday schools, if we may judge from the many who accompany their letters of remittance with the apology—"It was a stormy day, consequently our offering is small."

As usual the programs and coin receptacles for the February service were supplied to many in self-supporting synods and the offerings retained for the synodical fund. Large quantities were also furnished where the offering was applied to the presbyterial fund for work among the foreigners.

STUDY CLASSES.

If we may judge of increased interest by the apparent desire for more definite knowledge and the willingness to devote time to the seeking for information, this has been our most promising year. The record of home mission study classes is very incomplete in spite of most earnest efforts to secure accurate reports. All inquirers of this department are followed up by correspondence, but because of the numerous depositories for books, the "Follow-up system" is limited to those who apply directly to the New York headquarters. Leaders of classes fail to understand that neglect to register the class reacts in failure to receive the helps it is our privilege to supply them with. The study for the year, Cuba and Porto Rico, has been very popular and much enthusiasm has been manifest. About four hundred classes, with an enrollment of more than 6,000 are recorded, and twenty entire societies have followed a systematic study of home mission text-books. This more than doubles the report of last year. The increase in California and the territory of the Board of the Northwest is especially marked, due to the splendid service of the study class secretaries. Without doubt the number of organizations studying "Advance in the Antilles" will be multi-plied during the coming year as it takes fully one year to introduce a book beyond the small circle who attend summer conferences. Very few study classes are reported in junior societies, but leaders of bands and juniors have used the text-book "Star 49, A Story of Happenings in Porto Rico," for consecutive study in their meetings.

Our leaflet announcement, "Seeing America Tours," and the "Handbook," of which three editions have been published, has been used in promoting classes in all organizations. A small folder of general study class hints has also been widely circulated.

Reports reach us of many new Presbyterian Christian Endeavor societies, and this addition should make a noticeable advance in the study and gifts during the next twelve months.

SPECIAL OBJECTS.

Try as we may to abolish the "special object" and to guide contributors to the general fund or the "station plan," no decrease is apparent in the demand for "the name of an individual," either the boy or girl needing help in one of our mission schools, or the preacher or teacher in the "stations," according to the amount of the gift. No day passes without at least one such request, and we endeavor to gratify the correspondent and to provide the descriptive matter.

MISSIONARY LETTERS.

One method of providing information is through the printed field letters, compiled from letters and reports of missionaries and teachers in the various fields among the exceptional peoples. During the past year nearly 35,000 of these four-page letters, including 8,000 for the juniors, have been sent to contributors, and for use in Sunday schools and young people's meetings. Intermediate societies have a special salary and receive three letters a year from their teacher in Cuba. Others are furnished with special letters from their "own missionary." and these duplicated letters to the number of 5,600 were supplied this year.

MISSIONARY MEETINGS.

Next to the field letters the largest demand and generous appreciation is for our programs and other helps on the Christian Endeavor home mission topics. Over 30,000 copies of four programs were published and furnished as ordered, no charge being made for them. Occasionally the transportation charges have been returned. These programs are not mere outlines, but give full information on the topics suggested by the United Society of Christian Endeavor. It is a satisfaction to report that our mailing list for samples of each edition has grown to 1,000 names, and a large number are registered for full supplies for full supplies their societies. Another interesting item is that missionary chairmen of city and county unions are asking for advance copies of this material and the leaflets supplied with orders, and using them freely in preparing their general meeting suggestions.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Correspondence with the young people's secretaries of other denominational Boards, and an exchange of publications is also a pleasant feature of the work.

The department is well represented in print at the missionary exhibits of conventions, conferences and institutes and received commendation for the material sent to "The World in Boston."

We are frequently asked if our department publishes a magazine on the work of the Assembly's Board which we represent. It is expected that every well-regulated Presbyterian family subscribes for The Assembly Herald and The Home Mission Monthly, in which magazines one page each month is allowed the secretary of this department. These magazines are recommended to the young people's societies. Over Sea and Land is the publication for mission bands, junior societies, and the primary and junior departments of the Sunday schools.

EDUCATIONAL GATHERINGS.

Under the auspices of the Young People's Missionary Movement institutes are held in various sections of the country where the home and foreign text-books are taught, and Sunday-school missionary methods are discussed. The Presbyterians in attendance are reported to this department, and we endeavor through correspondence to stimulate or develop their interest in home mission study and giving and to secure leaders for local classes. Thanks are due the officers of the Young People's Missionary Movement, and the secretaries of the Educational Department of the Foreign Board for their prompt and careful reporting of home mission inquiries throughout the year.

Another opportunity for a more personal touch with possible leaders is through the summer conferences. Five of these were conducted by the Young People's Missionary Movement and two by Mr. Gelston of the General Assembly's Young People's Department. Owing to the pressure of office work it was not possible for your secretary to attend more than one of these gatherings, but it has been our privilege to suggest or furnish teachers and speakers. The expenses for the study classes at Winona Lake and Pocono Pines are divided between the Board of Publication and Sabbath-school Work, the Educational Department of the Foreign Board and this department.

OUR CO-WORKERS.

The three hundred twenty-five synodical and presbyterial secretaries for young people's work are a right loyal band with which it is a happy privilege to serve. The responsibility has been somewhat heavier this year owing to the election last fall of new secretaries in fifteen synods, of the synodical societies without a young people's secretary, and the fifty new presbyterial secretaries. Of the latter many were not reported until the sending out of annual blanks in February. It must be seen that failure to report these elections reacts on the whole work of the department. We again plead for a more careful discrimination in the selection of young women for this very important service.

WESTMINSTER GUILD.

A steady growth is shown in the number of Chapters and Circles of the Westminster Guild, and a corresponding advance in study and giving. An equal division of funds, equal division of study of home and foreign missionary topics, and a course in Bible study are the rules of the organization and where no young woman's society is in existence, or a reorganization seems advisable, this plan has worked admirably. We report a gain this year of over one hundred Chapters (young women over eighteen years of age) and about twenty-five Circles (girls under eighteen) or a total of four hundred Chapters and fortythree Circles. The study of "Advance in the Antilles," with a set of programs prepared especially for the Guild, has been followed most enthusiastically. Their contributions have been applied toward the support of the hospital for natives at Haines, Alaska, and many have supplemented their gifts of money with hospital supplies which have been the work of their hands.

A review of the twelve preceding reports of the present secretary of your young people's work is most gratifying, a slow but constant advance being manifest from year to year in this foundation work for which you established the department. The statistical paragraphs indicate the growing dependence placed in this branch of the work. Total contributions from all the young people's organizations and Sunday schools in the report of 1898-99 were $81,252.93, and the totals for this year reach $107,676.26.

This thirteenth report is submitted to the Board of Home Missions and the Woman's Board with gratitude to all who have responded so cheerfully and loyally to the call of home missions.

LITERATURE DEPARTMENT.

The signals of advancement in this department of our work are a growing interest in our publications and the consequent increase in the number of applications for them.

While the total receipts of the department show a decrease of $107.18, this is chiefly due to a change in book-keeping, receipts for one item included in former years having been transferred to another account. The total amount credited on our books for the year is $8,206.45, which contains a good advance in sales of the Board's literature, in Prayer Calendars and in the text-books for study classes.

In order that all ministers holding pastorates shall receive regularly the most recent and convincing facts regarding our fields of work, we have been mailing to them each month "Paragraphs" bearing on the home mission topics especially recommended. Only samples of these and all other new leaflets as issued are sent. When a leaflet is considered particularly adapted to the use of a congregation the pastor has the privilege of ordering it in quantities sufficient for general distribution. This method prevents waste and gives satisfaction. The many orders that have come to us each month have made it necessary for us to issue two hundred fifty-eight thousand, or an average of twenty-one thousand five hundred copies per month of the "Paragraphs" alone. The fact that these monthly issues are being reproduced in local weeklies, church papers and bulletins is a further guarantee of their adaptability. Most painstaking care has been put into the production of these helps to make them acceptable to the largest number of our churches, and it is gratifying to receive the expressions of appreciation that invariably accompany requests for them. The plan of supplying literature for the occasion of the annual collection is also maintained, and we have sent out two hundred thousand leaflets and one hundred fifty-one thousand collection envelopes to seventeen hundred three churches for such purpose.

This year's total number of leaflet and pamphlet publications is somewhat less than last though the number of pages is considerably in advance. Besides the twelve issues of the "Paragraph" we have added nineteen new titles to our list, and demands have made necessary the reprinting of eight other leaflets, which altogether make a total of nine hundred ninety-nine thousand four hundred copies containing six million four hundred fifty-seven thousand pages. In addition to these the publications issued jointly by the Board of Home Missions and the Woman's Board number sixty-six thousand seventy-five copies including two million three hundred fifty-five thousand five hundred pages. Ten thousand seven hundred twenty-two text-books containing two million eight hundred thirty-three thousand four hundred pages have also been required to meet the largely increased demands from home mission study classes.

Many more programs and collection envelopes for the special service in Sunday schools in connection with the observance of Washington's Birthday were sent out this year than last.

Last year the Advisory Council on Church Extension recommended the publication of a handbook of information on all presbyteries. It was therefore upon this authorization that the Home Mission Year Book, 1911, came into existence, and it is a wonderfully rich mine of facts. It does not in any way take the place of, though it may be a valuable supplement to, the Prayer Calendar, this year's issue of which has surpassed all others in circulation.

The method of presenting home missions by the use of the stereopticon maintains its popularity. We have seven lectures that have been in constant use during the past year, and we are just adding a new one on Cuba and Porto Rico illustrated by seventy-eight carefully chosen slides.

It is through this department of our work that we pass down the lines of organization printed information to inspire the occupants of both pulpits and pews to think and act upon methods that can be employed to speed the bringing of our land to Christ. Will you help to secure the perusal of our publications?

CONCLUSION.

In closing this report it is proper to call attention to that rapid expansion of our work in every department, which can be adequately met only by a new conception of the world-wide scope and bearing of home missions and a deeper consecration of the Church to meet her vast responsibilities. The advance called for and met last year is called for again with louder emphasis. We dare not rest with present resources or be content with present progress. A measureless opportunity awaits us. What has been done for us during the past year by men who have had vision should be a mighty stimulus to all God's stewards to give to the evangelization of America the place which the logic of events and the Providence of God so plainly point.

SELF-SUPPORTING SYNODS.

The self-supporting synods have furnished us the following reports of their fine and constantly increasing work.

SYNOD OF BALTIMORE.

Owing to the peculiar geographical conditions no synodical organization for home missions is maintained, each presbytery being a self-supporting unit and conducting its home mission work independently.

PRESBYTERY OF BALTIMORE.

The principle of self-support has given a very great impetus to home mission work during the past year. Contributions have more than doubled and new work has been undertaken in various directions. Three new churches have been organized, one of these self-supporting. One church, which had closed its doors for two years, has been reopened and two new preaching stations have been established and a Sunday school organized in a new field. A social settlement, supported by the Baltimore churches, has been commenced in a very needy section of the city during the year. The First Church of Arlington has attained to self-support. Through the help of the Presbyterian Association, two new churches have been built costing $17,000.00.

During the year evangelistic services have been held in most of the churches with gratifying results. The Presbyterian Training School is located in Baltimore, which prepares deaconesses, missionaries and other church workers for service in all parts of the country.

A deaconess has been employed to help in the establishment of new work and in assisting in the development of the work in railroad, mining and other needy communities.

Special attention has been given during the year to work among the foreigners. As Baltimore is an important port of entry for immigrants, arrangements have been made to meet the steamers on their arrival, in order to minister to these strangers coming to our shores. The Immigrant Home opens its doors to hundreds of friendless immigrants and extends a beneficent ministry, which is very greatly appreciated.

For sixteen years an encouraging work has been carried on in behalf of the Bohemians of the city, of whom there are about 12,000. The past year has seen the commencement of work among two other nationalities—Italians and Poles, of whom there are 10,000 and 35,000 respectively. An interesting feature of this work is that two fine church buildings, which had to be abandoned by their English-speaking congregations, have been turned over to the Home Mission Committee for the use of the new foreign work. This step has been a very great assistance to our missionaries in reaching their people.

Summarizing the work: 20 churches were aided in the support of their ministers; 53 ministers and 3 other workers have been employed. There were 231 additions to the home mission churches of the presbytery during the year—181 on examination and 50 by letter. The total membership of these churches is 1,724, with 2,012 in the Sabbath schools. The amount raised by these churches for self-support was $15,162.00, while $1,226.00 was contributed to the mission and benevolent funds. There are 19 church buildings, valued at $129,800.00, and 7 manses, valued at $16,700.00. J. S. Conning, Presbyterial Superintendent.

PRESBYTERY OF NEW CASTLE.

Probably the most important part of the work in this presbytery during the year has been the effort that has been put forth toward grouping the churches and improving the financial system.

All the aided churches of the presbytery are supplied with pastors excepting two separate charges and one group of three charges.

A flourishing Italian work has been carried on in Wilmington among the Italians of that city. They have a well-equipped pastor with an accomplished wife who is doing excellent work. The work is carried on under the direct supervision of the West Church; the membership is carried on the roll of the West Church, and that church takes care of them and directs the work. Aid is appropriated from the mission fund for the work but the heaviest financial burdens rests upon the West Church people. A very neat, commodious and substantial church building has been erected and will soon be dedicated, and, as I understand, by the generous help of the West Church will be dedicated free of debt.

Some attempts have been made along the line of church federation, but it is difficult to have all the denominations unite in it, and the fields are still liable to division by any other denomination. This is particularly so within the bounds of this presbytery. An understanding and agreement among all the denominations are most decidedly needed for the economic adjustment of the Churches.

There has been no weakening of the country church within the bounds of this presbytery in any community where the owners of the land have continued to reside thereon, or their children have followed in the footsteps of their fathers in the cultivation of the land. In such communities the church is as strong as it ever was and is still exerting a most salutary influence upon the people of the community.

Considerable attention has been given to the financial situation and the attempt to introduce into our churches a better system of finance. introduction of a new system is slow and must be followed up closely.

The results are beginning to come in and are very gratifying.

Joel S. Gilfillan,

Chairman Home Mission Committee.

PRESBYTERY OF WASHINGTON CITY.

The Rev. J. Garland Hamner, D. D., who has reached an advanced age in the active ministry of the Church, has been compelled to lay down his duties both as pastor and chairman of the Home Mission Committee during the year.

In the country districts the presbytery faces the ordinary problems of such a region. In the capital city now, as during many recent years, there is pressure upon local churches to give the denomination such eminence as shall be fitting to so important a center as the capital of the nation.

SYNOD OF ILLINOIS.

The State of Illinois extends from north to south a distance of nearly four hundred miles. If laid along the eastern coast it would reach from Boston to Norfolk. This will give an idea of the varieties of climate and of population to be found within its borders. Agriculture has always been the most prominent occupation of its population, yet vast beds of bituminous coal underlie many of its farms, and it has recently become one of the largest producers of petroleum. It contains the second largest city in the country, and several of its other cities have increased from fifty to seventyfive per cent, in population within the last ten years. Immigrants from central and southern Europe are crowding into its cities and mining regions. These conditions complicate the work of home missions and add greatly to its difficulties.

Chicago has not only to meet the religious demands of a rapidly growing population of American-born citizens, but it must also give religious instruction in many languages. Its Committee on Church Extension is endeavoring to meet these demands by supplementing the salaries of pastors, by aiding in the construction of suitable buildings and by conducting missions for the native and foreign-speaking population. The combination of the causes of home missions and church extension has enabled the committee in charge to follow the efforts of missionaries in a manner which insures in charge to follow the efforts of missionaries in a manner which insures the permanence of their work. The following nationalities, besides the American-born, are included in the membership of Chicago Presbyterian churches: Scotch, Welsh, Dutch, Scandinavian, Slavonic, Italian, Persian and Chinese. Thirty-four churches were aided in the support of their pastors. In a number of instances institutional features have been introduced. The Chicago Industrial League was organized by Presbyterians. It obtains work for the unemployed and utilizes their laborations. byterians. It obtains work for the unemployed and utilizes their labor on waste material for their support. A cooperative council of city missions representing various denominations meets monthly and confers concerning new enterprises. A Presbyterian Training School for lay workers is successfully maintained in charge of Rev. Alexander Patterson.

Not only is the Synod of Illinois confronted with the difficulties attending home missionary work in Chicago, but owing to its proximity to St. Louis it faces similar problems in connection with that great city. An immense population has gathered along the eastern bank of the Mississippi made up largely of industrial classes employed in manufacturing establishments located there because nearer the supply of fuel. East St. Louis has grown more rapidly than any other city in Illinois. The adjacent cities of Venice, Madison and Granite City are also growing rapidly. Thousands of Hungarians, Bulgarians and other immigrants from eastern and southern Europe, have sought employment in these towns. wealth is in St. Louis while the laborers who have helped to gather it are on the Illinois side. Under these conditions the churches in the Illinois suburbs find difficulty in providing for their own support, and are unable to carry on active missions where most needed. Recognizing this situation, the Synodical Committee on Home Missions has not only made appropriations for the support of the regular work in the Presbytery of Alton, but it has taken entire charge of the missions among the Bulgarians and Hungarians. Reports from both of these fields are encouraging; but the point has been reached in the progress of the work when buildings the point has been reached in the progress of the work when buildings are necessary to give permanence to what has been already accomplished. The Hungarians of East St. Louis are endeavoring to build a church and the Bulgarians of Granite City have planned a combined mission and lodging house which will be a source of revenue. Some progress has been made in the raising of funds, but both nationalities will need substantial assistance before their plans can be realized. Rev. T. S. Bagranoff is in charge of the Bulgarian mission, and Rev. Joseph Kardos divides his labors between the Hungarians of St. Louis and East St. Louis.

The southern portion of the state within the territory of the Presbu-

The southern portion of the state, within the territory of the Presbyteries of Cairo and Ewing, forms a most important missionary field. The greater number of the churches must be supplied in groups or receive assistance in the support of their pastors. Mining operations have brought in Italians and other nationalities for whose religious care no provision has yet been made. In the northern mining region the Italian mission at Ladd is still maintained by the synod under Rev. S. Zedda, who divides his work with the Congregational mission at Spring Valley.

With the exception of the special features already noted, home mission work throughout the other parts of the synod consists mainly in assisting in the support of pastors in the smaller towns and in country churches.

The problem of the country church has received much attention from a sociological standpoint and investigations have been made in a limited area to determine their actual condition. As yet the data is insufficient to be the basis for the generalization of sound conclusions. In some of the richest portions of the state, churches have been weakened by the removal of the landowners to the towns and the substitution of tenants. In some sections over fifty per cent. of those living on the farms are tenants, but it will require the more thorough report of the United States Census to determine the percentage throughout the state. There has been some loss of churches of all denominations occasioned by the abandonment of weak organizations or the consolidation of neighboring churches; but there are few sections in which the preaching of the gospel is not sustained within a reasonable distance from every farm. A number of purely rural churches are adapting themselves to the demands of the age, and are growing in strength and usefulness. Frequent changes in the pastorates are the chief cause for the weakening of the country churches, and the changes are generally due to an insufficient support. There has been some improvement in this respect, but the average salary is still far too low.

The associate superintendent, Rev. C. E. Hayes, D. D., resigned his position March 1, 1911, to take charge of the work in Arkansas under the Board of Home Missions. The resignation was accepted with regret. Dr. Hayes was superintendent of the Church Extension Association of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, and his experience in that capacity made him specially helpful while the union was in process of consummation and in the united church. Rev. W. V. Jeffries has continued as synodical superintendent, having a general oversight of the work throughout the state, as well as the evangelists employed by the synod and the missionaries among the foreign-speaking population.

One hundred and thirty-five churches have received grants of aid. Three new mission churches and one self-sustaining church have been organized. Five churches formerly assisted have become self-sustaining. In the assisted churches and missions ninety-four ordained ministers and eighteen other workers were employed. The additions to the membership were nine hundred sixty by profession of faith and three hundred ninetyseven by certificate, the total membership being ten thousand three hundred one. There were one hundred thirty-five Sabbath schools with a membership of thirteen thousand two hundred sixty-two. The assisted churches raised $82,055.00 for their own support and $7,632.00 for beneficence. In the synod including Chicago, one Bohemian minister and three other workers were employed in two missions with forty-three members. There is one Chinese mission with twenty-one members; one French church with an ordained minister and two hundred eighty-three members; two Italian ministers and three other workers in one church and four missions, with one hundred sixty-four members; one Hungarian minister in one mission with sixty members; one Bulgarian minister in a mission with twelve members.

> THOMAS D. LOGAN, Chairman of the Committee on Home Missions.

SYNOD OF INDIANA.

The home mission contributions from the churches of Indiana have steadily increased the last three years, rising from $13,184.35 reported at synod in 1908, to $16,153.66 reported last fall. Of these church contributions the presbyteries use seventy-five per cent. within their own boundaries, send ten per cent to the Home Board in New York, and use fifteen per cent. for the synodical home mission work.

Last year the synodical treasurer also received $3,210.14 from the income of the Yandes Funds making a total of $7,464.05 at the disposal of the committee, besides halances of over $2,000.00 carried over from the previous year. As our fiscal years have closed in October heretofore, and as almost no offerings for this cause are made for some months thereafter in the churches, it was essential that considerable balances be carried over from one year to the next.

The expenses of last year were, however, unusually heavy, including $2,700.00 to the two southern presbyteries, $811.60 for mission property in Gary, $694.75 for work among the Syrians, and $535.00 for the other foreign-speaking peoples or churches. The salary and expenses of our very efficient synodical superintendent, Dr. George Knox, are more than met from the income of the Yandes Funds, but the heavy drafts of last year diminished our balances to $736.67, which is not a sufficient capital on which to begin a year's work.

According to the direction of the General Assembly, our fiscal year will close hereafter in the spring, concurrently with the Boards of the Church. The income from churches from October 1, 1910, to April 1, 1911, has amounted to $5,910.73, but many churches which usually report at the April meetings of presbytery are unrepresented, so that the report does not fairly represent a half year. No doubt a fair report for eighteen months may be made at our next annual report in April, 1912.

For the year ending October, 1910, above the $16,153.66 given by the churches for home missions, the women's societies of the state gave $10,561.13, and $653.70 for the mission at Gary among the foreign-speaking peoples. The Home Board reported $1.514.35 received from legacies, $560.02 direct from churches and $57.10 from Sunday schools, above the ten per cent, before referred to.

The growing importance of the foreign-speaking peoples among us is recognized by our Church. The synod has agreed to take over and administer this work wherever presbyteries desire it to be done. The Logansport Presbytery has so requested, and consequently the flourishing Hungarian church in South Bend and the mission among Slavic speaking peoples in Gary have been taken over by synod's committee. In the latter we cooperate with the Women's Home Mission Society in the support of Mr. Baligredzki and a lady helper. The little chapel building erected by us is already insufficient, and a movement is now making looking to the securing of other and better lots and the erection of a larger building. In Crawfordsville Presbytery a lot has been secured for a new mission building, and the Rev. Mr. Papa is already at work among the Italians and others living in that flourishing little city.

In Indianapolis the Presbyterians are conducting their own work among foreigners, so that it does not fall directly under the presbyterial home mission oversight. In view of the larger and more definite work among foreign-speaking peoples, we have discontinued the work among the scattered Syrians, except as our missionary may at stated intervals make a round of visits to them in their various towns, under oversight of synod's

It was proposed some years ago by this synod, that the various denominations of the state be brought together with a view to closer cooperation in home mission matters. As a consequence of which, the Interdenominational Council of the Churches of Indiana has been formed with our home mission chairman as its president. The state has been divided into districts of five or six counties each, and plans are now maturing to gather the home mission workers together in each of these districts, that they may study their fields from the point of view of the general Christian interest and cooperate toward the highest good, sacrificing denominational interests thereto where this is advisable and practicable. The practical outcome of these plans is yet in the future.

John P. Hale, Synodical Chairman.

SYNOD OF IOWA.

Home mission work in the Synod of Iowa is administered somewhat differently from other self-supporting synods. Instead of the customary synodical committee is "The Board of Iowa Presbyterian Home Missions", which seems to offer some advantages in administration. By its charter the Board is composed of the Presbyterial Home Mission Committee Chairmen, with an executive committee composed of the president, the The officers may or may not be representatives. Two stated meetings are held annually: one in connection with the synod, when the annual report is made and policies of the year decided; the other in advance of the spring presbyteries, when grants are made to the presbyteries, limited to the assured receipts of the Board for the year.

The basis of contributions from the congregations through the synod is a minimum of "Half as Many Dollars as Members." Any presbytery failing to meet the presbyterial total on this basis is subject to a pro rata reduction of its grant of aid, if this is necessary to keep the Board within the limit of its receipts for the year. The "Half as Many Dollars as Members" is to be contributed by the congregational offerings, exclusive of contributions of societies within the churches. These may go to the Woman's Board or other National channels of administration.

The contributions of the congregations are remitted to the presbyterial treasurers, who in turn remit to the Iowa Board ninety per cent., and to the National Board ten per cent. The financial statement for the year ending September 30, 1910, is briefly, as follows:

Through Congregational Offerings: To the Iowa Board, including interest To the National Board, New York Through Women's Synodical Society	1,840 88	1909-10. $17,215 96 1,821 37 10,585 75
Total	$28,334 19	$29,623 08 $1,288 89

The Assembly Minutes give the totals to home missions from all sources for the year ending April first, 1909 and 1910, as $35,919.00 and $37,662.00, respectively, a gain of $1,743.00.

During the synodical year ending September thirtieth, 1910, the total number of aided churches was one hundred twenty-three and the total number of commissions issued to missionaries was eighty-seven.

Advance Movements.

It has been necessary to increase the field force. Heretofore there has been one synodical superintendent, the Rev. Charles H. Purmort, D. D. Last summer the Rev. J. P. Linn, a member of the Board at that time, was appointed assistant superintendent; and in December the Rev. Scott W. Smith was appointed to a similar position. This will leave the superintendent more free for general supervisory and administrative purposes, and enable the Board to keep in closer touch with the needs and conditions of local fields and churches through the assistant superintendents, Mr. Linn operating in the western presbyteries, and Mr. Smith in the eastern for the present.

The Board has also moved in the organization of a work in connection with the State Agricultural College at Ames, with its two thousand students and a large faculty and a community attached, all situated two miles from the nearest churches (in the town of Ames), among which there is none of our faith and order. Inasmuch as no Church was at all adequately meeting the needs of the college body and community, it seemed a duty for some Church to attempt this service in behalf of the general situation, and because of the Presbyterians among the students, faculty, and community, the duty seemed laid on our Church through the Board. Dr. Purmort has given his special attention since January first to this enterprise. A considerable amount of money has been secured for grounds, a church structure and manse. Other Boards of the Church have promised cooperation in the erection of the building—which must be of a type corresponding to its educational surroundings-and the maintenance of a minister during at least the formative period. A church has been organized, with several members of the college faculty included. This work has been under consideration for several years and it is a matter of congratulation that it has now been begun.

Social Problems.

Work in the rural districts is made increasingly perplexing and difficult by the changes attending new social and economic conditions, including the steady drift of population toward cities and towns. The census report shows an absolute loss of population in Iowa during the past decade. There has been a large migration of the farming element, especially of the younger men, toward the newer West and Canada, which has embarrassed the present and future of the "country church". The centraliza-tion of population toward cities and towns has not correspondingly strengthened the urban work, for the incoming people are to a considerable extent aliens unfamiliar with our ways and unattracted to our worship.

So the problems of the Board are increased in both directions.

An embarrassment has risen out of the organization of three German presbyteries and one Bohemian presbytery, ecclesiastically related to the Synod of Iowa, but covering a wide extent of territory outside of Iowa's bounds, including churches in Nebraska, South Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois and Missouri. The peculiar home mission work in these presbyteries and their wide territorial sweep have seemed to make it necessary that their home mission affairs should be under the administration. necessary that their home mission affairs should be under the administration of the National Board, as approved by the synod and the Assembly. But these presbyteries feel that by this plan their work is not adequately administered nor presented to the Church at large, and are asking for some different arrangement, perhaps by the appointment under the National Board of a superintendent of work for foreign-speaking peoples, perhaps by the organization of a separate synod made up of these exceptional presbyteries. It is hoped that some adjustment may be effected satisfactory to all the interests concerned.

The late meeting of the synod took action amending the charter of the Board, dissociating from membership in the Board any presbyteries which do not carry on their home mission work under the plans of and in cooperation with the Board. While this relates immediately to one foreign and three foreign-speaking presbyteries, it would be equally effective with any other presbytery which might withdraw from the general synodical plan and administer its own affairs, or connect them with any other administrative agency than the Iowa Board. Notice of appeal from this action of the synod was given and the matter may come to the Assembly for adjudication.

E. B. Newcomb,

for adjudication. President of the Board of Iowa Presbyterian Home Missions.

SYNOD OF KANSAS.

The self-support undertaking is no longer an experiment with the Synod of Kansas, but is a well defined responsibility and a distinct system of meeting a pressing problem. The synod, at its last meeting, appointed a Synodical Home Mission Commission. This commission consists of the presbyteries' home mission chairmen. It is clothed with authority to raise and disburse home mission funds, appoint and superintend the activities of pastor-evangelists, and direct the general home mission interests. Rev. B. P. Fullerton, D. D., field secretary of this district, has counseled with the commission, and Rev. Moses Breeze worked for two months in the autumn under its direction.

Five pastor-evangelists have served the Church at large during the past year, and these men have been reappointed. Each presbytery works out the details of local home mission administration. The secretary of the ers, and notifies sessions of approved grants. There is one synodical treasury and Mr. H. C. Olin is the treasurer. The home mission year begins with April first. synodical commission issues the commissions to ministers, signs all vouch-

During the past year, every presbytery and section of the synod has been loyal to the whole. However, several churches have assumed extra local responsibilities, which have materially aided in developing the work in some of the fast growing cities. Money thus expended is not included in the total for synodical self-support. The Board has cooperated with the commission in providing for the foreigners in Kansas City.

The synod gave decidedly more for home mission evangelism this last year than during any previous year. The total receipts were $16,791.33. These large offerings have not decreased the support of the Woman's Board. The expenditures were $16,157.13. The balance on hand April first is $4,771.34. The commission has just approved a synodical budget of $20,535.00 for this year, and apportioned to the presbyteries an income upon the basis of sixty dollars per hundred members. One presbytery more than reached this standard last year.

The changing conditions of this agricultural state are constantly demanding readjustments. The commission is persuaded that the money has been wisely used. There were eighty-six commissions issued, grants were made to ninety-two churches, seventy-six ordained ministers labored under the commission, and two students were employed. The aided churches raised for local expenses an average of $11.30 per member, and for the Boards of the Church an average of $1.35.

The Synod of Kansas has fully justified the boldness of her faith and the wisdom of her determination in undertaking self-support.

WALTER M. IRWIN, Secretary of the Synodical Home Mission Commission.

SYNOD OF MICHIGAN.

Nine years ago the Synod of Michigan decided to assume self-support. The success of this independent movement was viewed with doubt by a majority of members of synod, and there was some justification for their lack of faith. During the preceding year the Home Board had expended in Michigan $13,913.91, of which amount the Presbyterians of Michigan had furnished but $5,570.74, a loss to the Board of $8,342.27. Would the had turnished but $5,570.74, a loss to the Board of $8,342.27. Would the synod be able to make up this deficit in the future? was the question given to the Home Mission Committee to answer. Synod met the problem by raising during the first year of self-support $11,362.34, and all doubt as to the success of the plan disappeared. The average amount raised under self-support annually has been $12,194.90. The most fruitful year was 1909, which furnished a total of $14,474.47. In nine years synod has raised for self-support $97,559.23. An average of sixty-seven ministers has received assistance annually through the committee. has received assistance annually through the committee. From five to ten students have been employed each summer. Because of self-support in synod some eighty to ninety churches have been able to have a minister during the past nine years, which would have been unsupplied without synodical assistance.

Synod has not only supported its own work, but has given through its committee $7,384.04 to the Home Mission Board for work outside of Michigan. These amounts do not include the amounts raised by Detroit Presbytery for work within its own bounds, amounting in some years to more than $6,000.00, or the offerings of the Sabbath schools, Women's and Young People's societies for work outside of Michigan, which amounted last year to $13,771.98.

Michigan is still one of the greatest and most needy home mission fields in the country. According to the religious census made by the Federal Government in 1906, 61.9 per cent. of its inhabitants were not members of any church, and 324,340 young peope of public school age were not in any Bible school. A little more than fifty per cent. of the church members were in the Roman Catholic Church. The foreign population is rapidly increasing. Thirty-eight nationalities are represented in the mining and lumber regions of the Upper Peninsula. The city of Detroit and all industrial centers have great and growing foreign elements. Many of the farming regions are almost wholly settled by foreigners. An effort is being made to reach these alien people through institutional methods. Detroit has a flourishing Italian work, and a similar movement has been inaugurated among the Italian miners in the neighborhood of Calumet.

A new plan was authorized at the last meeting of synod looking to a closer cultivation of the various home mission fields of the state. Four ministers are employed this year, giving their whole time to vacant, aidreceiving churches. By sympathetic cooperation with the workers in these churches a number of the churches have already reached self-support; others will need less aid in the future; better organization, both religious and financial, has been effected.

Only three of the nine presbyteries of the synod received more money for the support of their churches than they paid synod's treasurer last year.

The synod also contributes a large proportion of the student pastor's salary at the state university. There are over nine hundred students from Presbyterian families at that institution, and an aggressive and effective work has been organized in their behalf in conjunction with the local church.

The Sabbath-school Board and Synod's Committee on Home Missions work together to accomplish the ends of both organizations. By the time this report is in print, it is probable that an educational superintendent will be added to the field force, and a campaign organized to develop greater efficiency in the Sabbath schools of the synod.

The total amount contributed to the work of home missions within the bounds of the synod for the year ending September thirtieth, 1910, was $17,783.03, an average of fifty cents per member. The standard for 1911 is one dollar per member.

C. A. LIPPINCOTT, Chairman Synodical Home Mission Committee.

SYNOD OF NEW JERSEY.

The old and small State of New Jersey has recently become one of the greatest and most rapidly growing home mission fields by reason of its new population. New Jersey's net increase of population between 1900 and 1910 was 653,496, a gain of more than thirty-four per cent. Aside entirely from the nearly two million who were here in 1900, this increase of ten years alone includes eight times more people than the whole present population of Nevada; more than four times that of Wyoming; or three times that of Delaware or Arizona; more than double that of Idaho or New Mexico, and almost double that of Vermont, Utah or Montana; it exceeds the whole number of people in New Hampshire, Rhode Island, North Dakota or South Dakota, and almost equals the total in Oregon, Florida or Colorado. Only a half dozen of the states greatest in population or area, New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Texas, California and Oklahoma, had a greater increase in the actual number of people within their bounds; only the first two much exceeded New Jersey in numbers, and only the last two in proportionate growth also. This phenomenal growth followed a similar growth, somewhat less in numbers and proportion in the ten years preceding, so that religious facilities are required for over a million more people in New Jersey now than only two decades ago. But the end is not yet, for both the numbers and, what is more remarkable with the ever enlarging basis for calculation, the rate of growth shows increase. The ratio of gain from 1870 to 1880 was 24.8 per cent.; 1880-1890 27.7 per cent.; 1890-1900 30.4 per cent.; 1900-1910 34.7 per cent.

This growth has been due chiefly, but by no means exclusively, to foreign immigration. The only data yet obtainable to indicate the proportion and constituency of this influx for the last ten years, are the yearly immigration statistics. These show that in these years over 450,000 immigrants gave New Jersey as their destination, of whom about 400,000 lad some other native tongue than English. The great majority were ignorant of the gospel as we understand it. While all have not settled permanently in the state, others have come in from different parts of the

A second factor of this growth has been suburban development consequent upon proximity and access to New York and Philadelphia.

During this time more of the older rural churches have come to require help and the increased cost of living now calls for increased sal-

The Presbyterians of the state have actively and liberally sought to undertake their share of the responsibility for evangelization and church extension, which the growth and change have put upon them. They have increased the amount contributed and expended through the synodical agencies from, approximately, $17,500.00 in 1901 to $27,500.00 in 1901, and last year individual churches or groups of churches spent upon missions in their own localities more than $50,000.00 additional. At the same time the synod increased its gifts to the Board of Home Missions for evangelization from $32,500.00 in 1901 to over $41,000.00 in 1910, and for mission school work from $20,500.00 in 1901 to over $27,700.00 in 1910, making a total, during the year, for the home mission work outside New Jersey of more than $68,700.00. On account of the sudden and very great proportionate increase of the home missionary demands within its own borders, the synod at its last meeting asked the churches to increase the share of home mission contributions set apart for the synod's work; but also, if possible, to so increase their offerings that the rate of past contributions to the general work might at least be maintained.

Aid was given from the synodical and presbyterial funds to 108 fields, of which 77 are organized churches and 31 missions not yet organized as churches. The communicants thus ministered to numbered about six thousand, and the Sunday-school membership 7,500. There were added upon profession of faith 654 and by certificate 387. These fields contributed over $50,000.00 toward their own support and almost $7,000.00 for beneficence. Five churches reached self-support, and in nine others the amount of aid has been reduced.

In slightly more than two-thirds of the aided fields English is used, these include six among colored people. In almost one-third of the fields some other tongue is employed, thus Italian in fifteen, German in six, Hungarian in six, Armenian in two, Syrian in two, Ruthenian in one (with visitation in several other towns), and three missions for foreigners generally. The twenty-seven thousand dollars expended in these fields last year was almost equally divided between the English fields and those of foreign speech. In addition individual churches or groups aid at least twenty other mission churches or chapels where English is used; two of these for colored people, and five or more in which Italian is employed.

With adequate funds, facilities and workers the present aggressive work might well be doubled. But the need of conservation as well as of conquest has become apparent. Investigation concerning the salaries paid to Presbyterian ministers in New Jersey was made by the Synodical Committee during the year. Including both aided and unaided fields, it appears that about 150 or nearly three-sevenths of the pastoral charges pay less than one thousand dollars and a house, and that of these, one hundred pay not over eight hundred dollars and a house; and that of these, one-third do not exceed six hundred dollars, and ten pay not more than four hundred dollars.

A movement was inaugurated in synod to bring all salaries up to at least eight hundred dollars and a house, to increase wherever possible to one thousand dollars; and at the same time to improve the financial methods for church support and beneficence. The carrying out of this proposition rests primarily with the presbyteries, and depends ultimately on the cooperation of sessions, boards of trustees and the congregations. Something has already been done in this direction, but it is too early to ascertain results.

The synod authorized the committee to secure a superintendent, who should devote his whole time to the promotion of the mission work of the state. The committee has given much earnest consideration to the subject, but has not yet seen its way clear to avail itself of the authority given.

SAMUEL McLanahan, Chairman of the Permanent Committee on Synodical Home Missions.

SYNOD OF NEW YORK.

One phase of the work of synodical home missions in the State of New York upon which we feel that we should lay particular emphasis this year is that of the larger opportunities constantly opening before us for effective service in reaching not only those of our own blood and speech, but in reaching large numbers of those who are foreign to us in blood, of different languages, and who have been trained to other manner of thought and expression than that to which we are accustomed. strangers in our midst appear to have been implanted in this great Empire State of our wonderful land of freedom, with a distinct call to us from the Father of us all, to minister to them in the things which make for spiritual well being, as well as to furnish them the opportunities for labor, and the material things of life. Possibly at no time in our state's history has the opportunity been greater to inaugurate a distinctly foreign mission work within our own borders. This the committee on synodical home missions is endeavoring to accomplish, without in any wise detracting from the importance of and the attention given to the essentially American phases of our ministry. In earnest cooperation with the officers of the Home Board, a definite line of action has been determined upon, involving the selection of associate secretaries to prosecute this particular phase of our committee's work; and each month's accomplishment under the new order of things thus far, has encouraged us to hope for large future results.

Another feature of the committee's work which is particularly encouraging, is the fact that at no time during the past five years have our churches been more thoroughly and adequately manned, in that the number of vacant pastorates is now smaller than at any other time during the period named.

With these, and other encouraging features of our work before us, we look forward to a marked advance along the line of our endeavor during the opening year.

G. P. Conard.

Chairman of the Permanent Committee on Synodical Missions.

SYNOD OF OHIO.

We are now in our fifteenth year as a self-supporting synod and commendable progress has been made, especially in recent years, along all lines of our work.

The Ohio plan, placing upon the presbyterial committee responsibility for the making of grants to individual churches and delegating to the synodical committee the larger and more general supervision of the work, has been found to be an effective method for administering modern home missions in a synod such as this.

missions in a synod such as this.

There has been a steady growth in the size of the offerings received from the churches in recent years. During the past year a total of over $31,000.00 was contributed by churches for Ohio work alone.

In addition to Rev. Walter H. Houston, the synodical superintendent, our synodical force now includes four synodical workers, two of these being employed under a joint arrangement with the Board of Publication and Sabbath-school Work. These men labor in definite districts.

Under the superintendent's guidance the four synodical workers devote their time and energy primarily to the neglected fields, reconstructing and reestablishing the work there. These lines of effort include evangelistic meetings, better methods for the Sabbath school, improved methods of meetings, better methods for the Sabbath school, improved methods of church finance, et cetera.

Some of the most effective service rendered during the year has been in long neglected country fields where many persons believed that the church had no future. Two of these country churches are worthy of special note, each receiving over fifty new members in connection with the campaign carried on by the synodical worker.

A number of institutes of splendid character have been conducted at various points throughout the synod during the year. In these meetings emphasis has been laid upon newer and better methods for the work of the Church in all of its departments. The local force has received valuable assistance from representatives of the Board of Home Missions, the Board of Publication and Sabbath-school Work and the General Assembly's Executive Commission.

The large and rapidly growing foreign populations of our state present a problem not yet easy to solve on account of the scarcity of competent and available workers. Organized work is carried on among the Hungarians, Slavs, Italians, Bulgarians, French and others. It is hoped that additional new work may be rapidly taken up by the different presbyteries. At the mid-year meeting of the synodical committee the executive committee was instructed to employ, as soon as a suitable person can be found, an additional field worker who, under the superintendent's direction, shall search out and organize work among foreign-speaking peoples.

> J. A. Donahey, Synodical Chairman.

SYNOD OF PENNSYLVANIA.

With September 30, 1910, this synod closed its twenty-fourth year under its plan of self-support. The report of the Synodical Home Mission Committee may be briefly summarized as follows:

Total number of ministers and other workers employed	221
Total number of churches and missions receiving aid
Total number of additions to church membership
Total communicant membership of aided churches
Total Sunday-school membership of aided churches
Total expended for home missions within the synod	$181,499

Our Country Churches.

At no time has this synod been indifferent to the needs of its rural congregations. It was largely in the interest of these depleted fields that its plan of Synodical Sustentation was inaugurated almost a quarter of a century ago. To stimulate and support these weak churches has been the chief care of the synod. But the past year has been marked by an increased interest in the welfare of the country churches. The synod realizes that they are the feeders of the town and city churches; that they are the training schools of the young who gravitate to our industrial centers; that they furnish students for our educational institutions and teachers for our schools; that they are fruitful fields, adding to their membership yearly a larger percentage of increase than do the stronger churches; that they are constantly weakened by the "lure of the city", so that they are unable to support pastors; and that, therefore, they must be helped, if they are to continue to give to the world ministers and missionaries, Sabbath-school teachers, elders, Christian lawyers, physicians and educators.

Furthermore the Presbyterian Church stands for an educated ministry. To secure this trained leadership requires years of study and large expense. It is only reasonable, therefore, that its ministry should receive a support in some degree commensurate with the time and expense of preparation. Yet salaries in most of our country churches are miserably inadequate. Insufficient support forces these pastors from their fields. Frequent changes in the pastorate, with long periods of vacancy, cripples the work in these churches. Hence the solution of the problem of the country church is very largely a question of more adequate support for the country pastor. The Synod of Pennsylvania, feeling the force of these facts, and in view of the greatly increased cost of living, at its last meeting recommended to its presbyteries and churches that they endeavor to attain to a ministerial salary of at least $1,000.00 a year with a manse in the country, and $1,200.00 and a manse in the larger towns, and that $100.00 additional be allowed where the work requires the use of a horse and buggy.

The synod insists upon presbyteries grouping their weak churches to form pastoral charges, and it offers its aid to these weak fields, not for occasional supplies, nor even for stated supplies, but for the support of pastors; thus placing special emphasis upon the pastoral relation. By requiring $5.00 per member for pastoral support and that contributions be taken for all the Boards, the synod seeks to develop and stimulate a healthful, vigorous life in its aid-receiving churches.

Immigrant Evangelization.

This phase of Home Mission effort in the Synod of Pennsylvania has gone beyond the experimental stage and is growing rapidly. From a few feeble beginnings almost twenty years ago, the work has grown until, at present, fourteen presbyteries of this synod are engaged in giving the gospel to our foreign-speaking people. During the last synodical year, the total sum reported as expended in this work was $101,038.00, of which $02,488.00 were raised and expended by the several presbyteries, while $8,550.00 was appropriated by the Synodical Committee from its funds, to supplement those raised by the presbyteries. A large part of these presbyterial funds is contributed by individuals and corporations employing own employees, many of them testifying to the good results of these misforeign labor, who are willing to assist in the work of evangelizing their sions as seen in the improved social and moral conditions of those thus reached by the gospel. Wherever possible these missions are placed under the care of the session of the local church.

What Some of Our Pastors Say.

The present Moderator of the synod says: "The work among foreign-speaking peoples has been under my close observation for several years, and results have been carefully watched. I have noted that the Bible, heretofore unknown to them, has come as a new book, a mine of precious truths, telling of a Person who satisfies as nothing else can the hunger of the soul. In rural districts and in mining communities, colonies have been lifted up by the inculcating of cleanliness, morality, and the duties of citizenship. Regeneration, to many of them, has been a real experience. How different the new life as compared with the old! The quiet influence of the true life of the soul has done much to win the confidence of the most prejudiced."

From Eastern Pennsylvania, another pastor writes: "For over four years we have had a mission work among the Italians. It has been most encouraging. They are accessible and teachable. We have received over fifty into church membership, have a flourishing Sunday school, and a kindergarten school. We have just completed a chapel for them at a cost of $4,500.00 and we hope to do a much larger work. I know of no field in our home mission work that yields better results and at so little cost." of $4.500.00 and we hope to do a much larger work. I know of no field in our home mission work that yields better results and at so little cost."

Arother pastor in Western Pennsylvania has this to say: "Our mission which is among Slavs, has now forty-eight members, and they are all very enthusiastic and very much devoted to their church. I have examined all of them, and they would have surprised you by their answers as I questioned them on the significance of the Christian life—what it means to be a Christian, et cetera. Of course this is due to the thoroughness of our missionary, who is a very evangelical man—an ideal man for this work. I am convinced that no kind of church work pays better than this among our foreign population; for it has to do with future citizenship, which is a big question in this Western Pennsylvania. What the next generation is to be, our Church must have a say in. It is a great work, a needed work, a promising work. Christ and the State need it to be done."

I have just gathered the following statistics concerning our work among foreigners:

Number of other workers (Teachers, Colporteurs)	49
Number of organized churches	26
Number of missions	39
Number of church edifices	27
Value of the same$193,3	300.

The foregoing indicates both the method and results of immigrant evangelization in this synod. While earnestly pushing the work within its own tounds, this synod has withdrawn none of its support from the work carried on by the Board of Home Missions.

GEORGE S. CHAMBERS, Chairman, J. M. McJunkin, Secretary. Synodical Home Missions in Pennsylvania.

SYNOD OF WEST VIRGINIA.

This synod is one of the youngest and smallest of the whole group of synods. It was organized in October, 1904, with three presbyteries and sixty-nine churches, and from that time to the present it has had a steady and healthy growth. Prior to their organization as a separate synod the churches in West Virginia were connected with the Synod of Pennsylvania. After a separation for five and one-half years our aid-receiving churches were dependent on the Board of Home Missions in New York. In October, 1909, synod unanimously decided to assume self-support, beginning April first, 1910. At the time of writing of this report it is too soon to say definitely what the outcome of this venture will be at the expiration of the first year, but we feel quite confident that our accounts will come out even. If this hope is realized we will have great reason to be thankful. When it is remembered that forty-four of the reason to be thankful. When it is remembered that forty-four of the seventy-six churches of the synod receive aid, it is not difficult to realize the burden we have assummed. In addition to the forty-four churches receiving aid from synod's committee, a Syrian church in Wheeling is supported by the Board of Home Missions, and a colored pastor is supported by the Freedmen's Board. Eleven missionaries have labored in the state during the entire year, and eight for part of the year.

The increase in receipts for home missions for 1909-1910 over 1904, the year of organization, was more than forty-four per cent. The increase the year of organization, was more than forty-four per cent. The increase for the current year over last year will be about as much. One church has assumed self-support during the year.

The home mission work of the synod is entrusted to a committee of nine members, six ministers and three laymen, or three from each presbytery. The committee meets quarterly and the whole situation is thoroughly canvassed and thus it keeps in touch with the work. It groups churches, commissions missionaries and makes grants to the churches, subject to the review of the various presbyteries. It also keeps the churches of the synod informed of the situation through the presbyterial committees. At present Mr. H. C. Olin, treasurer of the Board of Home Missions, is our Treasurer, he having kindly consented to act in that capacity. As soon as self-support becomes an established fact, it is quite probable, however, that the committee will appoint a treasurer within the bounds of the synod, and thus relieve Mr. Olin of this much of his arduous work. The Northern and Southern branches of the Presbyterian Church are of about equal strength in West Virginia, the former occupying, roughly speaking, the northern portion of the State.

As soon as the committee gets the established work well in hand it will then give attention to the foreigners, who are coming into the state in increasing numbers.

GEORGE W. POLLOCK,

Secretary of Synodical Committee on Home Missions.

SYNOD OF WISCONSIN.

The seventh year of Wisconsin home mission self-support closed with great hopefulness for the future. The churches gave within $35.02 of the amount contributed the previous year, which, while it may seem a step backward, was more than our most sanguine hope. The total amount contributed was $13,253.52.

Conditions in Wisconsin have been far from favorable in the last twelve months. The exceedingly dry summer cut short crops on which our people were depending, and made it impossible for our churches to increase their gifts as was hoped. Then, too, there has been a large exodus from Wisconsin to the western states and to the Canadian northwest. Many staunch supporters in Presbyterian churches have been among the number who have gone. Taking all things into consideration Wisconsin has advanced and not retreated in home mission work.

At the close of synod's year we had thirty missionaries at work in the state. Included in this number were the superintendent and three field workers. One of our most efficient field workers, the Rev. Moses Breeze, has been secured by the Board as a special representative.

A recent action of General Assembly has practically taken all our German churches off our hands. The last Assembly erected a Bohemian presbytery, which removes four churches from our bounds, leaving one to still continue with synod. The Board of Home Missions has also assumed the Stockbridge Indian work of which the Rev. Charles M. Kilpatrick is now the efficient pastor.

The Woman's Synodical Missionary Society of Wisconsin has rendered valued aid to the synod, to the extent of contributing $3,600.00 in addition to the amount stated above. Of this amount $1,600.00 was given for the support of pastors, the rest being used in paying the salaries and expenses of Assistant Superintendent J. C. McConnell and Miss Clara Austin. The synod is under lasting obligation to the Woman's Synodical Society for the aid given. Without it the work in Chippewa Presbytery would be crippled and much promising work would have to be abandoned.

On April first last ten fields heroically came to self-support. majority of them it was a desperate struggle to continue without home mission aid. In addition presbyterial appropriations were reduced and office expenses cut down. As a result the appropriation for the year beginning April first, 1910, was $3,439.00 less than for the previous year. For the past two years the aim in Wisconsin has been to secure the largest amount of funds possible and to administer the funds most economically and efficiently. Home missions is regarded as a business and business methods have been used to carry out plans. A systematic canvass is made each year and every effort is made to bring churches to self-support. On the other hand the work in unchurched communities is pushed as far as expedient and new churches are organized as fast as possible. During the year ending October first, 1910, nine churches were organized with a membership of 290 and with fifteen elders. All of these churches have good prospects.

A systematic effort is being made to introduce the budget system into Wisconsin. This has been accomplished in many churches and is being considered in many more. Systematic giving, not only for church support but for all benevolences, is the end aimed at.

The future of self-support in Wisconsin is bright. While conditions have made it difficult to carry on the work during the past year, there is no idea of a step backward. The enthusiasm that characterized the work the first few years is still apparent, but the work itself has developed into a regular part of our church work and life, and our churches provide for it and care for it as a thing that must have first place.

Wisconsin is a home mission state. For a long time it will remain such. Northern Wisconsin is being developed now as never before. The great forests are gone and the land is being cleared for farms and homes. Now is the time to work mightily and our Church is awake to the opportunity.

L. C. Smith,

Synodical Superintendent of Home Missions.

TREASURER'S REPORT.

The Board closes its one hundred and ninth year without debt, because, and only because, of the great-hearted generosity of Mr. John S. Kennedy. Mr. Kennedy was, for many years, a member of the Board of Home Missions and the Chairman of its Finance Committee, and must have realized what it would mean to have in hand a fund upon which to draw in case of deficit. With this evidently in mind, all his legacies to the Boards were left entirely unrestricted.

The Secretary's report gives in full, the plan, as outlined by the Board, for the use of Mr. Kennedy's munificent bequest.

The Comparative Statement of Receipts for current work is given below:

COMPARATIVE STATEMENT OF RECEIPTS FOR CURRENT WORK.

^{*$60,000.00} transferred to Reserve Fund by direction of the Board.

It will be seen that the receipts from Churches show a very slight increase over last year, while the Sunday schools and Young People's Societies show a falling off nearly equal to church increases.

The net increase of $84,515.94 is realized only because, as has been noted above, sufficient of the Kennedy Legacy is applied to balance the expenditures. The receipts from legacies, other than that of Mr. Kennedy, amounted, during the year, to but $180,101.88.

The rapidly increasing work along all lines, and the energetic endeavors of the Executive Commission should have been, it would seem, an inspiration for larger giving. The fact remains, however, as shown in the statement, that the churches have not materially increased their gifts, and when certain personal gifts, credited by request to the donor's church, are taken into account, churches show an actual falling off.

The fact that very many Synods and Presbyteries are taking upon themselves the work among foreign speaking peoples, within their own bounds, has caused them, in many cases, to apply more of their funds to this work, and the Board has, in many instances, suffered in consequence. It is anticipated, however, that plans which are being carefully worked out, by these Synods and Presbyteries in conjunction with the Board, will result, through harmonious and united effort, in enlarging the revenue for all these departments of home mission enterprise.

By some it is thought that the great foreign missionary movements, which have swept the country in the last two years, have also had their effect in checking the normal growth of home mission offerings. It is more generally considered, however, that the contrary will prove to be the case, and that the stimulus thus given to all missionary endeavor will ultimately result in largely increased offerings for all the causes.

An analysis of the receipts by synods reveals an interesting state of things, indicating, as it does, in almost every instance, a decrease in the contributions of the self-supporting synods, and an increase in the receipts from home mission synods.

Carrying the analysis still further, and taking up some of the prominent presbyteries, we find that two of the larger eastern presbyteries score a decrease of over $10,000.

All indications point to the fact that the home mission synods and presbyteries are taking up, with enthusiasm, the budget and systematic beneficence idea, and are applying it increasingly with the result that appreciable gains are scored.

A Comparative Table of Congregational offerings by Synods for the two years follows:

Percentage of Expenditures to gross receipts for the past year is as follows:

The percentages above are based upon the receipts for current work alone. Figuring them upon the basis of the total amount of cash actually received, aggregating $1,780,900.68 and which total includes the receipts for current work, permanent funds, Freedmen, Sundry Boards, etc., they are as follows:

Presbyterian Building. Income from rentals constantly increases. Last year the rent total was reported as the largest in the history of the building. This year scores a still further increase.

Annuity interest on gifts, especially designated for the cancellation of the mortgages on the building is still being paid at the rate of 4 per cent. upon $29,375.00.

Loan Account. Loans amounting to $305,000 have been necessary for the carrying on of the work of the Board inclusive of loans brought over from last year. Without this aid, missionaries and teachers would have suffered for the lack of salaries. Through the aid of these loans, salaries have been paid promptly at the close of each month.

Additions to the Permanent Fund have been received during the year as follows:

Woman's	Board		50 00

Annuity Gifts have also been received as follows:

Changes in Financial Statements. Attention is called to the fact that this year the Board publishes, for the first time, a balance sheet. Other changes in the statement of accounts have also been made, all with a view to the utmost clearness and publicity in the financial affairs of the Board.

Kennedy Legacy. As noted in last year's statement of receipts, an advance on this account was received, in the sum of $145,616.68, this being the net amount, less discounts, upon a payment of $150,000. Of that amount $85,616.68 was applied to current work account, and $60,000 was transferred to Reserve.

In February of this year a distribution was made by the Executors of the Estate, this Board's distributive share (balance) being $2,099,000.00. Of this sum $132,361.13 has been used to bridge the gap between receipts and expenditures, the remainder, in addition to the $60,000 carried to Reserve last year, being held for such use during the years to come, as is set forth in the plan outlined in the Secretary's report.

During the coming year an income of upwards of $100,000.00 will be realized from these funds—thus adding largely to the ability of the Board to overtake its rapidly expanding work.

APPENDIX.

REPORT OF STANDING COMMITTEE ON HOME MISSIONS.

Your Standing Committee on Home Missions would respectfully report as follows:

- I. We find the Abstract of the One Hundred Ninth Annual Report of the Board comprehensive and inspirational.
- 2. We note with profound sorrow the death during the year of the following members of the Board: Mr. T. H. Perrin, Mr. H. Edwards Rowland and Mr. Calvin B. Orcutt.

And we record with equal sorrow the death during the year of the following missionaries:

Rev. A. S. Blackwood	.Stephensville, Texas.
Rev. L. J. Braswell	.Dyer, Tennessee.
Rev. John Cairns Cram	.St. Thomas, North Dakota.
Rev. Joseph S. Gibb	. Waltham, Massachusetts.
Rev. Angus McKenzie	.Vancouver, Washington.
Rev. Tomas V. Martinez	.Toa Alta, Porto Rico.
Rev. Andrew N. Moore	.Purcell, North Dakota.
Rev. Jedediah S. Onion	. Minnewaukon, North Dakota.

- 3. We mention with increased interest and gratification the receipts of the Board for the past year which amount to $1.192,859.59. This sum includes only a small portion of the bequest made by the late John S. Kennedy which will approximate two and a half million dollars. The Board has wisely decided that said bequest shall be put on interest, and only the interest, together with such parts of the principal as may be necessary, shall be used to advance the work already undertaken, the raising of the insufficient salaries of missionaries and the completion of work begun by the Woman's Board.
 - 4. We would commend the Kansas City Conference, held under the auspices of the Board, in which the plan of the pastor-evangelist was pronounced to be a wise policy, the general field administration in enlarged districts by field secretaries encouraged, and the demand for the continuation of synodical missionaries in certain synods recognized. These plans outlined by the Board, and now in successful operation ought to be continued and highly commended. We would urge the Church to encourage the Board in this constructive policy.
 - 5. The Home Missions Council, now in the third year of its history, represents fifteen principal denominations in America. It is making a careful and systematic study of home mission fields throughout the country. It is of value, and we would encourage any effort on the part of our Board to thus cooperate with similar Boards of other denominations.

- 6. The Advisory Council, held under the direct auspices of our Board of Home Missions, has been of inestimable value to the Board in obtaining a broad and comprehensive view of the general field.
- 7. The field secretaries have rendered valuable service in their respective districts. The Rev. B. P. Fullerton, D. D., in the South and Southwest has brought harmony, peace and progress out of what seemed to be a difficult situation. The Rev. R. N. Adams, D. D.. did much work but, on account of his serious illness, he has been obliged to resign, and has been succeeded by the Rev. W. H. Kearns, D. D., who has already done effective work, and has especially developed and brought to a high point of efficiency the Nebraska field.

The secretary of the Rocky Mountain District is the Rev. Robert M. Donaldson, D. D., an untiring worker and a faithful servant of the Church. He is doing good work, and we would urge a most hearty cooperation between Dr. Donaldson and the presbyteries and synods of that district.

The Rev. William S. Holt, D. D., of the Pacific Coast is most faithful, and his statesmanlike work on the Pacific Coast is of unique value.

- 8. The Board and your committee most heartily endorse the work of the self-supporting synods, and we are assured that the Board and the self-supporting synods are in perfect accord, and are cooperating in all home mission work. The self-supporting synods of our Church deserve unmeasured praise, and we hope that the other synods will rapidly approach the same position of self-support, self-control and progressiveness.
- 9. The Department of Church and Country Life is in a position to render valuable assistance to the churches and presbyteries included in this department. We most sincerely urge the Assembly to encourage this department in its effort to aid the presbyteries and synods to build up the country churches for they are the fountains of the city churches.
- IO. The Department of Church and Labor is not a department for labor to the exclusion of other segregations of society. It is a department working with particular consistency in the interest of the whole Church and for all other divisions of society. The constructive work has been done by this department of the Board under the leadership of that untiring, consecrated servant, the Rev. Charles Stelzle.
- II. The Department of Immigration is beyond the comprehension of your committee, when its real value is considered. It is the duty of the Church at home and abroad to preach the gospel to all peoples, therefore it is imperative upon the Church to reach and save the foreign element brought to the home field. Therefore, your Department of Immigration will in time become perhaps one of the greatest agencies in the combined work of the Home and Foreign Boards.

Your committee believes that it would be of unquestioned value to the Church if each presbytery touched by the immigration problem would undertake a careful study and survey of the conditions and opportunities among the foreign-speaking peoples within its bounds, with the cooperation of the Department of Immigration; and we would urge presbyteries and churches to undertake the creation of work among the foreign speaking peoples, as they may have opportunity.

12. The Department of Indian Missions will never grow insignificant as long as the Indian exists in this country. Perhaps we have not from a political standpoint treated him fairly, therefore the Church is under obligation to make extraordinary efforts to give him everything the gospel can possibly give a people previously mistreated.

- 13. Work in Alaska. No one will question the fact that Alaska was, at one time, given to the Presbyterian Church. Whether we have done our full duty or not is not the province of your committee to discuss. The fact remains that Alaska needs more than she is now getting, and the further fact is patent that Alaska ought to have every cent it is possible to spend, and the best men it is possible for the Church to send into that section. It is the judgment of your committee that the Board should send the best men who can be procured if Alaska is to be saved and retained as an invaluable part of our Church's history.
- 14. Work in Porto Rico has made extreme progress and no doubt with additional attention from the Board will meet our highest ambitions.
- 15. Cuba demands more than a passing notice or a passive effort, to evangelize it. We commend the work of the Board and urge more strenuous efforts in this department.
- 16. We would like to suggest that a department of the Board be entitled "Work among the Mormons". The time has come in this country politically, and we believe morally, when special work should be done to avert the influence of the Mormons, to prevent their subtle influence over the districts they dominate, to stop their propaganda which is now being pushed into the Christian homes of the communities in which Mormons exist, and, if possible, to evangelize and save them. The time will not be long until they hold the balance of political power, and their influence will be deleterious to the state, the community and the Church unless something is done to stop them.
- 17. Your committee would most heartily commend the work of our young people, and call to the attention of those who are in Endeavor societies the fact that a part of the Endeavor obligation binds the individual Endeavorer to be loyal to His Christ and His Church.

The young people of our Church are intellectually, physically, morally and financially capable of doing anything that the Church might ask them to do, and therefore, we urge our young people to be intensely loyal to Christ, unswerving in their faith, and untiring in their devotion to their own denomination. We would also urge them to send their contributions to our Boards, and become real Presbyterians in fact and in spirit in all their work, in their contributions, and in their support of the organized agencies of the Church.

18. We come with pronounced pleasure to discuss the work of the Woman's Board. No Church is blessed and aided by more consecrated, self-sacrificing, persevering women than our own. The Woman's Board, and the women under the Board, have demonstrated an untiring spirit and a successful zeal. They have raised during the past year in round numbers about $557,000.00. The work done by the Woman's Board in the different fields in which it labors is unparalleled in efficiency, consecration and results. Every encouragement that can be given by the Board of Home Missions should be given to the women, and they should be encouraged, aided and supported financially and in every other way, in all of their undertakings.

19. We note with some regret that the churches and societies have not made a sufficient increase in their offerings to the Board, and we call the attention of the Church, and of the churches throughout the Church, to this unwarranted lapse in duty. The Sunday schools of our denomination, the young people's societies and the individual churches ought to be stimulated to give more, for no man lies beneath the sod having died from that undefined disease "over-contribution". But many have been saved from cemetery citizenship by general liberality and consecration.

We rejoice in the fact that many have taken advantage of the Board's Annuity Plan. Fifty-two thousand dollars were paid to the Board by such annuitants last year, and the total amount paid on the annuity accounts to date is $212,150.00. We would suggest to others the benefit to themselves and to the Board of a similar arrangement.

20. There is no department of the Board of more value to the lumber districts than the Lumber Camp Work. We wish it were possible for the Board to increase its number of evangelists to the lumber camps of the country. The men who have gone into the lumber camps of the West and Northwest have done a work which can only be fully appreciated by our Heavenly Father.

21. It is of gratifying interest to the whole Church to know that the Board of Home Missions is making a strenuous effort to guarantee to every home missionary a salary of not less than eight hundred dollars, without reference to manse, and in order to do this a sufficient amount of the principal and interest of the magnificent Kennedy gift will be used.

We might call to your attention with propriety the fact that the Home Mission Board would have had a deficit this year had it not been for the bequest of Mr. Kennedy. We ought not to be forced to make any such statement. It would be a shame to the Church at large if the deficit indicated a reduction in the gifts of the Church to this most important work. Because great gifts and legacies have been placed in the hands of the Board is no reason why individual members of the Church, and individual churches should send one cent less than their ability indicates it is possible for them to send. On the other hand, these legacies ought to stimulate the individual giver to increase his gifts, and individual churches to multiply their contributions. It might be well for every church member to become a tither, and if the whole Church were tithers there would never be the necessity for appeal, and the records of the Boards would never be stained by the word "deficit". He who keeps the Lord's box full has never found his own empty.

If the contributions can be increased, one important department, namely, the mission school work under the Board can be carried to the highest point of efficiency and development. Take the work at Sitka, Alaska. For years the equipment has been a disgrace to the Church, but, by the untiring efforts of the women, now to be aided by the Board, we will put at Sitka schools worthy of the name, and an equipment sufficient to do the work which ought to be done. The same thing can be accomplished in every district where mission schools have been established by the Board and the Woman's Board. It is one great work, and the Woman's Board and the Home Board ought to be encouraged to aid each other in the establishment of a school wherever necessary.

Take the work on the Pacific Coast. It is impossible for your committee to magnify or exaggerate that work. In magnitude it challenges the best brain of the Church. In consecration it taxes the sweetest spirits and the most untiring workers to be found. In national importance it is the most strategic point in the Church, for on that Pacific slope your work will be put to the severest test, and on that coast your victories will be won, or you will meet your eternal defeat. On the Pacific Coast you find the door to Asia, and through that door Asia is coming, and through that door America is going to Asia for commercial reasons, and therefore your opportunity is big with possibilities, and if you do not save the Orientals who come to your shores, and if you do not erect on the Pacific Coast schools and institutions and dormitories which will stand as living examples of your love and your faith and your missionary spirit, you will never be able to sweep the foreign territory with your foreign missionaries.

The committee would make the following recommendations:

I. We have examined the Minutes of the Board of Home Missions and find them neatly and correctly kept. We recommend that they be approved.

2. We find that the term of service of the following members of the Board expires with this Assembly:-

Ministers. Rev. Allan Douglas Carlile, D. D. Rev. Wilton Merle Smith, D. D. Rev. George Louis Curtis, D. D. Laymen. John E. Parsons. A. Noel Blakeman. J. C. Cobb.

Rev. John Douglas Adam, D. D.

We recommend that they be re-elected to succeed themselves.

We also recommend the election of Mr. George W. Perkins of New York City as a member of the Board, in the place of Mr. Calvin B. Orcutt, deceased.

- 3. Your committee has had referred to it Overtures Numbers 126 and 127, which request the General Assembly to order the Executive Commission to include in its Report the contributions of the self-supporting synods, according to their established per capita basis. We recommend that the overtures be answered in the affirmative, and that the Assembly so direct the Executive Commission, in view of the fact that the commission has already initiated the work of reporting such contributions.
- 4. We have received overtures from the Presbyteries of Pueblo, Sacramento, San Joaquin, Olympia, Oakes, McClelland and Columbia, asking for the abolition of the office of field secretary by the Board of Home Missions. We recommend that no action be taken, and would urge that these respective presbyteries confer with the Home Board, which is authorized and competent to furnish them every redress they may desire in their peculiar fields and especial work.

5. We recommend that the Assembly go on record as most heartily commending the faithfulness of the members of the Board of Home Missions and the unswerving and untiring devotion of its consecrated secretaries.

6. We recommend that the presbyteries which have more than one class of home mission appeal within their bounds be urged to consider carefully the wisdom of a budget policy for those appeals on some such plan as that now in operation in the Presbytery of Lackawanna, that the work of all kinds, presbyterial, synodical and the national work of the Board may be placed on a fair, stable and cooperative basis in such presbyteries.

7. Recognizing the importance of trained missionaries among the foreign speaking peoples in America, and the increasing difficulty of securing competent men for that service, we recommend to the Board the consideration of a policy of securing volunteers for this work, who shall be trained by the Board in the language and customs of the various peoples, that they may be fitted for the largest service among these peoples in this country.

8. We recommend to the presbyteries and the churches a careful study of the budget for home missions, prepared by the Executive Commission: for national home missions, $712,757.47; for presbyterial and synodical home missions in the self-supporting synods, $467,659.13, and an earnest and systematic effort to provide their full quota. And we recommend the formal adoption of this budget for home missions.

9. We would recommend that the Sunday schools be urged to continue to devote the offerings on the Sunday before Thanksgiving to the work of the Woman's Board, and on the Sunday nearest Washington's Birthday to the work of the Board of Home Missions.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

ACTION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

The Seventy-fourth Annual Report of the Board of Foreign Missions and the manuscript volume of its Minutes for the year ending March 31, 1911, were presented to the General Assembly, in session at Atlantic City, May, 1911, and were referred to the Standing Committee on Foreign Missions.

The Committee presented to the General Assembly its Report, which was adopted. The Report condensed and recommendations submitted is herewith presented:

In presenting this Report, your Committee desires to give thanks to Almighty God for the good way He has led us through the year and congratulate the Church on the wise and statesmanlike policies of the Board and the enthusiasm with which the Secretaries carry on their work.

In the careful reading of the Report of the year we have been impressed with the magnitude of the work before the Church and that we are being called to larger things than we have ever before attempted. The old order of things in the Orient is changing so rapidly, involving changes in missionary policies and methods that call for reinforcements and expenditures commensurate with the new opportunities.

Expenditure of men and money call for still larger expenditures. The advance made one year demands a greater advance the next to keep and develop what we already have. If you will read the Report of the Board and catch the progressive spirit there so manifest, you will feel that the heart of the Church is in this work and will meet the new opportunity with courage and faith.

Your Committee is not inclined to-day to say what might have been done, nor to say how little has been done, nor even to hold up an ideal toward which we are to work. In the light of what has been done, we desire, rather, that a feeling of gratitude might take possession of the heart, that our Heavenly Father has used our Church in the way that He has. Perhaps I may be permitted to mention a few things to awaken the spirit of thanksgiving:

1. We are profoundly grateful for the growth of the work. In 1837 we had 26 missionaries; in 1911 we have 1,030. The past ten years shows this remarkable advance: In 1901 we had a native force of 1,841; in 1911, 4,353. In 1901 we had 41,559 communicants; in 1911, 114,166. In 1901 we received $998,325.39; in 1911, $1,718,526.46, a gain in ten years of 72 per cent.

In Korea it has been computed that one adult Korean has confessed Christ for every hour during the twenty-six years since the beginning of Protestant Missions in Korea.

Western enterprise and energy are going to the East. The physical changes that are wrought demand quick and effective work on the part of the Church. Trunk lines of railways are being built, telegraphs are constructed, newspapers are multiplying—these great changes demand that the Church meet the conditions.

2. Thankful as we are for the progress we have made, our sense of gratitude is deepened by the spirit of our workers. Look at our West Africa Mission—located in an obscure place, difficulties very great, workers few. There has come from that large field great rejoicing for what God has done. One of our Secretaries said: "At a single gathering at Elat, in November, 5,745 persons were present, 5,000 catechumens are under instruction in the entire mission, and 510 were received into the Church during the year."

In China, when the missionaries were requested to leave a district where the pestilence raged, they remained at their post of duty. No soldier in time of battle ever stood at his post more heroically. There is hardly a week within a year when our missionaries are not at some place face to face with cholera, plague, yellow fever or smallpox.

There is a growing feeling for a closer union with other evangelical bodies. The first triennial meeting of the Evangelistic Association of China was held at Hankow, December, 1910. At this Conference twenty-five Boards were represented—different Churches of different nationalities. At this meeting they were not greatly concerned about the election of a Moderator; they were profoundly concerned that they might have the presidency and power of the Holy Spirit.

We are thankful for the evident hand of God in guiding our missionaries in meeting and overcoming difficulties. The annexation of Korea stands out as the most conspicuous event in the affairs of Japan for the year 1910, and many prophesied that our work in Korea would suffer. The better class of Japanese are interested in Korea for good, and Japanese Christians desire to establish the friendliest relations and are helping the Korean Church. The hindrance to the work in Korea is not the Japanese as much as it is the war talk in America. We may talk in this country about the yellow peril; "the yellow peril is not half so dangerous as the yellow press." "How could we American Christians preach to this people the Gospel of the Prince of Peace when our people at home keep up this infamous talk." There is a type of Socialism that has taken hold of Japan that gives the missionaries great difficulty. There grew up a feeling that Christianity made it. Many of these Socialists are Anarchists. The leader of this band of Anarchists was Kotoku. Before his execution he published a book entitled "An Argument for the Effacement of Christ." "It is a peculiar situation, and the nation is holding Christianity responsible for this outbreak of rank Socialism, and its leader in his last work devoted his intensest energies towards the complete effacement of that religion from the minds of his people." "Some indeed preach Christ of envy and strife and some also of good will."

I could mention this morning many instances to show that Christianity is making inroads upon Islam. What has seemed heretofore the impossible, in the providence of God has become possible.

4. We are thankful to-day for the work of education in the foreign field, for the evangelization that made education possible and for the education that helps evangelization.

In China the old examination halls are in ruin and 35,000 schools and colleges have already been developed by the Imperial Board of Education. There are 64,000 instructors and 875,000 pupils. The demand in China for modern education is widespread. Every consideration to-day calls for energetic effort along the line of educational work. In Japan the Government is carrying out extensive plans for education. In this land, so eager for schools, necessity is laid upon the Church to provide an educational plant to meet and guide the growing interest. The educational work in India has gone on with its accustomed vigor, and the high regard with which the Government looks upon our work is evidenced in the appointment by the Government of the Rev. J. C. R. Ewing, D.D., of the Forman Christian College, to the highest honorary post in northwestern India—the Vice-Chancellorship of the University of Punjab.

Perhaps the most remarkable development of the year in Persia has been the inrush of Mohammedan students to the Church schools. Every station has felt this eager desire on the part of the Mohammedans for education. In the Teheran boys' school, out of 300 students, 180 were Moslems, and in the girls' school there were 110 Moslems in a school enrollment of 235. No opposition whatever has been made to the requirements of the schools that all pupils, including the Moslems, should attend daily prayers and the Bible classes.

In the Philippines our educational institutions are widely recognized as among the most influential in the country.

5. What I have tried to say has been possible because of the spirit in our own land. We are thankful for the Christian Church in America that is getting a vision of the whole world. The great Conference held last year in Edinburgh, Scotland, was attended by many delegates from this land. Their reports, as well as the reports of the press of that great meeting, have touched our whole Church and left an abiding impression.

An event of national importance has been the celebration of the Jubilee of the Women's Foreign Missionary Societies. These meetings began on the Pacific Coast and were continued throughout the year, closing with the great meeting in New York. The generous gifts of these various meetings give evidence of the widespread interest at home in our work abroad. We record also with interest the Laymen's Missionary Movement. The strong and vigorous men of our Church are getting a vision of the whole world and bringing their best thought to bear upon the missionary problems, and the Church at home is feeling the effect of this new interest.

We note with interest that the Home and Foreign Mission forces are working in complete harmony for the ends that are common to both, the securing in every Church of a Missionary Committee to carry on a continuous course of education, issuing in an adequate weekly offering from every member.

We are grateful for the foreign work that we are permitted to do at home among the Chinese, Japanese and Koreans. The Board is carrying on work for the Chinese at San Francisco, Los Angeles, Oakland, Alameda and Santa Rosa. The work for the Koreans is confined to a few towns in Southern California. The Japanese work on the Pacific Coast has shown a great increase during the year. Sixty-five adults have received baptism; two mission chapels and a manse have been erected by the Japanese residents and a preaching hall and classroom have been opened in Los Angeles.

6. We are thankful to-day for the gifts, large and small, that have come from the churches. Many a penny in the sight of God measured by sacrifice was more precious and valuable than many dollars. We are thankful for the increasing number of people who remember this work, not only in their benevolences while living, but also making provision in their wills for it. There is one bequest that calls for special mention: $2,250,000 was paid our Treasurer February 23, 1011. The Board has given long and careful consideration to the wise use of this great gift. No advance expenditures were made on account of the bequest, except in a very few instances, where devoted missionaries were suffering for want of proper accommodations. The Board regards this gift as a sacred trust to be administered under a special sense of responsibility to the Church and the missionaries and to God. After long consideration and publication of their plans, taking the whole Church into their confidence to get the combined wisdom of the men most interested, the following conclusions were reached:

The bequest should not be used merely to make it easier or more comfortable to do the present work; it should be used to expand the work. The expansion should be along the primary aim of the missionary work, namely: the proclamation of Christ. The bequest should be used in a way that will not indicate misgiving lest God should propose scantier things in the future. The bequest should be so used as to stimulate and expand and not to stifle or relax the missionary interest of the Church. The greater ease with which money can be spent on material equipment, as compared with living agency, must be kept in mind as a peril; unless better work and more work are to result from expenditure on equipment, those expenditures are not justified.

- 7. The financial condition is a matter of thanksgiving and congratulation. Total receipts for the year, $1,718,526.46. Total expenditures, $1,688,523.02. Comparing the year just closed with the fiscal year 1908-9, two years ago, we find the Church contributions have increased $81,269.84. Past deficits this year have been reduced by $20,000.
- 8. We are thankful for what the good women of the Church have done. The total receipts from their work have been nearly $500,000. For their great faith, untiring energy and devotion the Board feels profoundly grateful.
- 9. Eleven beloved missionaries have died during the year. Though not a large numerical loss among a thousand missionaries, the death roll includes some of the most highly honored and beloved missionaries.

I suggest that the Assembly rise while their names are read:

- The Rev. Henry H. Jessup, D.D., LL.D. Appointed 1855. Moderator of the General Assembly, 1879. Died at Beirut, Syria, April 28, 1910, age 78. Fifty-five years of service.
- Mrs. Eliza S. Wilder, widow of the Rev. R. S. Wilder, D.D. Appointed 1845. Died at Islampur, India, May 8, 1910, age 88. Sixty-five years of service.
- Mrs. Helen Nevius, widow of the Rev. John L. Nevius, D.D. Appointed 1852. Died at Chefoo, China, June 20, 1910, age 77. Fifty-eight years of service.
- Mrs. Phœbe Ogden, widow of the Rev. T. Spencer Ogden. Appointed 1858. Died at Cranbury, N. J., February 14, 1911, age 78. Fifty-three years of service.
- The Rev. Thomas F. Wallace, D.D. Appointed 1861. Died at Chicago, Ill., July 22, 1910, age 76. Forty-nine years of service.

(Five people, 280 years of service.)

Miss Emily C. Bird. Appointed 1879. Died at Abeih, Syria, August 14, 1910, age 57.

Mrs. Annie Boyce, wife of the Rev. Isaac Boyce, D.D. Appointed 1884. Died at Wooster, Ohio, September 29, 1910, age 55.

Miss Kate Youngman. Appointed 1873. Died in Tokio, Japan, September 29, 1910, age 69.

Mrs. Lucy Crouch Leaman, wife of the Rev. Charles Leaman. Appointed 1873. Died at Kuling, China, October 9, 1910.

Miss Grace E. Wilder. Appointed 1887. Died at Islampur, India, April 19, 1911, age 51.

These missionaries have gone to the Church Triumphant to be with their Lord.

THE RESOLUTIONS.

- 1. That the Minutes of the Board and the financial Reports, which have been audited by certified public accountants, be approved.
- 2. That the following members of the Board, whose terms of service expire with this meeting of the Assembly, be re-elected to serve for three years: Rev. George Alexander, D.D., Rev. John F. Patterson, D.D., Rev. J. Ross Stevenson, D.D., Mr. Warner Van Norden, Mr. John T. Underwood, Mr. D. W. McWilliams, Mr. James M. Speers; and that the election of Rev. J. H. Jowett, D.D., to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the Rev. W. R. Richards, D.D., in the class of 1909 and 1912, be confirmed.
- 3. That in accordance with the time-honored custom of the Church, the continued observance of Christmas and Easter in the Sunday-schools, with special reference to Foreign Missions, be approved.
- 4. We record with interest and thanksgiving the faith and devotion and efficiency of the organization of the women of the Church who have contributed nearly half a million dollars to carry the Gospel to the ends of the earth.
 - 5. That, with a view to utilizing more largely the growing intelligence and zeal of laymen throughout the Church, the Presbyterial and Synodical Foreign Missions Committee be enlarged by the appointment of such laymen (elders or other worthy and qualified men), and that where feasible they be given opportunity for the exercise of executive ability by serving as Chairmen and Secretaries of such Committees.

- 6. That, with a view to guarding against impairing efficiency of leadership in our Foreign Missions work throughout the Church by too frequent or too sweeping changes in the personnel of the Committees having charge of this work, Presbyteries and Synods be requested to constitute these Committees in classes, the term of one of which only shall expire each year, or otherwise to arrange for the continuity of the work of the Committees.
- 7. That the policy of the Board with regard to the use of the notable bequest of the late John S. Kennedy be heartily approved, including the proposal of the educational equipment and endowment fund for the vast and enlarging educational work of the Board in foreign lands.
- 8. That in view of the blessings of God upon the work of our missions abroad, and in the light of the present needs and opportunities, and in accordance with the repeated declarations of the Assembly that the Presbyterian Church is a Missionary Society, the object of whose existence is to seek the evangelization of the whole world, this Assembly approves of the effort to determine, as far as may be possible, the definite missionary responsibility of our Church in foreign lands, commends the attempt to frame and carry out a missionary policy adequate to the discharge of this responsibility, and urges the Board to do all in its power to present to the Church the magnitude and urgency of its unfinished task.

SAMUEL S. PALMER, Chairman.

INTRODUCTION

SEVENTY-FOURTH ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

BOARD OF FOREIGN MISSIONS

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IN THE U.S.A.

The Board of Foreign Missions herewith presents to the General Assembly its Seventy-fourth Annual Report. This Introduction is necessarily confined to the general aspects of the work of the year, the more detailed accounts appearing in the later pages of the Report. My task is simply that of editor of the rich material at hand.

Abroad, the year has been marked by a continuance of the stupendous movements which have been reported to the General Assembly in recent years. It is increasingly evident that the old order in Asia is rapidly passing away and that the Foreign Mission work of the Church is confronting conditions which are not only new but startling in their magnitude and significance. These new conditions involve some important changes in missionary policies and methods, they involve a largely increased responsibility, and they imperatively call for reinforcements and expenditures on a larger scale than the Church has yet contemplated.

GROWTH OF THE WORK.

In 1837 the General Assembly took over the work of the Western Foreign Missionary Society, which had been at work for six years.

The first year there were:		In 1911 there are:

^{*} Partial.

Revised rolls and incomplete returns show net additions last year of 18,174, a gain of 12 per cent. The year's statistics for the Church at home are not yet available, but for the preceding year, in a membership of 1,339,000, the net gain was 17,614, or 1½ per cent.—about one-twelfth of the gain on the foreign field that year. The rapid progress of Foreign Missionary work during the last decade appears from the following table:

			Per cent.
4	1901.	1911.	increase.
Foreign missionaries	715	1030	44
Native force	1,841	4,353	136

n ative sources (1904)	117,355.00	484,597.90	447

The increase from home sources is 72 per cent.; the increase in receipts on the foreign field is 447 per cent., an increase from a per capita gift of 2.34 in 1904 to a per capita gift of 4.25 in 1911.

The increase in American missionaries is only 44 per cent.; in organized churches on the foreign field, 98 per cent.; in native force, 136 per cent.; in communicants, 175 per cent. The expenditure of a few million dollars in the next five years in properly equipping the native church and training a native ministry would bring returns out of all proportion to the amount invested.

The increase in schools is 129 per cent. and in pupils 136 per cent. "There is a vast surge of non-Christian races toward a universal education. We are confronted by the fact that the children of far more than half of the human race may within the next generation be educated without any reference to those spiritual truths which are the only real and permanent support of social order and personal morality." We have now more than 1,600 schools, colleges and universities located in the midst of teeming millions eager for knowledge. No such opportunity has ever been presented to the Presbyterian Church to do a work for the Church and for the Kingdom as at the present hour.

I append an outline of the more salient points, drawing freely upon materials furnished by my colleagues for their respective departments.

AFRICA.—The only Mission of the Presbyterian Church in this mighty continent is the West Africa Mission on the west coast near the Equator. It covers, however, an extensive region and includes several of the most virile tribes of the whole country. The work is prosecuted under some peculiar perplexities, for we are under not less than three different governments: French in the Gaboon region, Spanish in the Benito district, and German in the Kameruns where most of our stations are located. The chief perplexity lies in the requirement that the language of the governing power must form a part of the teaching in our schools. We must be fair enough to concede that this is not an unreasonable requirement, as Americans are insisting on the English language in the Philippines. But it is not easy to find missionaries who can speak French and Spanish.

In spite of this and other obstacles and the debilitating influence of a trying climate, the year has been one of remarkable progress in missionary work, particularly at the interior stations in the Kameruns. Situated as the Mission is in one of the most obscure corners of the earth, witness as it is of the power of God, and hampered as it is by a shortage of missionaries, there has come to be a tense note in the report which it annually presents to the Church, a note of rejoicing and a note of appeal, the appeal of one crying in the wilderness of things there to be seen and there to be dealt with. Men who speak of the things of God to thousands every Sunday and who deal individually as best they may with such a parish throughout the week cannot be entirely moderate in their reports to the Church. The great development of industrial work in a Mission where there has been but one industrial missionary; of educational work in a Mission where there will be next year but two men qualified to handle the seven station schools and the scores of village schools; of medical work in a Mission where there is no limit to opportunity and a force to equip only three stations, one of the physicians having been the only man at his station; above all, the heavy responsibility of evangelistic work among an awakening primitive people—these needs must speak for themselves to those whom God has called to hear. Five thousand catechumens are under instruction and 510 were received during the year. At a single gathering at Elat, in November, 5,745 persons were present. The total receipts from these primitive Christians, just emerging from the jungle, were $2,612 from churches, $8,114 from schools, including industrial work, and $1,658 from medical patients. The new station at Metet, far in the heart of heathenism, already has a school of 100 and a congregation of several hundred.

The fields are white unto the harvest in the West Africa Mission. Of 13 organized churches, two recently organized, 12 are self-supporting and support schools, Bible women and colporteurs in the regions beyond.

CHINA.—It would be difficult to overestimate the stupendous significance of the transformation which is taking place in this the vastest country of the non-Christian world. A nation numbering nearly one-third of the human race and occupying about a tenth part of the habitable globe, a nation of virile, industrious and persistent people, which has long remained comparatively stagnant and impervious to outside influences, has at last awakened and is undergoing radical transformation. Reform edicts continue to pour forth from the imperial palace in Peking. While some of them, like the laws of Western nations, are not enforced, others are producing far-reaching results. An imperial edict, September 23, 1010, commanded the censors to punish several governors for smoking opium themselves and failing to suppress it within their jurisdictions. Trunk lines of railways are being rapidly pushed through the interior, binding the once separated parts of the empire together, promoting intercommunication and increasing the knowledge of the Chinese of their own country. The extension of telegraphs, the multiplication of newspapers, and the development of the postal system, which now includes 3,973 post-offices, are widely diffusing knowledge and are awaking new aspirations. The old Examination Halls are in ruins, and 35,000 schools and colleges have already been developed by the Imperial Board of Education. There are 64,000 instructors and 875,000 pupils. government institutions are hampered by lack of suitable teachers and text-books and by political influences which give coveted positions to mere office-holders rather than to competent educators; but however imperfect the system may be at present, the significant thing is that the beginnings of a modern educational development have been made. plan contemplates an elementary school for every 400 families within the next five years, and accommodations for 45,000,000 scholars within ten years. The stately buildings of the new government schools at Canton, with their modern equipment. standing upon the very spot where formerly stood 11,616 cells under the old Confucian Examination Halls, are typical of the new era. The new conditions are undermining idolatry. An old man near Peking, who had laboriously saved up a few hundred dollars to repair a ruined temple, was rebuked by the local official for encouraging superstition instead of putting his money into schools. Not less significant is the movement toward constitutional government. The first Provincial Assemblies, 21 in number, were held October 14. 1909. Handsome modern buildings for these assemblies have been erected in a number of provincial capitals, some of them on the ruins of the old Examination Halls. The first meeting of the Senate in Peking was held last year. aroused widespread attention and its members manifested a spirit of intelligence and independence which could hardly have been expected of officials meeting under the very shadow of the imperial palace.

Accompanying these developments, and others which we have not space to enumerate here, and perhaps partly as a result of them, is the growth of unrest among the people. The whole vast population of the empire is in a ferment. New wants are being created. New ambitions are being stirred. A determination no longer to submit to the aggressions of Western nations is becoming more pronounced. The Chinese, long the most peaceful people in the world, have begun to feel that they must arm themselves against the West if they are to protect themselves from further depredations, and they are therefore developing a modern army and navy. Warships already completed and under construction will have a total displacement of 250,000 tons, while the military program calls for the mobilization of one of the largest armies in the world. It is a shameful thing that the new contact of this non-Christian nation with the alleged Christian nations of the West has taught her by bitter experience that unless she is prepared to defend herself by force, she cannot hold her own against foreign aggression.

Two great calamities have come upon the people during the year. One was the outbreak of the pneumonic plague, one of the most deadly forms of that always serious disease. As this report goes to press, the zone of the most destructive ravages is in Manchuria where the mortality has been considerable; but the disease has broken out in several parts of the provinces of Chih-li and Shantung. We have no missionary work in Manchuria, which is the special territory of the Scotch and Irish Presbyterians; but we have, as the Assembly is aware, a large number of missionaries in Chili-li and Shantung, and we invoke for them the special prayers of the whole Church. Many have asked the Board whether it will order the missionaries to come home or to seek safer places in Asia until the pestilence ceases. We can only reply that the missionaries would not leave even if the Board did tell them to do so. They feel that they are soldiers, that their stations are the posts of duty, that the terrors and sorrows of the Chinese increase rather than diminish the opportunity for Christlike service, and that if there was ever a time when the ambassador of Christ was needed in China that time is the present. They are going about among the panic-stricken people in the name of the Great Physician, comforting the bereaved, calming the terrified, telling the people what precautions should be taken to avoid the disease. and pointing all to the great Healer of souls. The Church may well remember that such conditions are not so exceptional on the foreign field as the newspapers might lead us to believe. There is hardly a week of any year, when our missionaries somewhere are not face to face with such pestilences as cholera, plague, yellow fever, while smallpox is ubiquitous. The plague in China has not reached a tenth part of the magnitude that it attained in India for half a dozen years in succession, when no missionary dreamed of leaving his post. Experience has shown that the disease most readily attacks ill-nourished natives who live in unsanitary conditions, shut themselves in close and unventilated rooms, and are careless of food and water, and that the foreigner who lives a different physical life is not apt to be infected; but one cannot be unmindful of the possibilities of such a time, and sympathy and prayer should go out in unstinted measure for our devoted missionaries upon whom such a calamity brings extraordinary strain. Particularly should the Church remember our medical missionaries, who unhesitatingly expose themselves as other missionaries are not called upon to do, and, in some places, are almost the sole reliance of the suffering people and the government officials for checking the spread of the disease.

The other great calamity that has come upon China during the year is the famine. Fortunately, both of these sorrows are not in the same region, the famine being farther south, chiefly in the provinces of Ngan-hewi and Kiang-su, where, owing to the failure of the crops through floods, nearly 3,000,000 persons are in utter destitution, entirely dependent upon outside help and without hope of relief from the soil for at least six months. The millions whose crops have been washed away by flood and withered by dry summer heat (for both these contradictory troubles have come to the section now suffering famine) are no less in need now for having been so desperately in need four or five years before. The region affected by this year's famine is practically the same in which such agonizing sufferings were witnessed and but partially relieved by the missionaries in 1906 and 1907 the country west of the Grand Canal and north of the Yang Tze River. It is not a large section as compared with the whole area of the Chinese Empire, but it is densely populated, and the number of people hungry is very large. Lobenstine, stationed in the heart of the famine territory, reports that $1,500,000 is absolutely necessary to prevent the starvation of a million souls between now and next harvest time. This estimate, which is officially endorsed by Consul Gracey, of Nanking and forwarded to the American Government, must be admitted to be conservative, since it is based on the calculation of one cent a day to feed each foodless person.

Amid these tumultous political, economic and intellectual conditions, the growing unrest of the people, and the calamities of pestilence and famine, our missionary work has gone steadily on. Resentment against foreigners has not thus far seriously limited our missionary opportunity, save in one or two stations in the south. At Lien-chou, the scene of the massacre of 1905, a mob this year destroyed our Mission property at Sam Kong, a few miles from Lien-chou, and for a time another massacre appeared imminent. The rage of the people, however, was not directed against the missionaries as such, but was aroused by some acts of their own magistrates which had given the people great offense, and the tumult subsided without injury to our devoted little band of workers. Ill-health and furloughs had compelled the women of the Station to go to Canton before the troubles occurred, and, in the case of Mr. and Mrs. Edwards and Miss Patterson, to America: but Mr. Kunkle remained heroically at his post throughout the whole trouble, and Dr. Ross hurried back to him as soon as his wife's health would permit him to leave Canton, where he had taken her for treatment.

The story of the triumphs of the Cross in China during the last year is an inspiring one. Churches and chapels are filled with eager listeners, and on every side there is a readiness to hear what the apostles of Christ have to teach. The missionaries who itinerate far into the interior and among the outlying villages travel in comparative safety and find attentive hearers.

Christian education has come into special prominence. The demand for modern education is now widespread among the Chinese. Our missionary schools and colleges are far superior in their grade of work to the government institutions, and our schools are limited only by their equipment and financial support. Every consideration of Christian statesmanship calls for prompt and generous increase of our educational plants. The opportunity is ours to train Christian leaders for new China. Particular changes which have been made or which are in contemplation, include the removal of the Arts College of the Shantung Christian University from Wei-hsien, a county-seat, to Tsinan-fu, the capital of that most influential Province. This change was made necessary by the inadequate and overcrowded equipment at Wei-hsien, the necessity of providing additional facilities for the rapidly growing Boys' Academy there, the difficulty of making the necessary expansion at Wei-hsien, and the fact that Tsinan-fu is a far better location for such an institution, which represents the higher educational work of all the denominations operating in the great province of Shantung and the adjacent parts of adjoining provinces, a total population of about 50,000,000. This College has a remarkable record in that during the more than forty years of its existence every graduate has been a Christian. A large majority of its 320 students to-day are Christians, and nearly one hundred of them expect to enter the ministry. As far as we know, no other college in the world has such a record, and when it is remembered that the curriculum of this College is equal to that of the best colleges in America and that its graduates are in positions of influence and leadership all over northern China, the significance of this opportunity can be readily discerned. With this College and its affiliated theological, medical and normal colleges for Shantung, the North China Union Colleges for Peking, and Nanking University and Hang-chow College for the teeming populations of middle China, our higher institutions are strategically located for a great work in the sphere of education.

The other outstanding development was the remarkable revival among the students of the Arts College of the North China Union College in Peking. Following the meetings held by the Rev. Ding Li Mei, 81 of the 150 students decided to study for the ministry and 50 others consecrated themselves to Christian work in other professions. We have long been hoping and praying for the appearance of educated Chinese who would give themselves to the ministry of Christ among their own people. God has now answered this prayer in a startling manner. This presses the necessity upon us immediately to double the equipment of our Union Theological Seminary in Peking, in order that it may be able to provide accommodations for the college graduates as they appear.

We trust that the home Church is following with sympathetic interest the remarkable career of the Chinese minister referred to, the Rev. Ding Li Mei, a graduate of our Shantung Christian College. He has become, under God, a mighty spiritual force in China. He has held meetings in many different parts of the empire, and he preaches the Gospel with such directness and power and supports it by a life of such evident devotion that the effect upon the Chinese is profound. No other evangelist in all the world is being more wonderfully used of God at this time than this consecrated Chinese.

We might speak of two other notable movements; first, the development of the Chinese Church in self-reliance, giving and intelligence; and, second, the accelerated movement toward closer union and co-operation of denominations. The first triennial meeting of the Evangelistic Association of China was held at Hankow, December 7-12, 1910. Seventyseven foreign missionary and 158 Chinese delegates were present, representing eleven provinces besides Manchuria and Formosa, 25 boards, the Y. M. C. A. and five different nationalities. The Conference was characterized by great enthusiasm, absolute confidence that Christ is the pre-eminent need of China, and that "His day is marching on." Nightly evangelistic meetings in the city and in Wuchang across the river were attended by an average of 10,000 people, about 2,000 of whom were students. While the churches at home are debating the ecclesiastical problems incident to reunion, our missionaries and the Chinese Christians are practically exemplifying union, so that to-day there is less sectarianism in China than in any other country of the world.

Another marked feature of the year has been the realization of a plan for increasing the efficiency of our Mission organization on the field. The Board has advised the Missions not to depend so largely upon annual meetings of brief duration, but to strengthen the hands of their Executive Committees so that the interests of the work and the supervision of expenditures may be more effectively handled throughout the year. In countries which have several Missions, the Board has suggested the formation of a National Council composed of representatives elected by the various Missions, with a chairman who shall give his whole time to the work plan has been carried out in China during the past year, and the new China Council has begun its work in most favorable circumstances. The Rev. I. Walter Lowrie, D.D., so well known to the Church in connection with his twenty-eight years of missionary service in North China, has been chosen Those who are interested in a fuller account of chairman. this important development may receive a printed statement on application to the Board.

Altogether the outlook in China is very encouraging. is true that a few of the local reports speak of "a time of lull," "of sifting out of unworthy Church members" and of changing conditions which are unfavorably affecting spiritual life. With the great advance made by the government in opening schools, we are forced to meet new problems and must be alert to adopt new methods. More adequate equipment for our educational work is imperative, while the demands of the new era involve special toil and perils of many kinds. But viewing the situation in its broader outlines, we have abundant reason to thank God and take courage. Never in all the history of our work were such magnificent opportunities open to us, and every effort must be made to train the ablest men and women to meet these obligations. The friendly attitude of the magistrates and people lavs heavy obligations upon us to press evangelistic work with a constantly enlarging and better qualified body of Chinese workers. Large tracts of territory, almost wholly untouched by the Gospel, lie wide open, and our forces are utterly inadequate to reach these millions. This is the time to utilize every agency that will prepare the men and women to reach these waiting myriads in this formative period.

JAPAN.—The annexation of Korea was the most conspicuous event in the affairs of Japan for the year 1910. In spite of the many criticisms, just and otherwise, the fact remains that the annexation of Korea to this empire is something which, on the whole, promises good both to the Koreans and the Japanese. It is true that many Japanese look upon this new possession as a field of exploitation, but the better class are sincere in their professions of good-will to the erst-while Hermit Kingdom. What effect the annexation will have upon the Kingdom of God in that land remains to be seen, but there seems to be a keen interest on the part of the Japanese Church to establish the friendliest possible relations, and Japanese Christians are foremost in praising the Korean Church.

A second point of importance to be noted here is the Anglo-Japanese Exposition and the visit of many Japanese to England and other western lands. These men have now returned and are giving their impressions of western life and civilization. There are those who are disgusted with much that is western and who advocate a return to things more purely Japanese, including ethics and religion. But there are also those who, seeing the serious weak points of our western civilization, are nevertheless loud in their assertions that the "biggest thing" in the West is Christianity, and that western civilization without it would disintegrate.

Something which is not peculiar to 1910, but which affected the work of the year very seriously, is the persistent pernicious war-talk in America. How can we American Christians preach to this people the Gospel of the Prince of Peace when our people at home keep up this infamous talk! If Christianity were not already so firmly grounded and become indigenous in Japan it is certain that the hands of the missionaries would be seriously crippled.

Another thing that has hindered the growth of the Kingdom of God in this land is the type of Socialism which has taken root there. To be sure, Kotoku and his 25 confederates were more Anarchists than Socialists, but they are regarded by many as Socialists. The authorities are doing what is in their power to uproot the whole growth. Every public and school library has been searched and every book bearing on the subject of Socialism has been carefully removed. Unfortunately, there is a feeling that there is a close relation between Christianity and Socialism, and, what is worse, among these 26 Anarchists there are a few Christians, or at least ex-Christians. It is true that the more intelligent Japanese know that while Christianity apparently fosters a certain kind of Socialism, it does not countenance the extremes to which its fundamental principles of equality and individualism have been pushed. Nevertheless, there is a rather widespread sentiment that Christianity is the mother of Socialism and the latter the arch enemy of the Japanese Government.

But this sentiment received a great blow in connection with the execution of the band of Anarchists who had sought to assassinate the Mikado. The leader of the band, Kotoku, just before his execution published a book entitled, "An Argument for the Effacement of Christ," and the purpose of the book is, as the title indicates, to blot out Christianity completely from the thoughts of his countrymen. The book is having a large sale and is being extensively read. author has collected all the testimony he could find antagonistic to Christianity, and argues that the very existence of Christ is a cunningly devised fable and that His teaching is full of contradictions and evil influence over men. All he says is old, very old, but it comes to many as entirely new, and the missionaries are meeting the effect of it in the inquiries of many young men. It is a peculiar situation: the nation rather holding Christianity responsible for this outbreak of rank Socialism, and yet its leader in his last literary bequest devoting his intensest energies toward the complete effacement of that religion from the minds of his people. It also shows that these radicals are not content with wiping out governments, but they must make away also with the best there is in morals and religion. And, still further, it looks as though the result of this sad event will be a closer and keener investigation as to what the teaching and character of Christ really is, "Some indeed preach Christ of envy and strife, and some also of good-will. What then? Only that in every way, whether in pretense or in truth, Christ is proclaimed; and therein we rejoice, yea, and will rejoice."

In the economic world the past year will not be remembered very favorably. Foremost stands the great flood of the summer, which helped accentuate a situation already bad enough. Says the Japanese Mail in retrospect: "The year 1910 closed on a very general lamentation about the hardness of the times. On everybody's lips the word fukeiki (hard times) is found. The streets of the capital, indeed, do not present any spectacle of special desertion nor are the stores unvisited. But idle sight-seers are much more numerous than bona fide buyers, and whenever there is a demand its object is principally soap or tooth-powder. Articles of foreign manufacture are said to be notably out of favor. Indeed, on the whole, we cannot recall any year which has died amid gloomier surroundings. The only consolation lies in the thought that the darkest hour comes before the dawn."

In the realm of thought the year 1910 stands for great activity, but also for much confusion. There is as yet no clear voice with a positive message heard above the din of battle. It is estimated that every day of the past year saw the publication of about 80 books. Most of these are, of course, of an ephemeral character, and those which are more substantial are largely reprints of the classics, chiefly Confucian. The Buddhist world, too, has been very active, and some of the more progressive sects are putting on a garb so modern that even the elect might be deceived.

In the field of education, too, there were much activity and progress. The government is carrying out its extensive plans. The last significant step is the beginning of another university to be located in Kyushu. But more significant for us than this is the interest shown on all hands in the proposition to establish a Christian university in this land. We are waking up to the fact that in a land where so much is made of education and where the university is looked upon as the seat of authority and the centre of knowledge, Christianity appears in an unfavorable light as long as it has nothing to show in the field of secular education above the middle-school grade. Not only for the sake of Christian education, but for the sake of evangelizing Japan, is a first-class Christian university, where Christian men for all walks of life may be trained, an imperative necessity.

The union sentiment evidenced in the movements noted is showing itself also in other ways. During the past year there has been some serious thought given to the subject of bringing into organic union the leading bodies of the Protestant Church. There are some who believe that if the world will ever see organic union of the Church, Japan will be the first to realize it.

KOREA.—The two outstanding conditions in Korea continue to be the political and economic changes taking place as the result of Japanese annexation and occupation and the rapid development of the Korean Church. The Japanese authorities are showing themselves friendly to our missionaries and there is as much freedom in preaching the Gospel in Korea as there is in America. Judge Watanabe, a Presbyterian elder, was promptly confirmed in the position which he already occupied as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court in Korea, an appointment which inspires great confidence. Another fine Christian man, Mr. Anyoshi, has been appointed Director-General. The Japanese Governor-General, Viscount Terauchi, stated in an official proclamation, that "all religions shall be treated equally, and further, due protection and facilities shall be accorded to their legitimate propagation." This was supplemented by the following statement in an interview: "Freedom of religion will always be respected, and I am ready to extend due protection and facilities to the propagation of all religious doctrines, provided they do not interfere with politics. I am one of those who fully appreciate the good work of foreign missionaries; and as we have the same object in view as they, the improving of the general conditions of the people, their work will by no means be subject to any inconvenience. I need scarcely say that all vested rights of foreign residents will be fully respected."

The progress of missionary work, which has filled the whole Church with wonder and thanksgiving for several years, continues with unabated power. It has been computed that an average of one adult Korean has confessed Christ for every hour during the twenty-six years since the beginning of Protestant Missions in Korea. The phase of the year's evangelistic work which has aroused greatest interest was an effort to secure a million souls by an extraordinary evangelistic campaign. Reports summing up the results confess that the additions to the Church come nowhere near being a million, and some regret has been frankly expressed that such a definite number was fixed, as it embarrassed the movement and stamped the impression of partial failure upon what was really a notable revival. The Christians were undoubtedly stirred to greater evangelistic enthusiasm than ever before, and the number of conversions was quite sufficient to justify the special effort. Activity was not equally distributed, however, through the whole of the year. Efforts during the spring and summer of 1910 were rather sporadic and disconnected, and organized campaigns did not begin until fall. For October and November, Dr. Underwood had laid out a really gigantic scheme of evangelistic operations in Seoul, but an unfortunate accident disabled him for the entire autumn. Nevertheless, 5,000 persons confessed Christ in the Seoul meetings during October. In November and the first part of December, the campaign was extended to other sections of Korea. Meetings were held in every Mission station of the country, and then the work was carried into two or three chief centres of every mission circuit. Finally each church was visited by a native evangelist. Besides the public meetings, great quantities of tracts were used. Presbyterians alone distributed a million tracts of ten different kinds. The Methodists covered their portion of the field equally well. Large posters carrying John 3:16 in bold red type were posted throughout the country, and in the cities illuminated texts were hung at night in front of Christian shops and dwellings. The converts in Pyeng Yang numbered 3,000, and in the stations of southern Korea the churches were overcrowded and the Christians covenanted to stay outside in order that non-Christians might fill the meeting places. Unfortunately, something of the same lapse which often succeeds great evangelistic meetings in America has been felt in the Korean churches, and some of the converts thus counted have not reappeared after the special meetings closed; but the Korean pastors and elders have met this situation bravely and are following up with great diligence all who gave in their names as believers on Christ at the time of the special work. In this and in other ways the Korean Christians are settling down to win their neighbors for Christ by steadfast attention to the ordinary means of grace and the stated influences of the Gospel.

INDIA.—The situation in India the past year has been distinctly more favorable than during the year preceding. It cannot be said that the spirit of sedition and unrest has died away in India, but it can be said that the present British administration in India has taken up an attitude of conciliation and sympathy, which, combined with the firmness and energy of the government, has both preserved order and promoted good-will. Sir William Wedderburn has brought Hindus and Mohammedans together in a joint conference over political questions that divided them, and both sides heartily responded to his effort. The Viceroy, instead of rejecting the efforts of the Indians themselves at reform and self-help, has cordially received a deputation from the Indian National Congress, and has welcomed the legitimate and honorable aspirations of modern India. No thought in India is changing more rapidly, however, than the religious thought of the Indian peoples themselves. A Convention of Religions was opened at Allahabad on January 9, and the Maharaja of Darbhanga, who presided and spoke frankly as a Hindu, yet opened and closed his address with sentiments utterly strange to Hinduism, which he had adopted from Christianity. His words showed how far he and the many Hindus whom he represented had passed away from the old pantheistic conception of God and from its denial of human unity. appears to me," he said, "that the knowledge of God is the one master-quest of life; to know Him, His character, and His will concerning us, in order that by loving Him we may also obey Him and become more and more like Him as daily we approach Him in reverent worship and lowly thought. We ought to put our religion into our daily life and allow it to permeate all our family, social, civil, and industrial pursuits, helping each other all the while and letting it be seen that we are, through all our creeds, beginning to realize that we are all the children of one Father and therefore we ought to behave as brothers toward each other."

The Second General Conference on Missions to Moslems was held in Lucknow, January 23 to 28, the first conference having been held in Cairo in 1906. The conference was opened with a devotional meeting conducted by Dr. Zwemer, and was closed with an address by the Bishop of Lahore. The program surveyed the whole Moslem world, the Pan-Islamic Movement, the advance of Mohammedanism among pagan races; it dealt with government attitude toward missions to Islam, with the training of missionaries for work among Mohammedans, literature for Moslem readers, and the reform movements of the day among the Moslem peoples. The conference appointed a Continuation Committee, appealed to the churches in India to send Christian workers to Africa, and issued the following call to prayer:

"That the Conference, holding that prayer is the primary means for the advance of the Kingdom of God throughout the world, and being convinced that the present apparent inability of the Christian Church to deal effectively with the great problem of the evangelization of Mohammedans is due above all else to the weakness of the prayer-life, alike in the home churches and in the branches of the Church which are springing up in foreign lands, calls urgently upon Christendom to have far larger recourse to the great weapon which has been put into her hands by our High Priest, and to endeavor largely to increase the number and the devotion of those remembrancers of the Lord, who will give Him no rest and take no rest till He establish and till He make Jerusalem a praise in the earth. the present time the great moral and spiritual needs of the Mohammedan world and the advance of Islam among pagan races, constitute an appeal to the Christian Church to pray, with an urgency which cannot be exaggerated, asking most earnestly that the spirit of grace and supplication in immensely increased measure may be granted to her."

The movement of the low-caste peoples toward Christianity continues, and the success of the Christian propaganda has incited the Arya Somaj and other Hindu organizations to take an interest in these peoples, cast out and spurned by Hinduism until Christianity had asserted and demonstrated their humanity. The Missions most urgently need reinforcements in order that the thousands of village people who have been received into the Church may be adequately trained and that advantage may be taken of the limitless opportunity for evangelization in the districts. The educational work of the Missions has been continued with its accustomed power, and the great service which it has been rendering to India and the outstanding character of its leaders have been recognized by the government in the appointment of the Rev. J. C. R. Ewing, D.D., of the Forman Christian College, to the highest honorary post in northwestern India, the Vice-Chancellorship of the University of the Punjab.

The Missions have long carried on a notable educational work, permeated with a Christian spirit and directed earnestly to the development of Christian faith and Christian character. In the Punjab Mission alone are two colleges; one for boys and the other for girls; seven high schools, five of them for non-Christian boys and one for Christian boys and one for Christian girls; three vernacular middle schools, one for Christian boys and two for Christian girls; an industrial school for boys and a number of primary schools, most of which are for Christian children. There is also a theological school for the training of ministers and a training school for village workers. The schools of all three Missions in India have been thronged with students, undeterred by the direct evangelizing purpose of the schools. The growth of the Allahabad College has been particularly notable. In ten years the institution has grown from nothing to a college department with electrical engineering and agricultural schools attached, and with more than 1,000 students, counting the boys of the High School. Throughout the districts and villages there have been the same wide-open doors among the low-caste people which preceding years have witnessed; but other forces are pressing through these doors, and no one can say how long the present opportunity may last.

PERSIA.—In Persia the political situation has been and continues unsatisfactory. There have been assassinations and attempted assassinations, and as a measure of prevention the government resolved to disarm the revolutionists, who were understood to be mixed up in these occurrences. This led to a conflict between the government forces and Satar Khan, and his men were supposed to be unwilling to lay down their arms. August 7, after several hours' severe fighting, Satar Khan and his men were forced to surrender and give up their arms.

There is dissatisfaction with the present condition of affairs, and the people desire a change. Armed men have gathered in the mountains northeast of Teheran and a conflict is reported as having taken place. In the south also there is opposition. An insurgent chief holds the city of Kashan. The government forces have tried once or twice to capture him, but he has succeeded in eluding them and escaping to the mountains. Rumors of foreign intervention are current, and that an ultimatum has been given to Persia to put her house in order within three months, or outside "help" will be given to restore order and protect the trade routes.

It seems remarkable that this unsettled state of political affairs has interfered so little with the regular work of the Mission during the past year. From time to time rumors of impending trouble were in the air, but they only caused a temporary flutter of anxiety and excitement. Even on the eventful Sunday when a battle raged for some hours around a large garden only a couple of squares from the Mission compound in Teheran, the regular Sunday morning services were held as usual, though the feeling was strong that the conflict was inevitable and close at hand; and, indeed, in the afternoon bullets whistled among the trees in the compound, two of them lodging in the walls of a missionary residence, and the cannon boomed in the street, part of the time a little above, and part of the time just below the gate of the Mission premises.

In northwestern Persia comparative peace has followed the turmoil and civil war of the previous year. No one could with honesty praise the government of the past year, either for efficiency or for incorruptibility; but it may fairly be said that it was no worse than some that have preceded it in the old days of despotism. In the city itself there has been fairly good order and something has been done in the way of street improvements, but outside there has been a great deal of thieving, robbery and murder, very little of which has been punished. The wonder is that with the weakness of the government there has not been more disorder.

The Kurds have not ceased from troubling, but their depredations have not been so general as sometimes. Turkish affairs here are in the hands of an energetic consul, who is increasing his influence. It would be idle to prophesy, but Turkish officials in eastern Turkey do not hesitate to lay claim to Urumia and Salmas. A Turkish occupation of this region would seem to be a very possible outcome of any break-up of Persia. Perhaps in all this there is a call to us to turn more to the Kurds in our plans and efforts.

The changes in Persia have opened up a much freer field for evangelistic work among the Mohammedans and by converts from Mohammedanism to Christianity. There are more than a score of such converts in Teheran alone, and one of them was able to go out on an unhindered tour of evangelization, in which he openly preached his new faith. In the oldest section of the Persia field, among the Nestorians, the chief hindrances have continued to be the tide of emigration, taking a great majority of the capable young men out of the country and appreciably diminishing the birth-rate, and the continued division of the field by small denominational Missions conducted by Nestorians, who almost without exception received their education in the Urumia College, but have left the Syrian Evangelical Church and set up independent enterprises sustained by contributions from Europe and America.

Perhaps the most remarkable development of the year in Persia has been the inrush of Mohammedan students to the Mission schools. Every station in Persia has felt the effect of this eager desire on the part of the Mohammedans for education. In the Teheran Boys' School, out of 300 students, 180 were Moslems; and in the Girls' School there were 110 Moslems in a school enrollment of 235. No opposition whatever has been made to the requirements of the schools that all pupils, including the Moslems, should attend daily prayers and the Bible classes. In Tabriz the eagerness of the Mohammedan girls in the Girls' School has been pathetic. For generations the whole realm of thought and knowledge has been closed against these Moslem women, and now that it is opened to them there is a feeling of intense eagerness ${\bf to}$ possess these priceless treasures.

THE PHILIPPINES.—A laconic Scotchman, a business man in Iloilo, remarked to one of our missionaries: "You Americans have been sending out missionaries to foreign countries for more than half a century; now you have your own little bunch of heathen, and we are just waiting to see what you will do with them." In no other land does the missionary get such a world inspection of himself and his efforts. Though one of the youngest of our Missions, the Philippine Mission has achieved notable development. We now have nine stations in the archipelago and a tenth has just been opened. The oldest station, Manila, is less than a dozen years old, and the youngest, the Camarines, is mentioned this year for the first time as a separate station. In spite, however, of the fact that the Mission is so young and that the force for several years was so small, the Mission has come to be one of the most successful and prosperous of our whole The number of communicants continues to increase at a gratifying rate. The evangelistic work at all the stations is as vigorously pushed as the number of missionaries and Filipino workers will permit, while our educational institutions, the Ellinwood Seminary and Ellinwood Girls' School in Manila and Silliman Institute at Dumaguete, are widely recognized as among the most influential institutions in the Philippines. The Ellinwood Seminary continues to be conducted in union with the Methodist Mission. The Silliman Institute had 560 students last year, and every department is full to overflowing. The government has given it the power to confer degrees, and competent observers, not connected with the Mission, have recently characterized it as the best and most successful educational institution in the Philippine Islands.

The spirit of comity and co-operation, which has so signally marked this Mission from the beginning, continues to manifest itself in very satisfactory ways. It is well known that the archipelago has been divided among the Boards so that each has its independent field. The American Episcopal Mission has not seen its way clear formally to enter the Evangelical Union, but the work of that Mission among the Filipinos is very small, except among the pagan tribes of the interior of the Island of Luzon, where the other Missions are not at work, and Bishop Brent is careful to observe the spirit of co-operation. The Baptist Board, finding itself straitened for territory, approached our Board in a fraternal spirit with an inquiry as to whether we would be willing to yield to it the Island of Samar. Though this island had been regarded as within Presbyterian territory, we had not actually occupied it with resident missionaries, and as the request of our Baptist brethren appeared to be a reasonable one, the transfer was cordially made.

SIAM AND LAOS.—These two Missions are usually considered together, as they are both in the Kingdom of Siam, although, as is well known, the Laos people of the north speak a different language. The death of His Majesty the King during the year aroused widespread sympathy and sorrow. His character and relation to our missionary work and the equally interesting question as to the attitude of his successor are indicated in the following letter which the Board sent through the American Legation in Bangkok:

November 21, 1010.

TO HIS ROYAL MAJESTY THE KING OF SIAM.

The Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America has learned with profound sorrow of the bereavement of Your Royal Majesty and the people of Siam in the death of Your Royal Father, King Chulalongkorn. The Board vividly remembers the many acts of sympathy and generosity which marked His attitude toward the American missionaries in Siam. Eight years ago His Majesty was referred to in a public address as the most enlightened of Asiatic rulers, a King who is leading his people to higher levels of life, and whose travels in Europe and India and his knowledge of the English language have familiarized him with the world's great movements. The death of such a Monarch is a great loss not only to Siam but to Asia and the world. His Majesty had no more loyal supporters than the American Presbyterian missionaries in Siam, and the Board and its large constituency in America share the deep sympathy which has been so generally evoked by His lamented death.

It is a great gratification to the Board and to all friends of Siam that the successor of His Majesty is not only His beloved son, but one who shares the liberal spirit and breadth of view which so eminently characterized His Majesty, the late King. The Board remembers with pleasure the visit which Your Royal Majesty made to New York in 1902, and Your Majesty's presence at the dinner given in your honor at the Metropolitan Club by Mr. Warner Van Norden in behalf of our Board. We have not forgotten the high tribute which Your Majesty paid at that time to the character and work of the American missionaries in Siam and your strong statement: "When I ascend the Throne, I promise that I will continue the policy of toleration and good-will so long shown by my honored Father." The Board wishes to assure Your Majesty of its earnest hope and confident expectation, which are shared by all the missionaries under its care, that the reign of Your Majesty may be marked by many years of health and happiness and by the peace and prosperity of your people. In our prayers for our own beloved country and Chief Magistrate, we shall not forget to pray that the God and Father of all Nations may guide and bless His Majesty the King of Siam.

In behalf of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America,

Your Royal Majesty's most obedient Servant,
(signed) Arthur J. Brown,
Secretary of the Board.

The following reply was received:

FOREIGN OFFICE, BANGKOK, 12th February, 1911.

MR. PRESIDENT AND MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF FOREIGN MISSIONS OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

I am commanded by the King, my August Sovereign, to acknowledge the receipt of the address, dated 21st November, 1910, which you were good enough to present to His Majesty, through His Excellency Mr. Hamilton King, American Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to this Court.

In fulfilling this pleasant duty, I am also desired by His Majesty to say how deeply touched and keenly appreciative he feels at your cordial expressions of sympathy in the great loss which he and the whole Siam nation have suffered by the untimely demise of his revered Royal Father, King Chulalongkorn. It is especially gratifying to him to know from your kind words that the earnest labors of his beloved Father in the interest of his country and its people are so well recognized by our good friends abroad. In these labors, the American Presbyterian missionaries in Siam have not been idle spectators, but have been active participants with a devotion worthy of every praise. Having now succeeded to his present high estate, His Majesty remembers the promise uttered at your hospitable entertainment in New York nine years ago with emphasis, and assures you that, in carrying out the great trust which the Siamese nation has confided in him, His Majesty will ever regard the American missionaries in our midst as fellow-workers in a great cause—the moral elevation and progress of a nation.

His Majesty sincerely thanks you all for the good wishes which you so kindly expressed for himself and the accomplishment of the great duties which lie before him, and fervently prays that increasing success and prosperity may ever be vouchsafed to your good and benevolent Missions.

I have the honor to be,

Mr. President and Members of the Board, Your obedient servant, > (signed) Devawongse, Minister for Foreign Affairs.

Services in memory of the late monarch were held in many of our churches in Siam and Laos, to which all local officials were especially invited. Many who had never entered our churches before did so on this occasion, and expressed themselves as pleased to understand that loyalty and obedience to rulers were an essential part of our teaching and that prayers for the King and his officers were a regular part of our services. His Majesty Vajiravudh, the present King, was so pleased at the honor thus shown to his father that he has made gifts to each church in which such services were held and to each of our schools and dispensaries, as permanent tokens of his good will. Thus once more the friendly feeling between the authorities of Siam and our missionaries is manifested and strengthened.

The work of the Siam Mission has not been characterized by any extraordinary development during the year, but has gone steadily on along the usual lines. In the six stations occupied by the Mission, 39 missionaries are at work. Bangkok, the capital city, is third in size in all the East, having but two others reported with a larger census. Here four organized churches, one ministered to by a native pastor and entirely managed by the Siamese, two street chapels and several chapels and Sunday-schools are widely spreading the Gospel message. The Hospital has been enlarged from 25 to 40 beds and 27 patients have united with the Third Church. The Christian High School for Boys has reached its limits for accommodation of boarders, and the Harriet House School for Girls has been in a chronic condition of overcrowding for several years. The Petchaburi Church, including four out-station churches and six touring circuits, has baptized 53 persons and increased its catechumen class from 187 to 363, a gracious ending of a long and trying period of stagnation. Active itinerating has been done by the missionaries at the other stations, the schools show increased enrollment and the physicians have been kept busy.

The senior missionary, Rev. Dr. Eugene P. Dunlap, and his wife, who have toured the Malay Peninsula for the last twenty years, have taken charge of the new station on the west coast at Tap Teang. Dr. Bulkley is associated with them as medical missionary. Their field covers a wide range and the different groups of Christians collected in many years cannot be expected to meet in one assembly in the near future. But they rejoice that the one who first led them to Christ is among them to increase their joy and usefulness. There is no active opposition to the Gospel anywhere in Siam, but toleration is often merged into an indifference which is hard to move.

The isolation which has hitherto marked the Laos Mission is lessened by the new railroad which now runs within a day's journey of Pre, reducing the former trip from Bangkok to Laos from six weeks to three days. This Mission has had another good year. The in-gathering in out-stations included some that had waited because visits last year were impossible, but a larger number have declared themselves on the Lord's side than in any previous year; 397 were received, and the number of new households that have taken down their spirit shrines and been enrolled as catechumens gives promise of still larger things to come.

The wider outlook into the regions beyond, gained through the visits of Mr. Freeman and Dr. Dodd to Tonkin, Quang-si and Yunnan, prevent any easy optimism. Dr. Dodd journeyed from Chieng Rai through the Shan States and southeastern China to Canton, a journey occupying five and a half-months. The whole distance traveled was 1,700 miles. This memorable tour brought to light some startling facts regarding the wide distribution of the Tai race, to which the Laos-speaking people belong, and has enormously enlarged the responsibility of the Presbyterian Church for its evangelization. A full report of Dr. Dodd's epoch-making tour was printed in the Chinese Recorder for December, 1910.

Beside the 7,000,000 literate Laos in the field with which we are more familiar, there are revealed to us at least 5,000,000 illiterate Tai, centering in Quang-si, the old home of the race, whose speech our missionaries can understand and for all of whom, over an area larger than Indiana and Illinois combined, not one Protestant missionary of any Board is at work. Surely, "the harvest is great and the laborers are few."

Our veterans, Dr. Daniel McGilvary and Dr. Jonathan Wilson, reached Siam June 20, 1858, and have now been longer in service than any other men on our roll. March 24, Dr. Wilson's eightieth birthday was celebrated at Lakawn. Translator of the poetry of the Bible as well as of the Church in all ages, the sweet psalmist of the Laos people, beloved of all, he is still bringing fruit in old age. December 6, during Mission meeting, all the Americans and Europeans in Chiengmai gathered to congratulate Dr. and Mrs. McGilvary on the completion of fifty years of happy wedded life. Gifts, telegrams and letters alike testified to the esteem in which this father and mother in Israel are held by the foreign community throughout Siam, as well as by the Board in New York, the Mission, and hosts of friends in both hemispheres. Perhaps the most notable telegram was that which came from the Minister of Foreign Affairs, Prince Damrong. It was as follows:

BANGKOK, December 22, 6.20 P.M.

DOCTOR McGILVARY, Chieng Mai:

Just learn from local papers the celebration of your gold wedding. Wish you and Mrs. McGilvary accept my sincere congratulations and best wishes that you both be spared to continue your great work for many years.

Damrong.

Though in his eighty-third year and showing in some ways the infirmities of age, Dr. McGilvary spent much of the time from January to May in active itinerating evangelistic work. His biography, covering the whole history of the Mission, is now in press.

SYRIA.—The year in this Mission has been marked not only by spiritual growth, but also by deep earnestness in facing the problems which have arisen as a result of the changing conditions in the Turkish empire. With the progress of time the viewpoint as to the new constitutional government becomes somewhat changed. The reports indicate that there has been a great depletion in the numbers of Syrian laborers owing to the emigration of those who desire to escape the army conscription. The miserable condition of the ill-fed and ill-paid Turkish soldiery does not offer much inducement to young men, and there is a suspicion that Christian soldiers, greatly in the minority, may be maltreated by their Moslem comrades and officers. A careful observer writes

There are abundant facts to confirm the view that the present régime is fanning the anti-foreign spirit. Arabic Moslems are made to feel that whatever changes may come, the Turkish blood is to rule. The equality extended to Christians is a bit of Oriental irony and a farce. The sword and not the Constitution is the law. European nations have in a recent identical note charged the Turkish Government to adopt a less arrogant attitude toward the smaller Christian countries on the borders of the empire. But there is little hope of this advice being taken, because martial law is still in force at Constantinople and warlike spirits control every department of the government.

The freedom of the press is being encroached upon by a hostile interpretation of a rigorous code of law. The central government has adopted the old list of condemned books, and while the official censorship has been abolished, every powerful governor or military official can act as a censor, and editors and owners of printing establishments are beginning to feel the bitterness of the new situation. Those who print and publish books and newspapers are being held responsible for what the authors and correspondents may have unwittingly or wickedly uttered.

A new school law of 300 sections is just being framed which we learn will be decidedly anti-foreign and anti-Christian in its spirit, and will no doubt contain the usual concealed pitfalls and presumably harmless weapons, but in the hands of hostile officials can give us many a day of anxious thought. Orders have been issued that all foreign teachers in Ottoman (presumably "governmental") schools must be replaced by teachers of Ottoman nationality. This order could hardly be applied to foreign schools. But evidently the government hopes to force the Christians to follow their lead. The Ministry of Justice, on instructions received from the Ministry of Education, informed the Protestant Chancery that in the schools of non-Moslem communities of the country, no foreign subjects will be allowed to teach. Beginning with the next school year, their places must be filled by Ottoman subjects,

The role of a prophet in Turkey is a dangerous one, but unless all signs fail; the new régime has allied itself with the retroactive party, and all foreign and Christian enterprises are to be hedged about with new and negative stipulations which are anything but constitutional in form and spirit. Certain great moral problems, too, are rolling on toward more acute phases, which will again reveal the intolerance and fanaticism of the Mohammedan world.

In spite of this somewhat discouraging environment, the Syria Mission reports that at the last meeting of Presbytery, August 3 to 7, there was manifested a spirit of consecration and prayerfulness which indicated a realization that if the advance is to be made which the times demand, it can only be through the power of prayer and the work of the Holy Spirit.

In the body of the report for Syria will be found an impressive statement of the output of our great Mission Press at Beirut. This year has been the banner year in the work done by this far-reaching evangelistic agency. Forty million pages were printed, of which 95 per cent. were in Arabic, 75 per cent. were religious, and more than 70 per cent. were the Arabic Bible. To those who believe that the Word of God shall not return unto Him void, such figures are of vital interest. If, together with this thought, one can recall such enthusiasm in itinerating work as is embodied in a veteran missionary like Dr. Samuel Jessup, one may be sure that the Syria Mission is doing its share in preparing the way for the work of the Spirit of God in the Near East.

LATIN AMERICA.—The work of the past year in Mexico has been quiet and fruitful. The political upheaval did not come until the end of the year and it had not seriously affected the work of the Missions when the reports were mailed. The year was the centennial of Mexican independence. Special evangelistic efforts were put forth. In many local churches the enthusiasm was spasmodic and short-lived, but on the whole the Church learned the need of persistence, as well as the joy of reaping where little was expected. It can be said truly that the native men have attempted more direct hand-to-hand personal evangelism than ever before, and are touching many people whom they thought out of reach. More attention has been given to the study of plans and methods, and many have shown a willingness to learn something new who before were well satisfied with their own old way. All that we have gained in previous years in the unifying of our work and the removal of unjust and unworthy suspicions, both from missionaries and native men, is having blessed fruitage in a splendid harmony and co-operation which are sure to count in the long run for the betterment of the service. One of the most potent agencies for good in the Mission is the Press. Last year 8,000,000 pages of religious literature were printed. This includes weekly and monthly religious periodicals, Sunday-school lesson leafs and printing religious periodicals for Southern Methodists, Northern Methodists, Episcopalians and others. Mexico City is the natural distributing post for a great part of the Spanish-speaking world.

The Guatemala Mission, with an area of 63,400 square miles, has a population variously estimated from 1,200,000 to 1,500,000, composed of whites, Mestizos and Indians, the latter vastly predominating. New life has been given to the endeavors of the missionary through the providential raising up of a group of friends in the United States who have become specially interested in the work. The result has been that, together with Guatemala's share of the appropriation under the Kennedy legacy and the Board's regular grant, the Mission will be able to carry out the permission given it by the Board some time ago to change the location of the Mission property at Quezaltenango and build a new chapel and residences; will be able to re-establish the educational work of the Mission, and also to equip more adequately the hospital at Guatemala City. The Guatemala Mission has been visited during the year by the Rev. Stanley White, D.D., one of the Secretaries of the Board, and Mr. Walter McDougall, an elder of the Bedford Avenue Presbyterian Church of Brooklyn, who has been deeply interested in the work in this field and went with Dr. White to make a personal study of its needs.

The Missions in Brazil have had one of their most encouraging years. They have been strongly reinforced. They have found open doors on every side, and the life and work of the land in the past year have been eventful. There has been a wonderful material advance along all lines. Trade, foreign and domestic, has increased rapidly; the influx of foreigners and foreign capital has been very large. There has been an unprecedented advance in railways, uniting the coast states from Espirito Santo to Rio Grande do Sul, reaching the distant states of Matto Grosso and Coyaz, and the road that will soon connect navigable waters of the tributaries of the Amazon is being pushed vigorously. There has also been an advance toward the awakening of the people to a sense of their rights and duties, as shown in the recent presidential election, where for the first time there were two parties divided on questions of principle, hotly contesting the election. In spite of all this progress, no man can say what the future of Brazil is to be. That the material development of the hitherto almost untouched natural resources of the country will go on rapidly with foreign capital and that the great enterprises now being organized by powerful foreign syndicates will be in no considerable degree influenced by political or social conditions, there can be but little doubt, whatever internal complications may arise. To those familiar with Brazil's life and politics, the outlook, in the near future, for the republic and for the peaceful development of free institutions is a very stormy one. A strong force of priests, monks and friars of all the great religious orders, flanked by a great variety of Sisters of Mercy and Charity of the teaching and nursing orders-French, Dutch, German, Spanish, and Belgian, with a sprinkling of English and Americans, now reinforced from Portugal—has poured into Brazil.

In Colombia and Chili the year has witnessed great progress. The Colombia Mission, whose force had been greatly reduced, has been doubled in its missionary staff, and the work feels the thrill of a new hope and purpose. For years the Chili Mission has struggled to get its work on adequate financial basis. The problem was rendered more difficult by the fluctuations of Chilian exchange. The new year will begin with the Mission on a better foundation than ever before in its history, with new equipment of churches and Mission residences, with its schools full and with the need of the country for what it has to bring more clearly discerned than ever.

CHINESE, JAPANESE AND KOREANS IN THE UNITED STATES.—Work among the Chinese is carried on by the Board at San Francisco, Los Angeles, Oakland, Alameda and Santa Rosa. At San Francisco there is a school of 138 members, a day school with an attendance of 45 supported by the Occidental Board, and a night school with an average attendance of 36. Contributions from the Church from all sources for the year were $12,707.66. Schools are also conducted at the other places named. In all the work among the Chinese there has been a slight falling off in attendance, due largely to the rigid enforcement of the immigration laws.

The main work for Koreans is confined to a few towns in Southern California. The Christian membership is 183, less than 10 of whom are women. All are connected with the church in Los Angeles. Contributions for the year were $707.10. At Yucatan the membership has increased from 250 to 300.

The Japanese work on the Pacific coast has shown marked increase during the year. Sixty-five adults have received baptism; two mission chapels and a manse have been erected by the Japanese residents and a preaching hall and class-room have been opened in the Japanese section of Los Angeles. Work for the Japanese is carried on at Watsonville, Salinas, San Francisco, Hanford, Stockton, Visalia, Wintersburg and Los Angeles. The total membership is 449 and the Japanese raised $1,190 during the year.

Death claimed eleven beloved missionaries during the year. This was not a large numerical loss among a thousand missionaries, only about one per cent.; but in value the bereavement of the Church is unusually grievous, for the death roll includes some of the most highly honored and beloved missionaries, as the following list will show:

- The Rev. Henry H. Jessup, D.D., LL.D.; appointed 1855; Moderator of the General Assembly 1879; died at Beirut, Syria, April 28, 1910, age 78.
- Mrs. Eliza S. Wilder, widow of the Rev. R. S. Wilder, D.D.; appointed 1845; died at Islampur, India, May 8, 1910, age 88.
- Mrs. Helen Nevius, widow of the Rev. John L. Nevius, D.D.; appointed 1852; died at Chefoo, China, June 20, 1910, age 77.

- Mrs. Phœbe Ogden, widow of the Rev. T. Spencer Ogden; appointed 1858; died at Cranbury, N. J., February 14, 1911, age 78.
- The Rev. Thomas F. Wallace, D.D.; appointed 1861; died at Chicago, Ill., July 22, 1910, age 76.
- The Rev. E. Allen Enders; appointed 1903; died at Fatehpur, India, August 6, 1911, age 43.
- Miss Emily C. Bird; appointed 1879; died at Abeih, Syria, August 14, 1910, age 57.
- Mrs. Annie Boyce, wife of the Rev. Isaac Boyce; appointed 1884; died at Wooster, O., Sept. 29, 1910, age 55.
- Miss Kate Youngman; appointed 1873; died in Tokyo, Japan, September 29, 1910, age 69.
- Mrs. Lucy Crouch Leaman, wife of the Rev. Charles Leaman; appointed 1873; died at Kuling, China, October 9, 1910.
- Miss Grace E. Wilder; appointed 1887; died at Islampur, India, April 19, 1911, age 51.

The Board joins the relatives and a very large number of friends in lamenting the loss to the work of these faithful servants of God; but it unites with them also in reverent thanksgiving for their lives of eminent ability and usefulness. They builded well and the results of their labors will long endure.

It is difficult to cover the enormous, complicated and widely extended work of the Board of Foreign Missions within the few pages to which this Introduction must be confined; but we trust that enough has been said to lead the General Assembly and the whole Church to a deeper sense of the responsibility and privilege in the conduct of the great task which God has committed to the Presbyterian Church. the extension of the principles of comity and co-operation and by agreements with the Boards of Foreign Missions of other Churches, great sections of the non-Christian world, with an aggregate population of one hundred millions, are now understood to be the distinct foreign missionary responsibility of our Church. It would require at least four times our present missionary force and four times our present annual expenditure to cover this vast field even in a partially adequate way. It should be borne in mind that in the conduct of this great work the responsibility of the Foreign Board is not divided with numerous and powerful local churches, other agencies of our own Church and the activities of other denominations. Comparisons of the Board of Foreign Missions with agencies operating in the United States are therefore misleading. While we are greatly encouraged by the growth of the native churches and while we confidently anticipate the time when they will relieve the Board of large duties, particularly in evangelistic work, they are not yet strong enough to lessen our responsibilities. It is a stupendous enterprise to which we are called, an enterprise which would be overwhelming if we did not realize that it is one which God will help us to bear. The resources of the Foreign Missionary enterprise in the ability and prayers of the Church and, above all, in God himself, are adequate to this great task. We earnestly and humbly summon the Church to a larger and fuller realization of this responsibility, and we pray that the Spirit of God, who can operate how and where and in what manner He pleases and who is not limited by the imperfections and inadequacies of human instrumentalities, may work in mighty power until the whole world shall know God and Jesus Christ whom He has sent.

AT HOME.

The year in the home-lands has been marked by several important missionary events, the most notable being the World Missionary Conference held in Edinburgh last June. This Conference profoundly affected the thought and life of the Church. Many of the Presbyterian delegates after their return were heard in churches, Presbyteries and Synods. The newspaper and periodical press gave large attention to the discussions of the Conference, and the admirable printed reports of the Conference have been widely circulated. The whole world has felt the spiritual influence of this great gathering representing every Protestant Communion and missionaries from every non-Christian field.

An event of national importance was the celebration of the Jubilee of the Women's Foreign Missionary Societies. The meetings began in the Pacific coast and were continued throughout the year, finding their fitting climax in the great gatherings in New York. Large audiences, spontaneous enthusiasm and generous gifts gave evidence of the wide-spread interest of the Church at home in the foreign missionary enterprise.

The campaigns of the Laymen's Missionary Movement have had a very perceptible effect in the increased interest shown by the men and in the enlarged contributions of many churches. The meetings in connection with the Laymen's Movement this year have been of a different character from those of the previous year, looking rather to the improvement of methods and the bringing of laymen into various forms of active service in the church, Presbytery and Synod.

A marked feature of the work of the Home Department during the year has been co-operation with other Boards. In accordance with the action of the last General Assembly. the representatives of the Home and Foreign Mission forces sought to secure concert of action for the ends that are common to both interests, namely, the securing in every church a Missionary Committee to carry on a continuous course of education, issuing in an adequate weekly offering from every member. In many Presbyteries, a united Committee for Missions is already at work with a view to reaching all the churches. This Committee usually consists of the Home and Foreign Committees of the Presbytery, together with a group of laymen selected by the combined Committees. From this large representative Committee, an Executive Committee is constituted through which initiative and objective are given for a united men's missionary movement for the Presbytery. In this way, the interests of both Home and Foreign Missions are brought into mutual co-operation. relating the men of the Church to the International Laymen's Movement and leading the whole Church to larger things for the Kingdom.

"The Every Member Campaign," so successfully inaugurated in the Synod of Illinois last year, has been continued with increased evidence of its great value as a method of awakening churches to a deeper sense of responsibility. The Board highly appreciates the generosity of the layman who has so largely financed the campaign. This example set by the Synod of Illinois has been followed by the Synods of Iowa and Kansas, in which "Every Member Campaigns" have been inaugurated and carried on without expense to the Board and with most gratifying results. The special aim in these campaigns is to secure a subscription from every member of every church in the entire Synod. Each of these States has organized its men for Foreign Missions and the men have naturally introduced the business methods of other enterprises, so that churches are being lined up for Foreign Mission campaigns in a scientific and systematic way. All the Synods of the Western District have approved and recommended to the Church the "Single Budget Plan" for all benevolences. Many Presbyterians have done the same. Weekly pledges, the duplex envelope and every member canvass have been adopted by many churches.

In the Eastern, Central and Southern Districts there is a gratifying increase of receipts due to the persistent efforts on the part of the Board and its representatives, aided by the local committees and pastors, to inculcate individual subscriptions on the basis of weekly giving. The receipts of the Board have increased as follows since the present district Secretaries began their work:

Eastern District	52 per cent. since 1902.
Central District	137 per cent. since 1905.
Southern District	92 per cent. since 1907.
Western District	Established only one year.
Sunday Schools	37 per cent. since 1907.

While varying local conditions have affected the rate of increase, it will be seen that while this extension of our Home Department work has increased the administrative expenditures of the Board, it has far more than paid for itself.

The Sunday-school Department has effectively carried on its work during the year, enlisting an increasing number of schools in modern education. There has been an encouraging increase in Foreign Mission offerings from Sunday-schools, and many schools are adopting the "Station Plan" of giving. Attention is called to the fact that arrangements have been made for graded missionary lessons as an integral part of the new Graded International Sunday-school Lessons. This will provide missionary education in a way that has never been possible before and registers a great advance. For schools that are still using the Uniform International Sunday-school Lessons, the Department will continue to furnish missionary illustrations on the current lessons in the periodical, Kingdom Comments.

The Educational Department reports 1,326 Mission Study Classes with a total membership of 17,465. The increase in the number of classes for men shows that the Mission Study is strongly appealing to the men of the Church. Special attention is being given to the training of leaders who will be influential in their respective communities.

A growing interest in Missions is shown by the increasing demand for missionary literature. For example, requests for Bulletin No. 23, samples of which were sent to all pastors, called for 400,000 copies. The number of volumes taken from the Foreign Missionary Library also indicates an everwidening circle of readers.

The detailed financial statement will appear in the report of the Treasurer. We merely note here that the total income of the Board during the year, exclusive of the Kennedy bequest, but including certain credits from gains in exchange. etc., was $1,718,526.46, an increase of $260,865.66 over that of the preceding year. The total expenditures were $1,698,523.02, leaving a surplus of $20,003.44. sidering the depression and uncertainty which still prevail in the business world, the rapid growth of the work abroad, and the serious advance in prices, this is a highly encouraging showing and one which calls for devout gratitude to God. The Board's budget for the new fiscal year, beginning April 1. 1011, is $1,463,852, an increase of $116,236 over the budget announced at the beginning of the year. This advance has been rendered absolutely imperative by the development of the work, and the increased cost of living which is affecting the whole non-Christian world as seriously as America, and which makes it more expensive to maintain workers and carry on a given work to-day than formerly. The Board feels that the advance that has been made is a small one considering all the circumstances, and that it should be considered a minimum to be increased if possible by the enlarging gifts of the the year. The financial policy of the Board, however, is conservative, and it does not like to commit itself to a large advance until it has had some opportunity to know whether the Church would support it.

The outstanding financial fact of the year has been the payment of the generous bequest of the late Mr. John Stewart Kennedy, of New York, $2,250,000 having been paid to our Treasurer, February 23, 1911. The Board has given long and careful consideration to the wise use of this great gift. study began as soon as the fact of the bequest became known, a year and a half ago. No advance expenditures were made on account of the bequest, except in a very few instances, chiefly where devoted missionaries were suffering for want of proper accommodations. The Board felt that the greatest possible care should be devoted to the expenditure of such a sum of money, a sum which the Board regards as a sacred trust to be administered under a special sense of responsibility to the Church, to the missionaries, and to God. The following considerations governed the final decision as to the use of this fund:

- 1. The providence of God, as seen in this bequest and in the present conditions at home and abroad, together with all that we know of Mr. Kennedy's own mind with reference to the work of the Church, make it unmistakably clear that this is an opportunity for a distinct advance in the work and for a long forward step toward the discharge of our distinct missionary responsibility. The bequest should not be used merely to make it easier or more comfortable to do the present work; it should be used to expand the work.
- 2. This expansion should be made as soon as possible in the directions which are most clearly associated with the accomplishment of the primary aim of Missions, namely, the proclamation of Christ, the winning of men and the building up of true native Churches.
- 3. This evidence of the trust of God in the Board to administer wisely so great a gift should increase and not diminish our faith in Him. The bequest should be used in a way that will not indicate misgiving lest God should purpose scantier things in the future.
- 4. The bequest should be so used as to stimulate and expand and not to stifle or relax the missionary interest of the Church. The Board's policy for its expenditure should take into account the growing missionary spirit in the Church, which within a few years ought to be ready to carry the larger enterprises which this contribution makes it possible to project.
- 5. The greater case with which money can be spent on material equipment as compared with living agency must be kept in mind as a peril. Unless better work and more work are to result from expenditures on equipment, those expenditures are not justified. It is on this account that some missionaries urge certain forms of endowment rather than immediate expenditure, because such endowment will make it possible to spend the money on men rather than on buildings.

6. The difficulty of spending large sums immediately would make it impracticable if not impossible for the Board to dispose of the bequest within five years unless it should be in the way of distributed endowment or upon material equipment, which, however, should not be allowed to have first place in our thought, essential as it is in a subordinate place. The amount asked by the Missions for living work exceeded the amount which the Board was able to grant last year by the sum of $50,000. Assuming that this sum could be doubled without abandoning the same principles of rigid frugality which have hitherto prevailed, it would still be less than the annual income from the bequest, if the balance of the bequest, after providing for all immediate property necessities, should be invested permanently.

The Executive Council therefore proposed the following plan which, after full discussion at several meetings, was unanimously adopted:

- 1. Provide from the bequest, whether from income or from capital, whatever may be necessary each year to increase the appropriations for the year, so as to give the Missions what is needed under Column IV of their estimates. This column contains requisitions for what the Missions need for living missionary work in excess of what they received the preceding year. It shows what the supply of a comparatively small additional sum will enable the Missions to provide with substantially their present equipment. No expenditure will go further or is more necessary toward the accomplishment of our immediate aims. This would call for the fiscal year 1911-1912, for example, for an expenditure of approximately $50,000. The advantage of this plan of expenditure is that it is perfectly sound and normal, and involves no invented or specially constructed estimates. We simply meet in this way the urgent needs of the work in its wholesome and natural growth, needs which we have not hitherto been able to adequately meet. No measure would as instantly and as effectively as this give increased solidity, power and constructive progress.
- 2. Give special attention on the work of developing the native Christian leadership, advancing the institutions which are efficiently accomplishing this work, but which are inadequately equipped in men and facilities for it. The adequate development of this work involves:
- (a) Proper institutions for training such men, with subordinate institutions leading up to them.
- (b) Such organization and supervision of the evangelistic work as shall produce material for the institutions to train and shall utilize it when it is trained.
 - (c) Right relationships to native Church organizations, including the establishment of proper standards of support, true co-operation between Churches and Missions, and the proper development of selfsupport on the part of the Churches and the steady increase in the number of self-supporting pastorates.

- (d) An adequate Christian leadership must include other Christian leaders beside preachers and teachers, and the raising up of such men is legitimate; but assistance from the bequest should be conditioned upon the evidence that the institutions aided or established are actually wielding the evangelistic influence upon their students and yielding the result in Christian leadership which alone can justify them.
- 3. Those additions should be made to the present equipment in the way of land and property, buildings and residences which are necessary to make the latter hygienic and adequate to present necessities and also to supply all facilities necessary for doing the maximum work from our present bases. Provision should be made, also, for meeting emergency property needs.
- 4. The counsel given by Mr. Kennedy at the time of the Stuart bequest in the erection of the new building confirms the judgment that he would approve of some addition to the reserve and banking funds, which should be increased with the increasing operations of the Board.

Manifestly the first thing to be done was to ascertain how much would be required under No. 3 to put our present plants into proper condition. For many years the growth of the work has so far outstripped the contributions of the home Church that the entire regular income of the Board was inadequate for the maintenance of current work. nothing for property except special gifts. Such gifts were fairly numerous, but they were few in comparison with the needs, were sporadic and were not so distributed as to meet the general necessities. Many of our properties had fallen into bad condition; schools and hospitals were overcrowded; some missionaries were not reasonably housed, and the work as a whole was seriously crippled. Accordingly, as soon as the Board learned that it had been included in the list of Mr. Kennedy's benefactions, the missionaries were invited to submit itemized statements of their most imperative needs. The Assembly will appreciate the Board's situation when it was found that the sum of these needs was $3,600,000 for property alone, 60 per cent. more than the entire bequest. And yet, the Missions as a whole asked only for what they really needed, the comparatively few liberal requests being far more than offset by hundreds which were too conservative. This single fact should be the most decisive reply to those who innocently imagine that the Kennedy bequest will enable the Board to solve its problem. Moreover, putting into property even half of the amount asked for would swell the annual charges for current expenses beyond any reasonable possibility of maintenance. The Board therefore felt obliged to cut down these property requests from $3,600,000 to $800,-Weeks of labor were spent upon this ungracious task, and the Missions will receive less than a quarter of what they asked and really ought to have. The sum allotted provides for housing the missionary force at present on the field or under assignment in a plain and frugal but healthful way and supplies a greatly improved equipment for the evangelistic and educational and medical work, though it leaves unmet far more needs than it has been possible, in accordance with the principles laid down, to meet out of this bequest.

The remainder of the bequest was divided into seven parts. Three-sevenths were set aside for an Evangelistic Expansion Fund, three-sevenths for an Educational Equipment and Endowment Fund, and one-seventh was added to the reserve and banking funds of the Board. The two former funds, namely, the Evangelistic Expansion Fund and the Educational Equipment and Endowment Fund, and the Property Fund as above indicated, have been entered as separate funds upon the Treasurer's books and will be handled as distinct accounts.

The Property Fund will be exhausted by the expenditures authorized within one or two years.

The Evangelistic Expansion Fund will be used, capital and interest, at such rate per annum as the development of the work may require. If, as is confidently anticipated, the contributions of the Church continue to increase and to do so in an accelerated way, it ought to be possible to care for all the needs of the direct evangelistic work without exhausting this fund in less than ten years, by which time the enlarged beneficence of the Church and the gifts which are anticipated from other men and women of like mind with Mr. Kennedy, will take up and carry forward that which has been projected.

The Educational Equipment and Endowment Fund is to be made the basis of a larger fund to bear this name and be used for these purposes, this sum to be sought by special gifts from individuals. $5,000,000 should be provided for such an Educational Equipment and Endowment Fund. This should be held and administered by the Board, with freedom to apply it for equipment or maintenance of Christian education on the foreign field.

Such a fund is required by the magnitude of the educational work carried on by the Board. In addition to its evangelistic work and its 143 hospitals and dispensaries, which treated last year 467,820 patients, the Board is the greatest educational agency of the Church. It maintains, including union colleges, nine colleges and universities, eleven theological seminaries, six medical colleges, five nurses' training schools, 14 industrial schools, three schools for the blind, two schools for deaf mutes, 96 academies and boarding schools, and more than 1,600 day schools. In extent, variety and efficiency, this work is not surpassed on the Mission field. The present magnitude and efficiency of the work call for increased interest and support.

Such a fund is required because of the inadequacy of the present support of the work. Apart from missionary salaries, taxes and repairs, the total amount expended in its educational work by the Board last year was $141,126, an average of $2.53 per pupil. In Englewood, New Jersey, the total cost for 2,018 pupils (the entire enrollment) was $80,483, or $39.85 per pupil, and in the latter case the education was uniform, in day schools, in one language, and ended with the high school; while the educational work of the Board runs from kindergarten to university and professional school, and includes medical and technical courses, normal schools and theological seminaries, and involves not only day-school conditions, but the care and support of thousands of boarding pupils. The educational work of the Board, moreover, is not simply educational, but primarily and essentially missionary. The people themselves for whom this work is done gave toward its expenses over $200,000, or $66,000 more than the amount expended by the Board, exclusive of salaries of foreign missionaries. Wherever other denominations are willing to co-operate, it is the policy of the Board to join with them in union educational work. In every field where it is working with other Presbyterian or Reformed Churches, it is engaged with them in the support of common educational institutions, and it is conducting union enterprises also with Congregationalists, Methodists, Baptists, Disciples and Anglicans. With the economy of such co-operative effort and with all possible contributions from the people themselves, the resources available for the work fall far short of meeting its needs.

Such a fund is required in order to expand and extend the work. The number of institutions should be more than doubled and the efficiency of the work should be increased in every field. All over the world opportunities are pressing upon the Board which it is unable to meet.

Such a fund is required because the work which it will enable the Board to do is work that is indispensable to the prosperity and progress of the people among whom the Missions of the Board are at work and to the establishment and development of the Native Church as a vital and indigenous power. Such work alone can produce the moral leadership required in these lands. We must depend upon our Christian institutions to supply the Christian preachers, teachers and doctors needed for the rapidly growing churches. That these institutions may fulfill their end they need a larger staff of missionaries and adequate equipment and maintenance.

Among the further reasons for the establishment of such a fund are the following:

- (a) The desirability of providing for our educational work on a more permanent basis, and at the same time of releasing as large a portion of the current receipts of the Board as possible for use in direct evangelistic work.
- (b) Such a Fund would make it possible for the Board to administer directly and adequately all the educational institutions in our foreign missions without the creation of independent boards of trustees.
- (c) It would make possible a flexible use of the gifts for such work without attaching them to local institutions, which may sooner or later be passed over to native control. Through the agency of such a special Fund, the support of educational work can be moved from field to field as conditions alter and will remain in the control of the Home Church.

- (d) It would exempt the Home Church from special appeals on behalf of our educational institutions abroad.
- (c) It would enable the Board to hold all higher education true to the direct missionary purpose and in integral connection with the evangelistic spirit and aim of all missionary work.

The mind of the non-Christian world is fast opening to new The desire for education is becoming a hunger. within our power to meet this hunger with Christian education, to give form and direction to the systems of national instruction which are growing up in these lands, to establish the Christian Church in knowledge and power, and to guide the awakening thought of these peoples to Him who is the Way, the Truth and the Light. When the two universities in New York City are asking each for $10,000,000 additional endowment, while one of them already has real estate to the value of $42,871,774 and an endowment fund of $28,519,930, it is believed that $5,000,000 is a moderate sum to ask to enable the Board to deal more adequately with the educational urgency and opportunity which confront it among the one hundred million people for whom it must initiate the entire movement of evangelization and Christian education.

These two funds, the Evangelistic Expansion Fund and the Educational Equipment and Endowment Fund, are not to be subject to miscellaneous and extemporaneous calls, but are to be used to extend the present work in a regular and ordered way, all estimates for expenditures to be included as an integral part of the regular estimate for each new year, and appropriations to be made through the regular appropriation system. All grants from these funds, whether from income or from capital, will be added for this purpose to the resources available to meet the necessities of a given year as carefully and comprehensively planned in the budget.

We trust that the Church will particularly note how immense the necessities of the work are and how much is still to be done in the matter of proper equipment. The need of enlarged contributions from the Church should also be emphasized in order to keep pace with the evangelistic growth which is accelerated by every such enlargement as is now possible, and which not only calls for far more than can be provided at this time, but which will each year, as the Evangelistic Expansion Fund is diminished, demand immensely increased support. The increase of the Mission force, which should be multiplied if our responsibilities are to be met in even a moderately adequate way, depends upon a proportionate increase in the income of the Board. The bequest of Mr. Kennedy was truly characterized by the last General Assembly as the noblest and most munificent legacy ever received by any agency of the Church. Our gratitude to God for this princely benefaction and our sense of solemn privilege and responsibility for the wise use of it steadily But we are sure that the Assembly will see from the statements that have been made that, so far from lessening the duty of the Church, this great bequest has enormously increased it. That part of the work of the world evangelization which God has laid upon the Presbyterian Church really needs, as we have seen, four and a half times as much for property equipment alone as that bequest can supply, eight and a third times as much for education, four times as much for new missionaries, and additional sums for the extension of evangelistic, medical and literary work which that bequest can hardly begin to meet, but which the Board must depend upon the Church to supply. Mr. Kennedy was raised up of God to point the way which, we earnestly hope and pray. many others will follow. The Presbyterian Church at home has made encouraging advance in giving. The Board of Foreign Missions has received $37,477,165 since 1837 and its properties on the foreign field are worth several millions of dollars. But our present force and equipment and annual expenditure do not enable the Board to reach effectively more than a quarter of the people who live in the fields which are considered the distinct foreign missionary responsibility of the Presbyterian Church. The following table shows that our Church could more than double its present gifts without equaling the per capita gifts of one of our sister churches:

In this age of vast opportunities, when our country is passing from the period of restricted national outlook and activities into one of world visions and relationships, when every door of opportunity is wide open and when the teeming continent of Asia has come into such close contact with us that if we do not make it better, it will make us worse, the scale of foreign missionary giving which has thus far prevailed, and which is a survival of the outworn period of a narrower life, will not suffice. God is summoning the Church to conduct this world enterprise on a world scale. The magnitude and difficulties of the enterprise are not reasons for discouragement. Rather do they challenge us to correspondingly greater effort. This is an age of big undertakings. We hear on every side of vast commercial enterprises. Hundreds of these employ more than 4,000 men. There are many enterprises which involve the expenditure of more than $6,000,000 annually. Business men do not hesitate to attempt colossal things in secular affairs. Not content with the trade of America, they are competing with England and Germany for the trade of the world. The foreign commerce of the United States now runs up into the hundreds of millions of dollars and is represented by tens of thousands of agents. Why, then, should it be deemed fanciful for the Presbyterian Church to attempt to raise for the evangelization of the world a sum which many of its members would not regard as impracticable for a business enterprise? Shall we work for our own enrichment on a vast scale, and work for God and our fellowmen on a small one? Shall not our great Church grapple adequately with this world enterprise, take a world vision of it, and solemnly determine that in the name and by the help of the Omnipotent Jehovah the task shall be performed? Be ours the prayer of that inspiring hymn.

"Lead on, O King Eternal,
The day of march has come;
Henceforth in fields of conquest
Thy tents shall be our home;
Through days of preparation
Thy grace has made us strong,
And now, O King Eternal,
We lift our battle-song."

The terms of the following members of the Board expire with this Assembly, and their re-election for three years is recommended:

Rev. George Alexander, D.D., Mr. Warner VanNorden, Rev. John F. Patterson, D.D., Mr. John T. Underwood, Rev. J. Ross Stevenson, D.D., Mr. D. W. McWilliams, Mr. James M. Speers.

BARAKA STATION.

Since the withdrawal of the missionaries from Baraka in the beginning of this year the work has been administered by the native Christians of the Mpongwe Church, assisted at the communion seasons by missionaries. The spirit of this little Christian community, suddenly confronted with the necessity of maintaining its existence without resident missionaries, has been most admirable.

The church under the native evangelist Iguwe has prospered in the addition of several to church membership. A number of the school children have entered the catechumen class. A notable convert has been made in a young man, child of Christian parents and long the subject of prayer among the missionaries who know him and the need of the Mpongwe people for an Mpongwe leader. The high character of this young man, his reputation among the Gaboon tribes, his position as head of the school at Baraka—all these circumstances of responsibility claim much of him as a Christian.

There are over 40 children in the school. Nine little girls live on the place in care of Sara Lewis, so long a servant of the Lord and of the Gaboon people.

BENITO STATION.

Benito District, from the Campo on the north to the Gaboon estuary and waterways on the south, shows many signs of promise, and the lack of a proper missionary force is the more felt on this account. We cannot care for the work or take anything like adequate advantage of the opportunities offered us.

EVANGELISTIC.—

Progress is visible in all the churches. The congregations have everywhere increased, and of a communion Sunday have overflowed the churches. Corisco Church, not content to dwell on the island, is erecting on the mainland a building for church and school purposes. Hanje Church building, to which the Mabea tribe are flocking in large numbers, has been enlarged. Besides Nume Chapel, which is now finished, there are two other preaching points in the parish of Hanje.

Benito Church has had a good year. The blessing of God came in drops each Sabbath. It was refreshing to one's soul to see the boys and girls of the school stand up and embrace Jesus. One hundred and twenty of these young people have been received into the cate-chumen class and 9 into the church, of whom 5 were children of the covenant. Benito Church supports two Sunday services—at Melega and Melängä. At the former place the old work has been taking on new life, the Fang and the Mabea are being reached by this branch of the Benito Church. At Melängä, among the Mabea, there is a company of believers and a church is being erected.

Bata Church has four preaching places. A new house of worship is being erected at Asonge, north of Bata. This church is well manned for winning souls. Her one great need is a settled minister to guide the flock. The Fang and Mabea are right at the door of this church and are being reached. Four Fang women have been received into the church. Evune and Myuma Churches have the oversight of Pastor Mbula Ngubi. At Evune they are erecting a parsonage and at Myuma they are preparing to erect a new house of worship. The Evune Church is well filled each Sabbath, and on Communion Sabbaths, when the whole church is gathered, they number between 500 and 600. Twenty-six persons have been received into the church, and 53 catechumens added. Myuma Church has increased 14. This church needs a minister all the time, and when the parish is worked, Myuma Church will be one of the largest churches on the coast.

COMMUNION SERVICE, ELAT, OCTOBER 3, 1909—1,698 PEOPLE PRESENT.
NOVEMBER, 1910, SAME CHURCH, 5,745 PEOPLE PRESENT.

EDUCATIONAL.—

The year opened with a most prosperous school of over 150 children—a school to be proud of and the results of a continuous work of three years. It is the belief of the missionaries that this number of children could have been doubled had there been a missionary free to itinerate in the interests of the school. Fang classes, organized by Mrs. Wright and carried on by Mrs. Cunningham, were very popular among the members of this tribe, and did not interfere with their Spanish studies under Dr. Pinney. The first six months of the year saw a school work most satisfying to the Mission, the natives, and the Spanish officials.

In August the school was closed by the Government, in accordance with a law closing all unauthorized schools—a law which is one of the results of the present religious and civil disorders in Spain. It is not the judgment of the missionaries that this check to their school work is in any sense permanent, however grievous for the present.

An account of the industrial work done by the girls and boys at this Station—the sewing, the planting, the pressing of oil from the palm nut, the building—an account of these activities, that have filled so many hours of necessary and healthy labor, would give an inadequate account of the actual value, material and moral, of such labor.

MEDICAL.-

The medical work at this Station, where during the greater part of the year the physician has been the head of the school work, has been heavier and more satisfactory than at any previous time. For twenty years this most lonely Station has been so irregularly supplied with medical men that there has been no continuous effort to gain the confidence of the people. Very gratifying to their physician has been the growth of his practice at a Station where there is no hospital and where the doctor has been much engrossed by school work.

BATANGA STATION.

The force of the Station has varied from two to six during the year, much of the time numbering only three.

EVANGELISTIC.—

This work, as for several years previously, has been almost entirely in the hands of the native helpers. The great awakening among the Mabea, noted in the last two annual reports, has continued, and large numbers are coming into the three churches of the district, but more especially Kribi and Bongahele. The earlier converts have now passed the tests of the probationary period in the catechetical classes and each Communion season witnesses the reception of goodly numbers into church membership. Two chapels have been built by the Mabea in two of their towns some twenty miles north of Batanga, and a most encouraging work is in progress there in addition to the out-station where the older work is still being pushed.

EDUCATIONAL.—

Two terms of the Station school were held during the first half of the year, followed by a term of three months in the village schools, a third term of the Station school opening late in November. The number of village schools was increased to ten to meet the strong demand of the Mabea for schools. Half of the schools are now in Mabea villages. A new school law of the German Colonial Government has just gone into effect, providing for contracts binding pupils entering on the course of study to complete it. These contracts are not easy to secure and for the time will add to the burden of the work and may reduce the attendance, but in the long run will be a great help in promoting the efficiency of the schools by insuring regularity and permanence in the school.

Girls' School.—Two terms of the Girls' School have been held since the removal of the building from Bongahele.

MEDICAL -

With no resident physician during the year, little could be expected in this department, though the work was continued on a small scale during January, February and March, under the supervision of Mr. Hickman. At the end of that time, however, it was deemed wise to close the hospital and dispensary.

CARAVAN AND BUSINESS WORK.—The volume of this work has been very heavy, and has called for the expenditure of much time and strength. The entertainment of passing missionaries has been an important feature of the work of the ladies of the station.

EFULEN STATION.

It is with joy that we look back on the past year and think of the way the Lord has blessed us. The blessings of which we spoke last year seem to have gone on without a break and to have increased until we, as well as the natives, marvel at the power of God. Many things were left undone because we were so few. There has been enough work to keep busy twice as many as we were.

EVANGELISTIC.—

If there is anything which ought to convince the skeptical it is the large results as compared to the small time we have had to give to this part of the work. We have been simply swamped. It has come like an immense flood and we have felt as helpless and as impotent to handle and control it as if we were tossed upon the billows of the mighty ocean. We have been awed and humbled as we have witnessed this wonderful revival. God's ways of working are marvelous. We were none of us long on the field and knew almost nothing of the hard days of beginnings and of the many years of faithful and arduous preaching, and yet God seems to have waited until these days to make bare His strong right arm. We have to report over 700 confessors. To God be the praise! But these hundreds of converts are still many of them ignorant, and we need help, for our work with them is only begun. The responsibility upon the Church at home is greater than ever before. These 750 are those who came to us at Efulen, and does not include hundreds of others who have confessed Christ in the towns to our evangelists, teachers and leading Christians. It does not include the many old and sick people of whom we hear, who on their beds eagerly listen, to any of the Words of Life which reach their ears; many of whom, in their poor, ignorant way, often pray in a way that might shock some good Christians. For example, one old woman seemed willing to pray, but the burden of her prayer was to accuse

God for not healing her of her sickness.

The church has continued to advance along all lines. Forty-three members have been baptized and one received by letter during the last eight months. This has meant long and tedious examinations. Tiresome as these have been, no one who has not experienced it knows the joy when finding some poor old man or woman who, though frightfully ignorant about many things, when questioned about Jesus answers in a ringing tone which carries conviction to our hearts that he or she knows Him Whom to know is life eternal. One old woman, when asked to relate one of Christ's parables, at first modestly said she was so dumb, and then very touchingly and beautifully related the parable of the prodigal son. She gave it such tender touches, as only a Bulu could, and as Christ certainly would have given it had He spoken it in Bulu. Its beautiful lesson had penetrated all her ignorance and superstitution and filled her heart with light. The church now numbers 223 members. Many, many more long to be baptized and sit at the Lord's table, but we are requiring them to know more about the Bible since they are having better opportunities of learning. It is a pretty sure test with most of them if they have a clear understanding of the things of God, for only the Holy Spirit could expel the darkness of centuries from their minds and make the things of God known to them. Remember, therefore, that the 223 is only a very small part of those who love and serve the Master. Much patient work must be done with these, who are gathered into graded classes work must be done with these, who are gathered into graded classes preparatory to church membership. The classes in which such converts are enrolled as have proved their sincerity by right living have a total enrollment of 1,000 members. The church building, twice enlarged, has been too small on some Communion Sundays when the congregation has numbered 2,000. On the first Sunday of every month the average congregation of nearly 700 has increased to an average of over 1,300.

The people grow in the grace of giving—this parish of primitive forest folk contribute something like $20 every month.

The work among the women grows immensely. Your missionaries have been borne down by the burden of the need of these women, who assemble at times to the number of 600. Town visitation, class instruction, Sabbath meetings, individual work, these have been carried on to the ability of the two women assigned for part of the year to the Station, and latterly by the one woman the Mission has been able to assign, assisted by those other women who have paid successive visits to Efulen. The African women have been very active in Christian work. Faithful old Zamo continues to come in from her own neighborhood with a following of women coming to confess their faith in Christ. One thinks that she must have exhausted the possibilities of her district, but at each Communion season she brings in a harvest. Many other women are thus busy about their Father's business.

Itinerating.—

As usual, village school visitation has been combined with this, and with good effect. Two trips have been made among the Ntum. One was made from the Campo, going straight east, where the missionary passed over some roads which natives said had never been visited by a missionary, and some people heard the Gospel for the first time. We now have an evangelist in that district as well as in eight or nine other places, two of which are among the Ntum.

EDUCATIONAL.—

The Station school has been very encouraging. There were about 100 pupils in the German and 175 in the Bulu. We have been pleased to have a larger number of boarders than usual on the hill these two terms. The Bulu school being larger than usual, it was necessary to divide it into eight classes. The German school has also done good work, as we have been well equipped with teachers. It was a special blessing in July to see five more young men finish the course completely which had been laid out for them. Two of these five will come back and take positions as regular teachers, one as a special contract teacher, another will take up preparatory studies for the ministry, and the fifth has not yet definitely decided what line of work he will follow. During the last term of the girls' school there were 24 pupils, some of whom were women.

The town schools, of which there have been from twelve to eighteen, are doing well. They all have a surplus to their credit after having paid the teachers' salaries. There have been over 700 pupils in these village schools.

INDUSTRIAL AND AGRICULTURAL.-

We believe the industrial work means much for the Mission and should be developed and well manned at each Station. It has been an encouraging feature of the work at this Station. We have just graduated three from our class and have three apprentices. We have contracted two of the graduates for one year. We are glad to say that two of the graduates are church members and the other has recently expressed his desire to be a Christian. Efulen now has one of the largest, if not the largest, cocoa garden in this part of the country. The garden contains about 15,000 trees—clearing, planting and all done by the school-boys. We hope this will in the future about pay all the expenses of the school. A number of fruit trees also have been set out.

MEDICAL.—

This department, during that half of the year when the doctor was with us, went forward in the usual way—the hospital, inadquate in every way, overflowing with patients. Since the doctor's departure on furlough one of the missionaries has set bones and pulled teeth and doctored as best he might the dreadful ills of this neighborhood. Not without anguish of mind. God has cared for the members of this Station in the absence of a doctor.

The results of religious work among the patients when the hospital was open were most gratifying. Several of the patients acknowledged Jesus Christ as their Saviour, and they all were much interested in the "things of God."

ELAT STATION.

The force at this Station consisted during the early part of the year of Mr. and Mrs. Krug, Mrs. McCleary, the Doctors Hansen and Messrs. Fraser, Dager and Hope. In March Mrs. McCleary went home on furlough; in August Mrs. Krug, because of ill health, anticipated her furlough; and in September Mr. Hope left on furlough. In the same month the Doctors Hansen were temporarily transferred to another Station to meet an imperative need. So much for losses that left this Station short-handed and without a woman to care for the thousands of women and girls of this region. In July Mr. Grieg, a newly appointed missionary, arrived. Thus the personnel of the Station is ever shifting, but the work abides and marches on, attended by marked blessing, increasing needs and large promise.

EVANGELISTIC.—

The church has been greatly blessed and the work has grown in a wonderful way, showing that God is accomplishing great things for His people. The coming of crowds to hear, their giving, their earnest seeking for light, their confessions and willingness to make restitution to those wronged, and the spirit of evangelism shows the wonderful power the Gospel is having over these people.

During the past year 109 persons were received into the church on confession of their faith, making the total membership to be 220. This body of Christians, scattered in villages near and far, means more than typewriter can express. Two hundred and fifty-five persons, having served a long time of probation and instruction, were advanced into the Nsamba, which society is the next step to the church, in case the candidate holds fast. The average attendance at Sabbath morning services has been 1562. During the entire past year, 1,500 persons have so acknowledged our Lord. The new church, under its 80 x 160 feet of thatch, has housed an average congregation of 2,000, this congregation being immensely increased on collection and Communion Sundays, and coming near, on one such Sundays, to 6,000 persons. In the Sabbath school 40 classes have been running, taught by the natives after special instruction upon the lesson, and with an average total attendance of 1,391. The average for the year has been 1,509.

The giving on the monthly collection days is general and cheerfully done as a vital part of service and an expression of love and faith. There are 4,000 on the subscription list, 2,500 of whom are regular contributors. On the Sunday when the new church was dedicated there were nearly 2,400 envelopes in the baskets. One woman, living at a distance of three days' walk from Elat and prevented from attending services by a soldier who was enforcing road work, came in during the week with her two mites. These thousands of mickles have made a muckle, and the sum of that muckle for the past year

In connection with the Elat Church, one pastoral assistant and ten candidates for the ministry have been employed, with good results, in pastoral and evangelistic work. Regular services have been held by three evangelists stationed, respectively, at Moneko'o, Mejape Mebaé and at the caravan house located at Mekalat (adjoining Elat), with good attendance and results, especially at the two former places.

and at the caravan house located at Mekarat (adjoining Blat), with good attendance and results, especially at the two former places. A conference was held at Elat, November 5–12. Regularly appointed and badged delegates were present: 89 from Efulen, 96 from MacLean, 200 from Elat—385 in all. On Sunday morning 5,745 people overflowed the capacity of the church. At 5.30 o'clock each morning, when the night shades were still on and one person could not recognize another, prayer meetings were well sustained with a spontaneous attendance of 340 praying souls. Sometimes two or three were competing aloud at the throne of grace. Many persons spoke of the spiritual help received, and it is believed that the series of meetings will prove fruitful in strengthening Christians and leading them into more general and efficient service.

EDUCATIONAL.—

School work has grown; the German department is as large again as it was a year ago. At the Station school 614 pupils have been enrolled. Of these, 564 were boys, 50 were girls; 384 were in the Bulu branch of the school, 230 were in the German department, from which 8 young men have been graduated. Four failed of graduation because they did not pass in mathematics.

them credit for amount and quality of school work done.

As the German school grows larger the work in the vernacular at the Station grows smaller by necessity, while more work is done in the village schools, where a far greater number are reached than is possible to reach at the Station. The village schools have enjoyed a rapid and healthy growth. They are greatly appreciated, and far more towns ask for schools than we are able to supply. Some towns go so far as to build a house, hoping thus to induce the Mission to send them a teacher. Many are converted as a direct result of these village schools. From a school 150 miles away six young men came in, walking the 300 miles that they might confess Christ and be shown more fully the way. The first term there were 29 schools, enrolling 2,800 pupils, with a daily average attendance of 2,550. The second term there were 41 schools, 3,570 pupils, with average daily attendance of 3,340. This department has been more than self-supporting. One cannot estimate the good done by the village schools; the teachers preach as well as teach, and reach thousands who would not otherwise hear the Gospel. Mr. Krug started November 23 on a trip to inspect about twenty village schools, and during his absence of about four weeks to do general evangelistic work—a work in which we could use ten native evangelists where we have one.

The theological seminary, of which Mr. Dager is the faculty, has been redeeming the time, hard at work. Ten young men are under instruction—three Ngumba from the Lolodorf Church, two Bulu from Efulen and five Bulu of Elat. Of these, three have recently completed school work in German and entered the theological course. One has been dropped who was found to have unworthy motives. The evolution of worthy and qualified ministers from a solid mass of heathenism is a miracle of grace and accomplishment. A dozen places are waiting for every candidate. The translation of "Landmarks of Church History" has just been completed by Mr. Fraser for use of the candidates.

Frank James Industrial School.—

The work of this institution has grown enormously in the past three years and is now one of the most encouraging features of the work of the Mission. Not only are the running expenses met by the different classes, but machinery, tools and other equipment to the value of not less than $2,000 have been paid for out of the net profits. It is anticipated that at no distant day, after the school shall have been fully equipped along broad lines, it will prove a revenue producer for the general work of the Mission. At last Mission meeting the school was placed in charge of a Board of Directors, who are to have control of all the industrial work of the Mission.

Class in Carpentry.—

This class has been crowded with work and has taken many profitable contracts from trading firms and from others. The new hospital plant at Elat, a boys' dormitory and the immense new church are among the buildings erected. A month was spent at Mctet on the first residence at the new Station. Pews for the new church are now being made. Eighteen new apprentices have been added to the class, and all of the three whose terms expired elected to continue for another year. It was found necessary to add another saw to those already in operation, to keep up with the demand for lumber. The class has now on hand and paid for all tools and machinery in use, unused hardware and other materials valued at $500, lumber worth $600 and $1,000 in cash.

Class in Tailoring.—

This class now consists of nine apprentices, four having been added during the year, and one sent to Calabar in southern Nigeria to complete his course under the European tailor in charge of the Tailoring Department of the Hope-Waddell Training Institute of the Mission of the United Free Church of Scotland. Our two native instructors are graduates of this school. The class has seven machines, furniture and equipment for the shop, all paid for, and $850 worth of materials on hand. It has done more and better work during the year than ever before, having received in the first seven months 412 orders and turned out more than 1,000 garments for nearly $900.

Class in Kamerun Chair Work.—

This department is of more recent origin than the others and is conducted on a smaller scale, but it has made splendid advancement in the quality of the work done. It has been entirely unable to keep up with orders. The German Government was so well pleased with the work of the class that we were asked to take a contract to supply chairs and furniture for the various Government buildings and official residences in this colony, but it was impossible, for the present at least, to accept a contract of this magnitude.

MEDICAL.—

During the latter part of the year no physician has been at Elat, the Station physician being absent to supply temporarily the imperative need at another Station. In the early part of the year a new hospital was built, but of the work done at that time it is not possible to give a report in the absence of the doctors.

MacLEAN MEMORIAL STATION.

EVANGELISTIC.—

Evangelistic work this year has been a continuation of that reported last year, consisting of the services held at the Station church and the care of the two out-stations, Mimbo-mi-Nga and Lam. There has been a gradual increase in church attendance and religious interest. The average attendance is a little larger than a year ago, notwith-standing the fact that some nearby preaching points have been established. The number of men are proportionately few, but this can be explained by the action of the Governor in sending out soldiers to catch men for road work. Many have thus been taken and the other men of the towns are afraid to come out lest they be taken in the way.

The MacLean Church has held regularly each week a Sabbath-school with an average attendance of 652. There have been fourteen classes, taught for the most part by native helpers. Many attendants, whether young boys or old women, have been diligent in committing to memory all the Golden Texts of successive quarters. At the close of the Sabbath-school a preaching service is held, at which the attendance is practically, the same as at the previous session. Usually there are two or three that remain at the close of every service to confess their belief in the Lord Jesus Christ, and they are duly questioned as to their past and directed as to their future walk in life. By this initial step many afterward enter into the joys of church fellowship and will yet enter into the heavenly joys awaiting the faithful.

There has been also a weekly Sabbath afternoon service for the boys and young men, a similar one during the school term for girls and women, also a monthly missionary meeting for women on the first or collection Sabbath of each month, as many who live at a distance make an especial effort to be present on that Sabbath. Tuesday is the day set apart for the meeting of inquirers who have been enrolled less than a year, or, having been enrolled for a longer period, have not shown the desired qualifications for advancement. The study at this hour has been on the Life of Christ, and in general there have been four classes; two for women, one for school boys and one for men, each taught by one of our Station missionaries. The chief advantage in this plan is that thus a roll of attendance can be kept and the missionaries have better opportunity of becoming acquanited with the people. Those Christians who have been advanced from the Tuesday class meet, together with the church members, each Wednesday, and they, too, receive instruction adapted to their stage of Christian growth.

The work of the palaver house continues very much the same as reported last year. Crowds of carriers are housed there every night of the year, and every night the Word of God is preached to them by another faithful evangelist.

The church at Lam, organized in January with a membership of 27, has recently celebrated its fourth Communion season and has now a membership of 55. This church has great drawing powers and frequently surpasses its mother-church in the attendance at Sabbath services. In July a general invitation was sent out to attend the dedication of their own large new building. That Sabbath was a glad one not only for the four missionaries who were able to attend, but for the many who saw that they had not labored in vain as they built the Lord's house. This church is blessed above the other churches in having a strong body of men workers. Elder Bian is still the leading force, and others are proving themselves good helpers. One of the Lam elders was sent to Batanga to assist in the schools and to do evangelistic work.

One of the elders of the Lolodorf Church has been sent back to the dwarf region to conduct a school there. He has a number of confessors at that place, but it is not known whether they are dwarfs or not. The school has only recently been opened and no missionary has visited the place. Another elder of the Lolodorf Church is teaching in the Station school and another elder has just closed a very large and successful school in Bululand.

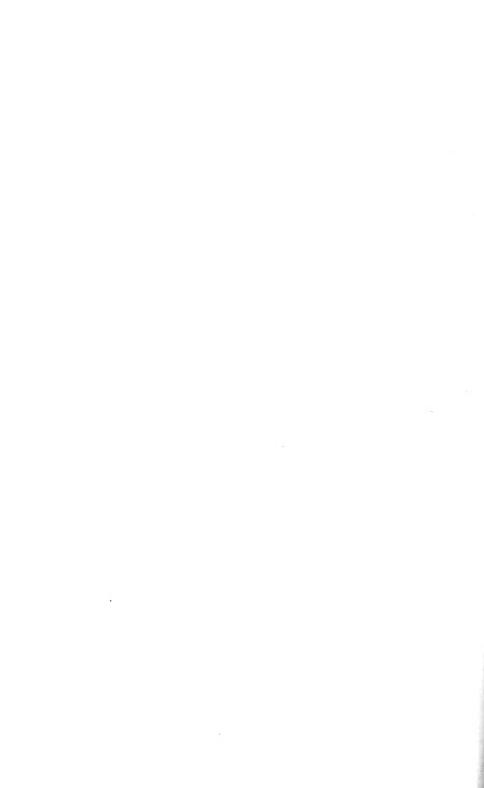

A very neat little chapel has been built at Muga and the Sunday attendance is good. A hundred boys were enrolled at the school there last term.

Itineration,—

For the most part it is understood that the more distant towns must be visited by the men of the Station, while the women try to reach those within a range of five miles. Bicycles aid very much in traveling, while the purchase of a jinrikisha has enabled the women and babies to be transported with more comfort and at less expense than the earlier method of being carried in a hammock.

In the early part of the year Dr. Lehman and Mr. Evans spent seven days visiting the Yaonde towns to the north and east of us. Since the close of Mission Meeting, August 24, the members of the Station have done much traveling. Mr. Johnston was called upon to make a trip to Ndo'o, forty miles down the beach road; another trip touching Efulen, Batanga and the Campo River, forty miles south of Batanga; then a trip to Mimbo-mi-Ngal and Lam and to Elat. This makes a total distance of over 700 miles, not counting numerous short trips. Mr. Schwab made a flying trip to the Nlong River, then to Elat and Efulen, thus visiting each of the eleven schools. He also made a second trip to Elat. This makes a total distance of over 600 miles for Mr. Schwab. Mrs. Schwab went to Efulen and Elat, a distance of 160 miles, not counting the short trips. Dr. Lehman made a trip half-way to the Nlong, another to Mimbo-mi-Ngal, and then to Lam, Ndo'o and Batanga. Mr. Evans went to Mimbo-mi-Ngal, to the Nlong River, and three trips to Lam. Thus, in three months' time, the members of our Station have traveled an aggregate distance of 2,250 miles, not counting the short trips.

EDUCATIONAL.—

Our report will have to do with village schools and with the Station schools, and naturally we give the Station school first place. The system is like a circle, when one stops to think of it, for the village schools feed the Station school and the Station school certainly feeds the village school, only that the material fed differs somewhat. The village school supplies the Station school with boys who have successfully completed a certain prescribed course in the native language. These, in turn, as well as in time, develop into fairly well-equipped teachers who later go out to feed the minds of their less knowing brothers and perhaps sisters. The system was foreseen years ago, but has never been realized at our Station until this present day. Just before leaving on furlough, Mr. Hummel graduated a well-appearing class of 12 boys. The programme that they offered was in German, in which their studies have been for the past three or four years, and now at last 9 of these young graduates are at their posts of duty, standing as fair examples of what Christian education can and does do for an African boy. Three are to be retained to help with the teaching in the Station school. There has been an attendance of 376, of whom 150 were boarders.

The girls' school seems to be a child of natural and steady growth, surely one not to be ashamed of. Of an enrollment of 62 for the past term, 36 were boarding on the place, which means that they were under the direct care of a conscientious native Christian woman and the general supervision of a lady missionary. The girls, as well as the boys boarding, worked for their food. Sometimes they prepared and cooked cassava for the consumption of all; some days they planted or weeded in peanut, pineapple and cassava gardens. Twice a week, during school hours, they received instruction in sewing, and quite a few salable articles have been converted into cash and turned into the educational account. In March a class of 9 girls were given modest little diplomas and told that they had completed the short course, which covers a reading of all that is now printed in Bulu, an ability to write and to do simple arithmetic. These particular girls were well versed in Scripture, having done a considerable amount of memorizing, and some of them have really reached the heart of the matter and have gone out, as we believe, to lead Christian lives.

Twelve neighborhoods have been supplied with schools, and there has been a total enrollment in these out-schools of 700 pupils.

MEDICAL.-

The Medical Department continues its work of healing and of dispensing medicines. The cash receipts have come to about $500, and there have been about 8,000 treatments given. We have greatly appreciated the, two new hospital buildings which were gifts from interested friends. We have not had to turn any away for lack of room, and many, though sick, have been far more comfortable with our hospital accommodation than they could possibly have been at home. Since December 1 there have been 140 hospital patients.

METET STATION.

February of this year saw the occupation of our new Station among the Bene tribe by white missionaries. Dr. and Mrs. Silas Johnson were assigned there, and the Doctor, accompanied by Rev. Melvin Fraser, arrived there late in February. Mr. Fraser spent three months with Dr. Johnson and rendered valuable assistance. Problems incident to the establishment of a new Station were confronted; prices of food, building material and other necessities were fixed and satisfactorily agreed upon; a saw pit was made in which from two to four saws have been kept going. Late in March, the kitchen of the dwelling house having been completed, Mrs. Johnson and the children were brought from Elat. Elat, helpful to this new Station in every possible way, gave leave to Mr. Hope and carpenters of the Frank James Industrial School to spend nearly a month at Metet. The house was habitable the last of May—just three months after the first tree was cut for plank. The missionaries feel very hopeful of this new work.

EVANGELISTIC.—

The people are glad of the presence of the missionaries. Of a Sunday there have been from 200 to 300 in a congregation, and of these who have heard the Word of God 40 have confessed the Lord Jesus.

EDUCATIONAL.-

A school has been established; Bulu and German are taught There are over 100 pupils, some of whem are girls.

MEDICAL.-

Dr. Johnson has carried on the medical work along with the other work of the Station. There has been no lack of such work, though it has not been reported.

During the past year the Mission has been called upon to mourn with Mr. and Mrs. Campbell the loss of their infant son, but otherwise the health of all the missionaries and their families has been very good.

KIUNGCHOW STATION.

Kiungchow Station reports commendable progress in all branches of the work. Never before has there been so large a number of applicants for instruction and baptism. The marked increase in interest on the part of the men is a most encouraging feature. The plan of gathering the helpers and more intelligent Christians from the country into classes for seasons of Bible study has been more fully developed. Hitherto, owing to the hostility of the people, the Station has been able to prosecute very little work in the district of Vunsio. During the past year, however, two strong clans from that region have at their own request been visited by a missionary and have sent numbers of young men out seeking instruction in Christian doctrine.

While the Christians for the most part have been free from unusual opposition, there has been in one section a malicious and determined attempt to overthrow the church. Within a few miles of the capital, Kiungchow, at the market of Tap-tu-lou, the centre of a large region of the more civilized Loi, the local gentry had organized a Self-government Society and attempted to use their power to stop the progress of Christianity. To this end they posted anti-Christian placards. One man's house was raided, and all the Christians were obliged to flee. A proclamation has since been issued by the district magistrate, denouncing the gentry, and has made it safe for the people to return to their homes.

A notable event of the year was the dedication, on May 22, of the Carl C. Jeremiassen Church in Hoihow, a tribute to the memory of the courageous and devoted pioneer missionary, who for twenty years unsparingly gave himself to the work of planting the Church of Christ in Hainan, and in 1901 was laid to rest in the island which he so dearly loved.

This substantial structure of stone and teak wood, with its 50-foot tower, is built roughly in the form of a cross and has a seating capacity of 500. The first contribution toward this church came from a poor widow, a grateful patient, who brought her little hoard of 100 silver dollars and asked that it be an initial sum toward a house of worship. This gift was augmented by a number of others from the United States, notably those of Mr. L. H. Severance, Mr. W. J. McCahan and Mrs. Turner. The Chinese congregation furnished the seats, pulpit and communion table, while societies of the Princeton Church in Philadelphia gave the bell and the organ.

On the day of the dedication the church was filled to its utmost capacity, both schools from Kiungchow and many Christians from the country being present. The dedication service in its Chinese form was impressive and the responses of the people were heartily made. The day was brought to a fitting close by a Communion service in which the two congregations of Hoihow and Kiungchow united.

EVANGELISTIC.—During the year Mr. Newton has made several itinerating trips to the country, visiting the homes of Christians and inquirers. Another trip of five weeks was made in company with the British consul in Hoihow and an artillery officer from Hongkong, visiting the Lois in the region of the Five-finger Mountains, the central valley, and in the country south of Namfong, returning by way of Nodoa.

Visit to Vunsio.—Early in May, Mr. Li, a former assistant in the Hoihow Hospital, but at that time practicing medicine in Vunsio, accompanied by several influential graduates of the Lim clan, together with a number of young men of the student class, called on Mr. Newton in Kiungchow. They professed an interest in the Gospel and requested that a visit be made to their market. With regard to this visit Mr. Newton writes:

Our visit to Vunsio was certainly interesting; time alone will tell what profit was in it. The party consisted of Licentiate Tang, Colporteur Vunfak, my Christian servant and a prospective helper named Dio, who accompanied us at the request of the Lim people. This man had feigned a deep interest in the Gospel, but the insincerity of his motives was shown a little later when he tried to convince the Heng clan that he was the gate-keeper of the church, and offered to open the doors for the sum of $30. His company was dispensed with after that. Four young men of the Lim clan also accompanied us. Our entry into the market of Kaikham on the morning of the third day was made amid a blaze of firecrackers, the gentry giving us a Chinese welcome at the gate of the chapel they had themselves rented and fitted up for the occasion. Although wholly unauthorized to do so, they had had a bell cast with the inscription, "Moe kok oh-do" (American school) Ten days were spent among them, teaching classes of people daily and receiving calls from dozens of men, mostly of the scholar class. Among those present was a graduate by name Moe-so, who returned home only to be taken down with a fatal attack of dysentery. About a week before he died, he wrote a letter to me, telling of his faith and commending to our spiritual care a younger relative, a man of about forty years of age, a school-teacher, who seems deeply interested and who is, we believe, one of those examples rarely seen, a Confucianist with a sense of sin. If he stands the test of time and is not diverted from his purpose to serve God, we should find in him a consecrated preacher.

At the next Communion season following, the new building for inquirers and also most of the Paxton training building, school not being in session at the time, was crowded with inquirers, including many men from that region. More than 20 of these remained for nearly a month afterward for instruction.

WOMAN'S WORK.—Misses Montgomery and Skinner have made several trips to the markets and villages tributary to this Station and report increasing interest. The Bible women have also done much work visiting in this immediate region and itinerating in the country. Mrs. Campbell has continued to hold weekly classes for women in Kiungchow. The women who attended the meetings entered with zest on the study of "Pilgrim's Progress," which they read in the Romanized, making personal application of the experiences of the two pilgrims to their own lives.

Mrs. McCandliss and the Bible woman under her charge have continued the work for women in Hoihow, holding meetings and visiting in the homes. She relates the following incident. Some years ago a Christian woman contracted leprosy and was moved to the leper village just outside the wall of Hoihow. She died last fall and it was afterward found that during her life she had been faithful in sowing the seed, teaching prayers and hymns to those of her fellow-sufferers who were willing to learn, and, as a result, several have become deeply interested. Following up this interest, Mrs. McCandliss and the Bible woman have made weekly visits to the leper village.

EDUCATIONAL.—Paxton Training School.—The Academic Department, under the superintendence of Mr. Campbell, has made very satisfactory progress. The average attendance for the two terms was 38. During the scourge of plague in Kiungchow and Hoihow last year the health of the school was exceptionally good. The students pay for their board sums ranging from $r to $3 (Mex.) per month, and are given responsibility in caring for their rooms and the school surroundings. During the summer drought the water in the compound well failed and, improvising a drilling apparatus, Mr. Campbell sunk the well fourteen feet deeper, thus securing an abundance of good water. A beginning has also been made toward an athletic equipment for the school.

Two of the older students are assisting in teaching primary geography and arithmetic. The school has been very fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Ngo, of the Government High School, who teaches Mandarin three times a week. Through him Zi-tao-tai expressed a desire to visit the school and so was invited to come. He inspected the building and reviewed the boys at calisthenic exercises and military drill. Afterwards, as a token of his appreciation, he sent a number of acceptable presents for use in the school. The concluding sentence of Mr. Campbell's report sums up the situation:

The school grows hand in hand with the evangelistic work of the Station, and if the purpose for which the school was founded is clearly kept in mind it cannot ultimately fail to fulfill its mission, namely, of providing educated preachers of the Gospel for the island of Hainan.

The Albert J. Pitkin Memorial Girls' School.—The beautiful new building for the school, the gift of Mrs. Pitkin, is practically completed and will furnish accommodation for 80 or 90 pupils. The building was planned with a special view to sanitation, with extensive southern exposure, verandas on the north and south, wide halls, and large windows adapted to catch the sunshine and fresh air. Besides the two large dormitories there are three smaller rooms which will accommodate 12 or 15 of the oldest girls, a separate room for the sick, and, what will fill a long-felt want and prove a blessing to the girls, a prayer room. In addition to the two large school rooms downstairs, there is a library and reading room, a music room, an office and reception room, and a private class room, affording facilities for orderly and systematic living as well as orderly and systematic study. There are modern desks for one school room, and single iron beds for some of the small bed rooms. In the rear of the school building a large two-story building provides an ample trunk room, a large dining room, store room, kitchen, wash room, and private bath rooms, and, being connected with the main building by a covered way, will protect the girls from exposure to rains and materially add to their comfort. Miss Montgomery writes:

Our aim is, first, to lead all young women and girls who become students in our school to a knowledge of Christ and to a consecration of their lives to His service; second, to give them such facilities for education as to enable them to become teachers in our own schools and to provide Christian teachers for the future native schools of Hainan; third, to make them good housekeepers and intelligent wives and mothers.

MEDICAL.—Hoihow Hospital.—The question of self-support has been kept prominently to the front. From the figures in the accounts it is fairly well proved that the patients in the wards could entirely meet the expenses of the wards were it not for that percentage who are unable to pay. Nearly always, as now, there are four or five left uncured and destitute. There is an insane man, who was once a scholar; a theatrical man left by his troupe in a half-paralyzed condition; a woman who has but partial use of her lower limbs, and a girl with scrofulous neck. The three latter are now well trained in the elementary books and assist in teaching the other patients.

In 1900 there was a terrible epidemic of plague in Hoihow. This year it was repeated, perhaps not quite so severe. It served, however, practically to close the hospital, because those who had intended coming from a distance for an operation or treatment were scared out of their intention. over, as the report of the Hongkong Board of Health, which has been printed in Chinese and widely scattered, gives no certain remedy for plague, but has a great deal about prevention, the Chinese have settled it in their own minds that Europeans cannot cure plague. In spite of the efforts of the French and American doctors to make plain the true nature of this disease as a contagion, the people evidently continue to regard it as the work of malignant spirits. Hence all plague funerals were private and silent. Moreover, at the end of the epidemic, they held a great fair to appease the evil spirits.

Considerable time has been given to the instruction of the four young men who act as assistants in the various branches of medical study. During the afternoons the patients have been taught as usual the elementary truths of Christianity.

During the year there have been 165 in-patients; 4,398 out-patients; operations (serious), 41; maternity cases, 14; deaths, 7.

NODOA STATION.

The past year has been in many respects and in all phases of the work the best vear that Nodoa Station has yet seen. A solid substantial growth has been made along all lines. The addition of 50 members to the church is an increase of over 30 per cent. The number of in-patients in the hospital and the attendance in both boys' and girls' schools have increased. The fees paid into the hospital have been larger. by from 45 to 100 per cent. In the church subscription list also improvement is to be seen, the amounts having been almost doubled. The number of catechumens is growing rapidly, especially in the Tai-fong and Lim-ko regions.

EVANGELISTIC.—Amid the events of the past year there stand out prominently those seasons when the catechumens have gathered for instruction, which the people have come to call the "big Sundays." These are the Communion Sabbaths which come every two months, the time being fixed and announced at the beginning of the year. At this time all who are interested spend from two to five days on the compound, giving all their time to the study of the truth. Many of these people are total strangers to the missionaries, often coming from villages two days' journey away. The explanation is in the fact that colporteurs have been diligently at work, going up and down throughout the region, seeking to interest all whom they meet by the wayside and in the villages, in some instances bringing them to the inquiry classes.

At the last Communion service a very severe rain on Sabbath morning prevented the Nodoa and Nam-fong Christians from attending. Many of the Christians from Tai-fong and Lim-ko had come some days before and they alone filled the room. What to do with the others in case they should come was a problem we were ready to solve by dividing them into three congregations and spreading them out in the school and hospital.

Two ideas that are receiving very general acceptance are, (1) that the only escape from the power of the evil spirits is through the power of the true God, and (2) that the return of the demons is sevenfold unless the worship of the true God is sincere. To illustrate the hold which idolatry has on the people the following incident is related:

In the Tai-fong region some years ago a young man, through the death of the last member of his uncle's family, fell heir to a row of very powerful idols. Year after year the propitiation of these evil spirits became more burdensome, until finally the young man sought a priest of more than ordinary courage, who, for a sum of money amounting to more than the yearly income of the boy, promised to remove the idols to a mat shed in a deserted woodland. The night before beginning the incantations he spent at the boy's home, but upon the dawn of the fated day he was found lying before the idols, dead With great fear the young man took up again the burden of fulfilling the demands of his idols, not daring to call another priest to remove them. Through our colporteur, Kim-chiang, he became a believer, and a few days before his baptism he invited some of the Christians to his home, and, after a prayer, with his own hands took down and destroyed the idols. This event made a deep impression and served to interest others in the truth.

Beside the home chapel at Nodoa there are several outstations. One is at Nam-fong, another is at Notia, and a third at Tai-fong. Besides the chapels there are a number of Christian villages scattered over this wide territory, where the incense of true prayer rises morning and evening from Christian homes.

The work of the four Bible women must not be forgotten, especially of the compound Bible woman, who "watches for and catches women visitors," showing them Bible pictures and talking to them as long as they will listen. The other three have spent seven months of the year itinerating, visiting in the chapels and the homes of the people. During the year the itinerating work has been carried on, in the absence of Mr. Leverett by Mr. McClintock and Mrs. Melrose, who have more several visits to Tai-fong and Lim-ko.

EDUCATIONAL.—Boys' School.—School opened in March for its second term, Mr. McClintock having returned and taken charge the preceding fall. The attendance rapidly rose to 89, when the limit of bed and desk room was reached. Lim-lio, Hainanese, Mandarin, Dam-chiu Loi, Hakka, and Cantonese are all spoken, but notwithstanding the diversity of tongues, the boys all make good progress in their studies.

The course of study maintained in the school is undergoing a revision. It will be somewhat amplified and advanced while the requirements of entrance will be made more severe. It has not yet been possible to start the chain of village schools as desired, but the Station is working toward it, and before long will have a school in each of the Christian communities, feeders for the main school.

All the members of the three upper classes are either Christians or catechumens, and a number of the members of the lower classes are likewise members of the church or inquirers.

Girls' School.—At the beginning of 1910 there was an enrollment of 41, the largest in the history of the school. Every seat and bed was occupied and a number of pupils were turned away from lack of room. In December of 1909 three of the older girls who had been in school for some time, one of them being the assistant teacher, were married, so that this year the school is composed mostly of young girls from ten to fifteen years of age. Some are two days' journey from their homes and others come from the local villages and markets.

The course of study includes a thorough course in the Bible as well as Chinese character, geography, arithmetic, and history.

The girls do 'heir own cooking and care for the school rooms and dormitory. All the pupils except one pay at least half for their board, and all buy their own books and clothes.

Nearly half of the girls in the school in years past have been married into heathen families on account of early engagements that could not be broken, but even in the trying positions in which they have been placed they have stood firm for Christianity and have brought some of the heathen members of their families to church. Four of the girls are catechumens.

MEDICAL.—Mary Henry Hospital.—Dr. J. F. Kelly had charge of the hospital until his departure on furlough, January 15, when Dr. Bryan took charge.

The native staff consists of a dispenser, a dresser, a helper, also a matron and a coolie, all Christians, whose work has given satisfaction.

The repairs and rearrangement of the hospital have proven very satisfactory. There is now an additional kitchen for the men, and on the second floor a room for private patients, an operating room, a sterilizing room, and a new obstetrical ward. The new steam-pressure sterilizer and the eye-test case for spectacles have been used with increasing satisfaction.

During the past year the number of in-patients has been greater by 10 per cent. than in any previous year, and that, too, notwithstanding the fact that the entrance fee has been raised over 300 per cent. The greatest gain, however, has been made in teaching Christianity to the patients. Dr. Bryan writes:

To-day's work is a fair sample of what is done. When I entered the hospital this morning there was the blind evangelist teaching the Ten Commandments to some Lim-ko patients. On going into another ward I found a Bible woman telling of the life of Christ to an audience of eight Hakka people all sitting on the floor. Neither of these was on the hospital staff. On going into a third ward, I saw a Christian patient, a carpenter, teaching the Catechism to another patient, this time in the Hainanese, thus, as on the day of Pentecost, every man hearing the Gospel in his own tongue.

During the year there have been 190 in-patients, 32 surgical operations, 3,780 patients seen.

PRESS.—

In connection with the work of the Press, two pupils of the boys' school have given two hours a day during school term and the whole of their vacation time. One thousand Catechisms have been printed and bound, a second thousand printed but not yet bound. The last twenty new hymns in the Romanized have been set up and will soon be printed. During 1910 56,000 pages were printed.

KACHEK STATION.

This year is the best year which Kachek Station has had. Every department of work has seen a substantial advance over last year's in quantity and quality. Some of the seed sown is beginning to bring in a harvest.

EVANGELISTIC.—The evangelistic work of the Station has been carried on under the direction of Dr. Lasell and Mr. Tappan. The field particularly to the north and east of Kachek is opening up in a wonderful manner, and it will not be long before many new centres will be open to the Gospel.

The Kachek Station is very fortunate in possessing three such able evangelists as Mr. Li, to whom, more than any other, is due the success of the country work of the past year; Mr. Bang, of Vang-chiu District, and Mr. Ngang, who is in entire charge of the church in Ngai-chiu.

The newly organized church in Kachek is naturally the centre of this expanding work. Its two elders and two deacons have already begun to feel the dignity of their office and the members their responsibility. In the four Communion seasons since its organization the roll has increased 17 and the number of inquirers and applicants very much more. At each of these seasons notice is sent to all church members and inquirers to assemble for Bible study and preparation some days in advance. The number so attending from one to four days has increased from 40 in January to about 90 in September.

The Station still maintains a chapel in Doa-lou, two in Vang-chiu District, on each in Leng-tui, Ngai-chiu City and Lok-lah.

During the school vacation, in August, Mr. Tappan visited the district to the east and north of Kachek, concerning which he writes:

We reached our destination Saturday afternoon and got settled for the Sabbath. The real leaders of the circle of believers are two former patients of the Kachek Hospital. The house of one was used for a chapel. Here on Sunday were gathered over 40 men, only 2 of whom were baptized Christians. It was indeed encouraging to see such interest in the church.

From that village I journeyed west to another village. We reached the village schoolhouse, which was also an ancestral hall, in the afternoon of Friday and remained till Monday morning. The teacher who has recently been converted but not yet baptized, sent to Kachek some time ago for some hymn-books, Bibles and Catechisms. He had been teaching the boys, and the next morning I was awakened by the school-boys. As all Chinese boys study out loud it is very easy to find out what they are studying, and what do you suppose the little heathen were studying? Our colloquial Catechism! Who is God? Where did the heavens and earth come from? Such were the questions and answers that came to me as I lay in bed. The teacher soon called the school-boys together and heard them recite the Catechism. They then repeated the Lord's Prayer. The teacher then read a chapter in the Gospel of John and himself led in prayer. That is the programme every day at daybreak, and yet he is not a baptized Christian and has his school in the building full of the tablets of the ancestors of his clan. How do you explain it? The ways of the Lord are marvelous!

WOMAN'S WORK.—Miss Schaeffer has had charge of woman's work in Kachek. The native force consists of the Bible woman, the girls' school teacher and of three other women, who, while studying, do some work as Bible women. Eight women have been received into the church during the year.

Miss Schaeffer made one long itinerating trip to Ngai-chiu, concerning which she writes as follows:

There were no swollen rivers to ford and, but for the heat and the various undesirable sleeping-places en route, the trip was comfortably made. I went on horseback, and Moh-tu was my faithful attendant, as on all previous long trips. We sold Bible Society calendars and Scripture portions in the places in which we stopped, and found ready purchasers, especially in Leng-tui. We met many friends all along the way and none more cordial than those who had been patients in the Kilborne Hospital.

At Lok-lah from 10 to 30 women came every day.

EDUCATIONAL.—McCormick Boys' School.—In March Mr. Tappan opened the present year with an enrollment of 30. The fall term opened August 31, and the total enrollment is 29. With the present equipment no more can be received.

The teaching has been done by Mr. Tappan and Mr. Ngou and three of the older school-boys.

Kia-lok, one of the advanced students, conducts daily drill in calisthenics, Mr. Tappan following this with a twenty-minute military drill. Training has begun for a field meet, which will probably be held in December. Under Dr. Lasell's care the health of the school has been most excellent. It is a pleasure to see boys that entered the school full of malaria return home fat and healthy.

The spirit of the school is decidedly Christian, seven of the older boys being baptized Christians. One boy from Vunsio, recently baptized, is the first convert from that district that the Station has received. The Christian tone of the school is due in no small degree to the influence of the three junior teachers, whose Christian life is an example to all.

Lok-lah Boys' Day-school.—This school, entirely supported by the native Christians, was held in the chapel the first half of the year. It was taught by two men, one a native teacher and the other a former student of the McCormick School, who was also employed part of the day in giving instruction in western branches to the pupils of a native school. Among the students were six little girls.

MEDICAL.—The hospital has had a successful year, free for the first time from building operations, and settled comfortably, it has been able to spend its energies on its own proper work. Patients have come in numbers sufficient to keep the staff busy, among them many desiring to break off opium. Lately the fee for these patients has been doubled, from $1 to $2. We quote from Dr. Lasell's report:

Our last patient but two was brought by his mother. He is a young man of twenty-two, and his father had evidently been stremious in trying to make him break off the habit, as he had a fairly good cut over the shoulder made by one of the father's beatings. Unfortunately, after enduring the worst, he went into town and was found buying opium, so he was promptly put out. He had the last word, however, as he returned last night while we were at prayers and stole another patient's bag of rice. On the whole the patients do well, and the great proportion are permanently cured.

Three from the hospital have been admitted to the church, besides the wives of two.

A good many patients come from forty miles south of us. Several times this year parties of four or five women have come up and stayed several weeks. With nothing to do all day but "eat medicine," they have plenty of time to be taught, and all day long is heard the voice of some one repeating the Lord's Prayer or the Commandments word by word, until the untrained minds can grasp and hold the words.

One of the applicants for baptism at the last Communion was a short, fat-faced young man, who has been coming here regularly for nearly two years. He crawled in at first, dragging himself along with the aid of a stick, one of his legs being of little use on account of an enormous ulcer of the thigh. He was faithfully cared for, and gradually got better until one day he came without the stick and now he is hale and strong as you please. Lately he has been very faithful in attendance at services and, although he was not baptized this time, he will probably be before long.

THE SOUTH CHINA MISSION.

Canton: capital of Province of Quangtung, on left branch of Chookiang River, about 70 miles from China Sea—a port city; occupied as a Station, 1845. Rev. H. V. Noyes, D.D., and Mrs. Noyes, Rev. A. A. Fulton, D.D., and Mrs. Fulton, Rev. J. J. Boggs and Mrs. Boggs, M.D., Rev. W. D. Noyes and Mrs. Noyes, E. C. Machle, M.D., and Mrs. Machle, Mrs. J. G. Kerr, Miss M. H. Noyes, Miss E. M. Butler, Miss M. W. Niles, M.D., Miss M. H. Fulton, M.D., Miss H. Lewis, Miss E. A. Churchill, Miss L. Durham, Miss L. R. Patton, Miss Mary T. Bankes, Rev. James M. Henry and Mrs. Henry, Rev. George W. Marshall and Mrs. Marshall.

LIEN-CHOU: 125 miles northwest of Canton; occupied as a Station, 1890. Rev. Reese F. Edwards and Mrs. Edwards, Rev. J. S. Kunkle, Robert Ross, M.D., and Mrs. Ross, Miss Elda G. Patterson, Miss Hannah Kunkle.

YEUNG KONG: about 112 miles southwest of Canton; occupied as a Station, 1886. Rev. C. E. Patton, M.A., and Mrs. Patton, William H. Dobson, M.D., and Mrs. Dobson, Miss V. M. Wilcox, Rev. J. W. Creighton and Mrs. Creighton, Rev. Geo. D. Thompson and Mrs. Thompson.

SHEK LUNG: Rev. A. J. Fisher and Mrs. Fisher, Harry N. Boyd, M.D., and Mrs. Boyd.

ON FURLOUGH DURING THE YEAR: Rev. A. J. Fisher and Mrs. Fisher, Rev. J. J. Boggs and Mrs. Boggs, Miss Elda G. Patterson, Rev. Reese F. Edwards and Mrs. Edwards, Miss Lucy Durham.

The general health of the force has been good, but we record with deep regret the serious illness which compelled the Rev. R. F. Edwards to return to America, and also the illness of Dr. Dobson, who was obliged for a short time to stop the work so dear to him, but who recovered on the field.

CANTON STATION.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.—Returning from furlough the first of October, Dr. Fulton made a tour that month. His work had been well looked after by Dr. and Mr. Noyes, and evidences were apparent of faithfulness on the part of so many of the Christians at the different out-stations. Dr. Fulton writes:

The number of churches under my care is twelve. The number received on confession of faith 227, and the number of children baptized is 79. As late as ten years ago it was difficult to get chapels in my field, and to-day the great difficulty is to seat communicants at many of the chapels. Chung Lau is an example of the congested state of some of the chapels. The work here is an encouraging evidence of the value of tenacity in prosecuting evangelistic work. Seven years ago the prospect was not bright. For more than twenty years the Station had paid the salary of the preacher. With the arrival of Li Po Wa, one of our stronger men, the work began to improve. In one year 75 were added to the membership. The increase has been constant, until now the membership is close to 200, and the old chapel is far too small to seat the members, not to mention the many inquirers who try to hear, packed around the entrance and standing in the street. The members have put down $2,700 Mex. to buy a site, and are also contributing toward the purchase of material for the new building. One man in Chung Lau gave $500, and every member, including the women, has given sums of from $1 to $150. The church is entirely self-supporting. At Kam U the members have purchased a site and will give the larger part of a sum sufficient to build a chapel to cost $1,500. Similar statements could be made of several other fields.

East River Field.—During the furlough of the missionary in charge, Mr. Fisher, the field has been under the direction of Dr. Boyd. The services of the churches and chapels have been under the immediate charge of the Rev. Mr. Wong, of the Shek Lung Church. Owing to close medical class-room work and other medical work, Dr. Boyd could not hold the preacher's Bible school and conference.

Shun Tak Field.—The field may be considered as an ellipse with two foci, one at the Third Church in the city of Canton and the other at Tai Leung.

With the exception of Kau Kong, a large city in the Nam Hoi District, there are other Missions at work in the same territory, but there is the best of good feeling. This is seen in the quarterly union meetings, in the bi-monthly conferences of the Christian workers and in the union cemetery that has just been bought and is being improved by the Cemetery Association at Tai Leung. At Kwei Chou the work has not gone as far as in Tai Leung, but there is a fine spirit of co-operation in the street preaching at the Baptist and United Brethren Mission chapels, as our chapel is not so well situated. At Kam Li in the Ko Iu District we find the best of feeling between ours and the London Mission. The same is true in Kong Mei, where we come in touch with the Berlin Mission.

Since the last report, the following churches have been organized: Kau Kong, established as a chapel in 1903, has three deacons as well as three elders and one deaconess; Lak Lau, established as a chapel in 1906, has two elders; Chan Tsuen, established as a chapel in 1903, has three elders and three deacons; and Kong Mei, established as a chapel in 1905, has three elders. Elders were ordained at another point in the fall. At the Third Church three more elders, three deacons and one deaconess were elected and ordained.

For the first time since the field has been under the present Missionary in charge, a workers' conference was held with much profit to the pastors, preachers and elders who came.

There were 30 present and the attendance was quite uniform.

The conference lasted four days, seven hours a day, yet they did not seem to weary the members. All seemed eager to get all they could out of these meetings. It was largely owing to the pastor of the Third Church that things went off without a hitch. The theme of all the meetings was, "What can be done to make the Church grow?" Pastor Wan gathered the thing up when he made his appeal, "We must give our lives for it."

Several other Chinese pastors and evangelists also labored with fidelity and efficiency in visiting out-stations and in caring for the

With sunlight there has been shadow as well.

Our hearts are saddened as we have been compelled to clean up the church rolls. "Neither hot nor cold" has condemned many a man whose name has been on the roll where it is now no longer. In places the cut has been severe.

Steps are being taken toward self-support. The Tai Leung Church has subscribed nearly two-fifths of the preacher's salary and all running expenses. At Kau Kong, one-third of the preacher's salary has been pledged, other expenses of the organization have been met and the membership is still quite a little below 100. We are in hopes the coming year will show advance in other places. The purpose is to bring all the churches not only to self-support, but into aggressive home mission endeavor.

Attendance at services has been encouraging. At the Third Church the average is 400, and at Tai Leung 175. At Kau Kong the seats are usually occupied to the full limit, 150. At Tai Leung, one woman, a Filipino, was at every meeting for a year.

Street preaching is conducted every day at the Third Church, and in the summer months when the seminary students will be free from their school duties it is planned to have both noon and evening services for the men off the street. Tea will be served at the door. Money for the tea has been subscribed by non-Christians as well as by members of the church.

Aside from the Sunday-schools for women and children, at all the chapels, with perhaps the exception of four, all have Bible classes. At the Third Church from 50 to 70 men and boys meet on Sundays. Miss Churchill reports 250 to 300 in the women's and children's departments.

EDUCATIONAL.—True Light Seminary has been in charge of Miss H. Noyes, Miss E. M. Butler, Miss H. Lewis and Miss L. R. Patton. It has had a larger enrollment than ever before; 94 in the Women's Department, 40 Normal students, 34 Normal Preparatory, 60 Intermediate, and 84 in the Primary, 312 in all. Two hundred and forty are professing Christians.

Two hundred and sixty were in average attendance, although we have accommodations for only 160. So many others were eager to come and willing to pay all expenses that we felt they must be taken in. Though it has been impossible to make them comfortable, they appreciate so highly the opportunity for study that no complaints have been made. One of the class-rooms was taken for a dormitory, and every corner has been utilized. The school-room now occupied by the Normal Preparatory is a small room only large enough to seat 18 students and has had to meet the needs of 34, overflowing into the hall on one side and the veranda on the other.

The death of two beloved Chinese workers, one a teacher and the other a Bible woman, greatly saddened the year.

From the Normal Department, opened two years ago, the first class of 11 promising young women was graduated this year. Besides these, there were 8 graduates from the Women's Department who had taken a three years' course.

Although the Seminary has sent out more than 400 trained workers as teachers, Bible women, and others who became, after additional instruction elsewhere, doctors and nurses, no diplomas had been given until the present year, and the 25th of January, which saw the first graduating class of 19, was a red-letter day for the institution. Of these 19, 14 are now teaching, 2 are Bible women, 2 are studying medicine and 1 of the graduates from the Women's Department has entered the Normal Department. In addition to these, 10 others, having taken a partial course, have commenced work this year. Seven are Bible women, 3 are teachers, 4 are studying medicine, and 1 is in a training school for nurses, thus making 34 who have left during the year for other fields of usefulness.

Twenty-eight of the students were admitted to the Second Presbyterian Church in December, the largest number that has ever been received by that church in one day from the Seminary. At the June Communion 18 were received at the Second, I at the Independent Church, and I at the Methodist Church, making 48 who have united with the church during the past year.

Several of the graduates of the Normal Department have been retained as teachers in the Seminary. One has charge of the Preparatory Normal Department, 3 are assisting in the Women's Intermediate and Primary Departments and 1 is giving instruction in instrumental music. Two other graduates assist by teaching classes in the different departments. Three Chinese men each give several hours a week to teaching. We are grateful to Dr. Niles for giving weekly lectures on Physiology and Hygiene.

Two of the graduates have opened schools in large cities in the interior, a long distance from Canton, and thus the True Light is shining farther and farther.

Lau Sin Shang, the Chinese principal, continues to give her invaluable services, as she has done for many years, without accepting any

We are indebted to both Dr. and Mrs. Todd for medical assistance generously given throughout the year.

We are very thankful for the financial aid which Mr. L. H. Severance has so generously given. It was the first help of that kind that the Normal School has received. Good progress is being made in the line of self-support. One hundred and twenty-three of the students paid all their expenses and all the others have paid more or less. The entrance fee of $6 is insisted on in every case.

There are students from many of the denominations. The next graduating class will probably number 7. Of these one is from the Church of England, one from the London Mission, one from the English Wesleyan Mission, one from the Scandinavian-American Mission, one from the Canadian Presbyterian Mission and two from our own. With one exception, all pay their expenses in full.

The Union Bible School was held this year at the True Light Seminary. Seventy Bible women and teachers were present, representing all the Missions. The meetings were very interesting and were much appreciated. More than half the conference was composed of former students and graduates of the Seminary.

At each quarterly Communion season, a number of women come in from the country to attend the meetings, and thus in many ways the seeds of truth are scattered.

The contributions during the year have amounted to $3,46.75, distributed as follows: Missionary Society, $204.25; Book Loaning Association, $17.50; Pastor's salary, $50; Sabbath morning offering, $42.75; Christian Endeavor Society, $27.25.

Fati Theological College.—This year has seen the largest enrollment in all departments.

Theological Seminary: Regular Course, 18; Short Course, 29; total, 47; High School, 30; Preparatory, 86; grand total for the year, 163; counted twice, 5; total, 157.

Average attendance on class duties has been better and the number sick or absent has been less than in previous years. The students have taken a deeper interest in their studies.

The aim of the institution is to raise up a native ministry and to give a good, solid Christian education to sons of Christians. In addition to the original purpose, it is desired to train teachers for Mission and other schools and to give preparatory training to the future Christian doctors of the Province.

In the Theological Department there are, besides our own students, Congregationalists, United Brethren, Methodists, Canadian and New Zealand Presbyterians. By far the greatest number are Presbyterians. The union character of the Theological Department is to be given greater prominence.

The High School Department.—Ten students this year finished the course and received the first diplomas ever given in this department, thus marking a great day in the history of the school.

Of the 10 who received diplomas, 1 is doing first-class work teaching in a Mission school; another is doing work as a teacher and preacher at one of our other Stations; 1 is studying medicine and 7 are in the Theological Seminary. This department has been smaller than last year owing to higher requirements which have sifted out those who could not do the work. As the third-year Preparatory has a large number, the next report will show a much larger department. A considerable number of our students come from other denominations; here, as in the Theological Seminary, there is no discrimination between them and those of our own denomination.

In Mr. Boggs' absence, Mr. Marshall has been able to give one hour each day in the Seminary class-room. Dr. Machle has also assisted and the staff has been further augmented by the addition of the Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Henry. Both are at the present time hard at work on the language. While yet it is rather potential aid, still we feel their moral support in the active work of the school.

The Seminary students have rendered active service by preaching on Sundays at the Refuge for the Insane, on Saturdays doing evangelistic work in a nearby market town, on week-days some have preached in evening street preaching services at the Independent Presbyterian Church. Sunday afternoons two preach at a Seminary service. High School boys hold a similar service at their own assembly hall.

The regular services have been well attended. Bible study is emphasized. All recognize that it is the cornerstone of the institution.

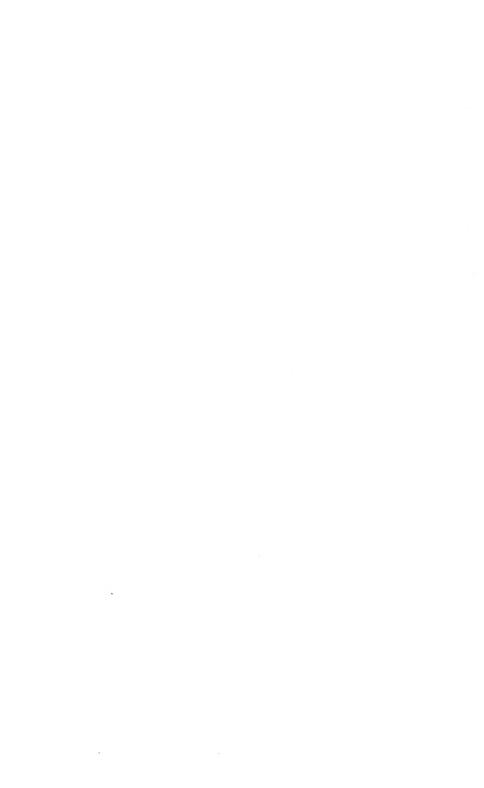

During the past year the reading room and library have been better equipped. We now have tables and chairs that give a dignity to the place. It has been possible to add new books to the library. This year has also seen the addition of the new clubhouse and the tearing down of the old disreputable shack where the students lost their self-respect every time they dined. Thanks are due to Mr. Severance and other kind donors who made this clubhouse possible. There is room to feed 200 students at one time.

Mr. L. H. Severance, in addition to his share in the erection of this building, has given $8,000 for the repairs of old buildings and improvement of grounds. This will put the institution on a much better basis; it will give it a new lease of life. Thanks again to Mr. Severance, there is a scholarship fund which began this year. It is sufficient to aid 20 students in the high school. In addition to this there is the Kemera Fund to aid two theological students. This fund is sent out by a church in Pittsburg. This is also something new in the history of the school.

MEDICAL WORK.—The largest medical work for women in all China under a single missionary continues to be the allied institutions in Canton, under Dr. Mary Fulton, namely, the David Gregg Hospital for Women, the Hackett Medical College, the Julia M. Turner Training School for Nurses and the maternity and children's wards. Dr. Fulton is assisted by Dr. Boyd, while such help as their duties permitted is given by Dr. Niles, Dr. Machle and Dr. Selden. It is more difficult to have hospital work exclusively for women than for men or for both men and women.

It is not easy for the ordinary Chinese mother to leave her house. She must watch the door, attend to the children, must cook, mend, etc. She has control of no money, and it is given only grudgingly if she must enter a hospital. I have known husbands to come to our sick women and scold them for not getting well of some serious illness after a residence with us of a few days. The women are afraid to remain away long from home. One woman said she must hurry home or her husband would bring back another wife during her absence. With the men it is different. They go where and when they please and carry all the money with them. They remain in a hospital till cured or as long as they wish. Within the past year or two a number of free dispensaries have been opened. All these must be passed to reach us in our suburban corner. Yet not withstanding difficulties and competition, we have treated in all departments 8,634 cases, about 5,000 being new. Of these 325 were in-patients at the hospital; 501 were visited at their homes. This is the largest number of outcalls yet made.

Three hundred and forty-nine operations were performed, besides smaller ones to the number of 350; we vaccinated 110; 1,431 teeth were extracted. This makes in all 2,240.

The receipts of the hospital during the year have been $13,620.24. The expenditures during the same period were $13,133.48. This leaves a balance of $486.75.

Forty-eight young women are enrolled at the Hackett Medical College. Instruction was given by five Chinese and five foreign teachers.

In January, 3 were graduated, making 34 in the seven years. Some are pushing out into untouched regions, which is helping to accomplish our object of supplying each large town with two Christian physicians. Eleven were engaged as instructors in medicine in different places. We have three students from Fu-chou, one from Amoy, two from Hainan. The two who came from Honolulu over four years ago to study with Dr. Chestnut received their diplomas this year. One is now in Heung Shan and one is to assist a foreigner in a hospital. They seem like a sacred legacy, and I am grateful they are finally launched on their life-work.

Ten nurses are under training at the Julia M. Turner Training School.

The demand for nurses has exceeded the supply. We need a new building for a nurses' home. One of our nurses who speaks English is so constantly wanted that she has been compelled to put up her price to $100 a month. Dr. Davenport says, "She is worth it, as she is a perfect success." This is high praise from an English doctor for a girl trained in a native hospital. The girl sent down by Miss Patterson from Lien-chou bids fair to become a fine nurse. She now makes all the preparations for major operations, and this means trustworthiness.

Dr. Mary Fulton managed in some mysterious way to spend five hours a day in translation work. Three books are in progress, two of which will soon be published. Of one of them, Surgery, one volume is already out and in use.

Dr. Boyd has done regular teaching in the Hackett Medical College for Women. For part of the year the eye ward of the Woman's Hospital was under his care, He also had charge of the Poon T'ong Dispensary and Chapel, opened last December, holding regular clinics Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, from 9.30 to 1.30 to 2 P.M.

The diseases seen and treated are those which every physician in China sees in dirty Chinese villages and among poor farming people. I have personally seen over 4,000 patients in the six months since the opening of the dispensary, and the yearly attendance should run to 10,000, as there are over 200 a week; this number was that reported as the out-patients prescribed by those in charge of the Canton Hospital last year.

Preaching is conducted during dispensary hours and many hear the Gospel beside those who come into the consulting room. Mrs. Lung, the Bible woman who is under my care, is receiving five Mexican dollars a month and doing a ten-thousand-dollar work of good. She is the older sister to all the women patients and is untiring in her zeal in visiting patients in the homes and in following up the work.

We have secured the building next to the present old building, which, with its connecting doors, gives us six large rooms and three small ones which are used for helpers. This annex has one in-patient at present, and in the autumn, when the work is reopened, we shall have room for twelve patients, if necessary to remain under our care. The annex also gives a larger room for the chapel and regular weekly services.

The Leper Work.—The home for the untainted children of lepers has not had so many inmates as it had last year, owing to the graduation of three of the older members from the Work Craft School and their beginning work for themselves and owing to disciplining the scholars from entering the leper village, which was defeating the purpose of the school, which reduced the roll to 7. The work is under the care of the Mission to the Lepers in India and the Far East. Medical work for the lepers, of whom there are about 1,000 in the village near by, is to be undertaken, and it is hoped that gradually the colony here can be moved to a suitable tract or island and the entire leper population of Canton and the rest of South China segregated. The chapel and the day-school work has been conducted through the year.

Medical Statistics of Canton Station.—

At David Gregg Hospital—Out-patients, 8,634 (new 5,000); major operations, 349; in-patients, 325; visited in homes, 501; minor operations, 350; vaccinated, 110; teeth extracted, 1,431. At Men's Dispensaries—Out-patients, 4,000; operations, 16. Refuge for Insane—In-patients, 239; 1,800 discharged in-patients. Fati School Dispensary—Out-patients, 843. Total in-patients, 564; total out-patients, 13,277; total operations, 715.

School for the Blind (under care of Dr. Mary W. Niles and Miss Durham).—The school still occupied the ground floor with its temporary mat roof when Dr. Niles returned from her furlough, December 7. She had received special contributions from friends in the home land, the Chinese in America and Miss Cameron had sent to Miss Durham $3,105.35 Mexican. The new building will be completed in July. Hearty thanks are due to all who have, with so much sympathy and love, helped in the completion of the building.

A class of 4 was graduated, and all are now engaged in Christian work. A fifth pupil, who on account of her health had fallen behind her class, was received into the hospital at Tak Hing, Kwang Tang, as a patient helper. Enrollment for the year has been 28, and with the 3 others makes 31 in all. The new building will accommodate 60 or more pupils. It will probably be filled, as lack of room has hitherto compelled Dr. Niles to turn away many girls.

During the year the sale of knitting has amounted to $50.10 and 5 of the pupils have been received into the church.

A building site, 150 x 90 feet, is being filled with sand to the height of the land already filled, and when the expected funds come from New Zealand we shall be prepared to build for the blind boys. We hear that the committee in New Zealand has £500 in hand.

Mrs. Boggs' dispensary has been opened two days in the week for out-patients and a Sunday-school held there every Sabbath before church services. A few professional calls have been made to the boat people and in the adjacent villages. Twice a week instruction has been given at the Hackett Medical College and one hour a week to instruction in Hygiene at the True Light Seminary.

LITERARY WORK.—Dr. Boggs completed before leaving on furlough the translation and publishing of the volume on Nursing by Isabel Hampton Rode.

The translation was commenced by Dr. Eleanor Chesnut. Through the generosity of a friend of Dr. Chesnut, the book is published as a memorial to Dr. Chesnut. It is hoped that it may prove helpful in the training of nurses from among the Chinese, who may well emulate her beautiful life of self-denying labor for others.

The translation and revision of the Obstetrics has been completed. The printing of the fourth and last volume of Dr. Kerr's Practice was completed last year. The manuscript for the fourth volume was carefully examined and additions and corrections made by Drs. Boggs and Kuhne. Dr. Boggs had the care of proof-reading and sceing this last volume through the press.

Work among Women and Children.—This important part of the work has been actively conducted. Miss Churchill, returning after furlough, superintended eight day-schools, three Sunday-schools, several prayer meetings and visited in homes. The wives at the Station gave valuable assistance in educational and evangelistic work, while the women on the staffs of True Light Seminary and the school for the Blind found time to help in many gracious ways outside of those institutions.

Folin S. Kerr Refuge for the Insane.—Mrs. Kerr, Dr. Selden and Dr. Hoffman have continued their devoted labors in this needy but trying field. Considerable evangelistic work centres at the Refuge. There are prayer meetings, Sundayschool and Bible class. Special effort is made to reach with the Gospel the many relatives and friends who come to visit the patients in the Refuge.

Since the opening of the Refuge, 1,480 patients have been admitted. Last year 239 entered and 196 were discharged. Of the latter, 97 went away well—40 per cent. of the number admitted, 49 per cent. of the number discharged. At this writing we have 256 inmates. The staff of servants, attendants, and evangelistic workers gives in all a family of 295. We have now reached the limit, and can only receive a new applicant in case some one is discharged. During the past year, they have come to us from Wei-hai-Wei, Tien-tsien, Shantung, Shanghai and Suchou. These of course have been received. To relieve the pressure to a small extent two cottages have been built, which have room for 16 beds each. But these give only partial relief. How the problem for additional space is to be met is as yet an unsolved problem.

The dispensary has been opened twice each week and 1,800 patients have been prescribed for during the year.

YEUNG KONG STATION.

YEUNG KONG FIELD.—With the removal of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall to Canton and the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Thomson, whose time has been necessarily devoted to language study, the Yeung Kong field has been left in the hands of four workers. The enforced changes of the personnel of the Station during the past eight years have greatly retarded the work. In the number of candidates examined and in the number received, this year's report shows up better than for two previous years.

It has been possible to open up some work along educational lines. In seven of the nine chapels we have schools this year, which are to be feeders for the anticipated boarding school for boys in Yeung Kong City. Some of the day-schools are good, some are fair, and some are only promises of good schools by and by. Yeung Kong City boasts of a flourishing day and boarding school for girls.

Medical work has steadily increased until it is beyond the abilities of one physician to manage. Nominally, we have now four preachers, but only two in active preaching work. We have also four good Bills women three geheal teachers and one blind girl to aggist with

Bible women, three school-teachers and one blind girl to assist with the women's work.

EVANGELISTIC.—The local church is trying for selfsupport, and is this year paying all expenses and half of the preacher's salary.

Attendance runs from 150 to 300. The whole congregation remains for Sunday-school, when members are divided into classes studying the lessons. Some of the women hold a C. E. Society Sunday afternoon, and the men hold the most popular service of the week on Sunday evening. Mid-week prayer meetings are held in the chapel and three neighborhood prayer meetings are held for Christian women.

The membership is passing through a crisis, for they are realizing more and more clearly the real meaning of Church membership. The year has been rather one of waiting and taking stock, and as a result the number of baptisms has been small. Classes for inquirers have been taught by preachers and Bible women. Two city Bible women have performed their work faithfully, one devoting herself to non-Christian homes in the city and near-by villages; the other visits in the homes of the Christians, holds meetings for the women patients in the hospital, and tries to visit them after they return to their homes. A blind girl drills women patients in memory work. A school-boy is employed to teach the men patients to read Christian literature.

EDUCATIONAL.—In Young Kong City we have two good teachers in the Kong Waa School for boys.

The plan is to have this school prepare boys to enter the middle school at Fati. It also has in mind the developing of a few leaders and a great number of self-supporting members.

The Woman's Class has been correlated with the Girls' Boarding School, giving the women advantages of a broader course of study. Two women are studying here and two have been sent to Canton True Light Seminary.

We have but one school for girls in the Yeung Kong territory, a day and boarding school combined in Yeung Kong City. For three years the school has been conducted in an old remodeled Chinese residence, where the earlier missionaries first lived. Under the crowded conditions it has been impossible to keep the girls healthy or clean. A new plant is planned.

Of 28 boarding pupils, all are from Christian homes except 2. About half the twenty-odd day-school pupils are from non-Christian homes. The idea that girls should study has not yet become general. Few parents are willing to spare the girls from their home labors or expend any money on their training.

The rule of the school is to help the pupils with half the cost of their rice, and all who are helped must have the promise of their parents to study several years and the promise that they will be betrothed to Christians and not to non-Christians. There was good opportunity to make this rule emphatic when one of the older girls came near being betrothed to a man of bad character. It was the coveting of worldly things that tempted the parents, for the girl would have brought a good price. The affair was broken up the very morning set for the betrothal.

Through an industrial department, an effort is being made to make the school self-supporting. So far many girls have been enabled to earn enough to buy books and supplies. The missionary, teachers and Bible women visit in the homes of the pupils and endeavor to interest the relatives in turning from idols to worshiping the one true God.

As with the girls', so with the boys' school, the quarters are totally inadequate. The school has been held in upper rooms of the chapel; this is not satisfactory either to the church or to the school. The rooms are hot and stuffy and unsuitable for school purposes, while a crowd of school-boys running through the chapel lose reverence for the place where prayer is wont to be made. No boys are being helped this year without a return in work, and, as a matter of fact, practically all pay their tuition. The standard of the students is better and we have a better class of boys.

MEDICAL.—Situated amidst a population estimated at 2,000,000, the Forman Hospital is the only refuge within a radius of 100 miles. Each year sees an extended reputation and a corresponding increase of work.

At the present time the ward service alone is more than enough for one physician. The department for women presents opportunities enough to engage the attention of a woman physician. "O Doctor, if you had not been sick, my child would not have been blind," wailed one old woman. This after the doctor had been confined by sickness to bed for several weeks. Later Dr. Machle took able charge of the hospital and gave valuable help.

Six thousand persons have applied for prescriptions, nearly 300 have been received in wards, and over 300 operations performed. The hospital force consists of the native physician, two nurses, druggist and two coolies. A kitchen has been opened, and now each patient pays 15 cents a day and his food is furnished to him. The only fee required is 40 cents for registration. Funds for all medicines and expenses, not including assistants' wages, have been raised on the field.

Services for the patients are conducted every morning by the foreign physician and in the evening by one of the employés. A Bible class strengthens the spiritual life of the helpers. Preaching in the wards is carried on daily by all in turn. A school-boy teaches reading in the men's wards, while a blind girl serves the women in the same capacity.

Country Work.—One man has the charge of preaching in eight chapels. He is an old and well-tried helper, but the work is too much. The plan is to have local leaders be responsible for the Sunday services except when this preacher or the missionary in charge makes a visit.

Two Bible women have itinerated among the country chapels throughout the year. As not one of the congregations possesses an educated woman fitted to conduct a class, the only services the women can enjoy are those held on Sundays, where the women sit in small dark rooms opening off the chapels, both out of sight and out of mind of the preacher. Consequently the visits of the Bible women to their country sisters are seasons of great blessing to them.

of the preacher. Consequently the visits of the Bible women to their country sisters are seasons of great blessing to them.

Ping Kong has a thriving school of 35 boys. It is taught by a Fati student and is giving an impetus to the work there. This student by his own efforts had the school-room remodeled, and secured desks and other equipment. At most of the other chapels there are small schools for boys, but not yet any for girls. However, nearly every community has its representive in the boarding school and the women receive more or less teaching from the Bible women. Throughout the country districts there seems to be a reaction against "the new learning." Gymnastic drill and arithmetic seem most unpopular in the native schools, more unpopular than the Bible, even. In one section of the field the number of native schools as compared to last year has fallen off about one-half, and in those remaining the attendance has decreased by about 50 per cent. Naturally, Mission schools are affected by this reaction, but perhaps not so much as the native schools.

KO-CHOU FIELD (under care of Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Patton).—A normal advance on all sides has characterized the year. The work has been pressed along the lines of self-support and self-government.

The contributions from native sources amounted during the year to $947.87, as against $535.90 for the previous year; 254 candidates, as against 69, were examined for membership, and 86, as against 24, received. This brings the membership of this section of the field up to 389 for the two churches, at Shui Tung and at Mui Luk, under which our ten chapels are grouped. Four elders and ten deacons rule the local affairs in the various chapels. Each of the five preachers is planning certain developments in his local territory.

The most marked feature in our field is the introduction of the group plan.

To meet certain needs peculiar to our scattered membership. We borrowed the group-of-ten system of the Wanamaker Sunday-school, Philadelphia, so successfully employed in Korea also. In parts of our field three-fourths of the membership live more than three miles from any chapel; many as far as twenty miles. For such, regular Sabbath attendance is impossible. To meet this need our entire membership is grouped according to locality, a leader chosen from each group and the International Sunday-school Lessons supplied as a study outline. Each group meets for a Sabbath's services where most convenient for the first three Sundays of the month. On the fourth Sunday all come to the chapel with which they are associated. The nearby members are also grouped and leaders made responsible for their Sabbath attendance. The aim is, "Every member at service every Sunday." At present twenty-two groups are reported; meeting at fourteen places other than chapels. Already one of these groups has asked to be made a regular chapel. In time we expect many so to develop.

During the year three new chapels, Tai Ching, Wong Tong and Kung Kunn, have been opened under the Expansion Fund. Each of the three chapels so opened last year shows a good start.

One theological student, Chou Cheung Po, having completed his studies, was set apart as a preacher. He is now in charge of the Ko Chou City Chapel. Two theological students were added to our list at the Fati Seminary.

During the year three trips of exploration were taken, covering about 192 miles into the undeveloped portions of our field, planning the opening of new work.

Woman's Work.—This work has developed normally under Mrs. Patton's care. Of the 86 baptisms, 11 were women, the highest number ever received in one year in this field.

Four rounds of the field were made by Mrs. Patton, holding dispensing days in connection with the regular Communion visits of the chapels. At each place the women's work shows advance. At Ko Chou City three days of each week were given to dispensing. The attendance of the women at the Sunday service is the most marked effect. In several instances the number of women was nearly as great as the men. Another marked effect of the dispensing is the popularity of the physician throughout the eity.

Five hundred and nine patients were treated during the year, of whom 181 were return patients. The uniform charge of 10 cents doubtless keeps some away, yet affords a safeguard to Mrs. Patton's strength and enhances the appreciation of her work.

During the plague season a poster on plague precautions was posted throughout the city with the concurrence of the district official.

Workers' Conference.—A conference for workers was held for eleven days in June. Valuable assistance was given by the Revs. Burkwall and Tipson and Misses Banks and Patton, all of Canton.

This conference was the biggest thing our field has ever seen and far exceeded our prayers and expectations in many respects. We had expected an attendance of 60; nearly double that number registered. Delegates were registered and admitted to all sessions by ticket.

Members of the conference pledged themselves to give a total of 538 days' definite work of preaching under the direction of their chapel preacher within the next six months. This is the equivalent of a preacher preaching for one and one-half years.

The Bible Study Committee urged the following four rules: (1) Read a chapter of the Bible daily as a minimum of study; (2) never be without a Bible about your person; (3) purchase a supply of Mark's Gospel prepared by the Bible Society, and, after pledging a friend to read, present him with a copy (525 copies were bought during the conference in lots of five and tens); (4) bring at least one man to the chapel each month to hear the Gospel.

There were 117 registered delegates of whom 70 paid their whole expenses. Seventeen delegates were women. Ninety-five delegates were present at every session, 39 required, 13 optional. Three boat loads of delegates came up from Mui Luk and Fa Chau, a two days'

The effect of this conference on the field as a whole already becomes evident in an aroused consciousness and new activity. On all sides there is expressed the desire for another next year. The Mui Luk Church has already taken action inviting the conference to meet there, paying all expenses. The local effect upon Ko Chau City has been well worth the effort. It is a somewhat unique experience to be stopped on the street by one of the gentry, who remarked, "I came around to your chapel last evening, but failed to get in; the crowd was too great.'

LIEN-CHOU STATION.

The year opened prosperously. After long and arduous toil in rebuilding, the formal reopening of the Station was held soon after Chinese New Year.

Three days were given up to these meetings, one for evangelistic, one for educational and one for medical work. Each day, after appropriate addresses given by those engaged in each branch of the work, some Chinese and some foreign, all were invited to inspect the buildings erected for that work, hospitals, schools, etc. A large and intelligent audience, among whom were officials, gentry, merchants, students and teachers from Government schools, were present each day, and much interest was manifested. A number expressed their good-will in the usual Chinese way by presenting banners and scrolls with which the walls were decorated that day. We think every one went home with a better understanding of the work we are trying to do here, which knowledge we trust will bear fruit in the future.

At this season also we were glad to welcome Dr. E. C. Machle, who in former years labored here so long and so well. The enthusiastic reception he received from the Chinese everywhere gave evidence of the place he still holds in their hearts. In the meetings, his friendsand they were all his friends—hung upon his words as he spoke to them the Word of Life.

CHURCHES.—Some progress is to be noted in the city church. Some are zealous and faithful in attendance, others need continual urging to keep them from drifting. Services have been well attended, especially when the schools were in session.

The Sabbath-school continues to be one of the promising features of the church, the attendance ranging from 150 to 200. Special meetings, such as the week of prayer, have been well attended; men, women and children have taken part freely, often the meetings being continued long over the time, so as to give all wishing to take part an opportunity.

The same financial plan as last year has been followed successfully. Envelopes for each Sabbath have been distributed to each member; $175 was given in this way.

Fifty-five applicants for membership came before the Session, 20 of whom were received into the Church.

Sam Kong.—This church is so closely connected with the Lien-chou Church that much of what is written above applies to it also.

A number of the best members of Sam Kong are located at Lienchou as preachers, teachers, servants. They enter into the church work there as though it were their own church. The greater part of the membership is composed of women, many of whom are faithful. The Sabbath-school is attended by all the congregation; the girls' day-school adds to the attendance.

COUNTRY WORK.—If there has not been much advance during the year, there has been some preparation for it.

Places within easy reach, where there was already some work, were frequently visited with the idea of developing them into centres of work. Our base of operations has been considerably extended in all directions. The chapel at Tung Pi, reopened last year, has taken on new life and some of the best work of the year was done here.

Three new chapels have been opened during the year, each in a strategic place and after long opposition.

Mr. Kunkle's reports of itinerating work show several promising fields, while Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Ross found much encouragement in their work among women and girls.

EDUCATIONAL WORK.—Boys' Boarding School.—The school year was marked by the largest attendance since the opening of the school. Seventy boarding and day pupils were received. A number of others were refused, as the rooms were full and the teaching force in the lower rooms too heavily taxed. Were there funds, an additional teacher would be employed.

The work has in the main been satisfactory. The religious life of the institution has been good, many of the students being church members or inquirers.

Our school should have an industrial department. Many of the boys are willing to work, doing heavy manual labor, as there is nothing else to offer them.

A special theological class of three has been under instruction during the year. In addition to their studies, they have helped in the school, looked after a Mission chapel and various other work.

Girls' Boarding School.—The year has marked an era in the history of the school, from the fact that it now has a permanent abode.

At the opening after Chinese New Year, we moved into our new building. While this building was originally intended for dining-room and dormitories only, with some crowding we managed to make some of the rooms serve as class-rooms. The generous gift of the Philadelphia Woman's Board has now made possible the erection of an additional building for class-rooms. Thus are our prayers being answered.

The pupils, with one or two exceptions, have all united with the church, several of them being the only Christians in an otherwise pagan family. Last term the girls on their own initiative held a prayer meeting every evening after study hours to pray for their country.

Amount paid in for board during the year was $195.80,

Sam Kong Day-school.—The school continued throughout the year. The last half of the year it has been taught by a former pupil at Lien-Chou, Li Shui Kan. Average attendance, 22. Good work has been done.

MEDICAL.—Van Norden Hospital for Men.—Dr. Ross had been obliged to carry on his medical work in cramped and unsuitable quarters, but during this year the hospital was made ready for occupancy, and, after much delay, the supplies and equipment were actually on hand.

The formal reopening was celebrated along with the other buildings at Chinese New Year, but patients had been admitted to the wards some weeks previous to this.

During the seven and a half months that the wards have been opened, we have had 32 in-patients. Surgical work has made a modest beginning. Over 30 operations were done under anæsthesia; furthermore, we pull teeth.

The dispensary has treated 2,000 out-patients in the same period.
Mrs. Ross has helped in the operating room, drug room, and has had some interesting work with the children in both hospital and dispensary.

Our plan of allowing the relatives and friends to enter the hospital and to serve and cook for patients makes more dirt in the wards, but is a decided advantage in giving many more the advantage of teaching.

During the year we have made trips to the nearby villages and markets to preach, but as yet have no native evangelist, and the numerous dialects make this work very hard for the foreigner.

Brooks Memorial Hospital for Women.—The new buildings were formally opened and dedicated at Chinese New Year. Great crowds of women came and peeped into every corner of the hospital from ground floor to attic.

Old patients have shown their appreciation by repeated visits, often bringing friends. From September until February dispensary patients numbered 980, while the out-calls have numbered 16.

Dr. Carper's marriage unfortunately leaves this fine new hospital plant without a physician.

Trying Experiences.—As the year closed, troubles began to thicken and since then disaster has followed disaster. Mr. Edwards' health became so seriously impaired that, after heroic efforts to remain on the field, he was forced to return with his family to America. Mrs. Ross was taken ill and Dr. Ross had to take her to Canton for special treatment. Dr. Elizabeth Carper went to Canton to be married outside of the Mission. Miss Patterson, the only woman at the Station, left for America on her already overdue furlough. Chinese magistrates sent out census enumerators without posting placards explaining their purpose. The ignorant populace, imagining that their officials were prying into their private affairs in order to tax them more heavily for personal gain, arose in mobs which sacked and burned a number of public buildings and attacked the yamun of the unpopular magistrate. All accounts agree that the fury of the rioters was not aroused in any way by the missionaries and that the original intention of the mob did not include any plan to molest them. But mobs seldom discriminate, and when the lawlessness got beyond control of the authorities, the frenzied horde tried to reach the Mission compound. Friendly officials sent hurried warnings to the missionaries, and for a time there was reason to fear a repetition of the awful massacre of 1905. But high water in the river and the seizure of the ferry-boats by the officials prevented the mob from actually carrying out its apparent purpose. Our property at Sam Kong, a few miles distant, was, however, totally destroyed.

Mr. Kunkle had bravely remained at Lien-chou. illness had compelled Mr. Edwards and Dr. and Mrs. Ross to leave, he felt that, as he was well and unmarried, he ought to stay and do what he could to protect the Mission property and comfort the endangered native Christians. Dr. Ross hurried back from Canton as soon as his wife's condition permitted, and at last accounts these two devoted young men were heroically "holding the fort" alone. The significance of this devotion will be more apparent when it is remembered that Lien-chou is a far interior Station, two weeks' journey from Canton, the nearest sister Station, and that only five years ago, the Station was burned by a mob and four of the missionaries and a little daughter of one of them were foully murdered.

SIANGTAN STATION.

The past year has been an uneventful one. The force, which had been reduced to the irreducible minimum for the past two years, was supplemented by the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Kepler and Miss Woods. The health of the members of the Mission has been good.

The work of the Station has gone forward without interruption. Eight were baptized and received into the church. That seems a small number, but work is not to be judged by the number of converts only. Those already received have been instructed and strengthened. The influence of the missionary has been extended and the work become better known. The general attitude of the public toward the work is more favorable. The time has not come when Siangtan can report large additions. It is still the time of sowing, but the promise is sure and in due season we shall reap if we faint not.

EVANGELISTIC.—Mr. Lingle has had charge of this department in addition to his work in the Boys' Boarding School. He conducted the Sunday morning church services and visited all the out-stations as frequently as his health and strength permitted. Mr. Liu, the evangelist who came to Siangtan from the Methodist Mission in Kiukiang three years ago, has continued his work in connection with the Fourteenth Ward Chapel, where he lives, and in I-Suh-ho, one of the country chapels which he visits each Thursday. He has also acted as superintendent of the Sunday-school in the church near the compound every Sunday morning just before the regular church services. Dr. Vanderburgh has had charge of the mid-week prayer meeting in the church. The attendance has been variable. Very few of the church members attend, as they live so far up town. In regard to the out-station work the report says:

In addition to the out-stations of I-Suh-Ho, I-Kia-Wan, and Kiang-Che, we have now rented a place at Siang-Hiang, a district city, or if from Siangtan. Mr. Li Kuh Tsuen, the lay evangelist, who has had two terms with the lay evangelist's class in Hengchow, has been sent there to preach the Gospel and teach a day-school if possible. Mr. Li has done faithful work in Kiang-Che, and as a result three have been baptized and received into the church from there in this past year. Old Mr. Chang, who has been our chapel keeper and day-school teacher in our city chapel and later in I-Suh-Ho, has been sent to Kiang-Che, to take Mr. Li's place, Chang-Peh-Kwan, a Christian young man who has studied in the Boys' School for four years, has been sent to I-Suh-Ho as teacher and preacher. I-Suh-Ho still remains our most important out-station. There are a larger number of Christians from there, and the interest is greater than in any of the other Stations.

EDUCATIONAL.—The John D. Wells Boarding School for Boys.—Mrs. Lingle has charge and reports as follows:

The John D. Wells School for Boys has continued its work, gaining both in numbers and reputation. There were 50 boys in the school during the year, the largest number in attendance at any time being 34. Several boys had to be dismissed on account of disobedience and laziness, and some were unable to continue their subjects for lack of funds. Self-support is the ideal to be aimed at, but in the early years of an institution it is permissible to assist eager students. Mrs. Vanderburgh, on account of frail health, was obliged to give up teaching in the school. Mr. Liu, a graduate of the Shantung Union College, was added to the teaching force to take the place of Mr. Hwang, who returned to Kuikiang. Mr. Teng, the blind boy who was at the Wesleyan School for the Blind in Hankow for six years, has been in the school teaching music for a year. A number of the students have learned to play and sing many hymns and other songs from him. Ilis influence has been good among the boys, for he is a quiet and earnest Christian. The teacher of athletics has become a Christian, and it was doubtlessly through the influence of Mr. Teng that he was led to make the decision. Mr. Hiung, the athletic director, who was formerly a soldier, has been with us for a year and a half. He joined the church at the last Chinese New Year. One student has been baptized and two others have applied for baptism.

The tone of the school is becoming better each year. The Y. M. C. A. meeting is held every Sunday afternoon, and more than half the boys attend. There are a number who are convinced of the truth of Christianity, but are not strong enough to take a stand against the opposition of relatives and friends. We are gaining the confidence of people. One man from the Ping Hiang coal mines has sent seven students, sons of well-to-do men, to official positions in connection with the mines.

Miss Effie Murray has been in charge of the school for the past year while Miss Kolfrat has been in America on furlough. She reports as follows:

The first full year in the new Sunny Side Boarding School for Girls has been completed. At the beginning of May, 1909, it registered 2 native teachers and 14 pupils, 5 of whom were Christians. When the autumn term began, we welcomed back all the old pupils excepting I, and had an increase of 10 new ones. There was a goodly interest in study all through the term, and the final record of the monthly examinations showed a fair average of scholarship. Only 2 failed to pass in any one subject.

The second term began in March with an enrollment of 21. together there have been 26 girls in the school during the year. year the living expenses have so increased that the board has been raised from $1.50 to $1.75 Mex. per month, thus necessitating an increase in their tuition from $16 to $20 per annum. One of the encouraging features of the increase in the number of pupils is that four have been paying full tuition, while the parents of five others have paid 500 to 1,000 cash a month. This may seem very little, yet it is paid 500 to 1,000 cash a month. This may seem very little, yet it is a hopeful beginning towards self-support.

One evening in the autumn, we discovered that the younger girls had started a little prayer circle in the upper hall ere they returned to their dormitory for the night. The youngest pupils in the school were nightly dismissed from the study hall at 7.30 o'clock. The second grade followed at 8, taking a lantern, as the halls are never lighted. When they reached the upper floor their light was turned low while they knelt together one after another lighting up their low while they knelt together, one after another lifting up their hearts and voices in prayer. Only He who understands all hearts knows the fruition of that nightly prayer circle on the hearts of the dear girls.

Day-schools.—There have been day-schools conducted in all the out-stations and chapels, four in number. Seventyfive pupils attended these schools, which have been under the general supervision of Mr. Lingle, except the parish dayschool, which has been under Miss Murray's care. While teachers know little about modern methods of teaching, the scholars are learning to read and are imbibing a great deal of Christian truth. The teachers have daily Bible reading, singing and prayers. The children of the parish day-school from the nucleus of the children's department of the Sundayschool. Care barrel MEDICAL.—The Nathaniel Tooker Hospital.—As Dr. and Mrs. Tooker have been home on furlough, the work of the hospital has rested on Dr. Vanderburgh's shoulders. He reports as follows:

A very interesting case, because of his youth, was that of a boy of twelve, from whom was removed a stone weighing 1 oz. 50 grs. This lad had pain and colic from this cause for all but two years of his life. When he left, the gratitude of his father knew no bounds. A piece of bone four inches long was removed from a man's leg. Two people came with dislocated jaws, one a man, the other a woman. Both of these dislocations resulted from participation in scolding, we believe. Miss Murray assisted in sewing up the throat of a woman would-be suicide. She assisted in several other cases as well. The woman mentioned went home healed and we trust will not repeat the effort, for she had to endure much pain while in the hospital.

The daily dispensary in connection with the Fourteenth Ward Chapel, the gift of Mrs. Hussey, who has expressed her intention of giving a certain sum each year toward its support, has been continued. Several hundred people were treated there, and services are held there daily by the evangelist.

We report with sincere gratitude having received during the year a special gift for the hospital from its founder, Mr. Nathaniel Tooker. The gift was much needed, and those in charge are very grateful. We also wish to thank the friends at Dobbs Ferry on the Hudson for the continued support of a free bed, which has been the means of helping some 30 poor cases this past year.

The following are the statistics for the eleven months that constitute this year:

Return cases	3,370
New cases
Major operations	36
Minor operations under cocaine, etc. (Many minor operations without anæsthetic)	4 I
In-patients	135

HENGCHOW STATION.

EVANGELISTIC.—Mr. Gelwicks reports as follows:

In addition to the city work, thirty country towns have been regularly reached with the Gospel; in this work the missionaries having the help of five Chinese evangelists. Fourteen persons received baptism, of these 7 were at the city church, 4 being men and 3 women. Of the 7 received in country fields, 6 were men. Four members were dismissed from the church, 1 of whom was reinstated upon evidence of reformation. This makes for the Station a total baptized membership of 43, of whom 24 reside in the city and 19 belong to country towns. One of the baptisms which afforded special satisfaction was that of an old white-haired woman, nearly blind, the mother of two Christian sons. When the Gospel first came to the city, unlike most Chinese women, she encouraged her sons in their acceptance of it as soon as she knew its teachings. When she was being examined for baptism and the questions of her attitude to idols was raised, she said, "I disbelieved in them before ever I heard of the Gospel," and her denunciation of them was like an extract from Isaiah. She was nearly seventy when she learned to read her first character, but made good progress, and understood and believed as she learned.

The Grace of Giving.—

Of the Sabbath offerings by the city congregation, five-tenths is for local church expenses, three-tenths for mission or benevolent work in China, and two-tenths for foreigh missions. The receipts amounted to 7,979 cash. In accordance with the rule that when any congregation has 10 baptized members it shall provide its own place of meeting, 19,520 cash was subscribed, which in the case of the city congregation is used for the renting of a chapel in a country town. One of the out-station congregations has provided 10,500 cash, which is sufficient to take over the rental of its chapel, thus freeing the Board's funds to rent a chapel in a new place. Last autumn these two congregations, without suggestion from the missionary, each sent a subscription for flood sufferers in northern Hunan and Hupeh. The plant has been increased by a hospital, the gift of the Woman's Board of New York; an evangelists' training school building, the gift of the Second Presbyterian Church, of Springfield, Ill., and the Rose Lobenstine Memorial Chapel, the gift of University Place Church, of New York City, and Rev. E. C. Lobenstine.

EDUCATIONAL WORK.—The school continued throughout the year, with a three weeks' vacation at Chinese New Year. The attendance for the year has been almost constant, averaging 15, though prior to Chinese New Year 6 or 8 day pupils were paying a small monthly fee. After that time day pupils were discontinued, with the exception of the teacher's son. At the end of the fiscal year there were 15 boarders. Of these, 5 pay their own board in full, which amounts to $1.25 each a month. Seven pay a part in either cash or work. The remaining 3 are supported from contributions on the field.

WOMEN'S WORK.—Weekly meetings were held for the women of the neighborhood of the compound, and many calls made in their homes, inviting them to attend. From this neighborhood one old mother received baptism and two other women entered the Woman's School. Weekly meetings were also held at the chapel in the city and at North Gate Chapel. In the vicinity of the City Chapel there lived a girl, who, from the time our place was first opened, took delight in the meetings. At first her mother opposed her coming, trying to keep her away, but when she and her brother persisted in coming and it was seen that no harm befell them, but that she was being taught, the opposition ceased, and the girl made real progress in learning and believing. During the last year she entered the Nurses' Training School of the London Mission, and the one in charge says that has not yet received baptism.

Two former school girls were baptized during the year, and we have been helping other individuals to a knowledge of the truth, whom we hope will soon be desiring to make a confession of their faith in Jesus the Saviour.

MEDICAL WORK.—The medical work has been very encouraging during the year. The patients exceeded those of last year by 1,000 treatments. Only dispensary work was possible, as the hospital was in progress of erection. It is now practically completed. Patients were seen in the hospital gate house. Two patients from the country were treated for several days, one being given food and shelter by Mr. Gelwicks, the expenses of the other being met by Mr. Crabb. She stayed at the Girl's School. This was the nearest approach to in-patients yet attained. Out-patients exceeded 2,300.

On clinic days there would be from 15 to 40 patients, a mixed crowd of men, women, children and babies. The willingness to be operated on was apparent, and it was pleasing to see fear and prejudice being broken down.

CHENCHOW STATION.

The seventh annual report of Chenchow Station marks another year of progress. The statistics, which cover only eleven months of time, show a substantial advance along most lines of effort. Special features of the work are the steady growth in membership of our Sabbath-schools and Christian Endeavor Societies, the large number of pupils in our girls' boarding school, the interest shown in the anti-opium crusade, and the erection of our new house of worship in Chenchow.

On January 7, after an illness of a month and a half, Mrs. Locke was taken from us. On account of her previous service in Anhwei and Siangtan, she was the senior lady missionary of the Station. She conducted the first woman's Bible class in Chenchow, assisted in our first series of evangelistic meetings for women, and organized our Girls' Boarding School, having charge of it during the early days when we had no capable Chinese teacher and bearing the brunt of the class-room work herself with four or five hours of daily teaching. Her loss is irreparable to the work. Our prayer is that the God of all grace may give consolation and strength to Mr. Locke and the motherless children, leading them beside the still waters, restoring their souls and transforming the valley of the shadow of death into a vision of the Father's house of many mansions.

The new members of the Station have proved themselves to be efficient additions. In spite of the unusual experiences of the year and the larger duties given to them, they have done faithful language study.

Size of Field.—Chenchow is the centre of a large itinerating district. We have an area of about 6,000 square miles, English measure. Our Mission is the only Christian agency at work in all this vast region, except in the city of Chenchow, where we share the field with the English Wesleyans. To the east of Yuinhsing and Hsingning are Kweiganghsien and Kweitung counties, in which there is no Christian work of any kind. They have several times sent delegations to us, asking us to open chapels in their districts, but we have had to decline. The present work overtaxes our present resources.

EVANGELISTIC.—Itineration.—Four extensive tours, besides a number of three- or four-day trips, are arranged for during the year. The plan is to visit each of the out-stations at least four times a year, spending from four days to a week at each place. The evangelistic labors on these trips are confined almost entirely to the county seats, though the workers pass through eleven prosperous market towns, where there ought to be work, not to mention the market towns that are off of the main road. As the funds for itinerating are very limited, the major part of the expense is met personally. In no better way could our work be strengthened than by increasing the sum given for itineration.

Chenchow.—Mr. Dwan has charge of our South Gate Chapel, and Mr. Wang manages the work at the East Gate. The communicant members now number 25. Most of the services for church members were held at the Boys' School Building at the East Gate. The Christian Endeavor Society has 35 members, and the meetings are helpful and enthusiastic. This society attracts the pupils of the boarding schools, and so is the parent of the Christian Endeavor Societies in our out-stations. In February a Bible school was organized. It has 50 regular attendants and is a source of inspiration to the spiritual life of us all. The Wednesday night prayer meeting has a large attendance and is especially helpful in promoting a sense of harmony, sympathy and brotherhood.

The most visible evidence of the growth of our work in Chenchow is the erection of the Grace Venable Berst Memorial Chapel at the East Gate. This beautiful building, erected in the form of a cross, will form a suitable house of worship for our growing congregation.

Linwu.—Linwu, our oldest out-station, is also the largest in church membership, having 69 communicants. Mr. Liruleng, the evangelist, and Mr. Chen, who was recently ordained elder, have opened day schools, one in the city chapel and the other in the mountain settlement. They are doing a much needed work among the children of the church members. The sum of $36 has been raised for local Christian work. A Christian Endeavor Society of 10 members is bravely struggling to deepen the spiritual life of the church. The church in her short history of fifteen years has sent out several Christian workers.

Kiaho.—The Kiaho Church has suffered sharp and continued persecution. In one village there were only three Christians, and when they refused to contribute funds for an idolatrous festival they were driven out of their homes, their houses were looted and their fields spoiled. When Elder Li tried to effect a reconciliation between the heathen villagers and their Christian neighbors, he was assaulted and foully abused. Having suffered much, the refugees were finally permitted to return to what was left of their homes.

Lanshan.—Here we have 22 communicant church members. A building in the city was mortgaged for a chapel and later bought. The gentry manifested great opposition to the enterprise, and claimed that the mortgage and sale were illegal. A church member who acted as middleman and the colporteur were arrested. The middleman was beaten 1,600 stripes. Rather than court a general persecution, we surrendered our claim to the building, and rented a shop in the market-place just outside the city gate. But up to the present time the official has refused to permit us to open it as a chapel. The Sabbath services are held in the homes of the members. The simple faith and prayerful patience of these Lanshan believers would alone be a rich reward for all the work of our Station.

Kweiyanchow.—Mr. Dong, the evangelist, began work three years ago, and now there are 12 communicant church members. During the year a new chapel was rented on the main street of the city.

Work is also carried on at Hsingning and Yuinhsing. At the latter place the number of converts has been large and the work encouraging.

EDUCATIONAL.—The Boys' Boarding School has an enrollment of 29, of whom 24 are boarders. Twenty come from Christian homes, and 5 are communicant church members. The boys represent 5 different counties. According to the mission course of study, they are divided into five classes, as follows: Primary, second year, 10 pupils; third year, 5; fourth year, 7; fifth year, 3; and intermediate third year, 4. Twenty pupils finished the year's work with credit. They all contribute something toward their education, though some give very little, none of the boys coming from homes of affluence. The total sum given is $55.82. Most of the boys are of hardy mountaineer stock, and their health is excellent. Daily physical culture, frequent trips to the country and occasional swimming expeditions in the river furnish means of healthful recreation. The religious atmosphere of the school is sane and manly, and the voluntary prayer meetings are well attended. The Chinese teachers are Mr. Han, from Wei-hsien College, Shantung, and Mr. Loa, a literary graduate of Chenchow. Both are sincere Christians and teachers of experience. Our one graduate, Mr. Gwoh Chung Yao, is a sophomore in the Union University of Nanking. He is doing excellent work, was president of their Y. M. C. A. and a delegate to the Kuling Summer Conference. Mr. Dzeng Fung Pu, another of our former pupils, is making good in the Medical Department of the Peking Union University. We hope that after those two men complete their education they will return to their native province for Christian work.

The Girls' Boarding School has closed the most successful years of its history. The total enrollment was 20, all but one of whom were boarders. The boarders all came from the homes of our church members. Some of these girls walked 240 li (80 English miles) from their homes to the school. Six of the girls are communicant church members, 3 of them being baptized during the year. All seem interested in the Gospel. Our most advanced pupil went to Hengchow to take a nurses' training course in the London Mission Hospital. Mrs. Wang is a faithful and conscientious teacher and looks after the girls carefully, both as to their intellectual and spiritual needs. The matron (who also acts as cook) is a sympathetic Christian widow and indeed a "mother in Israel" to the girls in her charge.

This is the only Christian boarding school for girls in southeast Hunan. The value of an education for girls is not greatly appreciated. Most of our pupils come from homes of the poor; they each contribute something toward their education. This year the sum given out of their poverty is $10.90. As soon as the land can be secured, the building will be erected and we can then admit the daughters and prospective brides of our Christians for at least two years of training. The former scholars are nobly Christianizing their homes and helping in evangelizing and teaching the Catechism to the women of their native villages.

Day Schools.—Mission day schools are necessary in each of the Christian communities, if the rising generation is to be properly instructed in the essentials of Christian faith. No child of Christian parents shall be permitted to attend a heathen school. But for various reasons, chiefly for lack of funds, we have been unable to carry out our policy. The day schools at Kiaho and Chenchow have been closed. The school at Hsingning, under Mr. Tsai, the evangelist, has 9 pupils; the one in the mountain settlement near Linwu, under Elder Chen, has 10; the one in the Linwu Chapel, under Mr. Liruling, the evangelist, has 13 pupils, making 32 pupils in all in Christian day schools. These schools are all doing good work, and efforts are being made to establish similar schools in the other out-stations.

MEDICAL.—As far as the medical part of the work is concerned, only six months of the past year can be considered, since the physician in charge was there for that length of time only. As he was studying every morning, the work was not pushed. The hospital had just been completed, but was not equipped.

The following account of an itinerating trip is of interest as showing the evangelistic possibilities of medical work.

One itinerating trip was made to the four more distant out-stations. This trip was made primarily to discover whether it would be feasible to have a physician accompany the evangelist on each visit. Occasional visits had been made by Dr. Chestnut from Lien Chow and by Dr. Lewis from our Station. This trip, as the other had done, found the people ready to receive our medicines and help, which was evidenced by the crowds who came to the chapel as soon as it was known that a doctor had come. In one place the military official sent a squad of soldiers, many of whom were really too sick to walk, and had to be assisted by their fellows. The church members urged that the Mission allow them regular visits of a doctor several times a year. As our membership, including children, runs over 300, this is a request that ought to be heeded. With two resident physicians at Chenchow, this work can be carried on systematically, and we believe it will be of great help to the evangelistic work. The doctor gives us the story of one case: "While stopping at a small village for a cup of tea, a mother with a little crippled son came up to me and asked if I could cure him. I replied, 'Bring him to the hospital at Chenchow and we will try.' Five months later this mother walked into the compound with her fourteen-year-old boy on her back, having carried him a distance of 50 li. The child had been severely burned at the knee some time before and the leg was drawn up against the thigh so that he was compelled to crawl. An operation was performed, and after a stay of six weeks in the hospital he left for home a few pounds heavier, carrying a new suit of clothes, and able to walk fairly well. His mother was anxious for him to attend our school. His father, a poor miner, having come home and found his wife and son gone, hurried to Chenchow, and was profuse in his thanks when he saw the condition of his boy." This shows in a small way the possibilities of country work.

During these six months of service we have had 1,045 new cases in the dispensary, 951 old cases, 25 in-patients, 6 cases in the city with 12 visits, 6 major operations, and 20 minor operations. The hospital was not opened for in-patients until after Chinese New Year or, in other words, two of the six months. Of the in-patients 8 were in for the cure of opium smoking. They remained for a month. Two were notorious cases, One still had a considerable property and the

up nearly all he had. They all left bright and happy.

We have been in the habit of allowing one or two of our Christians in each out-station to dispense medicines to certain cases. These men could be trusted. In this way we know, by inquiry and observation, that at least 2,000 patients, not included in the above number, were treated. Though far from ideal, this was necessary, for the reason that one doctor at the Station could do very little itinerating.

CHANGTEH STATION.

EVANGELISTIC.—A special opportunity for evangelistic work has occurred in connections with this mission.

Relief Work.—During the winter and early spring a part of the evangelistic work took the form of helping famine sufferers. In the summer of last year the Changteh District was visited by excessive rains and floods, which caused the river to rise to such an extent that dykes were broken in a number of places. The low-lying farming lands covering many miles were flooded, and the people were driven in poverty from their homes. The water was slow to recede, it was not all out until about March of the present year. Thousands of people were deprived of the means of livelihood. Several thousands assembled in Changteh and found shelter in the old examination hall and various temples. After a visit to the worst of the flooded district, the seriousness of the famine was apparent. Nearly $400 Mexican was received from various contributors, and was spent in the effort to relieve suffering among this distressed class. The evangelist, Mr. Pao, and a committee of Chinese Christians associated with him, were the chief channels through which the charitable work was done. A large quantity of wadded clothing and bedding was bought and distributed, while rice tickets were given out and money in a few instances. Opportunities for conversation and preaching came with these efforts, and good far deeper and more abiding than the temporary relief of suffering was accomplished.

Women's Evangelistic Work.—

The week-day services for women were held in the guest hall connected with Mr. and Mrs. Preston's residence. On each Wednesday there was a service for Christians and inquirers, which was frequently attended by more than the room could accommodate, and from this class a number became definitely interested. On Thursdays a class was held for teaching the women to read. A simple character book was used, and some of the church members who could read greatly assisted in teaching others. Services for children on Sunday afternoons were commenced during April. Singing was taught, and some lessons were given on the organ.

Services.—

The usual services were maintained throughout the year—morning service, Sunday-school, and Christian Endeavor on the Sabbath, while the regular church prayer meeting was held on Wednesday evening. We hold a Communion service once a quarter. During the summer a union service of the three Missions is being held each month at the different chapels. We regret to add that only three members were received into the church during the year. It has been Mr. Preston's custom to visit among the people, especially to see the sick, and to comfort the troubled as much as possible.

TAOYUEN.

EVANGELISTIC.—The evangelistic work at Taoyuen has been somewhat interrupted on account of the duties that came to the missionaries in connection with building. Beside this, the evangelist and colporteur were absent four months attending the school for lay evangelists at Hengchow and there was no one to take their places. There were, however, services in the chapel every evening, which were well attended. There were also Wednesday prayer meetings, the regular Sunday morning service and Sunday-school and Christian Endeavor Sunday evening. The latter is especially vigorous and well attended.

EDUCATIONAL.—John Miller Boys' School.—Mr. Lovell writes:

The first year of the John Miller School closed January 29, 6 boys taking the examinations. During the illness of the principal in October and November, through the self-sacrificing efforts of Mrs. Lovell and Dr. and Mrs. Logan, the school was enabled to keep in session. This meant a rather painstaking division of labor, Mrs. Logan doing the nursing, Dr. Logan traveling to and from the city every day, and Mrs. Lovell teaching in one school and superintending two. The second year opened auspiciously the 28th of February with 13 bright boys, ranging in age from ten to twenty, in attendance. All but four pay for themselves, and two take care of the lamps and the principal's office, and thus in some way help pay their own way. One is a brother of one of our teachers and pays no tuition in consideration of attaining a certain grade in his lessons and a fourth has paid for his board only. The school-building is only partly finished and should be completed at once.

One of the most pleasing features of the school year has been the rapid growth of the three high school boys who have shown a most evident desire to learn the truth and a willingness to help in every good work. One is a Christian and the other two have spoken to him about their own relations to Christ. Another boy is a Christian at heart, although he has not formally declared his purpose.

Girls' Day-school.—On account of not having a suitable teacher the work in this school has not been as successful as in years past. There has been an enrollment of 17, who attended fairly regularly.

Girls' Boarding School.—The Girls' School went on as usual May 1st to the last of June, 1909. The girls were tired out with the examinations and preparations for them, so this year the principal limited the examinations to certain subjects, with better results.

Day-schools.—The Boys' and Girls' Day-schools were combined after a month's work, as the lady teacher in the Girls' School had died. Not as many pupils have come as came last year. This may be accounted for by the hard times, as many of the pupils are poor and at an early age are compelled to learn a trade. The quality of work done was an improvement over last year, for better text-books have been used, and Mr. Jenkins has been enabled to get hold of a teacher from a Mission school who knows how to teach.

MEDICAL.—The medical work up to last September was in charge of Dr. Berst, who, with the help of Dr. Pao, maintained the department at a high standard in spite of many hindrances.

After their furlough, Dr. and Mrs. Logan assumed charge, assisted by Dr. Pao. Dr. Kong joined the staff in March, having completed six years of study and hospital work at Hankow. Both of these Chinese physicians have done good work and we consider them one of our chief assets.

Branch Dispensary at Taoyuen.—As an experiment, without incurring much extra expense, a physician was sent to Taoyuen (25 miles distant) once a week. He dispenses medicines and makes necessary calls. During the month of July Dr. Tai, one of the Changteh students at Hankow, was able to do dispensary work, and treated 144 new cases, but since then the work has been carried on by the weekly visits of the doctors from Changteh. This work promises well, but is greatly hampered because there is no building other than that used as a day-school and house of worship. It is hoped that Dr. Tai will be able to locate in Taoyuen on finishing his studies in Hankow the end of the year.

Chinese Imperial Postal Medical Service.—Since the establishment of the Inspectorate in Changteh with a foreigner in charge, the physician has been appointed to attend the staff. The income from this service amounts to about $100 Mexican per year, depending upon the service rendered. If we could insure continuous medical attendance, which would mean the addition of another medical missionary, we could secure $600 Mexican per year, as is done at Changsha.

The number of patients has not been so great as in years past. The falling off is chiefly due to the floods and subsequent famine.

Women's Hospital Site Secured.—Last March the Board cabled money with which to buy the lot adjoining the medical compound on the east. The land was promptly purchased and we are now in position to begin building as soon as the funds are received. Heretofore we have had to turn away women patients on account of having no accommodations. While we are waiting for the building money, we hope to be able to fix up a temporary place on our new lot that will serve as a women's hospital.

Evangelistic Work in Hospital.—The nurses, doctors and assistants have conducted prayers in the hospital and given Gospel talks to the out-patients. Every patient in the dispensary gets a tract and a Gospel and each in-patient is given a Testament—some unknown friend having provided these Testaments and Gospels for free distribution. Many patients, we have reason to believe, are convinced of the Truth and of their personal obligation to God, but are unwilling to make a stand and face the opposition that will meet them if they openly accept Christ.

NINGPO STATION.

EVANGELISTIC WORK .- Ningpo Church .-

Eleven women and 5 men were received into full membership and there were many other applicants. At the March communion service, 72 mothers and 7 fathers presented 7 children for baptism; really an impressive sight. Through the combined efforts of several earnest Christians and Pastor Zia, of the Kao-gyiao Church, the opening of an orphanage, a mile and a half from the church, has been brought to pass, into which are gathered 75 boys, who attend this church regularly, thus providing a great opportunity for making a mighty impression for the Lord of Hosts upon these boys in their youth.

The country churches have made healthy growth and there has been a greatly increased interest among the women. Miss Rollestone, on returning from her furlough, has settled in Yü-yao for the women's work there. In the Yü-yao Church there are a number of volunteer workers, of one of whom Miss Rollestone writes:

One day an old gentleman, whose conversion and work since would make a small volume, asked Mrs. Shoemaker and me, with several Chinese, to go to a place to do a day's preaching where he had been breaking ground. A comparatively short time before, when he first went visiting in this district, he and his companion were threatened with beating and were profusely reviled. But he kept on, and after a while the reviling ceased. Now it is a pleasure to visit that place, and several are inquiring and anxious to study. He and a number of Christian Endeavorers have been carrying on Sabbath services in the jail here. A number of the prisoners watch eagerly for their visits, and several can recite the "Beginners' Catechism of Doctrine." His own household and the surrounding community prove the earnestness of his life and prayers, and now instead of being reviled, he is requested by many, both in the church and out, to come and pray, and his home has become a retreat for those who fear the influence of idolatry and evil spirits and who desire his prayers.

Miss Dickie reports of one of the women's classes:

On the first morning the class opened, a young woman, an unbeliever, was very loath to listen at morning prayers, and openly demurred at being asked to "waste time" to learn the words of a hymn; but before the week had passed she had so far yielded to the sway of the irresistible Life, of Whom she heard every morning, that she brought her mother for morning prayers, and that afternoon, when commended for reciting her lesson so well, quietly replied: "You prayed this morning that we might be helped with our lessons, that is why." From that time to the close of the class she was ready to respond to all the teachings. Early one morning there eame an old woman, who had walked a long distance, having heard that there was "good doctrine" being taught in our place, and who had come to hear for herself. After staying to morning prayers and having a long talk with the Bible woman, she handed over her rosary, saying that she had no further use for it, and went away, apparently with the real desire in her heart to seek the one true God, if haply she might find Him. Several of the women in this class plan to come for further study to the class in Ningpo in the autumn. It is the thought of the latent possibilities in these Chinese women all over our field, if really brought face to face with their Lord and Master, that nerves us to greater effort in their behalf.

Native Itineration.—

In June a band of seven evangelists, one of them a volunteer, unpaid, was sent to carry on a campaign along the seacoast north of Yü-yao. They lived in a large houseboat which belonged to an earnest Christian, who gladly helped along by cooking for the men and doing their washing. They toured the neighboring region, two by two, during the day, and at night gathered in the village for a preaching service in the mat shed which they erected for the purpose. Thus they went from village to village, bringing the Gospel to hundreds who had never heard it before. They report that there was a great eagerness to hear their message and a corresponding joy in giving it. Mention must also be made of the faithful and efficient help given by a widow lady of means, over seventy years of age, Mrs. Tsiang, whose son is one of the proprietors of the Shanghai Dispensary, but who herself spends the most of the time in Ningpo. Her work has been truly a labor of love. Receiving no money for it, she has gone day after day, either with Miss Dickie or alone, to the homes of the women, teaching them to read and urging upon them the claims of the Gospel of her Lord. Four Sunday-schools have been maintained in Ningpo City during the year.

EDUCATIONAL WORK.—

When Mr. Knickerbocker took over this work there were eight day-schools, with 145 pupils, 12 of whom were girls. Two schools were added during the year, and in these ten schools have been gathered this year 265 pupils, 15 of whom are girls. Last year the average for each school was an attendance of 18; this year it has increased to 26 for each school. One of the new schools opened this year is in the county seat of Zong-yii, and is the only Christian school in this county. The total demolition of two government schools in that city a short time ago, while our school was not touched nor interfered with in the least, gives us a glimpse of one side of the Chinese mind.

Ningpo Girls' Boarding School.—The attendance was 62 boarders, 2 pupil teachers, and 17 day-pupils.

Four girls were received into church membership during the year,—three of them into our own church here,—as they are the daughters of our Christians in the out-stations, and the fourth, Fong Eng-sih, whose father so cruelly sought to take her life a year and a half ago because she refused to be betrothed to a heathen man, has been received into the church of the Church Missionary Society, as her home is in their field in Saen-poh.

Women's Classes.—

Two classes for the women have been held this year. In one there was an enrollment of 28, ranging in age from three girls of twelve and seventeen to women of fifty-seven, sixty-eight, and seventy-three. With the exception of two who slipped in uninvited, no children were received into this class. This lessened the attendance of women, but the maximum of time for study was secured, and the peace and quiet for women who live so much of their time in confusion and disorder, was blissful, enabling them also to learn, as they did, lessons in cleanliness and tidiness and reverence and quiet during worship.

Thirty men and boys attended the men's training class in Yü-yao.

OTHER WORK.—An eight days' conference was held at Yü-yao, and later an interdenominational conference of workers from all the Missions in the Ningpo region in Ningpo.

It was beautiful to see the spirit of unity and friendliness among these workers of the different Missions as they lived and talked together over the things concerning the kingdom of Christ. Among the hospitalities accorded them, Miss Dickie gave a luncheon one day to eight of the Chinese pastors and evangelists, at which five different denominations were represented, and their hearty enjoyment and ringing laughter during the hour spent together seemed a presage of that longed-for day when "they all shall be one."

Of the Orphanage in Yü-yao, the report states:

Here 75 boys, ranging in age from seven to fourteen years, are being fitted for useful citizenship. Mr. and Mrs. Cü, in charge of the orphanage, were willing to leave their home of plenty in Yü-yao and give themselves wholly to the care of this family. It is a source of ceaseless wonder to us that this young couple, less than thirty years of age and without previous training for such an undertaking, are able to carry on this work with such remarkable efficiency in all departments. They are putting heart and soul and body into the work, and their eagerness to see the Master glorified in it makes it all joy to them, despite the weight of the responsibility. This institution narrowly escaped being mobbed by the crowd which was conducting an idolatrous procession, some members of which took offense at the remarks which some of the children made about the idols.

SHANGHAI STATION.

Progress in every department of work at Shanghai during the past year calls for special thanksgiving. Among the encouraging features are the following: The evangelistic work reports the graduating of the first class of trained Bible women and the opening of headquarters for these women in two towns of the country field. The first class ever conducted for men from the country was held at Chinese New Year. A new Sabbath-school at South Gate has reached many children not attending the old school, and the kindergarten at South Gate has been reopened. The Girls' Boarding School has received unusually encouraging reports from the work of its graduates, while Lowrie High School has had an increased attendance and decided strengthening of the teaching force, in addition to the gift of a new building erected by former students. A new stone bund has been built along the canal side of the Women's Bible School land, and funds have been received for the erection of a residence for Mr. Silsby and for the purchase of those two small lots which, lying in the heart of our property, furnish undesirable neighbors.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.—

In February of the present year the church at South Gate celebrated its fiftieth anniversary, having been organized on the 12th of February, 1860, with several missionaries and one Chinese as charter members. The church has now a membership of 230, and has two healthy daughters—the Lowrie Memorial and the Hongkew Churches—each self-supporting and with a growing membership. The total membership for Shanghai is now 570. Of the 31 additions 12 men were from the Phoo-toong region, 2 men and 5 women were from the vicinity of South Gate, 2 were from the Boys' School, 6 were from the Girls' School, and 4 from the Shanghai Industrial Orphanage.

Thirty-four new members were received into the Lowrie Memorial Church.

Mrs. Fitch, who spends much of her time in evangelistic work in the settlement, states that there have never been so many inquirers among the men and women as this year.

During the summer, at Mokanshan, Dr. Farnham has continued the forenoon preaching service that has been held every Sabbath that he has been on the mountain since twelve years ago last March, when for want of other shelter the meetings were held in the bamboo grove. The attendance has gradually increased to over 50, and now there is talk of building a church.

From the South Gate the country work has been earnestly prosecuted, and it is the purpose of the Mission to carry forward steadily the effort to evangelize the large section of still almost untouched territory within easy reach of Shanghai where missionaries have been for two generations.

EDUCATIONAL WORK.—The enrollment in the Girls' Boarding School at the South Gate has been 92, 6 of whom united with the church.

Very gratifying reports of the work being done by a number of the former pupils have made the class room this year bright with promise. The following is quoted from a letter written by a Methodist missionary about forty miles from Shanghai: "I have visited both of your girls and examined their pupils. I can truly say that their school-room work is the best that I have ever had from any day-school teacher." Two other graduates are doing good work teaching for the Baptists. Another is a most efficient worker with Miss Silver in the Women's Bible Training School, while another is teaching in the Shanghai Industrial Orphanage, so ably superintended by Mr. and Mrs. D. Y. Tsang. Mrs. Tsang is also a former pupil, who, after special training, assisted Miss Posey in kindergarten work. Two former pupils studied medicine in other Missions and are now practicing physicians in Nanking. Another is well liked as the assistant of the English nurse in the London Mission Hospital. A very successful kindergarten near the Commercial Press, attended by many children of Presbyterian parents, is being conducted by a former pupil who has returned from three years' special training in Japan. There are some of the graduates who cause heartaches, and for three former pupils who have disgraced their school and the cause of Christ prayer is asked that they too may be saved to serve.

In the entire city of Shanghai there are as yet but two kindergartens under fully trained teachers; one conducted by the Commercial Press and the one at the South Gate. The demand for such schools is great, and only the lack of trained teachers prevents the taking up of this much needed work.

Lowrie High School has had a prosperous year. The total number of pupils enrolled during the year has been 75. The school has been carried on under the directorship of a committee of six appointed by the Central China Mission and the Old Students' Society.

Some of the graduates of the school, sons and sons-in-law of one of the early Presbyterian preachers, have united in building and presenting to the school the Bau Memorial Hall, in honor of their father, costing $10,000 Mexican.

HANGCHOW STATION.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.—Mr. Bible has been the only member of the Station free for evangelistic work, Mr. Herriott having come home on furlough under doctor's orders. Of the field in the city Mr. Bible writes:

Our Mission has held for fifty years, as the portion of Hangchow City for whose evangelization it is responsible, a section called the Upper City, having an estimated population of 300,000. This section extends from the present site of Mission buildings south to the city wall, a distance of two and a half to three miles. There has never been a man free to devote any considerable time to this field.

Mr. Herriott reports also of the city work:

A circulating library of several hundred volumes has been placed in the library room of the bell tower of the Bi-z Church. This is the special gift of Mrs. E. C. Donald, of San Bernardino, and other friends of Riverside Presbyterial Society. The books are in demand and are read by many of the Christians. The best and most expensive books published by the Christian Literature Society, the Presbyterian Mission Press, and the Chinese Tract Society have been purchased, as the Christians are usually too poor to buy these books. The works of Spencer, Huxley and Haeckel are being eagerly demanded by young China, and hence it is important that we strive to counteract the atheistic tendency rapidly spreading here.

There have been encouraging features in the country work.

At Dzang-an there are two baptized Christians. One of these is a silk merchant, who spends half the year in Manchuria. He gave $236 Mex. to the licentiate there last year, and now land has been bought in a very good location on the main road to the Station.

bought in a very good location on the main road to the Station.

At Zeh-men Mr. Nyiu has gathered a group of 8 communicants and a number of inquirers. He seems to have won a position in the city, which is quite unusual. Recently a dinner and reception was given to a new head-master in the Government school. The three guests of honor were the county magistrate, the leading man among the gentry, and Mr. Nyiu, the Christian evangelist. Miss Ricketts says: "Best of all, at Zeh-men, was the marvel of transformed lives. Such earnest men and women where before there had been only empty seats!"

Of the 93 Christians on the Tong-yang Church roll at the beginning of the year, 15 have been disciplined and 15 more warned. Several have been expelled for non-attendance at the Sunday services and for dishonesty. Some who were repentant were only suspended. A former helper sought to obtain a Government degree under false pretences, a crime punishable with death in China; he also worshipped his ancestors by proxy. As he seemed very repentant, he was only suspended indefinitely. An old Christian woman sought a sooth-saying woman to exorcise the evil spirit out of her sick daughter. She was very repentant and really ignorant of the sin she had committed.

The congregations at I-u and P'u-kyang have been united in one church.

The church has now grown to over 50 members, though five years ago there were but 2. One of the Christians, Mr. Wu, and the faithful Bible woman, Mrs. Kong, are mainly responsible for this large increase. Mrs. Kong is winning more inquirers where she has gone than all the trained helpers. She twice attended Mrs. Herriott's training class, and though she cannot read, she sings and prays, and ministers to the poor and sick out of her scanty support of $3 a month. The heathen say that such a life must be the product of a true and rightcous religion.

She is stationed in a lonely village by herself.

There was a remarkable and characteristically Chinese story in I-u of what was called demon possession. One of the Christians, whose brother was our first convert in I-u, though baptized two years ago, was afraid to take down the image in his home because of his son's superstitions and fear of their consequences. This year his infant grandson cried a great deal, and this was, of course, attributed to evil spirits. Two necromancers were sought: one in Tong-yang and one in I-u. Because the instructions of the Tong-yang man were followed, jealousy was aroused on the part of the other and revenge was determined upon. The I-u wizard forthwith called upon his special idols to possess the father of the child. The young man was much frightened, and seemed to gulp down these demons one after another until a hundred had been swallowed, his body at the same time swelling to enormous proportions. For days he wandered in the mountains and could neither eat nor sleep, raving all the time. Finally some of the Christians spent a whole night with him in prayer, and towards morning he gulped up the demons at the same time regaining his normal size and saying that he could see Jesus slaying the wretched devils. He has been in his right mind ever since. The idol was taken down and thrown into the pond. The wizard, to avenge himself on the church, appeared one day at the chapel and violently blasphemed the name of Jesus and challenged the "Jesus religion" to a test. He said he could foretell where a sum of $200 could be found. It was under the kitchen stove in a certain house. For a day the people dug in the place indicated, hoping to get rich, but found nothing. The wizard was of course humiliated, and the town constable compelled him, as a public acknowledgment of his disgrace, according to Chinese custom, to distribute a loaf of bread to each family in the town.

EDUCATIONAL WORK.—The Hangehow College building has been carried on all year at the new property a few miles from the city, and evangelistic work has been done steadily among the 400 workmen engaged on the new buildings. Students have gone out every Sunday from the old college property in the city to work there under Mr. Fitch's supervision. He writes:

On each Sabbath, after a half-hour of training the boys in the hymns to be sung in the morning service in the city church, I have gone out to hold services on the new site with the workmen there. Classes have also been formed for the study of the Bible and of elementary Christian text-books. The men have learned to sing some hymns and have taken considerable interest. Some have become inquirers and some have joined the church.

There have been 33 girls in the Girls' Boarding School, which it is hoped may be united during the year with the educational work for girls of the Baptists and the Southern Presbyterians.

SOOCHOW STATION.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.—The year has been one both of discipline and of growth in the church in Soochow.

It finally became necessary to remove one elder two deacons, and one Bible woman from active service.

About the middle of May all the churches united in an effort to reach the outsiders in Soochow. A mat shed was erected at the Kong-hong, which could accommodate some 1,200 people. The Chinese did all the preaching, but every department was heartily backed by the foreigners. The music was very good, being led by an organ, two cornets and a mixed choir. It is variously estimated that from 2,000 to 5,000 people heard the Gospel every day, and many for the first time. No one will ever know the results of the seed-sowing, for thousands of Gospels and tracts were carried away. This much we do know, that about 1,600 people signed cards expressing a desire to know more about the doctrine and a willingness to be visited by a religious teacher.

At one of our Christian Endeavor meetings a man came in, and when opportunity offered stood up and said: "I heard about a strange book to-day at the Kong-hong preaching tent, and I want to know more about it. Can anyone tell me where I can get a copy?" The president of the Chinhai Endeavor Society at once presented him with his own well-worn copy, saying: "It is old, but it has the truth in it."

EDUCATIONAL WORK.—Since the closing of the Boys' Boarding Schools in Ningpo and Soochow and the consolidation of the work at Hangchow, the educational work at Soochow has been confined to day-schools, of which there are four.

MEDICAL WORK.—Tooker Memorial Hospital.—

The number of in-patients has been limited owing to the physicians' need of study and the lack of skilled assistants. The large number of little children, some without attendants, has been gratifying as showing greater trust in us. The increase in the price of opium has brought some women to us for the breaking of the habit. Two of the nine reported above have already returned to the use of the drug. Several were much interested in the Gospel; one especially making rapid progress in study.

MISSION PRESS.—The Press report calls attention to the growth of native presses and to the great bulk of press work, especially in the printing of the Bible, now done in Japan.

What a great change has come over the conditions of the work will be manifest when we mention that the first two editions of Dr.

Hepburn's Japanese Dictionary were printed by us in Shanghai, Dr. Hepburn coming to Shanghai to remain while the work was passing through the press.

At one time we were the only establishment in the world with a full set of matrices for casting Chinese type, and not a pound of Chinese movable type could be obtained anywhere except from us. Our exclusive facilities in this respect have long since ceased, and while a single matrix formerly cost from 50 cents to $1, gold, they may now be had in abundance for 12 cents Mexican.

Our total present force is 208 Chinese (not including the Chinese bindery, where work is done by the piece) and 12 foreigners.

In the general divisions of printing using English type, the 12 magazines under our care have had 3,294 pages to demand our close attention to all details; pamphlets and catalogues, 2,094 pages, and edition work, 3,292 pages. The edition work and most of the catalogues are bi-lingual, requiring Chinese type. A notable bi-lingual work just issued is the Greek Lessons (including Grammar) which the work of our theological seminaries now requires that the students may be able to take up the new Testament in its original language. A special font of Greek type was bought for this new requirement on the Press. About 100 pages more of the revised Materia Medica of China were printed off, and the rest of the manuscript is now well along, looking to early completion. A most useful Pocket Dictionary, containing more than 20,000 phrases, English into Chinese, by Sir Walter Hillier, foreign advisor to the Chinese government, was completed in June. Other prominent books may just be mentioned here: Swatow Dialect Syllabary (Rev. John Steele, English Presbyterian Mission), Makers of Modern Cathay (C. Wilfred Allan, Wesleyan Mission), Ningpo Colloquial Hand-book (von Möllendorff), and reprints of Mateer's Mandarin Lessons, Pott's Lessons in the Shanghai Dialect, Baller's Mandarin Primer, Kranz's Key to the Character Problem (being 4,000 most frequent Chinese words), Yates' First Lessons in Chinese, Standard Mandarin Primer (in the ard Mandarin Romanization, and a new Romanization Primer (in the accumulative method). The Prayer Book in Ningpo Romanized (Kong Tao Veng), for the Church Missionary Society, was about completed at the end of June.

Cochran and Mrs. Cochran, Samuel Cochran, M.D., and Mrs. Cochran, Rev. Thomas F. Carter and Mrs. Carter, Miss Agnes Gordon Murdoch, M.D., Miss Mary Cole Murdoch, Miss Margaret Falconer Murdoch.

DEATH: Mrs. Charles Leaman.

ON FURLOUGH DURING THE YEAR: Rev. Du Bois S. Morris.

The Mission staff was strengthened during the year by the appointment of the Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Bullock to Nanking, to increase the Mission's representation in the Nanking Union University, and by the appointment of the Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Carter to Hwai-yuen, with a view to the opening in the future of a new Station to the north. At the close of the year Mr. Morris, who had been married while at home on furlough, returned to the field with Mrs. Morris, who had been Miss Buell, of Rochester, New York.

At the close of the Mission year, on October 9, the loss which had been long anticipated came in the death of Mrs. Leaman, after thirty-seven years of service for China. Mrs. Williams writes:

Coming with her husband to Nanking, they worked through hard, strenuous years, laying the foundations for our work. Teaching, preaching, studying, a loving mother, a careful housekeeper, given to hospitality, her work knew no bounds. As the years went by people went to her for sympathy—new missionaries, perplexed and troubled ones of every Mission, the school-girls, the men of the church, the little tap-tap on her door as some little school-girl or some burdened woman came with her story, ate into her resting times, yet she gave to all unselfishly. Many people have said that the peace and harmony of our working community is largely due to the influence of Mr. and Mrs. Leaman. In our first six months in China we, as new missionaries living in their home, heard no unkind story or criticism of any fellowworkers. The Chinese were their adopted people, and so no story of their evil or dishonesty came to us, but instead instances of their fidelity and little heart stories of their struggles won our sympathy. "In her tongue was the law of kindness," not an impulse, but a law faithfully kept during her life. I remember her during our first weeks in China at the funeral of one of her school-girls. It was a cold, wet day, and as the little procession started to go to the burial grounds I seem to see her yet as she passed along, helping the stumbling children over the wet stones and trying to cheer the poor mother; after eleven years when I told that mother that Mrs. Leaman had gone home, with tears she said: "Oh! she was my mother! all the mother I ever knew!"

Such a life is like an old violin; the music of the past is wrought into it. So her life is woven into the very fibre of our work. In the church which she loved, and where she worked so long, where the believers are gathered in our chapels, out in the country stations, they are saying: "Our mother has gone." A long line of school-girls, who have gone into homes or work of their own, rise up and call her blessed.

NANKING STATION.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.—Mr. Drummond and Mr. Gray have been able to give a large part of their time to country itineration, and Mrs. Drummond and Miss Hyde have also been out among the villages.

One village—Sing Dien—has one man, a deacon, who is the best educated and most influential man in the place. Our Station at Tong Tsing has been a real pleasure. The Christians, while few, are constant and earnest. The women are especially earnest and regular in attendance; they bring their babies and older children, and on a Sabbath morning it is indeed a pleasant sight. The work here is largely the fruit of one faithful life—Elder Gong—who has gone to his reward, but whose works do follow him. His son, his family, his clan, are the seeds of that little church, a little sanctuary in the midst of the heathen. In the city the work has been very encouraging. Mr. Gray reports that all during the year there has been an openness of mind and a willingness to hear we have never known before. Any hour of the day or evening the street chapels can be filled with an attentive crowd.

Miss Hyde spent in all sixteen weeks in the country in evangelistic work among the women. And she reports of one old woman:

She was sixty or seventy years old, stiff with rheumatism and white-haired with her years and the sorrows life brings to a Chinese woman. She had tottered out, leaning on a long staff, and as we approached her hut she turned her half-blind eyes to us and said in her quavering voice: "There is no use coming here. I have already paid several thousand cash for the nuns to recite prayers and beat the gongs to cure my rheumatism, but it is no good. I can scarcely move. I only want to die."

It was some time before we could make her realize that our message was not that of the priests. Finally, she listened with attention and apparent understanding as we told her of God who loves her and does not want her money, but her repentance and obedience; of a Saviour who died to save her from her sins, which saying prayers and fasting will never do.

"I have broken my fast," she said. "I was a vegetarian for tens of years, but I still suffered, and so I broke fast, even if it was a sin."

"It was no sin," we told her; "trusting to merit for salvation is sin, but not eating one thing or another." Then we taught her the little three-line prayer for forgiveness, salvation, and cleansing, addressed to "Rother Son and Help Spirit" in an and cleansing, addressed to "Father, Son, and Holy Spirit," impressing upon her that the mere repetition of the words was of no value, but that if she really meant them in her heart the Heavenly Father would surely hear and answer.

She accepted it simply. "I used to pray to the Heavenly Father when I was a young girl. I used to pray every evening to Him." Like many others, she had heard the doxology of the T'ai-ping rebels and had used it in hope of something better.

"When I prayed to the Heavenly Father," she said, "I did not have this rheumatism; my hands were not stiff, so that I could embroider, and I could walk anywhere. Now, if I could only die! My son often and I could walk anywhere. Now, it I could only die! My son often tells me to commit suicide by jumping into the canal there. A hundred times a day he says it, but I won't."

"No," we told her, "that would be a very great sin, and perhaps the Heavenly Father has allowed you to live, in order that you may know Him and the Saviour who died for you." We left her with the assurance that the Heavenly Father knew and cared, and in His own loving good time would take her to Himself.

loving good time would take her to Himself.

Tent Meeting.—The great tent meeting at Hu-bu-giai at the China New Year formed perhaps the greatest experience of the year. was a union of our five Missions in Nanking, the Methodists, Disciples, Advent Mission, Quakers and Presbyterians uniting in the work and responsibility. An immense tent was secured and from 1,200 to 2,000 people were present twice daily, reaching high-water mark on Sunday, when nearly 3,000 were in and about the tent. The meetings were for outsiders only and were an outgrowth of the great revival meetings held by Mr. Goforth the previous year. People came from long distant parts of the city and waited for hours for the services to begin. The rich people came and sat on the hard benches side by side with the poorest. Even some of the officials, we have been assured, dressed in plain clothes, came to listen secretly. Students and teachers and soldiers came in great numbers. The weakest church member went to work, faithfully doing the part assigned, or helping in after-meetings, witnessing and speaking a good word for Jesus Christ. The singing was a remarkable feature; two cornets helped in leading, school children and even the little orphan boys helping in the beautiful hymns. Days afterward I heard a group of dirty little children in a distant part of the city trying to sing "Jesus Loves Me." More than 400 people expressed a desire to learn more of the Gospel—a very large percentage of these are now gathered into inquiry classes which have been kept up for their instruction in the various chapels of the Missions. At our Communion in April 100 people applied for baptism. Faithful personal work has been done not only by the missionaries, but by the church members. The church has been aroused and the attention of the whole city has been called to the Gospel in a way never accomplished before. Twelve thousand Gospels and about 25,000 tracts were distributed.

Street chapel preaching has been continued at Shwon Tang. Day-school and medical work has also been carried on.

EDUCATIONAL WORK.—Girls' School.—

There was no graduating class this year and only one engagement and one wedding. An enforced vacation of three weeks on account of smallpox in the gave house was the only serious interruption. One of the most helpful things in the year was the series of evangelistic meetings in the tent at Hu-bu-giai at the Chinese New Year. The older girls acted as ushers on the women's side of the immense tent. Even the smaller girls helped in the singing; many did personal work after the meetings. Some were a bit timid, but when left alone with a group of women for whom they were responsible, none failed in their duty. During the year an advance has been made toward self-support by means of the industrial work. New pupils coming in who can pay nothing or only a part first learn to work, and as they advance in proficiency are gradually allowed to enter classes.

The University of Nanking.—On February 1 the hope of many years was realized when the University of Nanking was opened, representing the combined higher educational work of the Methodist, Christian and Presbyterian Missions. The institution opened with 420 students, 13 foreign teachers, and 26 Chinese teachers. Each of the three co-operating bodies contributed in funds or property a minimum of $40,000 gold and three missionaries for the faculty. The purpose of the University, as defined in its constitution, is:

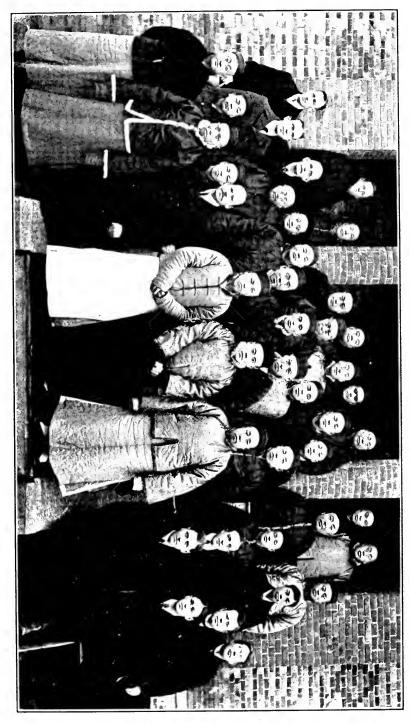

To educate men with a view of preparing them for the Gospel ministry; to train men who shall become earnest, efficient, Christian teachers, evangelists, physicians, or other Christian leaders; to provide educational advantages for the children of our Christian constituencies; to bring under Christian influences the unconverted and lead them to Christ; and to promote higher education in China under Christian influences and in harmony with the teachings of the Bible as the infallible Word of God.

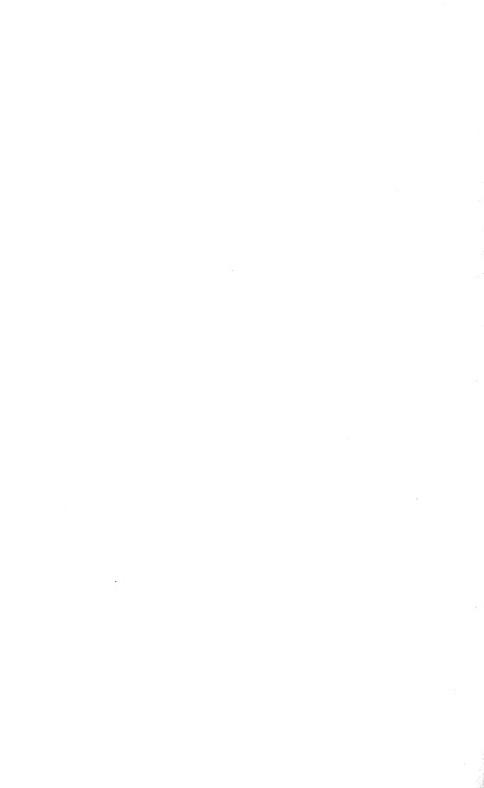

The reasons for the union, as set forth by the committee of the three Missions, were as follows:

The three co-operating Boards in America have formed a Board of Trustees to hold the property and govern the institution through a Board of Managers on the field composed of representatives of the three Missions. The University has applied for incorporation under the Board of Regents of the State of New York. Mr. Bowen, who had been President of the Methodist institution absorbed in the union, has been made President of the University and has filled the position with conspicuous ability and perfect acceptance. From the outset the union has been sanctioned by the special blessing of God. One of the new union medical schools is already being established in Nanking and will be affiliated with the University.

Union Theological Seminary.—The year has been a very satisfactory one in the Seminary, which is jointly supported by the Northern and Southern Presbyterian Churches.

After New Year a beginning class of five was received in the training school for lay evangelists, all being from Southern Presbyterian Stations. The number applying for the junior year of the Seminary was small, and several who applied had insufficient training and were advised to take a year or so of special training in college. This we hope will result in the raising of our course of study to a higher standard and open the way for college-trained men.

Boys' Orphanage.—

Mrs. Gray had charge of 20 orphan boys until China New Year, when the work was transferred to other hands, as pressure of work required her help in the University. The orphanage has been transferred to a committee of Chinese and foreigners who meet once a month to discuss means and methods. Sixty boys have been received; the course is that of a primary school. Such boys as are bright and are able to take a good education may be selected to go to college. For those who do not show such ability we propose to provide industrial work. Looms for making cloth have already been introduced. In the autumn we hope to begin tailoring and carpentry.

Out of the Orphanage has grown an Industrial Class for women under Mrs. Garritt's care.

Women's School.—

This school is in Miss Dresser's care. It was opened on October 1 and continued until June 15. About 31 women have been in the school during the year, some remaining only a few weeks, others the whole of the year. Of this number four came to us from the Friends' Mission, one from the Advent, two from the Disciples. Seven were wives of helpers or theological students. All scholars capable of doing so have helped in the evangelistic work in the city. Many calls have been made and hundreds of Gospels given out, also weekly evangelistic meetings conducted.

Nurses' School.—

The union training school for nurses was begun in January of this year with large enthusiasm by all resident Missions.

Christian Headquarters.—

The opening of Christian headquarters at the Exposition has taken much time and strength, Mr. Williams going to Shanghai twice to secure necessary funds for the building. Mr. Gray remained during July to oversee the work. A suitable building has been erected; $3,000 being given by the Chinese Christians for this. The new building was formally opened and dedicated on July 3, and arrangements have been made to hold services during the entire time of the Exposition.

HWAI-YUEN STATION.

Each year has marked a distinct advance in our material equipment. This past year has seen the opening of the new hospital and the dedication of the new church, and by fall the new boys' school building will be ready for occupancy. It is a good building, of the same style of architecture as the hospital, namely, of gray brick, with trimmings of granite and of red brick. The building is planned to accommodate 80 boys. Building is becoming more and more expensive, partly owing to the proximity of the railroad (8 miles away) and partly to the very high cost of fuel and of living generally.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.—Hwai-yuen Church.—Mr. Lobenstine reports:

It is with the deepest humility that we come to this part of our report. The results do not seem to be commensurate with the work done. The city of Hwai-yuen is still cold and unresponsive, colder it seems at times—owing perhaps to the present political situation than in past years. Sometimes it seems as if the very smallness of the town (the census gives the population as 23,181) increases the difficulty of a person's becoming a Christian. Every man's life is too intimately known of every one else, and the moment he starts coming to church he becomes a marked man. The result is that a man has to make the break at the very beginning, often before he is prepared therefor, and thus the men we want most to reach will not come where we can reach them. Again, all of the progressive young men are drawn away to the larger cities. There, while they are away from home, they are much more free to have intercourse with foreigners than here, and the break with heathenism is much more easily made. This is proving especially true in Japan to-day, where many Chinese students are becoming Christians, who, humanly speaking, would probably never have done so at home.

Our problem, therefore, here is still unsolved. The reading room and loan library, which is on the church compound, has been our biggest help along these lines. The average daily attendance there has probably been about 20.

The Sunday services have averaged an attendance of about 250, including the scholars in the two schools. All have enjoyed worshiping in the new building.

Country Evangelistic Work.—Of this Mr. Lobenstine reports:

If work in the city has on the whole been disappointing, each year seems to show some distinct signs of growth in the country work. At Meng Chen, Mr. Swen is proving himself a real evangelist. He is a friend and great admirer of Mr. Ding Li Mei; and I believe that he has given his life unreservedly to the service of the Master. He has a faculty of getting close to the country people, and is loved by them all. None of the other men in evangelistic work have, thus far, shown the same ability of breaking new ground. His first appeal is ethical. He preaches that Christianity will help men to give up gambling, drink, quarreling, etc., and that rightcousness is a help to men here and now. All the time he is himself growing to understand better the task ahead of the Church in China, and to realize that it is only by whole-hearted surrender on the part of the Christian young men of education that the victory can be won.

Geng Gia Tswen is still the largest of the out-stations, and every time one goes there it is a pleasure to see the leader of the church, the half-blind Geng Chang Ching. He is the best personal worker in our field, and the spiritual leader of the local church. Before and after every service he goes about, Bible in hand, reading with man after man some passage he thinks will be helpful to them or some passage they have been struggling over themselves.

The year has been one of great physical suffering. A succession of flood years have left the people poorer than they have been for many years. Public rice kitchens were opened this spring in all of the cities about us. At Hwai-yuen from 13,000 to 15,000 quarts of thick cities about us. At Hwai-yuen from 13,000 to 15,000 quarts of thick rice gruel were given out daily for about a month. Many lives were saved and much robbery was doubtless prevented, and perhaps even more serious trouble. The inquirers and country Christians suffered along with the others, for they are mostly the owners of but small farms. The poverty has undoubtedly increased the difficulty of the people's thinking about anything else than the physical necessities. The spring crops were poor for the most part, and the fall crops will not be much better even if we escape a flood, which at this time it seems likely to be the case. Were there to be one, the outlook would indeed be a sad one. indeed be a sad one.

EDUCATIONAL WORK.—Boys' School.—The school has had a prosperous year, and there are signs of a steady advance both in the quality of the students and in the grade of work done. The students are, however, still far from being what we desire. Some of them are of good, virile stock. They are mostly country boys and, although they come from homes where books are not to be found, they show both ability and zeal in their studies. Others are not so promising, and we are looking forward to the day when the recently started dayschools will supply the school with a more carefully selected supply of boys. There are now three day-schools.

Girls' School.—The past year has been a record one in the Girls' School. The roll shows 30 boarders and 22 day scholars. Miss Murdoch, on whom, after but one year in China, fell the entire charge of the school, deserves much praise for the way she has taken hold. Although there are some girls from better homes, amongst them the two daughters of the magistrate, who for part of the year sent his daughters to the school to learn English, the girls are chiefly the children of the poor. Most of them will go from the school to humble homes, and for the present, at least, the thing of most importance in their education is the laying of the basis of a sound Christian character, through familiarity with the Word of God and association with Christian people.

Women's Work.—

Mrs. Liu, the wife of the evangelist, has been especially helpful here in Hwai Yuen not only in the meetings, but by bringing other women to the meetings and to the homes of the foreign ladies; by constantly being on the lookout for persons in need who would welcome calls from the foreigners and by accompanying the ladies to the homes of such persons. Mrs. Swen at Meng Chen has also been able to do not a little Christian work amongst the women, and she and her husband have succeeded in gathering about them quite a number of religiously minded widows, who are eagerly learning all they can of the Christian truth.

The women still continue to come freely to the homes of the missionaries, and much of the best work of the year has been done in the quiet of the home, talking to them, as they sip their tea, about the deeper things of life. It is a tiring work, for the women come and sit for hours at a time, but it is one that is bound to bring with it rich results.

Medical Work.—The hospital reports:

During the fall months the attention of the entire Station was given to the necessary preparations for the opening of the new hospital. It was not till the early part of December that we were ready for the formal opening. We tried, at the time, to bring the work we are doing to the attention of the officials of Hwai-yuen and of neighboring cities, and especially to that of the gentry throughout the prefecture of Feng Yang. Hundreds of invitations were sent out and, although the weather was of the worst, the people turned out well. For three days the hospital was a big Chinese restaurant. On the last day, when the Christians and inquirers were invited, along with a considerable number of the people of the town, 500 persons have to be served the regulation 16-course Chinese feast. As each person took two hours to it and we could only seat one-third of the people at a time, it was quite an undertaking, and we were all of us heartily glad when it was all over.

The total out-patients for the year have been 5,690. The total number of in-patients, 123. Of operations under anæsthetic there have been 77; out-calls, 56.

The building of the railroad at Beng-pu has been the cause of a good many accidents to life and limb, and all of these patients have come to us. At one time or another nearly every one of the foreign engineers has been here for medical treatment, and it has been a great help to have suitable rooms where they can be cared for. The hospital is greatly appreciated by the poor of Hwai-yuen and by people from a distance; but few of the well-to-do in Hwai-yuen come for treatment or send for the doctor to visit them in their homes.

TRANSFERS: Mr. and Mrs. M. Wells from Tsing-tau to Chefoo; Miss Faris from Yi-hsien to Ichou-fu.

Furloughs during the Year: Rev. and Mrs. Elterich, Rev. and Mrs. Irwin, Rev. and Mrs. Bergen, Mr. and Mrs. R. Wells, Mrs. C. Mateer, Mrs. A Mills, Dr. Emma E. Fleming, Rev. and Mrs. P. P. Faris, Rev. and Mrs. H. G. Romig, Mrs. Wight, Rev. John Murray, Mrs. C. F. Johnson.

TENG-CHOU STATION.

During the year the Station force was a small one, consisting of Rev. and Mrs. Irwin and Miss Snodgrass, Dr. Effie Cooper coming from the Tsing-tau Station to look after the medical work during Dr. Seymour's absence. Dr. and Mrs. Seymour returned in the spring, and shortly after Mr. and Mrs. Irwin left on their furlough. In autumn Dr. Robert Dunlap was invited by the Mission to locate at the Station, and he assisted Dr. Cooper by looking after the health of the missionaries.

EVANGELISTIC.—The City Church continued under the pastoral care of Pastor Lau, having now a membership of 341. During the year 27 members were added—13 men, 8 women and 6 pupils from our schools.

The pastor also made a visit to the islands north of Tengchou in company of a preacher. The regular services of the church were well attended, many times being crowded. The Sunday-schools were well attended. In the city proper the attendance was 296 and in the Water City 63. A new Sunday-school was opened in the East Suburb by the pastor's wife, with an average attendance of 64. Four girls from our Girls' High School assisted every Sunday in teaching this school.

The work at the Street Chapel and Museum has gone on as usual, the attendance being 12,028, or a slight increase over last year.

Country Work.—Up to the time of his departure, Rev. Irwin was in charge of the country out-stations, which now number 34, with over 500 church members. After his departure Pastor Lau visited some of the out-stations, receiving 7 members.

Woman's Work.—Two prayer meetings a week were held for women, with an average attendance of 23 for one and 40 for the other. Four Bible women have been employed in visiting the homes of the people, one spending most of her time in caring for the patients at the hospital. An inquirers' class for women was held, 18 attending.

Educational.—The Boys' High School, under the charge of Mr. Irwin, had an attendance of 77, of which 27 were in the Intermediate Department. The Girls' High School has been under the care of Miss Snodgrass, with an attendance of 75, of which 32 were in the Primary Department. Eleven girls were graduated. During Mrs. Wight's absence on furlough the school was fortunate in having a good staff of Chinese teachers.

The day-schools in city and country have been well attended. There are 7 schools in the city with 168 pupils, a gain in numbers of 52 over last year. There are 20 schools in the country, with an attendance of 227. A new girls' school in the west part of the city was organized, also one in the Water City and one in the East Suburb.

MEDICAL WORK.—This work has been under the charge of Dr. Effic Cooper until Dr. Seymour's arrival in the spring. The in-patients at the hospital were 45 and at the dispensary 5,048, in both cases an increase over last year.

PROPERTY.—The noble gift of a devoted friend of the cause will give Teng-chou one of the best property equipments of any Station of its size in the world. The missionaries, after years of labor with inadequate facilities, are now very happy. Considerable land for the new hospital and Girls' High School outside the city has already been purchased and negotiations are in progress for more. Buildings are now under way. With these new plants and with new reinforcements in view, the Station is entering on a new era of prosperity and usefulness.

CHEFOO STATION.

STATION FORCE.—The working force of this Station has again been reduced by the departure of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Elterich on their overdue furlough and by the death of our senior member, Mrs. J. L. Nevius, on June 20, of peritonitis. Although unable to secure Mr. and Mrs. Dodd, of Tsinan-fu, whom we had been counting on to help out, the Station force was strengthened by the return of Mr. and Mrs. Wells, who were formerly members of this Station, but had been transferred to Tsing-tau to take the place of Mr. and Mrs. Davies, who were suddenly called home by sickness two years ago. The assignment of three new missionaries to Chefoo, the Rev. and Mrs. Paul R. Abbott and Mr. H. F. Smith, gave great satisfaction. In November Mrs. Corbett had to go to America for medical treatment. She has returned in greatly improved health.

Dr. Corbett keeps vigorous and in spite of his 74 years is able to do his accustomed work of teaching in the Preachers' Training School, preaching daily in the Street Chapel and Museum, itinerating in the extensive country field under the care of this Station, teaching a Bible class on Sundays and preaching frequently in the Chinese Church and in English at Union Chapel. A large correspondence and literary work take considerable of his time.

Mr. Wells has taken over Dr. Elterich's work as secretary of the Mission and treasurer of the Station; he has given a great deal of attention to the Boys' High School and has managed a new and successful method of selling Christian literature. He has also made one spring trip to the country. Mrs. Wells has visited most of the Christian homes in the congregation and reports a noticeable advance among the women in ability to read. Mrs. Yü, Mrs. Nevius' former protégé and literary assistant, has been carrying on a day-school of 15 pupils most efficiently. This has been done at her own initiative and expense. A small primary school has also been in operation this year, supported by certain elders of our church.

Mrs. A. T. Mills was on furlough during the year, but Miss Carter carried on the work in the School for the Deaf most efficiently, while Mrs. Mills worked hard in the United States to raise an endowment for the school.

For about 13 years Mrs. Mills carried on this school as a private enterprise, but in order to secure the permanency of the work, it has been taken over by the Presbyterian Board, and we are proud of our latest acquisition. The greater part of the endowment required has been raised and the future of the school on a permanent basis is now assured.

Just after last Mission meeting Mrs. Calvin Mateer and Miss Lindholm took charge of the six children of the late Rev. and Mrs. George Cornwell and saw them safely to the U. S. A., where they were placed in charge of relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Booth took the children as far as Shanghai.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.—The Street Chapel and Museum has had help from the members of the Preachers' Bible Training Class, as well as the services of the regular staff of evangelists and, on the two days shortly after the Chinese New Year, of the Bible women and ladies of the city, who take this favorable opportunity of speaking with the thousands of outside women who come every year at that time.

Several fine specimens from Africa have added greatly to the attractiveness of the Museum. The lions look much like those killed by Mr. Roosevelt, and the Chinese seem to appreciate them quite as thoroughly as the American people appreciate their new specimens.

A Monday evening union prayer meeting has been organized at the Street Chapel and furnishes a bond of common interest to the Christians of the several Missions in the city.

A preaching tour of 40 days following the Chinese New Year gave many a fresh opportunity to hear the Gospel.

Rev. Mr. Wang led one company of ten men from the southern part of the field following the sea-coast, then north through the eastern borders of the district to Chefoo. Their plan was to start out each morning from some market town and, in companies of two, visit all villages within five miles on either side of their line of march and convene at night at another town eight or ten miles from their starting point. Elder Hsü led a similar party through another part of the field. The country field has also been benefited by the work done by Bible-school students. The regularly employed evangelists usually spend their time among the Christians, holding Sunday services and conducting daily worship. They preach at the markets and accompany Dr. Corbett on his semi-annual trips through their districts.

There have been serious disturbances in the Lai-yang District, which lies in the centre of our East Shantung Mission field, caused by the attempt of the people to resist what they considered the unjust demands of the officials for money. Many lives have been lost and a number of houses burned. The first convert which Dr. Corbett baptized was from Lai-yang City, but he was ostracized, and, in comparison with other districts, very few have entered the church since.

The work of selling Scripture portions is stirring up many of the Christians to new activity, enabling them to use their leisure time in spreading a knowledge of the truth by word of mouth and printed page. Over 25,000 portions have been sold this spring and summer. These books have been supplied by the British and Foreign, American and Scottish Bible Societies, the Gospels supplied by the last society being annotated with special reference to non-Christians, who are thus helped to understand what they read.

EDUCATIONAL WORK.—The village schools are adopting the new curriculum which has been approved by the Mission and Presbytery.

We have employed a school inspector who is taking pains to improve the quality of the work done; but we cannot hope for satisfactory results until we get our model school taught by normal pupils, who will be trained for the work of teaching school according to modern methods, and the teachers can have the advantage of attending Normal Institute Classes during school vacation.

The High School and Anglo-Chinese School are both doing their regular work, but both are greatly hampered by inadequate buildings. We hope for better accommodations before long.

A friend in the Board generously offered to give a dollar for every dollar given by the Chinese in Chefoo for a new recitation building. Mr. Booth succeeded in raising $4,150 Mex. and the friend in America has accordingly given a like amount, so that this urgent need is happily provided for.

The kindergarten is flourishing, and the children seem thoroughly to enjoy the change from old Chinese methods to modern kindergarten work. The term examination showed very commendable progress in their studies.

The School for the Deaf, which was taken over by the Board last April, is really two schools, one for boys and one for girls. There are 20 pupils, but it is hoped to accommodate 50 next year. This is the pioneer school for the deaf in China and there are now several offshoots in other places.

There is one among the girls, both deaf and blind, who showed off her accomplishments before the Governor of Shangtung on his recent visit to the school. He was delighted with the school and especially with this little blind girl and sent a gift of $200 to the school through the Taotai of Chefoo.

The Preachers' Bible Training Class is still supported through the generosity of a Christian business man in Chefoo, Mr. James McMullan. The 35 students are being taught by Dr. Corbett and Rev. Mr. Dung.

MEDICAL WORK.—This important branch of our work is still in embryo until Dr. Hills gets his new hospital and dispensary and has his time free from language study to give to this work. Meanwhile, with the help of his native assistant, Dr. Djang, he is dispensing medicines to about 4,000 patients a year.

A request from the Taotai twice to call on him and once from the Governor of the Province when here on a visit show the standing the medical missionary at Chefoo takes in the eyes of the high official class.

Dr. Hills, in addition to building his house at his own expense, has personally given $10,000 gold toward a hospital and dispensary plant. A friend in America, learning of this and that it would not suffice for an adequate plant, including land, buildings and equipment for this large and rapidly growing city and populous tributary region, promptly said that Dr. Hills ought to get as much from America as he gave himself, and thereupon pledged $10,000 more. Chefoo will therefore soon have a $20,000 medical plant.

TSING-TAU STATION.

This city, the headquarters of Germany in the Far East, has become one of the best built and most attractive cities in this part of Asia. Well-paved streets, electric lights, modern public and private buildings, extensive docks, an improved harbor, a spacious park, beautiful drives, reforested hillsides, formidable fortifications and a numerous garrison attest Germany's pride in this strategic location. The white population is, of course, predominantly German, but in numbers it is small compared with the large and rapidly increasing Chinese population. The native town is the model Chinese city of the Empire in its straight, clean streets, well-built shops and houses and excellent sanitation. Our Station compound is admirably situated on high ground between the native and foreign sections.

There were some changes in the force during the year. Mr. and Mrs. M. Wells were transferred to their former Station, Chefoo. The Station membership of Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Hayes was transferred from Teng-chou to Tsing-tau, though they continue to reside at Tsing-chou-fu. Dr. Effie Copper also returned from Teng-chou after substituting for Dr. Seymour during his furlough.

EVANGELISTIC.—The City Church has prospered under the care of its pastor, Rev. Hau. The Primary Department of the Sunday-school has been in charge of Mrs. Scott, who also helped to conduct women's Bible classes two days each week. Dr. Cooper has been working in the different sections of the Chinese part of Tsing-tau, while Miss Vaughan has been out in the country districts almost continuously teaching women's classes.

These classes have all been self-supporting, Miss Vaughan also led and assisted in numerous revival services which resulted in deepening the spiritual life of the Christians and increased giving on the part of the native churches towards self-support. Many non-Christians were also led to inquire after the truth.

To Mr. Scott fell the duty of looking after the unorganized work and pastorless churches in the country districts. Pastor Suren left the pastorate over three churches in the Pingtu District to become pastor of the church at Wei-hsien. In another district, the Chimoa, the five churches were regrouped, two of them calling Licentiate Wang to become their pastor and the other three calling an evangelist.

Last year the Station began the policy of sending the 25 evangelists and 20 Bible women under its care, respectively, to such part of the field that would subscribe the most money for their support. It has resulted in the native Church, in addition to supporting its own pastor, making a beginning towards the support of all its workers.

Various conferences and evangelistic services have been held by members of the Station for the pastors and evangelists, the most helpful ones being the quarterly meetings for Bible study.

Y. M. C. A. Work.—The local church is busy raising some $1,600 for enlarging its work for young men. One elder has subscribed $400. It is the plan of the church to convert the present church building into a young men's lecture room and assembly hall and enlarge the present rooms. The members are desirous of purchasing a new site for the church near our mission compound and start a Christian community there.

A serious persecution case, said to have been instigated by Roman Catholic priests, occurred in one of the walled cities. Through the wise and judicious handling of the case, the patient and Christian bearing of the Christians and their prayers, the case was settled in such a way that it made quite an impression on the leading men of the city. The gentry and business men, once hostile there, have now asked for a school and a work for young men, and in this way a new strategic centre has been opened.

EDUCATIONAL.—The educational situation in the Station is encouraging, but some of the needs are very urgent. There are now 50 village schools for boys and girls. In each, the native Church pays from one-third to the entire amount of the cost. An excellent school inspector has been very efficient in visiting and looking after these schools.

Plans are being perfected for an annual Teachers' Institute of two short terms between the regular school terms.

The intermediate school for girls at Shin Tan has been enlarged as to its plant through the generous gift of Mr. A. A. Hyde, of Wichita, Kans. The girls have more comfortable quarters and the school is in a flourishing condition.

The condition of the intermediate school for boys is also satisfactory, a more efficient teacher having been secured.

The erection of the new buildings for a boys' academy, the generous gift of Mrs. Hugh O'Neill, of New York, has been unexpectedly delayed by difficulties in securing the desired site. These difficulties are now about over, it is hoped, and we trust that the work of construction can be rapidly pushed.

During Secretary Brown's visit, plans were agreed upon for a union school for girls with the Weimar Mission. Our Board promptly approved the proposal, but to our regret the Weimar Society in Germany felt financially unable to sustain the added expense, so that the plans fell through.

WEI-HSIEN STATION.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Mateer, Mrs. Calvin Mateer and Dr. and Mrs. Bergen have been an furlough during the year and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wells since July.

The unusually good crops of this year go far toward relieving anxiety in financial matters, especially as to maintaining our schedule of school fees. As elsewhere in Shantung, the cost of living has risen enormously and the price of grain is unprecedentedly high.

Some anxiety was caused us in July by an attempt of the local magistrate to levy a special tax on merchandise. The Chinese strongly opposed the levy, and for a few days there was danger of an outbreak like that at Chang-sha (Hunan) and at Lai-Yang in Shantung. Some compromise was effected and the trouble subsided.

A matter giving us some concern is the growing tendency among the Christians to go into business schemes for the benefit of the church There is, of course, no wrong in the church members doing business in an honest way as individuals, but the danger lies in making a commercial corporation of the church as an organization. Some of our Chinese ministers and laymen are trying to check this idea, and they will probably bring the matter up for discussion at the next meeting of Presbytery.

Death has visited our community, taking from us dear little Carolyn Roys, who passed away on April 19 and was buried in the cemetery connected with the compound.

EVANGELISTIC.—The bounds of the Station field are coincident with the bounds of the Wei-hsien Presbytery. There are 24 organized churches and a large unorganized work, aggregating 170 out-stations with a membership of over 5,000 communicants.

Much of the church work is under the pastoral care of eight Chinese ministers. This leaves 105 out-stations to be cared for by the foreign staff. In Mr. Mateer's absence on furlough, this work has been almost equally divided between Messrs. Fitch and Chalfant, with one church with five outstations under the pastoral care of Rev. Dr. W. P. Chalfant, of the Theological College, Tsingchoufu.

Able assistance in preaching was rendered by 35 Chinese evangelists, of whom 5 are supported by the Chinese churches and several others receive some part of their support from this source, and 17 Bible women who have been distributed over the field to the best advantage.

While there has been no signal revival in the field, many meetings of a devotional character have been conducted by our Chinese ministers and evangelists and the general tone of spiritual life has been good.

Admissions to the church during the year were 400.

There was an unusual number of petty troubles in the church, due to persecution, litigation and foolish conduct of certain members. These troubles have been settled without appeal to the magistrates, except in two instances, where letters were written to magistrates after consultation in the Station, one for the purpose of preventing further trouble and the other to aid in obtaining bondsmen.

The local church at Wei-hsien called the Rev. Sun Hsi-sheng as assistant pastor last November.

He has done good work. His salary has been entirely paid by the church. At the Spring Festival of Ch'ing-ming, when thousands of people flock to the city for recreation, he organized a band of 70 students of the College, who spent the day in preaching to the crowds on the street and at the City Chapel. At the latter place 2,000 persons listened to the Gospel on that day.

Several new out-stations have been opened during the year. Miss Hawes held eight classes for women in the country and made six extended itineraries, visiting many out-stations and holding devotional meetings with the women.

The three itinerant members of the Station aggregated 324 days in country work, requiring 8,800 li (2,900 miles) by slow conveyance (as distinguished from railway travel, which is much less trying to the passenger). Considerable work has also been done along the railway line, but as most of our field lies far from the railway, this more comfortable method of travel cannot be much used. Two hundred and fifty visits to out-stations have thus been made by the three itinerant members of the Station.

Mrs. Fitch has had charge of the Women's Bible Institute for the five months during which the Institute was in session. Forty-five women were thus given instruction in the Old and New Testaments, the number in attendance at any given time being 30. These women all paid toward their food account according to their ability.

EDUCATIONAL.—Arts College of the Shantung Christian University.—The work of the members of the Station connected with the College will appear in the Annual Report of the University Council. The College has had 300 students during the past year, composed of young men from the Presbyterian, Baptist and Anglican churches of the Province, with a scattering representation from other Provinces.

In the absence of the President, Dr. Bergen, Mr. Luce has held that arduous position. Nearly all the young men are professing Christians, and a very live branch of the Y. M. C. A.

is flourishing among the students.

MIDDLE SCHOOLS.—Point Breeze Academy for Boys.—This school has been under the care of Mr. and Mrs. Wells as heretofore. Immediately after the close of the school year they left on furlough. Seventy pupils were in attendance. The present plant is inadequate for the needs of the field, but unfortunately cannot be enlarged on its present site.

Girls' High School.—This department of our work is still under the care of Mrs. F. H. Chalfant. The school has had its full quota of pupils, 62, of whom 11 graduated in June. Of these, 8 will teach during the coming winter in various schools in Shantung.

PRIMARY SCHOOLS.—Village Boarding Schools for Girls.—Nine of the previous year's twelve schools have been open. These schools have been fewer in number owing to the high price of grain and the consequent increased expense to the Chinese in maintaining them.

With good crops this year, we hope two more of the schools will reopen this winter. Heretofore the Mission has been paying a monthly allowance of 30 cents to each pupil for food. We have had to raise this to 50 cents. This amount by no means pays the cost of the food, but is so much help to encourage the people to continue the schools. Indeed some aid is absolutely necessary, for the financial burden on the patrons of the schools is even then very heavy. It is all important that the Christians be encouraged in this branch of education, for without an adequate system of primary schools the Girls' High School cannot be maintained. The Christians are very willing to educate their daughters, but they must be helped to a larger extent than in the case of boys. An educated Chinese woman, Mrs. Ch'en, has been of great help as the itinerant inspector of the girls' schools, and has practically done all the work of superintendence and examination in Mrs. R. M. Mateer's absence. Mrs. Ch'en is a graduate of the Girls' High School.

Village Schools for Boys.—Forty-five schools have been under the partial support of the Mission and several other schools have been wholly supported by the Chinese.

The average salary for a teacher is 80,000 small cash (about $17 gold) per annum. Of this the Mission pays about one-half, the proportion differing in different schools. All other expenses are met by the patrons of the school. The curriculum is uniform in all the schools, and a Chinese examiner visits the schools regularly. On account of our low scale of salaries and the universal demand for Western education, it is hard to keep up the supply of teachers.

MEDICAL.—Women's Hospital and Dispensary.—Dr. Bynon has been in attendance at the Women's Hospital every day in the year except Sundays. She reports:

Hospital in-patients	147
Dispensary patients, new 2	,104
Dispensary patients, return	,087
Suicide cases	55
Suicide cases	296
Total 3

The receipts of the hospital and dispensary have met all expenses except drugs, and amounted for the year to $443.75 Mexican ($200 gold).

Men's Hospital and City Dispensary.—The hospital is located on the Mission compound. The City Dispensary is in Wei-hsien City, two miles from the compound.

Dr. Roys reports for both these, as follows:

21. Roys reports for both these, as follows.
Hospital in-patients	365
Dispensary patients, new	2,190 3,178
Total	5,643
Major operations. Total operations. Out-calls.	250 25
Student patients visited in their rooms	70

No account is taken of the daily clinics for students in this number-

The City Chapel and Museum are located in the same area with the City Dispensary, and naturally grew out of the medical work as evangelistic agencies. These will hereafter be classed under Evangelistic Work.

The total visits at the Museum were 7,529. After the death of Mr. Sang Lo-ching, who had ably conducted the Museum and Chapel preaching for several years, there was no capable Chinese in charge, and there ensued a marked falling off in the number of visitors. To make this form of work valuable as an evangelistic agency, we must again have a competent Chinese in charge.

At the Spring Festival, Rev. Suren, pastor of our Wei-hsien Church, included the City Museum in his vigorous evangelistic campaign, and nearly 2,000 men and women were gathered in groups that day listening for hours to the Gospel message.

TSINAN-FU STATION.

Dr. Caroline Merwin was welcomed back to the Station after three years' absence.

The long-looked-for advent in West Shantung of the Tien-tsin-Nanking Railway is the outstanding feature of the year. The significance of this railroad to our missionary work lies in the fact that by means of it and the branch lines likely to be built in the next two or three years, Tsinan-fu, Tsining-chou and Yi-hsien will be linked together by rail and the West Shantung Mission will likewise be connected with the North China and An-hui Missions of our Church.

EVANGELISTIC.—The City Field.—Street Chapel.—The conspicuous feature of the year, both as regards the English Baptist Mission and our own, is the increasing emphasis put on street chapel work. Scarcely a month passes at our South Gate Chapel that does not record a new inquirer.

Evening after evening the small hall there is filled with attentive listeners, notwithstanding the message of the two evangelists is little varied from day to day and the screech of the wheelbarrow and the racket of the ricksha on the street a few feet away are not conducive to edification. The missionary in charge comes often to take part in the preaching as well as to see how things are going.

Of the evangelists in the chapel, one is a former Tsinan school-boy, who graduated at the Chefoo Normal School of our Mission seven years ago; the other is the faithful evangelist at our East Suburb hospital, who tops off a good day's work there by an evening turn in the chapel, a mile from the hospital. Several of the Chinese Christians render valuable help in preaching, without expense to the Mission.

The call of the city for cularged street chapel work is very pressing.

The call of the city for enlarged street chapel work is very pressing. There are now three centres for daily preaching. South Gate Chapel was opened by us in 1902. The English Baptist Institution was opened in the South Suburb in 1910. Four other chapels should be added at as early a date as possible, viz., one in the east side of the walled city, one in the north central part, both of which should fall to our Mission to manage, and also one in the west side of the inner city in touch with the English Mission, and one in the flourishing new settlement. This last the Union Chinese Church should sustain.

Already one of the well-to-do members of that church has offered to build a small chapel in the Settlement or rent to the church at half-cost any rooms we may desire of several he controls.

Organized Churches.—Of these there are two: the East Suburb Presbyterian Church and the Union Church, constituted of Baptist and Presbyterian members.

The future development of the East Suburb depends very much on the opening of a new city gate in the proximity of the Mission compound on which the church building is now located. The opening of such a gate has been mooted for some months, and lately Mr. Hamilton had an opportunity of presenting the matter to the Provincial Governor, who said it would be investigated. If the gate is opened, our recent purchases of additional land will appreciate greatly in value, but more important still will be the benefit that will result to all forms of our medical, evangelistic and educational work, especially in the English Department from readier access to the eastern half of the walled city. It would probably lead to the location of a large new church building inside the new gate to take the place of the present small chapel on the remote edge of the suburb.

The Union Church was organized three years ago with 20 members, the large majority being of Presbyterian antecedents. There are now 60 members and the church supports its own pastor. The place of worship has hitherto been the lecture hall of the English Baptist Institution, but a fine new church costing $4,000 is now being erected on the Baptist compound and will be available for the congregation.

The Union Church is a virile organization, and is extremely interesting as an attempt to unify the Protestant Christian community of Tsinan. Just how Presbyterian and Baptist practices are to be satisfactorily adjusted is not altogether clear, but the sentiment of the members themselves is strongly toward union, and the local missionaries of both Societies are adverse to the launching of two weak churches on a denominational basis when a strong and aggressive church on a union basis is practicable.

The construction of the Tien-tsin-Nanking Railway has brought to the new settlement a number of Chinese from Tsing-tau and Weihsien who bear the name of Christian, though quite a proportion are only nominally such. Including the women and children, there are 50 or more whose spiritual welfare is of grave concern to us.

Women's Work in the City.—The Wednesday prayer meeting in the East Suburb has been held as usual in the women's waiting-room of the hospital. The attendance has been about the same as in former years, with the addition of the girls from the day-school. The missionary women and half a dozen of the Chinese women take turns in conducting the little service, which is often most helpful and inspiring.

In the South Suburb a weekly meeting for Christian women has been started, where it is proposed to carry on a class at the close of each service to give regular instruction to those women who cannot read.

In a village called Shih Wang Tien quite near the Settlement there is a little colony of Christian women whose husbands have employment in the railway, postal or other offices. A weekly prayer meeting for them was begun, which meets in the different homes of the women, and it is hoped may have a permanent place of meeting in a new chapel or preaching hall to be opened in the neighborhood of this

Women also attend the regular Sunday services at the chapel inside the South Gate of the city, as well as at the newly opened West Suburb Chapel. At the latter place a short service for the women is held after the general service is over. House-to-house visiting has not been omitted, though it has been less systematically carried on than we hope it will be in the future, as some of the Chinese women now see a clearer duty for themselves in this form of work.

One class for the country women was held in the East Suburb for three weeks in the spring. Fifty women were in attendance—a larger number than we have before had in a Station class; and missionaries-inen and women-Chinese men and women helpers, all gladly assisted Miss Boehne in its teaching. The women seemed to us more eager than usual to absorb the instruction of all kinds provided for them.

Evangelistic Work in the Country.—In most of our outstations the church is growing in numbers and, we believe, in the Christian spirit. Many a hardship has been patiently endured for the Master, and there has been furnished at least one notable example of severe persecution suffered for righteousness' sake. Because a young Christian refused to renounce his religion or make a wrong use of its prestige, he was forced by his unnatural mother to undergo the untold horrors of a winter in a Chinese prison, and endured all with remarkable fortitude and unwavering faith.

The church has certainly been advancing in missionary zeal. Much voluntary preaching and personal work have been done, especially during the New Year season. A number have devoted days and even weeks without compensation to fair and market preaching.

In spite of bad crops, there has been a substantial gain in the amount given toward the support of Christian schools, though in many cases we regret to say this has seriously checked the progress of self-support along other lines of church work.

During the year 51 members were received on profession. In addition, the Union Church received 12 members, most of whom were of Presbyterian antecedents.

Work for the Country Women.—Mrs. Neal, Mrs. Dodd, Mrs. Johnston and Miss Boehne have all made one or more trips to the country to visit or teach among the women. Mrs. Hamilton was gladly welcomed back from furlough in July. An effort has been made to place a native Bible woman in each district where Bible classes are held, to get the women together, and to prepare them for making the most of the semi-annual Bible Study Class held when the Missionary comes around.

The salaries of these Bible women are ridiculously low, yet funds are so scarce that only a few could be employed this year. They are only beginners themselves, yet the success of the Bible Study Classes was in no small degree due to their help. At the public fairs where the Bible teachers led meetings, the heathen women gathered around them to learn what this "Jesus Doctrine" is. Prejudice is rapidly disappearing. Doubts are growing concerning the worship of idols. There is a great opening for the work of Spirit-filled women.

Over a year ago one young woman came to see what was going on in a Bible Study Class. She was mourning the death of her only son. She became interested. She and her husband attended Pastor Ding's special meetings, and then began to pray and study the Bible. She learned so rapidly that she soon finished the Catechism and began reading Matthew. Then she came to the city for more advanced study. She seems to be growing spiritually, for she said that she used to get angry with her two daughters very easily, and then curse and beat them. Now she prays often and tries not to get angry.

The interest aroused by the special meetings held by Pastor Ding Li Mei was beneficial. One woman, Mrs. Ho, who from childhood seemed a dead Christian, was so helped by him and others that she says even the trees, sky and hills seem different and all life brighter. She accompanied Miss Boehne on her country trips and was such an eager seeker after souls that visitors to the class came again and again to listen and to learn.

As Miss Boehne's field includes Mrs. Hamilton's this year, she had to arrange for classes to begin studying before she reached them. The helpers divided the class into groups and taught them by groups. This gave Miss Boehne more time for personal work and examinations. Every one memorized a verse or more of the Love Chapter (I Cor., chap. 13) and the Holy Spirit used these verses to convict many hearts of the sin of cursing and lack of love in the home life.

Mrs. Ho often had opportunities to talk to a dozen or more women pilgrims who would be stopping at the same inn. Most of these were old and thoughtful women, fulfilling what they supposed to be their religious duty.

EDUCATIONAL.—Educationally, this has been the most promising year in the history of our Station. Very gratifying results have followed from the new uniform course of study introduced into our primary schools last year. It has proved a great help to our teachers in making the change to newer and more rational methods of teaching. At first the "foreign books" were looked upon with many a grave suspicion, but now their superiority is becoming recognized, and our schools are more popular than ever before.

This year we have 20 schools with about 230 pupils, as against 15 schools with 162 pupils last year. Of our staff of primary teachers, 16 of the 17 men and 2 of our 5 women are products of our own field, and among them all there are only 5 who have not had some training in our higher mission schools. All are Christians, and a number of them have been doing very earnest work for Christ, both in and out of their schools.

We are glad to record that two flourishing primary schools, one for boys and the other for girls, have been developed in the East Suburb, the first under the patronage of Mr. Murray and Elder Lann, and the other under the patronage of Mrs. Dodd. The former has had an enrollment of over 30, and the latter of 20. In the boys' school, English is being taught by a graduate of the Anglo-Chinese School at Chefoo.

In August we made our first attempt at holding an institute for our country teachers. Ten teachers were in attendance, and two other schools were represented by persons directly interested in them. Instruction was given in the Bible, methods of Christian work, pedagogy, the art of teaching the new readers and the Chinese classics. Each day an open conference was held in which topics of common interest were discussed. The institute was voted a success.

The Clara Linton Hamilton Memorial Academy for Boys has added another successful year to its record, notwithstanding the fact that its management has had to be left largely to the Chinese teachers.

Owing to the heavy claims of the country work during the furlough of Dr. and Mrs. Hamilton, the principal, Mr. Dodd, has been forced to be away fully half of the school year. So the faithful, conscientious work of the three Chinese teachers is a cause of especial gratitude this year. An average of 34 boarding students has been enrolled, which is about as many as can be comfortably accommodated and several more than our slender appropriation provides for. With the rapid development of our primary schools, the need for the enlargement of our academy will soon become acute.

Three of the Academy boys have united with the church this year, and the Academy has furnished three more students to the Wei-hsien College, four to the Normal School at Ching Chou-fu, and two more have entered the Theological Seminary.

Our country girls' schools have done fine work this year. By the courtesy of the Wei-hsien Girls' High School, three of our more advanced girls are being trained there.

The way seemed blocked for the higher training of our other girls. Happily, the Baptist Mission has made temporary provision for the higher training of girls in the South Suburb. But they do not propose to continue this work. As three of our five girls' schools are taught by Wei-hsien graduates, and are in a flourishing condition, with 12 girls now ready to enter high school, we should establish a Girls' High School in Tsinan-fu within two or three years at the latest.

MEDICAL.—Union Medical College.—Work on the buildings of this department of the Shantung University proceeded steadily during the year, and in November, 1909, Dr. and Mrs. Neal, together with Dr. Schultz, who makes his home with them, moved into their new house in connection with the Medical College.

On March 11 regular teaching was begun in the new buildings, though they were by no means complete. At the present writing we are completely housed in our new quarters and find them convenient and commodious. The 19th of September regular medical work will be begun in the new premises. About half the main building will be given up to the accommodation of hospital patients, besides a dozen native rooms along the north end of the lot. The daily dispensary work will be carried on in a separate building most con-

When the institution opened its doors for the reception of students, two classes of 10 young men each entered, one being the old class which for three years had been taught by various physicians of the English Baptist and American Presbyterian Missions, the other, a new class, half of whom had spent a year in preliminary study in the college at Wei-hsien. During the first term all the teaching was carried on by Dr. Neal and Dr. Johnson, who taught obstetrics and surgery to the old class and also gave them clinical work in his hospital in the East Suburb. Two well-qualified native teachers assisted. At the end of the term two students were dropped, owing to inability to keep up with the classes. The present enrollment is therefore 18, 9 in each class, and 9 more young men in preparation in Wei-hsien. During the coming term Dr. von Werthern will take part in regular teaching and Dr. Schultz will assist in laboratory work.

Dr. James B. Neal, who has been in charge of the McIlvaine Hospital since it was built in 1892, moved in November to the South Suburb to take up his work as dean of the Union Medical College, and Dr. C. F. Johnson, formerly of the Ichou-fu Station, took charge of the medical work here. The attendance at the dispensary shows a slight increase over last year. The woman's work of the Louise Y. Boyd Hospital and Dispensary has been conducted in connection with that of the men's hospital, with Miss Tai, the capable assistant, in charge. The return of Dr. Caroline Merwin now permits the reopening of this long-closed hospital for women.

The advanced class in the Medical College came to the dispensary for clinical work and also for six lectures a week with Dr. Johnson. The evangelistic side has been carefully looked after by the hospital evangelist, Elder Lu. Much interest was shown by the patients and some have made a decided stand for Christianity. Dr. Ma, the able Chinese assistant, went with Dr. Neal to the college, his place being taken by Dr. Chang, who was graduated from the Union Medical Class two years ago.

Statistics are: Men's dispensary patients, new, 2,688; old, 3,764; total, 6,452. Woman's dispensary patients, new, 1,530; old, 1,321; total, 2,851. Men's hospital in-patients, 159; woman's hospital in-patients, 34; out-calls, men, 410; women, 27; total, 621. Grand total, 9,924. Total hospital days, 4,000; total hospital treatments, 3,000.

ICHOU-FU STATION.

The force of the Station was reduced by the return of Dr. Fleming and of Rev. and Mrs. Faris to America on furlough and the transfer of Rev. and Mrs. W. P. Chalfant to Tsing-chou-fu. Mr. and Mrs. Romig have just arrived from their furlough.

EVANGELISTIC.—The itinerating work of the Station has been cut down at least one-half, scarcely more than 100 days all told; but, on the other hand, this work has been better cared for than usual by the increased force of Chinese evangelists in the field.

Several of the country churches have manifested more than the usual amount of religious enthusiasm. The advance movement in the Ishwei Mountains reported last year still continues and several points continue to give special encouragement. An ex-soldier of Yuen Shi Kai's brought in a list of 10 names of men and again a list of 11 women, which gives promise for the opening of another place in the south.

The country churches and unorganized work have a total membership of 466, of whom 52 have been received this year. Revivals.—The Ichou-fu Church has been stirred this year as never before. We published reports telling of the 2,000 or more who were influenced. This experience has not left the church without its effect.

At the time the whole city was stirred and the church received a great deal of recognition and an immense impetus. The Christian community was spiritually moved and filled with a new zeal for Christian testimony and Christian service. In immediate returns the results were not as great as expected, but there has been a marked increase along all lines, as the statistics of the Station show. Attempts were made to follow up the work of the revival, especially by efforts to organize those who had been influenced into classes, but were only partially successful. About 100 Christians from different parts of the field in the country districts attended the revival and were greatly benefited.

Pastoral Work.—One of the encouraging features of this year has been the large attendance at the regular Sunday morning service. The new church has had a full house. It was first used for services on Christmas eve and was dedicated in the midst of the revival. Pastor Ding Li Mei, the missionary pastors and the three elders participating in the service. The approximate membership of the church is 212, of whom 66 have been received this year. A fitting closing of the year in this church was a three days' session, at which 67 candidates were examined, and a baptismal service, at which 28 were welcomed into church membership.

The work of the Sunday-school has also been encouraging. Advanced methods of interesting and bringing in the children have been adopted and are working well.

A Bible Readers' Class has been organized; also a Prayer Circle

A Bible Readers' Class has been organized; also a Prayer Circle of 30 members which are banded together in mutual prayer for each other.

In July a class of evangelists was instructed by Mr. Armstrong on Personal Work, Beside the classes already mentioned, a class of inquirers, with an average attendance of 24, was instructed for 15 days.

Women's Work.—The women's work has been carried on by Mrs. Faris and Mrs. Fouts, assisted by Miss Faris, of the Yi-hsien Station. Under their supervision two classes of women from the country were taught, the first with 10 members, the second with 42.

There was a great deal of house-to-house visitation and instruction of the women inquirers in the city.

Bible women visited the country stations and conducted a number of classes for women. During the revival many of the young women were greatly moved and did active work in trying to reach others.

During the revival Pastor Ding held a foot-unbinding conference, and 48 women promised to unbind their feet. Twenty-six of these fulfilled their promise.

EDUCATIONAL.—The Boys' Academy, in charge of Mr. Faris, had an attendance of 19 pupils. Nine boys were graduated from the Academy in January, of which 3 are in attendance at the College at Wei-hsien, 3 others being teachers in the country, while 2 more are taking a post-graduate course in the academy at Ichou-fu and the remaining one is in business. A convenient piece of property for a site for the new Academy has not yet been secured.

The Primary Boys' School has now grown until it has been divided into three departments, with about 20 pupils in each. For one of these departments a room is rented in the East Suburb.

The Girls' School, in charge of Mrs. Fouts, is divided into two sections. In addition to the two lady teachers, a man teacher is engaged to explain the classics. Fifty-eight pupils are enrolled. A greatly needed new building has been generously pledged by a friend in the Board. Mrs. Fouts also continued the Young Married Women's School, with an enrollment of 9.

In the city there is another primary school for girls with 14 pupils, while at different points in the country there are 11 primary schools for boys, with a total of 86 pupils.

Mrs. Faris has had charge of the kindergarten. During the school vacation in summer Mr. Armstrong instructed a band of 15 little inquirers for six weeks.

It is encouraging to note that 33 of the school children united with the church during the year.

MEDICAL WORK.—The medical work has prospered during the year and been more than usually fruitful in spiritual results. Dr. Fouts has had a double share of the work, both men's and women's hospitals and dispensaries being in his charge. At the Woman's Hospital, when Dr. Fouts has been absent from the Station, Dr. Fleming's pupil, Chang Feng Lau, and the matron have been in charge.

Several of the in-patients showed a deep interest in the Gospel. An effort was made to teach the in-patients while there has been the regular daily preaching to the dispensary patients. In order to better push the spiritual side of the work and to follow it up, an extra evangelist was added in order to follow up the work in the houses of those with whom he has become acquainted, whether they lived in the city or country.

One of the most notable convictions of sin that we have noticed was that of a backsliden Christian who came to the hospital broken in body and spirit. He repented deeply and reconsecrated himself to Christ.

During the year there were 340 men in-patients and 110 women at the hospitals and the attendance at the men's dispensary was 9,326, at the women's 3,993 and at the country dispensary 1,804, making a grand total of 15,123.

TSINING-CHOU STATION.

EVANGELISTIC.—The evangelistic work shows a steady, healthy growth. Seven hundred members applied for admission into the church during the past year, of whom 186 were received. In one field, which is very populous, but turbulent and lawless, there are quite a number of genuine inquirers, especially women, of whom there is an increase in number of 40 per cent. over last year.

Over the border, in the Kiang Su Province, the evangelistic work is especially encouraging. From this district come the majority of our school-boys and school-girls. Inquirers to the number of 280 were examined in this field and 48 were admitted to the church. A new church was organized, and the Christians held two meetings as well as two study classes in different parts of the field. In all cases the expense was largely borne by the people, although they were very poor. A new church has been built about 7 miles west of the city and two men have been employed part of their time in this district.

As to Tsining City proper, the church still maintains its share of the support of the pastor, Rev. Chia. Twenty-eight persons were added to this church during the year. When the schools are in session the small chapel is so crowded that a new chapel, seating at least 600 persons, is an urgent necessity.

Last year 652 Bibles and Testaments, 14,850 portions of Scripture, 2,200 Catechisms and 250 Hymnals were sold.

This colporteur work was carried on by nine men.

A great loss to the church and the work has been the death of elder Chang, who did so much pioneer work extending over 15 counties.

Woman's Work.—The Bible Institute is a new feature in our work and grew out of the desire to see our Bible women better instructed. Studies in the Old and New Testaments comprise the major portion of the work, also writing, geography, arithmetic, singing, hygiene, physical culture, etc.

The church is much interested in the woman's work, and the effects are to be seen in the greater interest among the women of our field, as well as the aspiration of some of the Bible women to spend their extra time in the school that they be better fitted for the work. Twenty-two women were in attendance during the regular session of two months each. A two months' summer class for our regular Bible women was also held. We have been able to increase the number of Bible women who are sent from here into the country from two to six. Two years ago not more than 25 per cent. of the inquirers in our whole field were women; this year about 40 per cent. of the inquirers are women.

EDUCATIONAL.—Our normal work has succeeded in stimulating the opening of country schools. Sixteen are now in operation, an increase of five over last year. The number of pupils enrolled was 164. These are all boys. The education of girls is still a new matter in the minds of our Christians, and it is difficult to secure suitable teachers. We plan to open up two primary schools for girls next year.

The Boys' Academy has had an enrollment of 25 students. Of these 19 are Christians, four of them being baptized last spring. Fourteen were baptized after entering school, the remainder, coming from non-Christian homes, are studying Christianity. The average age is 19 years, and many come from poor families. Last winter our second class was graduated. Of our 9 graduates in two years 7 are in the Wei-hsien College and 2 in the Theological College.

The Girls' Academy was originally a day-school opened by Mrs. H. G. Romig. Last year it became a boarding school, with 38 girls in attendance. About 50 applied, but all could not be accommodated on account of lack of funds and accommodations. At present it is the only girls' school in all this region. Of the 38 girls 23 are members of the church. A C E. Society and Literary Society are to be organized this fall.

A Teachers' Institute was held for 2½ weeks this summer for our school-teachers. The result has been very satisfactory and we expect to continue it.

MEDICAL.—The hospitals and dispensary are widely known throughout the country districts and their favor among the people is firmly established. The attendance during the year at the Bachman and Hunter Memorial Hospitals and Dispensary has been as follows: First treatments, 7,433; return treatments, 12,789; total, 20,222; inpatients, 367.

YI-HSIEN STATION.

During the year the Station consisted of five members, four of whom were present most of the year. The force was decreased by the going of Miss Faris to Ichou-fu in response to its urgent call to help with the woman's work after the revival under Rev. Ding Li Mei, and she was, therefore, absent from the Station most of the year.

Owing to the paucity of the force and the difficulties incidental to the establishing of a new Station, little progress has been possible thus far, but good beginnings have been made.

EVANGELISTIC.—During January, Rev. Ding Li Mei came to conduct special meetings at the country out-stations and at Yi-hsien.

The weather was favorable and the meetings were well attended. The Christians were much helped and many decided to become Christians. The coal-mine railway was finished to Yi-hsien and brought many visitors to the mission compound who bought Catechisms.

The readiness of the people to listen to the Gospel was quite marked.

Miss Franz conducted four classes for women, two at the Station and two in the country. These were well attended.

A conference for helpers was held in June and another in August, the latter lasting four weeks. These did much to stimulate and strengthen the native co-workers and as a consequence they are doing much better work than ever before.

There continues a great demand for tracts, Catechisms and portions of Scripture, all of which are sold. About 200 Testaments were sold.

Miss Franz has had charge of a meeting for women on Sundays and Mrs. Yerkes conducted a flourishing Sundayschool for children, of which the attendance has grown to 50.

EDUCATIONAL.—The eight primary schools that were in operation during the year reported a better attendance than any previous year. Two of these—a boys' and a girls' school—are at the Station. Quite a number of the pupils in our schools are ready for the High School. For this proper buildings should be immediately prepared and suitable teachers secured.

MEDICAL WORK .- Dr. Cunningham reports a much larger number of patients treated during this year than the previous one and is the more encouraged, both from the evangelistic and medical standpoint, since more than half of his patients have been return calls, i.e., out of over 10,000 patients 6,500 were returns.

The work of self-support in this work is being pushed. A serious loss to this work was Dr. Fu, the medical assistant, who was not only valuable because of his profession, but also because of his work as a preacher. An encouraging feature of the work is the friendly relation of some of the official class, noticeably so the manager of the coal mines nearby.

Yi-hsien has now been adopted by the First Church of Buffalo as its parish abroad. This is a great encouragement to the missionaries in this lonely and vast region, for the Station has never had proper equipment since it was opened. and the trials of the devoted little company have sometimes been severe.

PEKING STATION.

PERSONNEL.—A number of changes have taken place during the year, but the working force has been diminished rather than increased, as several furloughs have fallen due and others have been slightly advanced by the call of the Edinburgh Conference. Dr. Wherry, Dr. and Mrs. Fenn and Miss McCoy went on furlough in the spring; Dr. J. Walter Lowrie has moved from Paoting-fu to take over Dr. Fenn's work, and Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham, returning from furlough in May, after spending the summer in Peking, were transferred to Paoting-fu for a year. Four children have come to brighten the homes of the Station.

EVANGELISTIC.—The East Church, continuing in the charge of Mr. Johnson, has received an addition of 25 members during the year. Three elders have shared with Mr. Johnson the Sunday preaching services.

'The partial support of the work at Ch'ing He, six miles north of the city, gives this church a desirable home missionary responsibility, and the seminary graduate in charge is doing earnest work. The chapel is too small to accommodate the people who come on market days. Near Ch'ing He is a large military school with over 1,500 students. Several of the teachers are Christian young men, graduates from the North China Union College at T'ung-chou, and they help in trying to reach these soldiers.

In both the city and this suburban region there is an increasing willingness and desire to listen to the Gospel message and to buy and read Christian books. Where the people have come in contact with the new learning and western sciences, belief in the old superstitions is shaken and there are fewer pilgrimages and worshipers at temples.

An old man in Peking, having long ago made a vow, decided to use his few hundred dollars saved up in the repair of a ruined temple outside the city. On reporting his intention to the proper official, permission was peremptorily refused and he was twice brought into court and rebuked for encouraging superstition and wasting money on old temples while the Government was turning others into schools.

The street chapel, open every afternoon and evening except Saturday evening, continues to be well filled, often crowded. The dispensary has brought patients and their friends into the chapel afternoons. Beside the missionaries who look after this work, there are two or three helpers who preach, teach inquirers, answer questions and do personal work. Singing is a feature, and it is not uncommon to hear familiar refrains on the street, such as "Jesus Loves Me." There is much interest shown, and many say they believe and cease to worship idols.

The West Church, associated with the Union Theological Seminary at the Drum Tower, under the charge of Dr. Fenn and later of Dr. Lowrie, doubled its membership during the first year of its organization and now numbers about 60 members. It has been as much an evangelistic centre as the Street Chapel, the latter being less attractive in appearance and in an undesirable location.

The theological students have given much time and shown much zeal in making the church a light in the northwest quarter of the city.

Miss McCoy continued to conduct her class for non-Christian children at the Street Chapel. During the summer that chapel, through Mr. Cunningham and his Chinese associates, became a stronger force than ever.

There was a great quickening of workers during the meetings conducted by Pastor Ding Li Mei, in May, and a large number of inquirers were enrolled, many of whom are now under instruction.

The work in the country has been greatly simplified by the adoption of the suggestion of the M. E. Mission for an exchange of that portion of their field lying east of the North River for the portion of our field lying west of that river, thus consolidating the work of each mission. Long existing ties must be severed in both cases, but the gain was too manifest to permit sentimental conditions to prevail; and our field can now be readily supervised by one missionary.

Mr. and Mrs. Hicks have made their home at Mafang, making only brief trips to Peking. Eight have been received into the church, 3 infants baptized and 12 catechumens recorded.

The one evangelist and five colporteurs have increased to two evangelists and eight colporteurs. The attendance on Sabbath is more than doubled.

The Boys' Boarding School at Mafang increased to 16 pupils in spite of larger charges. Lack of accommodations has prevented larger growth. Three pupils were baptized; one has entered "Truth Hall."

A catechumen class of 11 men was held at Ping Gu and one for women at Mafang, the latter by Miss McKillican.

An old lady over seventy was the happiest and most helpful, learning Scripture and hymns, her face radiant as she sang, "Heaven is My Home." A few weeks later she passed to that Home a joyful Christian.

In the early summer Mr. Gleysteen again went to the country with nine of the Truth Hall boys. For two weeks they preached and sold books at Hsin Dji, finding a most stimulating spirit of interest. From 8.30 to 1 on the frequent market days the chapel was filled with listeners to some of the youthful preachers, while other boys sold books on the street. On other days they visited villages and preached in the evening to a crowded chapel in the town. The boys did much personal work.

Woman's Work.—In addition to above items:

In the city, Miss McKillican has conducted five women's classes at the Second Street compound, Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Dilley helping. They have been larger than ever before, and the women seemed very earnest. The women's weekly prayer meetings at the two compounds have been well attended and the women take part freely. Calling in the homes is not neglected, and Mrs. Johnson has been able to go to many.

Daily prayers are held with the women doing the embroidery work, and a few showed not a little interest. A number attended Miss McKillican's classes when held. The sudden death in January of Miss Li, with whom Mrs. Whiting had left the industrial work, gave another example of the transforming power of Christ. It is only a few years since Miss Li and her family were believers in superstitions; now five adults in the family have been baptized, and the only other member, the old mother, who formerly bitterly opposed her children's embracing Christianity, at last admits that she too believes. During her short illness, Miss Li realized the change coming and gave calm directions as to what she wished done. The work she wanted carried on by her sister-in-law, who had been sharing it with her and is quite capable of doing this. There had been a little delay in receiving the money needed to pay the work-women, and Miss Li asked to have some family jewelry sold to meet what was due them, for she said, "I don't want to go before God with any unpaid debts."

EDUCATIONAL.—Consisting of two kindergartens with training for teachers; two day-schools for boys, two for girls; one grammar school and academy; a country boarding school for boys, and our union colleges—arts for men and women, medical for men and women, nurses' training school, and theological college.

There were about 35 children in the two kindergartens, which were carried on until Miss McCoy's departure in April, when the one at the West Compound was reluctantly closed for lack of teachers; but with Mrs. Hall's oversight the kindergarten at Second Street has been continued prosperously. Both have proved sources of influence not only with the children, but in their homes. A class was advanced from the kindergarten into the girls' day-school, which is now so crowded as to require the addition of another room and an additional teacher. The girls' day-school at the West Compound is prospering under the supervision of Miss McKillican. The bath-room in the kindergarten court provided by Mr. Severance is inculcating the next thing to godliness.

The boys' day-school at the West Compound, through the attractions offered by Government schools, has been reduced to 16 pupils, who, however, are doing better work than ever before under a new teacher, Mr. Wang. The day-school in connection with "Truth Hall" has had 25 pupils.

"Truth Hall," the academy, has presented serious problems in the securing of suitable Chinese teachers. Mr. Gleysteen has taught several hours daily, and Mrs. Gleysteen has taken two classes and an individual pupil in English. Mrs. Dilley has given instruction in chorus singing and organ playing. The rooms in the dormitory are inspected daily. Quiet appeals to growing manhood are the most frequent and effective discipline. Five boys have united with the church. During Pastor Dine's meetings classes were discontinued. church. During Pastor Ding's meetings, classes were discontinued, and a deep and most helpful impression was made. The deaths of and a deep and most neight impression was made. The deaths of two students, promising boys, one from typhoid, the other from consumption, in one night, led to much seriousness. One of these boys said, "All my disease is in my body; I have no disease in my heart."

Dr. Martin's gift of $300 and his unfailing interest in Truth Hall are a help greatly appreciated. His portrait, a fine oil painting, which was presented by the Hon. H. T. Yuan, hangs in the school-room, and also the aveillest photographs of Mr. and Mrs. Cumingham. The also the excellent photographs of Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham. The unveiling of these was an impressive occasion in the school life when special exercises called scholars and friends of the school together one afternoon in May.

Two were graduated from the school this year, the total number of students being 49. Eight students and five teachers attended the Y. M. C. A. summer conference at Tung-chou.

This Mission has as yet no students in the Women's Union College, which in June, 1909, graduated its first class of four. the first women to complete a full college course in China. Three Juniors and three Freshmen have composed this year's classes. Says the Dean, Miss Miner:

Never before has there been a land or an age when women trained in body, mind and heart could make their lives more worth while than in this awakened, eager China of the twentieth century.

In the Bridgeman School connected with the College there are nine Presbyterian girls, but one of them from Peking, another having cheerfully deferred her studies to help in the school at Paoting-fu.

At college and school an increasing measure of self-support has been enforced. In accord with the wishes of the Imperial Board of Education, the birthday of Confucius was celebrated by a holiday and appropriate exercises. The impression produced in these schools by Pastor Ding's meetings was beyond all precedent, leading to a most self-sacrificing devotion to Christian evangelism.

Tung-chou Union College.—Through the furloughs of foreigners and the resignations of Chinese, the burdens of teaching have come early upon Mr. Corbett. Fourteen were graduated at Chinese New Year, of whom five entered the Medical College, one the Theological College. The 24 graduates of the Academy all entered the Freshman Class in the College. During the ten days of meetings held by Mr. Ding in April the regular college programme was set aside.

At the end of the second day visible results began to appear and 17 young men announced their intention to give their lives to the ministry. This number grew daily, until on the day of Mr. Ting's departure 68 volunteers for the ministry joined hands with him in a great circle and received his parting advice and benediction. Fifty others in a similar way declared the consecration of their whole lives to God in whatever calling he might place them. The volunteer band has now increased to over 70. Twenty-three students have united with the local church on profession of their faith. This means that practically our whole student body of 145 boys has been deeply moved

On May 20th the Generalissimo of the Chinese Northern Army and many other high officers presided at the athletic competition between Tung-chou and Tientsin, in which Tung-chou won 64 points to Tientsin's 49.

In June a third Y. M. C. A. conference was held at Tungchou, surpassing the previous meetings and culminating in the organization of a National Student Volunteer Movement for the Christian Ministry, with Rev. Ding Li Mei as its first secretary, he to visit the higher schools of China with the call to the ministry. The watchword is "The Gospel for China in this Generation." One of the first to sign the Volunteer Declaration was the younger brother of Mr. Chang Poa Ling, the Christian official at the head of the secondary schools of Tientsin.

Medical Colleges.—

The Women's Union Medical College, which was opened two and a half years ago, has now 8 students. The course covers six years, and so far lectures have all been given at the Methodist Mission, Dr. Leonard going there for seven hours' teaching each week. Dr. Hall has been elected to the faculty as instructor in medicine and gives the Senior Class three hours a week.

Lockhart Union Medical College: Dr. Hall, as our representative in the Union Medical College, has been teaching eight hours a week. In diagnosis no text-book has been prepared, which makes it necessary for the lecturer to do most of his own translating.

Since the London Mission Dispensary offers practical work for these students, Dr. Hall has given an hour and a half there daily with a group of students, whom he trains in diagnosis.

Mr. Ding's meetings at the Medical College were well attended, and with increasing interest. Several of the students determined to study theology as well as medicine. About 80 of the 100 students are church members. Many of the others were greatly influenced by the meetings. A little society for mutual helpfulness was formed among the Christians.

Nurses' Training School.—As the Nurses' Training School is a union one, Dr. Gloss and Miss Powell, of the Methodist Mission, and Dr. Leonard and Miss McKillican are fitting the nine young women pursuing the studies to be thoroughly equipped nurses, having practical work there, and are now fitted to take charge independently of some of the out-cases. Two nurses were graduated in January. In addition to work in this Training School, Miss McKillican teaches the young men who are Dr. Dilley's assistants in the An Ting Hospital and the dispensary at the cross-roads. Her plan for their study includes with the theory of nursing some elementary hygiene, physiology and anatomy.

Theological College.—A new class of men without college training was formed in the fall. Of 32 men, a few were unable to do the work, reducing the number to 26. At the Chinese New Year two men entered the second year of the regular course, making the total 33.

The spirit of the Seminary was a great advance on the previous years, being marked by a new realization of the presence of God, a spirit of order, a mutual helpfulness, an enthusiasm in learning, and an evangelistic zeal, which delighted those in charge and promised to attract more College students. The meetings held in May by Mr. Ding and Dr. Lowrie proved most helpful. To Dr. Lowrie the work was transferred on Dr. Fenn's departure.

The wonderful work of Mr. Ding among College students has put the Seminary face to face with the imperative necessity of enlargement, if we are to bid welcome to the scores of students who will be asking for their training for the Christian ministry.

Conference and Summer School,—A union preachers' conference followed that of the Y. M. C. A. in Tung-chou in the early summer with the thought and aim to deepen spiritual life and help those already in the ministry to more effective service in their life work, About 25 men attended.

The Union Summer School for local evangelists and colporteurs was held as usual at the Seminary. Mr. Cunningham and Mr. Johnson, assisted by representatives of the other missions, instructed 35 men for one month, which proved a distinct spiritual uplift.

MEDICAL.—Douw Hospital for women has become entirely self-supporting, so far as current expenses are concerned; but it still has two crying needs, a waiting-room for patients of the higher classes and an isolation ward. For the lack of the latter many of our people have been exposed to diphtheria, scarlet fever, whooping cough and other diseases and deaths have occurred. Dr. Leonard reports 8,980 dispensary patients, 231 out-calls, many of them to distant parts of the city.

Among the numerous surgical cases was the successful removal of a tumor weighing 85 pounds. The grateful woman did all she could some weeks later in bringing 100 eggs to the doctor. There have been many opium cases in the hospital, earlier successful cases having advertised the opportunity. Several cures in one well-to-do family have drawn them into very close relations with the church.

An Ting Hospital for men was reopened by Dr. Dilley in October, 1909, and is again making its influence felt in the northern part of the city. On Sunday afternoons and each day, morning and evening, services have been held by Mr. Johnson, Dr. Hall, the hospital cook, a blind evangelist or a servant cured of the opium habit. School-boys have helped with singing and testimony.

LITERARY WORK.—Dr. Martin has revised his "Christianity and Other Creeds," also rendered the book into Mandarin. In English he has written a "Retrospect of Sixty Years in the Far East." Dr. Wherry has continued his share in the revision of the Old Testament in Wenli and in the supply of Sunday-school Lesson Helps. Dr. Fenn has revised his Concordance of the New Testament for a third edition and published a little book on Christian stewardship in English, called "Over Against the Treasury."

PAOTING-FU STATION.

PERSONNEL.—For a short time after Dr. Mackey's return to the field, the Station force was complete, but was soon broken by the sick-leave of Mr. Chapin, who is still in America, and by the resignation of Miss Maggi. In April also Miss Newton and Miss Gowans left on furlough, while the plans for the fall included the removal of Dr. Lowrie to Peking and of Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham to Paoting-fu. The force of Chinese workers has been larger and more efficient than ever—39 in all.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.—The Paoting-fu Church has been under the care of Dr. Lowrie as usual this year. In finances the church has done about as in other years.

The special Christmas offering for the poor amounted to $80. The church has continued to support its own special missionary, Mr. T'ien; paid for its own lighting and heating; paid for the men's inquirers' classes all expenses not met by the inquirers' fees, and entertained all the country people who came to the fall rally. The women's missionary society has contributed more than half of Mrs. Ch'en's salary, and the girls' missionary society gave $6 for a needy school in Turkey, and have on hand, from the sale of work, $10 toward the education of a girl in another country.

A weekly women's prayer meeting was started this year, and has been a great blessing to those who attended. The leaders have grown decidedly. The leader of the Personal Workers' Society, Deacon T'sui, has this year entered more into the service of the church at large through the interest of Mr. Ralph Norton, one of Dr. Chapman's colleagues.

The annual rally of church members from the entire field was held in November, with the usual good attendance and enthusiasm.

The deepest feeling centred in the meeting at which the brass tablet in memory of Mrs. Lowrie was unveiled in the church. This memorial was the spontaneous gift of the Chinese Christians, both Congregational and Presbyterian, in Paoting-fu, and the service, entirely in Chinese hands, was conducted in a dignified and worthy manner.

Meetings conducted by Pastor Ding Li Mei, of Shantung, were held in April and developed great spiritual power.

Roused by him, our Christians went into personal work as never before. One Christian from the country left the meetings to go back to his village and brought back about 30 people. Some who had heard but a few times were found bringing in friends and relatives. In all, over 400 gave their names as wishing to lead a Christian life. Some no doubt failed to understand the full meaning of the step; but as increasing care was taken, the proportion of such was comparatively small. Special daily services in the interest of the new inquirers were kept up until the closing of the schools. As many of the women as could study were assembled for a ten days' class under the leadership of Mrs. Lewis. Twenty-eight came, and all but one old lady finished the first book, several making beside good progress in the second.

The usual four inquirers' classes for men were held in the city, with some promising new inquirers from new places. Miss Gowans' monthly city classes, though not so large as in some years, were especially encouraging because the women provided all their own food. The work for women of the official class continues to be a very important feature of the city evangelistic work.

The unhappiness and trials of many of these members of the socalled more fortunate class make the peace and joy of the "Jesus Way" appeal to them no less than to those who bear more palpable burdens. Mrs. Lewis continued the regular meetings three times a month after Miss Gowans left on her furlough. An old lady named Ch'en moved her son to Shunteh-fu. There she was still visited by members of our Mission. She often gathered the women of her family servants included, for prayers, reading from John, and singing the few hymns that she had learned. She was never baptized. Last winter her old serving woman returned to Paoting-fu, saying her mistress had died still believing in Jesus, and that she herself wished especially to study more of this doctrine. She pawned a wadded garment to pay her way in the class, and then, having money left over, brought in some neighbors to read for a day at her expense.

In the west country field, Mr. Killie reports that the church at Wen Chia Tun has been obliged to enlarge its seating capacity. In T'ang Hsien two new centres have been opened and preachers stationed in them.

Elder Liu, of the Shantung Home Missionary Society, after nearly a year's absence, returned this spring with a new colleague and has begun a promising work in a new village near Kuang Ch'ang. More than 10,000 Gospels and many thousand tracts have been sold.

Four classes have been held by Mrs. Killie for women, with larger attendance than ever before. The women came from a better class, and are doing more personal work in their own homes and villages. In the fall Mr. Killie took the long journey to Kuang Ch'ang with Mrs. Killie, and in the winter again with Mr. Lowrie. During the latter part of the year, however, impaired health has interfered with his country work, but the heavy responsibilities of Station and Mission treasurer and chairman of the Executive Committee have been regularly discharged by him throughout the year.

Aggressive work in the comparatively new east field has been hindered somewhat, as Mr. Mather had to make regular monthly trips to Shunteh-fu. In the fall, however, quite a little preaching was done by Mr. and Mrs. Mather in new villages, with a very encouraging reception. Sunday services at four country chapels are slowly but steadily gaining in attendance.

In Paikouhe, where a larger and more attractive chapel has been opened, over 100 come in on market days. The Ku Ch'eng Christians have taken a gratifying stand in the matter of self-support.

EDUCATIONAL WORK.—Both boarding schools have done excellent work. In the girls' school, as usual, Miss Newton has had to contend with a lack of efficient teachers.

Miss Li, her valued assistant of so many years, broke down in the fall and had to be relieved of all work for the first half-year; and Mrs. Chang, the next best teacher, was summoned home by her sick husband. Miss Li was strong enough to assume charge of the school when Miss Newton went away. Eight girls were graduated in June, of whom three are to go on to Peking Academy. One enters the hospital service as trained nurse.

The boys' school has grown so this year that an additional dormitory of two stories had to be built, the gift of a friend of Dr. Lowrie.

The school now numbers 78 boys, and though a large proportion of these are from non-Christian families, every boy has shown interest in Christianity and several have united with the church this year. Mrs. Lewis has given musical instruction in both schools.

An interesting little day-school for smaller boys has grown out of the efforts of a Christian in a village not far from our compound. It now numbers twenty.

The day-school in the city has thriven under Miss Keng's care. Miss Gowans gave it daily attention until she went away, when it was supervised by Dr. Elizabeth Lewis and Miss Li.

The two country day-schools at Tsang T-sun and Wen Chia T'un have been regularly visited and examined. During Pastor Ding's meetings at the College our four students in T'ung-chou College all consecrated themselves to the life-long service of Christ as preachers. One of them afterward confessed, "I had never planned to preach all my life, and certainly not if it involved hardship. It all depends upon how well the church treated me. But now I feel that it must be a life-long affair, no matter what it costs."

In the Bridgman School of Peking, four students represent our Station,

MEDICAL WORK.—The medical work has continued to keep the doctors more than busy. The evangelistic side of the work has been encouraging, with an earnest helper and many patients studying in the wards and in the regular classes. A good number confessed Christ at the time of Pastor Ding's meetings.

For the busy spring months the Hodge Memorial Hospital was inadequate to house all the women who came. The floors of the new unfinished surgical wards were filled with patients, and many others had to be sent to inns in the city. We ourselves can see the faces changing, and daily lives taking on new graces. A good deal of faithful reading is done by those who stay for a longer time, and one of the prettiest sights of our compound is the little circle about Mrs. T'sui under the trees studying or singing the "old, old story." There have been the usual disappointments in the training of nurses, especially in the women's hospital. Gradually, however, a small but dependable body of assistants is forming in cach hospital. There is a prospect that in future educated young people will be glad to take up permanently this branch of Christlike service. Miss Maggi's return to America is a serious loss to both hospitals.

The daily city dispensary at the Tsao Chün Miao, under Dr. Elizabeth Lewis' care, has been a great aid to the evangelistic work, by opening up many new homes to Miss Gowans' visits, particularly in official families.

Mrs. Pai, from the Bible Women's Training School, loaned us by Peking Station for the summer vacation, has been of great assistance as preacher at the clinics.

Dr. Mackey and Dr. Elizabeth Lewis have both materially aided the women's work in the country by crowding into their busy days an occasional country clinic. In all, twenty such clinics have been held, reaching at least 472 women.

The total number of operations, major and minor, in both hospitals, amount to 1,252; the total number of treatments for the two hospitals and the city dispensary to 22,166.

SHUNTEH-FU STATION.

PERSONNEL.—The force on the field has been smaller than at any time since the opening of the Station, Mr. and Mrs. Miller having left on furlough in the spring of 1909 and Miss Hicks having resigned to marry Mr. Hermann, of the China Inland Mission. Dr. Keator has again been with the Station since December. Mr. Mather has continued to divide his time between this Station and Paoting-fu. The return of the Millers and the coming of Miss Judson, who spends her first year in the Language School in Peking, gives hope of better days. The Station is also very greatly in need of an adequate Chinese force in the various departments, having in all but six men and two women, though the keeper of the Street Chapel also assists with the preaching.

EVANGELISTIC.—Mr. Mather, of Paoting-fu, has had charge of this department, so far as his visits of ten days per month, or more when classes were in session, would permit. He has preached at Shunteh-fu two Sundays each month, made country trips and held three Station classes.

On other Sundays the preaching has been by Mr. Hawley or by one of the Chinese teachers. The audiences have averaged over 100, and 13 have been baptized. Evening services have been held by Chinese Christians. These meetings have acquired new interest through the organization of a Personal Workers' League by Mr. Tsui, of Paoting-fu, and the formation of a Y. M. C. A. in the boys' school. The best response to evangelistic work has been met in the country, under the efforts of Mr. Mather. Permanent interest is reported from six villages or towns, but the whole region lies open to the proclamation of the Gospel.

Discouragement at the relapse of two former inquirers is offset by the consistent life of a barrow-man, a former Boxer, once in prison for a share in a kidnaping, who, almost totally uneducated and learning with the greatest difficulty, has yet been deeply taught of the Holy Spirit, and "feels a great sense of oppression upon his breast" if he fails to speak in witness for Christ. Almost constantly on the road, whenever he stops for food or rest, he seeks opportunity to speak a word for his Master. He is a power in the community. A man of different calibre, a literary graduate preparing to enter the district assembly under the new constitution, seems not far from the kingdom, if not already in it.

The total attendance at the three Station classes held by Mr. Mather was about 90. The men were diligent in the work of the class, new inquirers have secured a clearer and fuller knowledge of the Gospel and professing Christians have been strengthened in a more intelligent faith.

No foreigner has had much time to devote to the Shunteh-fu Street Chapel. Mr. Chao and Mr. Liu, of the boys' school, have preached every afternoon except Sundays. On the six market days each month the street by the chapel is crowded, and the singing of a hymn draws a good audience.

Women's meetings have been held every Friday. Mrs. Hamilton speaks of the interest of the women in learning hymns.

One old lady over seventy years of age, whose husband would not give her the twenty cents necessary for the purchase of a hymn book, earned the money by pulling weeds for one of the missionaries for several mornings.

The two Station classes for women had an attendance of 25 and 30, respectively. Some of the women came long distances on their bound feet. Four of them received baptism at the conclusion of the last class. The visiting in the homes of women in the city and neighboring villages is an important feature in the efforts to reach the women at Shunteh-fu. Sympathetic under standings thus gained are worth a great deal.

EDUCATIONAL.—The attendance at the Boys' Boarding School, Mr. Hawley in charge, has increased. The new building, well adapted to its purpose, in a spacious compound of three English acres, and bearing the name of Hugh O'Neill, Jr., was ready for use at the opening of the fall term, 1910.

Most of the pupils have done good work. They have organized a Young Men's Christian Association, whose practical endeavor takes the form of alternate Sunday witness-bearing deputations to neighboring villages. Their reports have added to the interest of the Sunday evening services. Most of the boys come from non-Christian families. Six boys have worked for their board, sacrificing most of their play time.

The Girls' School has grown steadily under the direction of Mrs. Hamilton. A boarding department has been added. The average attendance has been 22, with 12 boarders and 20 day pupils. Mrs. Hamilton and Mrs. T'ien have done the teaching. Seven girls have unbound their feet or been able not to bind them at all.

The location of the school in the basement of the church is unfortunate. Here the girls have eaten, slept, studied, and recited. Not only are the rooms insufficient in size and improper, but there is no secluded court for the girls. Under such circumstances we cannot but recognize the hand of God in the impetus which the girls' school has gained. Ten years ago such an auspicious opening of a girls' boarding school would have seemed unthinkable. There are many obstacles to the work to-day. The sentiment voiced by one father, "It's all right for a girl to know a few characters, but it's dangerous for her to know more," is still too generally held among the common people. The childhood marriage engagement, the rights of the mother-in-law, the general lack of respect for women, all militate against the emancipation of China's women and girls.

MEDICAL WORK.—Medical work has been carried on at the Hugh O'Neill Memorial Hospital by Dr. Hamilton, assisted by Dr. Yu. Dispensary patients, 8,866 (new, 3,424; old, 5,442). Operations, 197 (general anæsthetic, 151; local anæsthetic, 46). Ward patients, 227. Patients breaking off opium, 39. Out-calls, 48.

It is gratifying to note an increased readiness on the part of the Chinese in our region to submit to surgery. The breaking down of prejudice is one of the most far-reaching effects of hospital work. Not only are more patients drawn to the hospital, but proofs of good-will established in the doctor's sphere also have effect in the other spheres.

One may catch glimpses of Chinese social and political life at the hospital. Dr. Hamilton gives an instance that illustrates this.

The regulation of water rights in the irrigation ditches of the region to the east of Shunteh-fu furnishes a never-failing quota of stab and gunshot cases to our emergency ward. Not infrequently pitched battles ensue, with consequent murder or serious injury on both sides. One unfortunate had removed from his back and legs more than thirty variously shaped pieces of iron. Another participant in the same encounter received a blow from a meat cleaver which almost severed the hand from the wrist.

In view of the criticism sometimes made that Chinese are devoid of gratitude, it is interesting to note the gratitude of some of the hospital patients.

One of the men, who had had a cataract removed from his eye, donated all the money he had brought with him to the hospital and returned the 200 li to his village on foot, instead of by train. Dr. Hamilton has made a good many out-calls in the homes of officials, and it is quite largely owing to the gifts to the hospital by these well-to-do patients that the hospital has been self-supporting for the past Mission year. The money saved on the medical work was put to most timely use in other departments of the work.

The fact that the physician in charge has been able to help at needy places in the evangelistic work has greatly helped to cement, in the eyes of the Chinese, all forms of Mission work, and the assistance thus rendered has been greatly appreciated by those engaged in the evangelistic work. In addition to the conduct of the hospital, Dr. Hamilton has made three medical itineraries, on which over 1,000 patients were treated. These itineraries are of great value, not merely in the relief of widespread suffering, but as an evangelistic agency. The Hospital has had the best year in its history.

Medical work for women has been conducted by Dr. Keator in one end of the men's hospital. She has tried to make the best of this inconvenient arrangement, and has brought relief to many hundreds of the women, Dr. Keator having remained alone at her post during the severe heat of summer. Dr. Keator has aimed to spend half her time in medical work and half in study, but she has often given up her hours of study for helping in the evangelistic work or for making outcalls.

GUATEMALA MISSION.

QCPLINITENINGO: 125 miles northwest from Guatemala City; occupied 1833. Missionaries—Rev. Walker E. McBath and Mrs. McBath.

GUATEMALA CITY.

A large force is now at work on this side of the Mexican border, building about thirty miles of railroad that will connect Guatemala with Mexico and the United States by rail. This work will be completed during the next year. We will then be in closer contact and communication by mail and travel with the north. It is expected that this communication will help to establish closer and better fellowship with Mexico and the United States.

Work has also been begun on another piece of railway that will connect Ouezaltenango with the rail system of Guatemala, thus doing away with the mule-back ride of twenty-seven miles from the nearest Station up to Quezaltenango.

All this will be a great help to the missionary in his work and will make communication more rapid and convenient and less expensive. These things are signs of progress in the country and speak eloquently for the future of this Republic.

Mr. Allison writes as follows as to the outlook:

We begin the new year with bright prospects. Before it is ended we hope to see completed the missionary home and chapel in Quezaltenango and to have erected the hospital and building for girls' school in Guatemala. A part of the funds for these buildings is already in sight and we are hoping and praying that the balance needed will be forth-

The following year we hope to see erected in the capital city a building for a boys' school. The schools are sorely needed in our work. We are also praying that teachers to help in the educational work may be provided.

The printing work continues to be mightily blessed, and we are fondly hoping that funds, so sorely needed for the purchase of paper and new materials, may be supplied. We do greatly appreciate the help of our dear friends who have lent a hand in the past.

EVANGELISTIC.—

At our January Communion service we received seven members into the church on profession of faith in Christ. One of them was the wife of a mason who helped build our home in this city four years ago and was converted while working here. This woman was furious at the time of her husband's conversion, and although he had been a drunkard for many years and had abused her terribly during his spells of drunkenness, yet she said that she preferred that to his becoming a Protestant. When we called at the home at first we were received very coolly, but gradually the ice melted and little by little we have gained the woman's confidence. A wonderful change has been wrought in this woman's life by the Spirit of God. She came voluntarily and asked to unite with the church. Her testimony in the session meeting was wonderful.

Another who came into the church was for many years a miserable drunkard and abused his family and did not provide for them. When he first began to come to our meetings he had liquor on his breath. During the past two years he has had but one fall, but was very repentant. He is a humble man, but his quiet confession of his sin and his story of the way God had changed his life and home brought tears of rejoicing to our eyes. He comes each day to our home to do certain chores, and his face is always beaming with a new joy. His wife joined with him, a son having united some months before. The whole home has been won for God. These humble people have brought many others. This man was talking one day with one of the wayward youths of Guatemala of one of the best families, and told what God by His grace had done for him, and invited the young man to our meetings. He came and his life, too, has been changed. Now his sister comes with him. So the work spreads from one to another. Thus we test the conversion of these people.

One of the men who joined, formerly made his living by playing at the mass in the Catholic churches. He had spent his life in company with priests, but about two years ago turned from them with the feeling that their religion was a mere matter of form. He was on the verge of out and out infidelity when he wandered into one of our services. He became interested and came again and again. He had become disconsolate and disappointed and many sorrows weighed heavily upon his life. Gradually we have seen a remarkable change come into his life. He is well on in years, but has received the truth of God's Word with the simplicity and confidence of a child. Does it not seem strange to you, dear reader, that this man so long a companion of priests and for years taking an actual part in the Catholic service, should never have had a Bible and should have remained all these years ignorant of its life giving truth? So it has been with him and with many others.

Another who united is a teacher in the public schools of this city. Two of the couples have recently had their belated marriage arranged. There is a lot of cleaning up in the whole life when these people come to know the truth and their lives are changed. You people who have basked in the sunshine of Christian privilege and influence can hardly appreciate the situation of many with whom we have to deal.

The statistics for the year show an increase of 30½% in the number of communicants. When it is remembered that is due to the work of one ordained missionary and 3 native helpers, it seems to be a very good showing.

A Day at Amatitlan.—Mrs. Allison writes:

Amatitlan is a town situated on a beautiful lake nestling among the mountains, about 3,000 feet above the sea. It is about twenty-five miles from the capital city and is easily reached by the Central Railroad.

It is a hotbed of superstition, for they claim to have a miracle working image of the Child Jesus in the church there. Hundreds of people go on pilgrimages to worship this image and give gifts to it.

When we opened a preaching centre in Amatitlan some three years ago, we met with open persecution and opposition from the priest and people. Religious freedom is guaranteed in the constitution of Guatemala and the people soon found that they could not prevent our coming to their town and holding meetings.

For a long time there were but two families who were friendly and they opened their homes to us. Within the last few months another family has come out boldly for Christ. When I held a meeting there just before Christmas, the members of the little congregation gave me a most cordial invitation for our Christian Endeavor Society to come some day for a picnic lunch and meeting, out by the side of the lake.

When I gave the invitation to the Society every member was very eager to accept the invitation. I told them that it would cost each one about 50 cents for the round trip, and although many of them are very poor, they said that they would manage in some way. Most of them had been there many times when they were idolaters and were glad of an opportunity to go, now that they know the Lord.

We met at the depot at 7 o'clock A. M. Imagine my surprise, on arriving at the station, to find 41 people waiting for me. Being early, we found one of the second-class cars almost empty, so we filled it up. We had not been aboard very long until those who were not of our number were drawn into conversation by our people who had their Bibles and many fine tracts with them and improved the opportunity to present the Gospel in its purity and simplicity.

Arriving at Amatitlan, we found to our great joy that our little congregation had grown, and 16 accompanied us to the lake. It is quite a walk from the train to the lake and we had to go down the main street of the town. The people were standing at their doors and windows watching us as we went by.

Some of our members stopped along the way to give out our Spanish paper and tracts. Many received them gladly, while others refused to receive them, or tore them up as soon as they had them in their

When we reached the lake, the men and boys disappeared around the bend in the shore where they had a fine swim. While they were gone the women and girls went in for a swim. Most of them had come prepared with their bright-colored bathing suits of Indian cloth.

At II o'clock we sat down together to eat our picnic lunch. After lunch we played games. At 1.30 o'clock we sat down again under a beautiful spreading ceiba tree for our meeting. There were 58 of us and we sang with hearts full of joy.

Don Flavio preached a very helpful sermon and then we had a season of prayer. I wish that you could hear these people pray. They seem to appreciate to the full extent the privilege of talking directly to the Heavenly Father after so many years of repeating, in parrot fashion, prayers of which they hardly knew the meaning.

When we went to the station to come home, we found an empty second-class car waiting for us. At 6 P. M. we arrived in Guatemala

City. Everyone voted that the day had been a blessed success.

QUEZALTENANGO.

The action of the Board in directing the Mission to buy and build on a new site has occupied much of the time of Rev. and Mrs. McBath; nevertheless they have kept on with the work, both in the city and in surrounding places. The wisdom of strengthening this Station is seen by the following from Mrs. McBath. We must be ready to garner the harvest:

These are days of opportunity for us here. So many are seeking Christ, both old and young, and it is our desire to use every possible influence to win them to Him. The Spirit of God was upon us in our young people's meeting last evening. After giving an opportunity to all to give a verse of Scripture, two or three were speaking at one time and several repeated verses two or three times. It brings such joy to and several repeated verses two or three times. It brings such joy to see the spiritual growth in our young people and we beg the dear friends at home to remember us in their prayers. We need the power of God in our own lives in order to hold them. To-night we give a reception to men for the purpose of opening up a reading room not only for the men of the church, but outsiders as well. As yet we do not have sufficient literature to carry on this work, but we trust it may be put upon some other hearts to send us for this need.

It will mean so much to our young men to have a class where they

It will mean so much to our young men to have a place where they can feel welcome to come, for they do not get the home life as do our young men in the homeland and I want to voice my sentiments with those of Mr. Allison expressed in last month's Messenger: "We do long to see thousands of real Christian homes in all these lands." We will have a class in English and an occasional social evening. We feel the time has come when we must have Christian attractions for them, so that they will not be tempted to seek their former pleasures. For example, one of our young men in the church who has been a member for a number of years, and who has always been a good spiritual boy and one on whom we have built much hope for the future to help us in the work, has been trapped by a young woman who has been attending services since the Gospel was first preached in Quezaltenango.

She has sought to win him under pretence of being a Christian, but of this temptation all right, but we must have a place for these boys where they can feel free and at home.

It has been through the help of a bind friend in Parallum that we have a place for these boys where they can feel free and at home.

It has been through the help of a kind friend in Brooklyn that we have been able to open up this evening home for the young men. Who will help us to make it still more effective?

The Punjab Mission was established in 1834. There are 15 Stations and 82 out-stations and regular places of meetings. The population of the field is 7,650,000. There are 25 organized churches, of which 3 are entirely self-supporting; 5,402 communicants, of whom 1,123 were added last year, and 16,219 adherents; 4,522 Sunday-school pupils and 59 students for the ministry, with a total staff of native workers of 494.

In the Puniab Mission the educational work has been developing in advance of the evangelistic; the latter needs now to be greatly expanded. The educational work, however, is itself an evangelistic agency and also a chief means of building up the Indian Church upon the strong foundation of an intelligent faith and enlightened conscience. Schools have been established for the education of boys and girls, both Christian and non-Christian. The chief of these are two colleges, one for boys and the other for European girls, but open to Indian Christians; seven High Schools, five for non-Christian boys, one for Christian boys and one for Christian girls; three Vernacular Middle Schools, one for Christian boys and two for Christian girls; an Industrial School for boys and a number of Primary Schools, most of which are for Christian children. There is also a Theological School for the training of ministers and a Training School for village workers.

The Punjab Mission has always held an honorable place in literary work.

A large part of the Christian literature published in North India has been prepared by American Presbyterians, or by Indians under their superintendence. We have much reason to rejoice in the work of Indian Christians, who have done so much to aid us in editing and writing for our vernacular newspapers and in producing so many good books for Indian readers. This has been especially true of the weekly newspaper, The Nûr Afshân. This paper has now completed its thirty-eighth year. From its earliest years to the present, its special sphere has been to provide a medium whereby Indian Christians might exercise their journalistic gifts.

The Núr Afshán still holds its honorable place as the only Urdu weekly newspaper under Christian management. During the past year, we have strictly adhered to our purpose not to engage in heated controversy, but to confine ourselves to the work of discussing in a dispassionate manner the points raised against the Christian faith by our non-Christian neighbors.

LUDHIANA.

Of the Mission High School Dr. Fife reports:

In the beginning it was the only school in the Province, but now it is only one of six high schools in Ludhiana. There is the Government Model School that lacks for nothing that funds can supply. The other non-Christian schools are supported by Aryas (a sect of reformed Hindus), Mohammedans and Sikhs. It may be asked, Why keep up this school, when there are so many others? What need is there for it? As to this, we would say, there is no need, if the only object of a Mission school is to furnish an education to lads who would otherwise remain ignorant. There is no reason to suppose that there is a single student who would be without an education if the Mission School were to close to-morrow. The reason for its existence is the belief that, while it gives a good secular education it also makes better men, and in addition to this it keeps the representatives of Christianity in touch with the most influential classes, and exerts a drawing influence upon them that is nowhere else equalled. We could not give up this school without definitely giving up the best chance we have to win educated men to Christ and to prepare the way of the Lord among the brightest minds of India. As long as students are glad to come in such numbers to the Mission School, we should lose indeed, if we were to turn away from this work.

There has never been a time in the past when so many pupils were in attendance as in these days; there being 431 pupils in the Main School alone. It is an interesting fact that the attendance is from all classes of the Indian community. No class is lacking, and the school seems equally popular with all.

I think I have nover seen a better spirit among non-Christian boys. I have seen no trace of anti-foreign or anti-Christian antagonism, though the spirit of to-day is not the spirit of even seven years ago. The boys as a class have received a new vision of possible things for India and indeed for all Asia and all Asiatics. There is no "unrest" apparent among them—nothing that could be termed disloyalty. There is evidently a strong attachment to their Christian teachers, who more than respond to this feeling.

The Christian Boys' Boarding High School.—Dr. Fife reports 91 boarders on the roll.

The students come from a large section of country, and represent several churches, though far the greater number come from families connected with our own Mission. Most of the boys pay fees, while there are a few who are without parents or friends who can support them, whom we have put on the free list rather than send them adrift.

EVANGELISTIC WORK .- Mr. Gould reports:

In looking back over the past year's work, two facts stand out very clearly: first, the readiness of the common people of the villages to receive the Gospel; and, secondly, the paucity of Christian workers.

Out of some seventy-five villages visited, two only treated us with disrespect, but this statement needs some qualification, because in one of these villages our audience consisted of one man only and he left while we were singing the first hymn! In the other a crowd of Hárnís (one of the tribes of professional thieves) listened fairly well until Christ was set forth as the only saviour. Then they became excited and declared they would hear no more, emphasizing the statement by the fervent avowal that they wished no other saviour than the worthy Mohammed. They said, "We will go with him even though he takes us to hell!"

Readiness to receive the Gospel in the majority of cases means a readiness to receive the messengers of the Gospel. But in six villages it meant more, as evidenced by the baptism of almost ninety persons.

Our present force for village work consists of four Indian preachers, four teachers, one Bible woman, and three missionaries—two ladies and a gentleman. The population of this part of the Ludhiana District is about 400,000.

Jagraon.—Miss Wherry writes:

The evangelistic work in Jagraon and the district has been carried on in connection with the school, the church, the Sunday-school, visiting in the city and touring in the district. The dispensary has given the opportunity for meeting many women from the villages as well as the city.

The Boarding School for Village Children at Jagraon.—Miss Helm reports:

The total number enrolled during the year was 50. There were 31 girls and 19 boys. The highest number in attendance at any one time was 45, with an average attendance of 41. The fifth classes are required to cut out and make garments from beginning to end, and the fourth and third classes are learning to cut out. It is most difficult to get the teachers to learn to be particular enough and to get them to the point where they will not accept poor work, but we are striving toward that end. We were awarded the second prize for plain sewing in the Lahore Industrial Exhibit, and were promised a bronze medal.

Moga.—Mr. Hyde reports:

Moga is 40 miles from Ludhiana on the Ludhiana-Ferozepur Railway. The railway has made it an enterprising grain market, as it is the centre of a large agricultural region and is a Government Tehsil town as well. The population is over 5,000 and, as a Mission sub-station, it is the centre of a population of half a million people living in 150 villages, many of them large, occupying a region 40 miles north and south by 25 east and west. The people are largely Sikhs, with many Hindus and Mohammedans also, besides the Chuhras, or low caste people, who are the serfs or laborers for the farmers. The people all are strong physically, and independent in character. Education is backward and crime is very prevalent, especially robbery, murder and gambling. Drunkenness and other vices are very common.

In 1906, there were few baptisms, but several workers came to us who, through the revival in India, had learned to love Christ and His Word and work. In 1907, there were perhaps 50 baptisms. In 1908, the baptisms numbered 153, the Lord seeming to say He could give at least one decision and baptism a day, if we would trust and praise Him. It was wonderful to us, to see this done every day when we could be in Moga and the district. The next year, 1909, the Lord seemed to say

He could give more each day and that year there were usually two every day when we could be in the work, resulting in 450 baptisms. This year, 1910, there have been over 685, some every day as a rule, often three or four. The numbers do not seem great to us, as there are hundreds of baptisms yearly in many districts in North India, in our Missions and others; but it has been wonderful to see decisions for Christ and baptisms every day.

There are Christian men in 85 villages. The total number is 1,166.

SAHARANPUR.

Theological Seminary.—

During the past year 46 students have been enrolled in the various departments. Of these, 31 belonged to the North India Mission, 11 to the Punjab Mission, and 4 to other Missions. Two separate courses are provided: one for licentiates and ordained ministers, such as have been trained in the Seminary heretofore, from October to February; the other course for village pastors, from March to July. In the former class, 26 students were enrolled; and in the latter 20, while a preparatory class was also continued during the summer. Out of this latter class, one was dropped for lack of earnestness, two failed to pass the final examination, while another, we are sorry to add, had to be expelled on account of bad conduct. From this it can be seen that this preparatory course affords a good way of testing men, preventing those who are not worthy or capable from entering the Seminary.

The students have continued, as heretofore, to visit the villages in the vicinity of Saharanpur on each Saturday. They are divided into parties, to each of which are assigned certain villages, and on Monday morning reports are given of the work done.

The Industrial School and Orphanage.—The present enrollment is 95. Mr. Borup reports:

Major Atkinson inspected our school in November. He reports as follows: "I have the honor to report that I inspected the Saharanpur Presbyterian Industrial School on the 30th November, 1909. I was very pleased with the business-like way the school is conducted. The courses are sound and laid out with great precision and ease; the books are clearly and neatly kept, and the work done is good of its class. This is a school which I think really deserves encouragement, and as the boys complete their full course at Saharanpur, I take them for a finishing course at Roorkee."

We get more applications for trained workmen than we are able to supply. At the present moment, there are no less than eight applications in the office.

Among our visitors this year was Mr. Alma Latifi, Assistant Commissioner of the Department of Industry, Punjab. In writing for some information later on, he says: "I might take this opportunity to mention that your school is one of the best I have seen in the course of my inquiry and I was surprised to find it not better known. Your success is a very good refutation of the arguments of those who insist on devoting an unduly large portion of school time in Industrial Schools to purely literary subjects."

We sent four of our big boys to the C. E. Convention at Agra. They came back enthused and have tried hard to live out what they learned while there, and to get others drawn in. We find a growing earnest spirit among the boys which has shown itself in a great many ways and is very gratifying. Some members of the C. E. Society go every Sunday afternoon to the Leper Asylum to sing and pray and talk with the members.

Since Miss Herron's resignation and departure for America, Miss Pratt has had charge of the Girls' School for non-Christians at Saharanpur with 40 girls at the reopening.

Mr. Jones writes of the evangelistic work in the Saharanpur district:

There have been 83 baptisms during the year in connection with our own Mission, and 18 in the Nukur Tahsil, which was transferred to the National Missionary Society.

The preacher in charge at Rámpur, Rev. Albert George, mentions an interesting incident. On account of some of the Christians practicing idolatrous rites, 20 others, with their wives and children, banded themselves together and signed a paper that they would observe only Christian rites and ceremonies, and separate themselves from all who sought to break in upon Christian unity. This was done entirely of their own accord and hence is worth mention here.

SABATHU.

Dr. Carleton's break-down in health has thrown an important work at Sabathu on other members of the Mission already overburdened. Mr. Tracy reports of the village work and of the Leper Asylum:

Preaching in the villages, and especially at the melas in various places near Sabathu, has been carried on as usual. The book shops at Solan, Dagshai, Dharmpore and Sabathu have been centres for evangelistic work by the "preached word," as well as by the written message. The Christian servants of the King's Regiment, stationed in Sabathu and Dagshai, have been ministered to by the workers of the Mission, and considerable interest has been shown. One feature of the work in Sabathu is the weekly Prem Sabha (Love Feast) for all the Christians, a meeting from house to house, where religious worship is followed by a social gathering.

During the year the number of Indian lepers in the Asylum was not so great as in the year preceding—at no time exceeding 70. The number of European patients was 5, but one of them was mercifully released from his misery by death in the month of December. Several applications for admission by Europeans and Eurasians had to be answered in the negative on account of lack of proper accommodations.

JULLUNDUR.

Of the Girls' School Mrs. Orbison reports:

The old prejudices, especially in regard to zenana work, have so far worn off that we have pressing invitations to take up more zenanas, and cannot meet the demand with our present force. The desire for female education, introduced and fostered by Mission work among girls and women, is now beginning to take root and grow here and elsewhere, so that with Municipal Board girls' schools carried on around us, our own schools continue to flourish. We wonder how long it will be before the local authorities learn to follow our example in zenana work,

The attendance at the four Hindu and one Mohammedan girls' schools aggregates 153. Besides these, 78 girls living in zenanas are regularly taught, making a total of 231 women and girls under instruction.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.—

The work of the year has resulted in 335 baptisms of men, women and children. Most of these have been baptized in their own villages, and are connected with families who were previously converted. But in one tour a new village was visited and there 28 baptisms took place.

Mr. F. Newton writes:

Licentiate Jamal-ud-din was with us most of the winter, and partly on this account we spent more time than usual in Mohammedan villages, in the region where he was formerly the Mullah or religious teacher of the Mohammedans, before his conversion to Christianity. He is still regarded with much respect by his old pupils and friends, hospitably entertained by the headmen of several villages, where he and we also had abundant opportunities to preach both publicly and privately. Numbers of his old acquaintances would come to his tent at night and sit for hours listening to these discourses and numbers of books and tracts were given to seemingly earnest inquirers.

Dr. C. B. Newton writes of the Boys' High School that it has now 694 pupils as compared with 520 a year ago. He reports:

We are doing what we can to instill a practical knowledge of the Holy Scriptures into the minds and hearts of all these bright boys. Every class has its period of Bible instruction daily, all the five Christian teachers taking part in it, and one devoting his whole time to it. There is also a short service of Scripture exposition and prayer every morning, the whole school being assembled for the purpose. This service is sometimes conducted by the head master, or one of the other Christian teachers, and sometimes by Rev. Ralla Ram, the pastor, but as a rule by one of the missionaries of the Station. We feel that we could nowhere find a more hopeful audience than we have in these boys, who evince a deep interest in these morning lectures and listen with respectful attention.

We rejoice the more in the successful work of our head master, because he is our own boy grown up to manhood in the Mission. He was educated in this school and the Forman Christian College at Lahore, after which he passed through the Government Training School and became a certified teacher.

His parents dedicated him in childhood to God's service in the Mission, and although he has been offered more lucrative situations in the Government Educational Department, he has refused to consider them.

LAHORE.

Forman Christian College.—

In October, 1910, there were 421 students on the rolls of the College. The enrollment is somewhat less than last year, but this is entirely due to a determination to reduce the number of students, many being turned away who desired admission. Of these the Hindus number 209; the Mohammedans, 151; the Sikhs, 40; the Christians, 20. There are two significant facts about these numbers; first, that Forman College has a larger number of Mohammedans than any other College of the Province; secondly, that no other college furnishes such an arena for students of different classes to mingle one with the other. Ten out of the fifteen members of the staff are Christians—a very large percentage, remembering that the Persian, Arabic, and Sanskrit teachers are almost of necessity non-Christian.

For a half hour each day, these 421 students divide into eight Bible classes. In the Freshman Class, Luke is being studied; John in the Sophomore; Mark in the Junior; and Romans in the Senior Class. The Christians are going through Acts with the special idea of seeing how the early Church grew in the various countries of the West.

Up to the present, Forman College has turned out 7,200 students. This is a large percentage of the college product of the Province. The testimony given by these men through letters to their old teachers and to other missionaries, show that as doctors lawyers teachers or

Up to the present, Forman College has turned out 7,200 students. This is a large percentage of the college product of the Province. The testimony given by these men through letters to their old teachers and to other missionaries, show that as doctors, lawyers, teachers, or Government servants they have been greatly influenced by their stay in Forman College. The membership of the Christian Church is overwhelmingly from the lower castes. The Church is having its influence from below on the great mass of India's people. The graduates of a Christian College are pervading the community from above with the spirit of tolerance and, in very many cases, a deep reverence for Christ.

Dr. Ewing, President of the College, has been made Vice-Chancellor of the University of Punjab, a place of great honor, in recognition of Dr. Ewing's unique position in the Punjab. There is no institution in India any more careful or insistent in its direct religious influence on its students. Mr. Lucas writes of his experience in this school:

I feel I have spent two years in just coming into real touch with the religious world in which most of the students live. It is a world most intensely interesting—where many of the men are clinging desperately to some old, untenable views of God and His world, such as the plenary inspiration of the Quran, or the belief that God incarnated Himself in Ram and Krishan as well as in Christ and that Krishan will do for the Hindu. When one gets a man to really realize the supreme value of character, then comes the real struggle with a few of the men. How many, many things keep them from openly confessing Christ: it is losing every ambition of their young lives. So how absolutely necessary is the presence of the Holy Spirit in this period.

Mr. Donaldson, who has been teaching for three years in the College, writes:

The Philosophy work has been to me full of daily interest. The description and comparison of old systems and ancient theories seems to many students at home a fruitless and indefinite kind of business when it is compared with the much more tangible and exciting enterprises of scientific research. In India, however, that which was dead is found in a very real way to be alive again. You can ask such questions as this, Does the modern Indian faqir, in so far as he has any definite philosophy at all, resemble Antisthenes the Cynic or Zeno the Stoic?

For the varying phases of Pantheism, the mind of the Indian student is rich in associations with the popular notions of his people, and a teacher may often feel that his subject is even more practical than it is theoretical.

Rang Mahal Mission High School.—Mr. McKee, who went out from Cornell University to take charge of this school, is making a great success of his work and is studying constantly how to increase the evangelistic effectiveness of the school. This year, on October 25, the attendance had risen to 1,192, this being 121 more than last year's figures. Of these 758 were in the Main School and 407 in the three Branch Schools.

Miss MacDonald writes of the School for Christian Women:

Work among the lowly Christian women of the Hira Mandi congregation this year has gone on in a way that puts courage into the hearts of those who see the progress, small though it be, that they make from day to day and from month to month. They are raw material, and anything in the form of human beings more hopelessly impossible than they seemed two years ago, it would indeed be difficult to imagine. The common experience was to go, day after day, with a simple lesson on the rudiments of Christianity, thought out and adapted to their need, only to find that it was impossible to maintain quiet and order long enough to teach even the simplest thing satisfactorily; and one often felt that the only good of such teaching was to test the faith of the teacher and keep her humble.

These women live in little, dark, one-roomed houses, on the outskirts of the city. The only light and ventilation come through the door, and the house is dwelling, storehouse and barn.

The teaching goes something like this: The teacher appears; at once they all salaam and a string bed is placed in the shade for her to sit upon. Usually there are countless boils, sore eyes, sore feet and sick babies to display, as well as fevers to describe. It is useless to say one is not a doctor. Before the lesson can proceed, something has to be done. Usually a few simple remedies go a long way in relieving these minor ailments and the more complicated cases are sent to hospital or dispensary. Then the teacher begins thus: "Now are you ready to listen?" "Yes, Miss Sahib." A few moments of quiet follow; then a baby, in a house nearby, sets up a howl. The mother has to run and bring it. She comes back; the lesson is begun all over again; the women are paying attention beautifully, when, all of a sudden, the bread, forgotten for the moment, begins to burn. This, of course, upsets everything, and, perhaps, it is five minutes before order is again restored. By that time, it is safe to assure that they have forgotten all they have heard, so we have to begin again, but, before we get to the place where we left off, a boy tumbles over a pariah dog, causing him to howl. A few well punctuated Punjabi epithets are hurled out at both, from the group of women, and, not satisfied with that, one of them runs out to cuff the boy and beat the dog, meaning doubtless to quiet things, but really adding to the disturbance. These and many more of the same sort, are actual occurrences. Sometimes they all come in one morning; sometimes only a few of them. Under these circumstances, it is easy to imagine that the missionary seldom comes away with the satisfactory feeling of having accomplished something and, if it were not for a saving sense of humor, often the whole situation would be lost.

In spite of the untoward circumstances the women are learning. In the place where there used to be the greatest restlessness, the women now manage their babies and their cooking so as to be able to sit quietly through a whole lesson. Four of the non-Christian women, who used to come to the class and add much to the disturbance, have been baptized and vie with the others in maintaining order. Four women, in the past year, have learned to read more or less. One has just finished her primer. The two women of this community, upon whom we depended most, and both of whom had finished the Third Reader and a Gospel and were doing what they could to teach others, have been called away. As the result of the efforts of one of them, we have a very promising family of four adults added to the church and two young women of that family are learning to read.

We have about a dozen women among these people, who ask and answer questions intelligently. Five women and four little girls have been baptized during the year and one more is ready for baptism. Two of those, who were baptized last Sunday, wished to put it off until next Sunday, because they each wished to bring a thank offering of a rupee. This was entirely their own idea.

The Hindu Girls' School enrolls 194 girls.

Many girls leave school to take up the duties of married life before the advanced age of fourteen and the, for non-Christian Indian girls, comparatively high intellectual attainments of the Fifth Standard. Of these, we have sent out about 50 in the past year, and we hope that each is helping, in her own small way, to bear the light of the Gospel into the Indian home.

In the Mohammedan's Girls' School the attendance has been the largest of any in its history, being at one time over 130 pupils on the roll.

The evangelistic work in the district is under the charge of the Rev. Ghulam Masih; 300 are under instruction for baptism.

Delhi Gate Dispensary—Mrs. Clark reports:

There have been 4,374 old patients and 4,953 new patients, making a total of 9,327. There were 684 minor operations. The number of patients is somewhat less than last year, but this is probably due to the fact that there was really less illness in the city than in the previous year. The plague was not so bad, but we had a few cases. We felt sad for one mother, a bright young teacher in the Normal School for Women, who was heart-broken to find that her little girl had plague. But she followed all directions carefully and the child was soon well. So different are these educated women, who appreciate the value of medicines and doctors, from the ignorant ones, who come too late for proper help or through carelessness or neglect fail to recover, although every effort be made. Of this class, was the woman who brought to us her child, a bright little boy of five, asking us "to make his eyes," when, alas, it was entirely too late and the poor little lad would never see again. Perhaps saddest of all are the many consumptive cases, some of which we have been able to cure in the first stages, but for others there was little to do but to seek to lessen their sufferings. The Indian name, Tap-i-Diqq, "the fever of trouble," is as apt as that in America, "the white plague." It is often that to some of these worst cases our spiritual message comes with most comfort and assurance and they are often the ones to confess Christ most boldly and lead their friends to listen also. An old woman, who died recently talked so much about Christ, that her husband, a lonely old man, seems also to be trusting in Christ. A Hindu girl, now far gone in consumption, has been much helped by one of our workers; and now, when asked if she has found help, she answers, "Yes, it is all peace, peace."

All the women have this year listened more eagerly than ever before and we have had a much larger number of new women from the villages, who have probably never heard the Gospel before. We have as usual a large group, probably 75 at least, who are secret believers. We trust they will remain firm in their faith, till the day when the barriers that hold them back shall give way and, together with their fathers, husbands and sons, they may be able to make public profession of their faith.

It is interesting to note how the blame for the continuation of the purdah system and the oppression of women is now laid by one person upon another—a very clear acknowledgment that there is fault somewhere. Said a leading well-educated Mohammedan gentleman: "We younger men would not so much mind doing away with the purdah system and giving our women a higher standing, but it would be such a blow to my old father and his friends, that we have to wait."

AMBALA,

Mr. McCuskey, of the Boys' High School, which closed the year with an enrollment of 590, writes:

The staff of Bible teachers remained the same as last year, and daily instruction in every class, from the lowest to the highest, has been faithfully and earnestly carried on. There are many evidences that the Christian influence of the school is vigorous. The writer of this report feels sure that a number of the recent out-going Matriculation Class were ready to accept Christ as their Lord and Master, but were prevented from open confession by the fear of family oppression and ostracism.

Miss Pratt writes of the Non-Christian Girls' School:

Notwithstanding all our hindrances, we have had some fine results from Bible teaching. One girl went home and boldly declared to her family that she wanted to be a Christian. Another was kept from school because her Bible knowledge was too much. A third said she was not to return and the teacher said it was on account of the din (religion). The question has been more than once asked, "If we, being Mohammedans, pray in the name of Jesus, will God hear us and answer our prayers?"

Mr. McCuskey writes of an incident of the evangelistic work in the district which well illustrates the attitude of the so-called "ligher castes" towards the "sweepers."

A Christian from the latter community recently died in a village near Jagadhri. Licentiate Hamid-ud-din went out to conduct a Christian burial service. 'At the grave, he found the half dozen Christian nen of the village with their sweeper friends assembled, and, standing at a distance, four or five "zamindárs" with bamboo clubs in their hands. Hamid-ud-din read part of the burial service and the body was then lowered into the grave. At this juncture the scowling "zamindárs" came forward and roughly ordered that the body should first be turned over and held face down for a moment, to indicate the degraded caste to which the deceased belonged and also to prevent the soul of the dead man from haunting the village. The Christians remonstrated at such an indignity and refused to obey the outrageous demand. Thereupon the zamindárs became violently angry and, calling out from the village more of their fellow castemen, were ready to set upon the Christians with clubs. Yielding, then, to superior force, the little group of Christians sadly carried out the orders of their oppressors; and then Hamidud-din completed the burial service.

The increasing infirmities of age have prevented Dr. Thack-well from continuing his active work in the Ambala Cantonment, and at the close of the year, after 53 years of service, he concluded that he must lay aside the work.

The Philadelphia Hospital.—Dr. Marston reports:

The attendance for the year has been as follows:

New patients at the dispensary	9,317
Total visits, new and old
Operations in hospital	99
In-patients	339
Midwifery cases—in both hospital and outside practice	220

Each morning brings a number of women to us. Some of them are intelligent enough to appreciate some truths at the first hearing. A number seem incapable of mental effort, and must hear many times before they grasp the simplest truth.

Leper Asylum.—Between 60 and 70 inmates were enrolled during the year, of which only half were Christians.

DEHRA.

The Boys' School enrolled 335, a gratifying increase over last year. Of the Girls' School, Miss Donaldson reports:

Our advanced classes are made up of earnest and reliable Christian girls, who give promise of practical Christian service in wider spheres in the years to come.

Preaching is being carried on throughout the year systematically both in Hindustani and English.

HOSHYARPUR.

Dr. and Mrs. Chatterjee attended the Edinburgh Missionary Conference, where Mr. Chatterjee was honored by the University of Edinburgh with the degree of "D.D." While they were gone, Miss Newton looked after the Girls' Orphanage. She writes:

Education up to the Fifth Class of the Primary Standard is imparted to all the girls combined with such industries as are suited to their sex and station in life, such as cooking, sewing, knitting, and embroidery and drawn-thread work. Some of the girls attain to such proficiency in these arts that they could easily earn a comfortable living by means of it. Religious and moral training are carefully given.

The year began with 63 girls. There was one admission but four withdrawals by marriage. All these four are doing well and are happy in their new homes. We have now 60 girls on the roll, of whom 19 are full orphans and 12 half orphans.

Book-shop.—The book-shop is in charge of B. Ram Lal, and the blind preacher Ditt Ram attends it for a while daily and is ready to talk with any one who may wish to converse on religious topics in the reading room. This man has memorized the Gospels, many of the Epistles, the Psalms, and other parts of the Scriptures, and it is wonderful how he can repeat chapter after chapter in a loud yet natural voice, rarely hesitating or using the wrong word.

Village Work.—

Mr. Fred. J. Newton reports on the village work as follows, he having had charge during Dr. Chatterjee's absence in Scotland:

In the towns and villages of Hoshyarpur, there are over 3,000 Christians connected with our Mission, a far greater number than are to be found in any other one of our missionary districts. For forty-three years this work has been in charge of one missionary, Dr. Chatterjee, who has been largely a district missionary, and there has been a consistency and perseverance in the work, which probably that of no other district in our Mission has enjoyed.

During the past year 196 persons, 108 adults and 88 children, have been baptized in the district. There is now a total of 3,258 baptized persons in the Christian community and 1,171 inquirers. The very unique and interesting congregation at Ghorawaha is composed mainly of converts from Islâm, Râjpút zamindárs, and their families. There are probably as many as fifty people of this class in the congregation. The foundation of this church was laid over thirty years ago in the conversion of a number of these people and the movement seemed but a prophecy of a large ingathering from these landholders. Unfortunately Rájpút pride and the accompanying quarrelsomeness and jealousy were not overcome. Parties were formed and the church did not bear the fruit that was hoped for. In spite of these faults these people have shown many virtnes: endurance, courage, loyalty.

Denny Hospital for Women.—

The hospital is small, accommodating only 10 in-patients. Our attendance in out-door patients is very good, generally 120 patients a day, and we have sometimes gone up to 170 a day in the summer.

In-door patients	146
New out-door patients	9,982
New out-door and repeated visits	29,400
Daily average of in-door patients
Daily average of out-door patients	107.15

Between 60 and 70 inmates are enrolled during a year, of whom nearly half are Christians.

FEROZEPUR.

District and Training School.—Mr. Carter reports:

Last year there were 252 Christians living in 35 villages. In a year there has been almost a twofold increase—with 489 Christians in 60 villages. This increase has been due in a large measure to simply following up the relations of those who had been formerly baptized. This rapid growth of village communities, not only in this district, but throughout the Mission, has created a problem that the home church must help us to meet. These new converts are almost all illiterate and have increased the percentage of Christian illiteracy. In this district, two years ago, 22 per cent. were literate, last year 16 per cent. and this year only 13 per cent. And this declining scale prevails throughout the Mission. To meet this increase of Christians, we must create a body of men to instruct and build up. In the Training School, men, new and untrained, are taken from the villages, taught the rudiments and given such training, simple in its character, as will fit them for the work and make them not unwilling to return and live in their own environment and throw their lives into the work of making its life wholesome and Christian. In this school the membership has increased from twelve to twenty men and four have passed out into active work. Six days are spent in solid study. The seventh is a field day, a day of practical service and field training. Every Sunday little bands go out to the neighboring villages, 12 in number, and give the message they have learned during the week. The two teachers, Pindi Das and Sundar Singh, men of good caste, are men of consecration as well, and have thrown their lot in with the out-castes, from whom their students come. It is from them and from no foreigner, that the student gets his inspiration; and in that there is cause for rejoicing, for it is a stimulus from Indian men whose own experience is real and strong. Twice the number of students could be taken into the school, but our resources limit us. The twenty now in preparation could not meet the needs of one district.

District Work.—Miss Clark writes of Village Work and its encouragements and discouragements:

A catechist was teaching a class of inquirers, but nothing had been done for the women. Miss Jones and I had a night class for them, that being the only time they were at leisure. There were seven women and girls whose interest was enough to bring them out of their houses in those chilly nights. Among these were two exceptionally bright young girls of about seventeen. They would sit until ten o'clock, memorizing Bible texts and hymns and listening to the Bible stories. In those few days they memorized and learned to sing several hymns and psalms, besides committing to memory the Ten Commandments (short form) and some texts of Scripture. Such eagerness to learn, and the tenderness awakened in these girls' hearts by the story of Christ's sufferings, was a marvel to us. It could only have come from the working of God's Spirit in their hearts.

One night, when a hymn was being memorized, one of the girls sat in a brown study. The other nudged her and said, "Why do you not speak?" "Hush," came the reply, "I am just getting it fixed in my mind. There is no use of saying with lips what one has not grasped with the mind." After a week, the girls were eager to be baptized, but at the same time they hesitated to be the first among the women to come out. They kept saying that if Narain's wife (who was the wife of the leading man of the community) would be baptized, they would. This woman was very superstitions and refused to even listen. She had lost a child after her husband become a Christian and she believed that it was because he had not allowed her to appease the village deities with offerings when the child was ill. She was afraid now that her second and only child might die, if she became a Christian and did not make offerings to the idols.

Shortly after our visit, Indo, the brightest of these two girls, married and went to live in her husband's village. There she gathered the children and taught them the hymns and verses she had learned, and, when the village was visited later by some of the workers from Moga, they were given a warm welcome and had a good hearing. About 20 persons in that village have since been baptized.

Frances Newton Hospital—Dr. Allen reports:

Our work is full of encouragement. Opposition in a hospital is unknown these days and the people quite approve of our prayers. Many are too ignorant to take in much and many are indifferent, but we trust some seed may fall on good ground this coming year, as it has in the past one.

The following table covers 14 months to November 31, but really shows the facts for 12 months, because the hospital was closed for two months:

New patients
Visits	12,702
In-patients Operations	314
Operations	316

KASUR.

Dr. Forman is carrying on a combined Medical and Evangelistic work.

We had three Jalsas at different centres during the past year, the expense of which was borne by the people themselves. At each of these three places, the Christians invited all the preachers of the district, and along with each worker two or three of the leading men of their community. Others, too, came in from neighboring villages, so that the number of guests to be entertained at two of these Jalsas amounted to fifty or more. The meetings were held in a large tent which we sent out for the purpose. This being pitched right inside the village, and well lighted up at night, added much to the interest of the occasion. These Jalsas last generally for three days, and each day there are three meetings held, the morning meeting to which all who can attend, then comes the afternoon meeting, for women only, during which time the missionary, the workers and a few volunteers visit some neight boring village, and then the evening meeting, beginning about 8.30 and generally going on to 11 or 12 o'clock. The evening meetings might well be called the popular meetings, as both men and women attend these in large numbers and enter heartily into the singing of the psalms and hymns. We have often seen Hindus and Mohammedans in the audience, who remained throughout the meeting as attentive listeners. At such meetings an opportunity is given for any one to take part, on the understanding that the subject assigned for the evening is adhered to. Such subjects as the New Birth, Prayer, Sins of the Tongue, etc., were introduced by one of the workers and then freely discussed. It was good to hear some of those raw village men, asking or answering in their own way, some question on a subject that appealed to them. Such a gathering offered a fitting opportunity for the appointing of Chaudris (leaders) who each received a pagri and a ring as the sign of office. Such men are and can be a great help to the preachers. The collection boxes are in their care, which is a much more satisfactory plan than being in the hands of the preacher.

The contributions that have come in from the money boxes at the different centres have shown, too, that they are learning to give. In opening these we have been astonished to find whole rupees, in one box as many as eighteen.

We are now using camels largely on such trips. The missionary and preacher can both ride on one, while the whole paraphernalia of bedding, store box, etc., can be loaded on a second, and a third completes the outfit by carrying the necessary tents. Heretofore we have experienced so much annoyance in hiring of bullock carts and the attendant haggling over the rates, which are ever on the increase, that we are thankful now to be free from this.

KHANNA.

Twenty-eight pupils were enrolled in the Boarding School for Village Boys.

The work has made satisfactory progress, the output of cloth per loom being 38 per cent. more than it was last year, showing an increased efficiency on the part of the boys.

Mr. Newton notes a growing separation of the Christians from their old heathen associations, and naturally in consequence, many cases of persecution. One case is typical:

B was a tenant of another landowner. After his baptism, he retained for a long time the kes (long hair which is a badge of the Sikh followers of Guru Gobind Singh). On one occasion, however, when he attended a gathering of Christians some distance away, he was persuaded to cut this off. On his return to his village, his landlord, who had previously made no trouble about his being a Christian, noticed what he had done, and by threats and promises made strenuous efforts to induce him to return to his allegiance to the Sikh religion. Failing in this he not only deprived him of his land but cut down his standing crop and turned him out.

LANDOUR.

Woodstock College .-

Woodstock opened this year with 127 students in attendance, as compared with 119 in March last year. Boarding students, to the number of 135, had been registered before the opening of the term, which is the largest number ever registered during the history of Woodstock.

During the eight months under review, the attendance has averaged 121 boarders and 29 day students, or a total of 150.

The great trial of the year was an attack of the cholera, which resulted in the death of some of the servants, and of Miss Kendig, their efficient school nurse and matron. The work of developing advanced instruction was continued during the year, and the Missionary Training Class has done efficient service.

The Mission suffered severely during the year. Mr. Enders, who had returned to India on January 1, 1910, with the approval of his home physicians, was found to have come back prematurely and died of a complication of troubles on August 5, 1910. Mrs. Enders and the children subsequently returned to America. Mr. and Mrs. Gillam were obliged to return home on account of health, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence, already at home, were prevented by Mrs. Lawrence's illness from going back to India. The Mission was reinforced, however, by the addition of Dr. Sarah E. Swezey, Miss Mabel E. Griffith, and Miss Lena B. Ruchti.

ALLAHABAD STATION.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.—Katra Church.—Dr. Lucas reports:

For some months the pastor was unable, on account of serious illness, to take the church services. During this time the members of the Session provided for the pulpit to the satisfaction of the congregation. The church is to be congratulated on having a Session and Financial Board capable of looking after the affairs of the church for so many months without a pastor.

The friendly feeling subsisting among the members of the church is a great cause of thanksgiving. They are very much like one family.

The Jumna Church is also without a pastor. Of the evangelistic work in general, Dr. Lucas reports:

There ought to be a missionary or Indian evangelist set apart who could give most of his time to the 300,000 and more people across the Jumna who are within reach of our three out-stations.

Our evangelistic work in Allahabad City is centred in two or three of the city Church; 2d, the Mela grounds at the junction of the rivers, and 3d, at Kotha Parcha. On five evenings in the week the doors of the City Church are opened, the big bell is rung and the Word is preached, sometimes to a good-sized audience, more frequently to a dozen or two of people, but these small audiences often prove the more responsive and hopeful.

At the junction of the Ganges and Jumna Rivers, during the Mela in January and February, we pitched our big tent as usual, and here the preachers of all the Missions united in preaching to the pilgrims who came from a distance to bathe. Thousands of tracts and hand-bills were given away, and thus the Word is not only heard by many, but taken away in these handbills to be read here and there all over Four Sunday-schools have been maintained for non-Christians, apart from the two Church Sunday-schools.

EDUCATIONAL WORK.—Mary Wanamaker Girls' School.—Miss Forman reports:

In the report of Miss Stuart, Chief Inspectress of Schools, written after her annual visit last spring, she said, "The School is conspicuous throughout its classes for thorough work done," and later in conversation added, "Miss Tracy has done fine work and is to be congratulated on the result."

We had on our staff last year five of our own girls as teachers; one we lose at the end of the term. It is very gratifying to have our pupils come back to us as teachers, as we have always found them faithful in their work and loyal to the school.

We have this year 136 boarders and began the term with 10 or 12 day-scholars. Among the latter were two Hindu women and four Hindu children.

We have introduced the use of forks and spoons recently. There was some expense of course, and the noise of spoons and enameled plates which meets us is as of a hailstorm. The expense we are planning to meet by the sale of a big shisham tree, which died opportunely.

Jumna Boys' High School .--

The number of Christian teachers has been increased. The place of two non-Christian graduates has been filled by Christians, and other Christian teachers have been added on account of increase in the number of classes.

The number enrolled at the present time is 780.

Dr. Ewing writes:

I have continued to meet the Christian teachers for prayer each morning and to conduct the opening exercises of the school. I have gone through the Acts of the Apostles and part of the Epistle to the Romans. The exposition of the great truths of the Epistle to the Romans has given wonderful opportunities to present the claims of Christ and the glory of the Christian life. Two students of the school have been baptized. They are now passing through a time of testing, the result of which we await with prayer and patience.

Of the 780 pupils enrolled 69 are Christians.

Allahabad Christian College.—Dr. Ewing reports:

The number now enrolled is 295, of whom 17 are Christians. Last year we had altogether in the hostels some 129 students. Of these, 12 were Christians, 37 Mohammedans, and 80 Hindus. These numbers include some 12 students who lived in two houses in the city which we rented and used as hostels. This year we have altogether 134 students in hostels. Of these, 14 are Christians, 35 Mohammedans, and 85 Hindus. These numbers include some 14 students who are living in a rented house in the city. We are sadly in need of more hostels.

In July, 1909, Bethany Jubilee Memorial Hall, which is the main College building, was nearly enough completed to be usable. For the first time since 1903, when there were only two classes, we could have all our Arts Classes in one building. We got these class-rooms just in time, as the number of students increased to 260. Without this building we could not have admitted those who came. The one drawback was and is that we have no chapel or assembly room where we can get them all together. The foundation for this is laid and will be built as soon as sanctioned.

When school and College reopened in July the pressure for admissions was greater than ever before. The school admitted up to 750 and turned some scores away. The College admitted 293 and refused a good many more.

In addition to the Engineering and Manual Training Departments, the College proposes now an Agricultural Department, and Mr. Higginbottom, while at home on furlough, has been seeking to secure funds for its equipment, in the conviction that no more helpful educational service can be rendered to the Indian people than to help them to improve methods of farming. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Slater have been added to the staff of the College for this work.

Katra Middle School.—

The boys in school run in age from 8 to 20 years, two-thirds of them under 14 years of age. That means we are not at liberty to baptize them without the consent of their parents. A large percentage of the pupils, perhaps half, are Mohammedans and come from good families. To stand day after day in the hall of this school before more than 100 boys, with liberty to teach them the whole Gospel story and its meaning, is a privilege appreciated more and more.

MEDICAL WORK.—Sara Seward Hospital.—The hospital has been kept open, although without a medical missionary in charge, under the care of Miss Christian. It has done, even with its reduced staff, an extensive work.

Outdoor Department.—Daily attendance, new cases only:—7,994 were treated during the year under report against 7,898 in the previous year. In-patients:—59 were admitted against 48.

Operations:—126 were performed against 70.

Maternity cases:—There were 8 in hospital and 2 at patients' houses.

Makhzan-I-Masihi.—

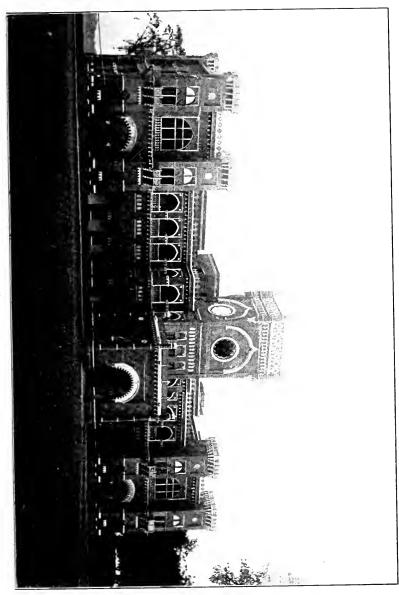

The Makhzan circulates largely among Indian Christians, many of whom have very little reading-more than 150 subscribers living in villages get most of their news concerning the work of the Church in other parts of India and throughout the world from the pages of the Makhzan.

Leper Asylum.—Professor Avey, of the College, who has charge of the Leper Asylum, reports:

The number of inmates at the Leper Asylum during the past year reached the highest point in the history of the institution, the average for the year ending April 1, 1910, being 221.

The Untainted Children's Home is a phase of the Leper Asylum work which has more of hope and inspiration in it than comes from the care of the Leper Asylum alone. At present we have 16 children there. Two or three more children at the Asylum should be sent there soon. Along with the cheer that comes from the happy faces of the children and the merry "Salaam, Sahib," which always greets one, the thought of the future and the plans for properly caring for that number of children and giving adequate opportunity and means for development when not in continuous contact with them brings one face to face with the need of much prayer for guidance in planning aright.

ETAWAH STATION.

In the absence of any American missionary, Mr. Fitch has continued in charge of the Etawah work. Mr. Fitch arranged some conventions throughout the district.

The programme contained subjects that had immediate bearing on the lives of the people. Speakers who were thoroughly conversant with their needs were chosen to deliver the addresses. Opportunity for prayer was given at the end of every session. Many were led to pray. It was cheering to hear the first lisping of prayer in public by some of the new converts, mentioning their needs in their own way and in their own words, and the more advanced helping them when they got stuck. Words of praise went from the lips of the workers on such occasions.

At Kudar Kot the village Christians themselves appointed a committee of their own to arrange for the next convention. They had experienced spiritual blessings which others had not and they were desirous that not only the convention should be annual but many others, including women, should join it.

There are 5 day-schools in the district, 4 Christian Endeavor Societies, and 2 Sunday-schools. Mr. Fitch reports of the district and evangelistic work:

This year the Christians gave us a warmer welcome than during the previous. The difference in behavior and knowledge between those who had the help of a preacher and those who had not was apparent. Superstition has as yet a stronghold in the hearts of the people. The impression made in the minds of men is soon effaced by the women, who are often more bigoted than the men. The children are obliged to lead a sort of double life. When they come before the Christian preacher or teacher, they think and act as Christians. But when they go home to their mothers and grandmothers the new impressions seem almost entirely to die out. To safeguard this evil, boarding schools where the little ones could be kept from all such tainting influence are needed in almost every district.

The Arya Samajists and the Mohammedans are following us in our footsteps. They have their boarding and training schools and their preachers. These preachers are sent out on tour in villages.

In conventions, too, the Christians are being imitated. Though Etawah is a small place, the people have shown their religious zeal in the annual conventions the different religionists have organized. The Mohammedans started theirs after 300 of their ranks joined the Arya Samajists. Then the Arya followed, imitating in toto the Christian methods, and then the Sanatan Dharmees, in opposition to the Aryas, with the four Vedas, once hidden from the eyesight of the Sudras and Milechehes, placed prominently in a big car in their public processions, and then the Jains with as much pomp and grandeur as money can bring. The few Qadimis, too, I am told, are planning for a convention of their own. It was noticed that these conventions bound those of one sect together closer than ever before, thus making the work harder for the Christian preacher.

One Sunday in the Sunday-school for non-Christians held in the church we had for our lesson the man born blind, and over 35 were present. At the close the verse of a very lively hymn (bhajan), which has the following for meaning, was sung by all: "We were once idolators and ignorant, but now, O Friends, we have been enlightened through Christ." After they had all sat down the question was asked, "How many of them really felt what they sang?" A moment of silence followed. Then two Hindu boys and then two Mohammedans, and then a Hindu—the biggest of the whole lot of boys—stood up. But those who sat by the side of the last pulled him down, saying that he was a great idolator. But he shook them off and stood up again and said aloud, "Certainly I was an idolator, but now I have given it up and have accepted Christ." It was then asked that those only who really felt the substance of the verse had better stand up and sing. Then all the five stood together and sang the verse from the bottom of their heart—"We were once idolators and ignorant, but now, O Friends, we have been enlightened through Christ." The biggest lad has been personally talked to several times. He is steadfast in his decision.

The second village church in this district was organized at Beerai with 21 members in it on the 15th of February, 1910. These were greatly put to trouble by their landlords even to the verge of starvation. Those who were in employ under them were dismissed, others were threatened with confiscation of their lands, and all were practically cut off from all income they had from the village people. But they held fast to what was entrusted to them. It was not surprising, therefore, when the Church Organizing Committee went to examine them that they found them to be Christians of some experience.

A few months later, after the church was organized at Beerai, the landlords of the adjoining village and those of Beerai had a hot dispute as to the right of getting the water first from the canal, which ended in a fight. Beerai landlords needing help almost besought the Christians, as they were strong, stalwart men, to side with them. But the Christians, when they heard of the fight, ran to the spot and stood between the two parties as peacemakers, raising their sticks that no party might hit the other. Beerai landlords are to this day grateful for this kind act of theirs and have ceased to threaten them about confiscating their lands. Some have been restored to their posts, and we, too, are being looked on as their friends and not as their foes, as we were before now thought to be.

FATEHGARH STATION.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.—Mr. Hemphill reports for the Station:

The spiritual condition of our district work is not all that we could wish. Nevertheless there has been progress in the spiritual life of the Indian leaders and the churches. Much enthusiasm was aroused over the teaching of the village women. The plan of having the overseers' wives itinerate with them, just as Mrs. Bandy itinerates with Mr. Bandy, was suggested, and the necessary expense for several of them was subscribed. The number of communicants is 1,304, and the baptized community is 6,561.

Fatchgarh Station feels very strongly that at least one missionary should be appointed to give his whole time to the evangelistic work of the district. We realize how shorthanded the Mission is, but if any work in our Station must suffer, let it be anything else rather than the evangelistic work. We cannot afford to neglect the education and nurture of this village community of almost 7,000 Christians at this juncture.

EDUCATIONAL WORK.—Rakha Girls' School.—

The number of girls in Rakha School is slightly less than last year, 100 as compared with 106.

The ladies in charge at Rakha feel very strongly that they should get more of these village girls in to Rakha to be prepared for leadership in the Christian community. Without enlarging the teaching staff they could accommodate 50 more girls. In order to get these girls from the villages and get in touch with the district work, the two missionary ladies will take turns itinerating in the district with the district missionary.

There has been more interest among the girls in spiritual things since the Agra C. E. Convention. Recently 18 girls, some of whom had for a long time fought against joining church, joined the Rakha Church. The girls have given the money to pay the expenses for one woman to itinerate in the district. They make lace and mend clothes in order to earn money to give to this district work.

Barhpur Boys' Boarding School.—

There are 103 boys in the boarding school, 64 of whom study in the City High School, 27 in the Industrial School, and 12 in the infants' class on the veranda. These boys are all growing in character. We who live with them day by day can see glaring faults and weaknesses in them; but there has been a manifest growth in manliness.

Furrukhabad High School.—

For the third to the tenth classes inclusive we have now 346 boys, where last year we had 338. The number of Christian boys is somewhat less than last year, 70 as compared with 90. There are from 50 to 60 boys in the branch school. Several boys who seemed hopeless as students we took out of the school and put in the workshops.

Industrial School.—

We believe that the fight against Hindu prejudices and laziness among the boys is almost won. The workshop boys are proud of their work. The High School boys are getting their eyes opened and are beginning to doubt whether a Babu, after all, is a superior order of being to a Mistori. The boys we took out of the High School and put in the Industrial School have benefitted by the change. Instead of being careless and uscless, they have become industrious, self-reliant and manly.

The Girls' School in the city of Furrukhabad has been under Miss Fullerton's care.

The importance of the work may be seen when we realize that it is practically the only place where high-caste girls in this city of 80,000 can get an education.

Miss Fullerton reports:

The average daily attendance has been 95, and the average number on the roll monthly 165. Our pupils have, as before, been Hindus, Mohammedans, Sadhs and Christians—the greater number being Hindus. We have now two Anglo-Indian and six Indian teachers, only one of whom is a non-Christian, and her heart is with us. We have tried the plan of employing unmarried teachers as far as possible and have found it to be an improvement upon the other method; but "wife-hunters" are sometimes as troublesome as unworthy and useless husbands.

Sometimes we have had sad news from the child-wives who have gone to their mothers-in-law. During the past year, two who had been petted and loved in their own homes, meeting with harsh treatment from their mothers-in-law, sprinkled their clothes with kerosene oil, set fire to them and were burned to death. In a recent editorial of The Pioneer, the statement is made: "In the United Provinces, alone, the number of deaths from suicide, during the past year, amounted to 2,900—700 among males and 2,140 among females." Such tragedies are not uncommon in the zenanas.

MEDICAL WORK.—Dr. Anna Fullerton, who has continued her honorary service, which has comprised work of the highest character, reports:

With from 50 to 70 patients every morning to examine and prescribe for, operations to do, fears to assuage, and explanations and directions to give, not only to patients, but to anxious relatives and friends; mixtures, pills, powders, dressings, etc., to keep made up, we find our present force far too small. My sister's teachers have given help in the afternoons, in folding powders, preparing dressings, etc., but we could keep about double the number of helpers employed, and would gain more time for the friendly intercourse with patients which has its own powers of healing.

Patients come to us from all classes, but we have a large proportion of better-class women. A glimpse of our waiting-room when the patients are collected there will often show a motley crowd—gaily dressed and bejeweled Sadh women, the haughty Begum, the delicate-featured, high-caste Hindu women, daintily attired and fearful of contamination, and the low-caste women, often in rags and filth.

My sole helper in the Boys' Dispensary has been an ignorant but kindly old man—a village Christian—whose methods would give an up-to-date surgeon "germ mania." After an attempt to train him in the first principles of modern wound treatment, I find him still preferring to spread ointment with his unwashed finger on a rag which he places near him on the ground, while he cleanses the wound to which it is to be applied with water of doubtful purity. Scissors, bandages, and dressings he conveniently arranges around his dustladen feet. He sees no harm in plunging his hands into a jar of sterilized dressings. Forceps, probes and other instruments supplied to assist him in his work have been lost. He thinks that probably the mice that overrun his medicine closet have carried them away. As he could neither read nor write, bottles of varying sizes, shapes and colors had to be supplied him, to indicate, as by signal code, the remedies required for the different diseases and emergencies falling to his care. We are thankful to be able to report that no fatalities have resulted from his ministrations. He has shown a kindly fatherly interest in the boys, so that he has filled a useful place, and I am glad of this opportunity "to praise him with faint damus," to quote a well-known expression, as paraphrased by a Hindu Babu,

FATEHPUR STATION.

The resignation of Mr. and Mrs. Mattison and the death of Mr. Enders has left Fatehpur Station with no one in charge. The Indian assistants have carried on the work—the training class with five pupils—and the Woman's Union Zenana Mission has carried forward its growing work, which has been a great strength to the Fatehpur Station.

MAINPURI STATION.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.—Mr. Mitchell reports:

The Sanathan Dharm (Orthodox) Hindus held a convention in the city which was fairly well attended. The Sccretary's report was a sad comment upon their life. He stated that repeated attempts had been made to hold regular meetings, but all had failed; that very earnest efforts had been made to have a pandit give half time to Furrukhabad and half time to Mainpuri and so have services each alternate Sunday, but people had not interest enough to come to hear, nor had they interest enough to give the salary of the pandit. He went on to say that there were a few earnest worshipers who maintained an asylum for decrepit cows and that they would reap their reward. Hindus of the city and some from the district were present, but they were unable to get up cuthusiasm sufficient to meet the expenses of the convention.

The Arya Samajists also held an enthusiastic convention and with apparent ease raised some Rs. 4,000 to help complete their buildings. These people are making real and rapid progress throughout our district.

We have 4 ordained preachers, 2 unordained preachers, 18 preacher teachers, 5 young men who are in the Theological Seminary, but spend seven months of the year in work, and 3 Bible women working in the district and city. The staff is stronger than it has been in past years, but it needs to be numerically multiplied several fold, and spiritually fortified many fold more, before even a tithe of the depressed class alone can be effectively reached.

There have been about 350 baptisms during the year, making the baptized community about 2,300 in the district,

Caste people were frequently addressed, but for the most part efforts were devoted to the lost sheep of the Sweeper connection, many of them baptized, to be sure, but as yet desperately needy.

EDUCATIONAL WORK.—The Central Training School.— There are 49 men and boys and 25 women and girls in the school. Of the men, 24 are taking first year work and a part of these will be ready to take the examinations in November. There are 16 preparing for the second year's examinations and 9 for the third year's examinations.

Boys' High School.—

Three teachers have been added to the staff and we now have 18. Eight of them are Christians, 3 having been added within the year. Of 4 graduate teachers 3 are Christian; of 3 F. A. teachers 2 are Christian, and 2 are matriculation and one an ordained man on the matriculation grade. These are a fine lot of men and they are doing good work in the school. During the year the number of students has slightly inreased.

Six thousand rupees are needed for hostels. If this amount is available we would within two years expect to have hostels worth three times that sum. Residents of the district have already subscribed over Rs. 3,000 and we probably will get Rs. 5,000. Government will almost surely give as much as we get. In these hostels we would have accommodation for Christian boys and for non-Christians.

Agra Christian Endeavor Convention.—Mr. Forman writes:

Early in the year we started to march to the Agra Christian Endeavor Convention. A company of training students, village teachers and others moved alone through the Mainpuri and Agra Districts, a distance of sixty-seven miles, finding excellent opportunities for preaching and personal work, and by their numbers and enthusiasm impressing people of village and town. The world-gathering was a wonder to our more ignorant people, who had so little idea of the greatness of the Christian Church, and undoubtedly did much good.

JHANSI STATION.

The Rev. Henry Forman reports:

The chief advance of the year within the Station has been the acquisition of a valuable property in Sipri Bazar and the building of a beautiful church there. This has been made possible by the generous gift of Mr. and Mrs. Colton, of Philadelphia. The compound bought contains about $4\frac{1}{2}$ acres, is surrounded by a good brick wall, and had in it a cotton-baling factory and a number of outhouses. The church has been raised on the foundations of the old factory, and the houses have either been pulled down and the materials used in new ones or made over completely. We now have seven good houses for rent, one for the pastor to live in, and sixteen smaller ones to be used as training class quarters. The church has besides a beautiful room for church services which can seat 250 people, a large room for classes, a vestry and the tower room.

Mr. W. H. Griffith, of the Military Works Service, an architect and builder of rare ability, has given ungrudgingly of his time, and has both planned and built the church. Every attractive feature, every line of beauty, is the result of his painstaking care and generous effort.

The work of the Station includes the City Church, Sunday-schools, a boys' school which began with 20 boys but had grown after 3½ months to 65, a city girls' school with 46 names on the roll, and the general evangelistic activities. Mr. Forman quotes from the report of Miss Tresham, the zenana worker:

Since last December I have visited the jail once a week and have taught the women there. Many have been eager and attentive listeners, have taken part in singing and have remembered the lessons taught the week before. It has been very wonderful to see the change come over the faces of some who looked so hard and unrepentant; these generally sat far away and took no interest in what was said or sung, but by degrees they have drawn nearer and are now very attentive listeners and take a pride in remembering the lesson and in leading the singing. It has been most encouraging work and I trust and pray that the seed sown may bring fruit abundantly.

Mr. Forman writes:

About Barwa Sagar, which lies about 12 miles to the east of Jhansi, where the Mission has long had an out-station, there has begun a movement among the Sahariyas, a jungle tribe, related to the Bhils further south. They are a timid people and extremely poor, living for the most part on the products of the forest, gathering wood, gum, and honey, and selling them in the town. Also they work in the fields for farmers. They live in little communities of their own, sometimes far from other villages. Their houses are constructed sometimes wholly of the branches of trees, sometimes the walls are of mud and the roofs of boughs. During the day one finds a village deserted save for a few old women and the children. But as night falls the people gather after their day's wanderings, and the village of thatch huts with bright fires burning within them, where the women are grinding and cooking, while the men sit in groups talking, is a cheerful sight. Their poverty is well-nigh absolute. Their suffering in the cold season, and from sickness unrelieved, is very great.

When our catechists, Daud and Safir, began to go among these people, they found that they were afraid of them. They then adopted the expedient of dressing in loose yellow clothes, the religious dress of the Hindu, and after that had no difficulty in making friends with them. Here and there a leading man among them believed the message and was baptized. Others followed, and in all about 140 have now been baptized in 12 or 15 communities.

ETAH STATION.

The baptized community in the Etah District has now grown to over 5,000. Mr. McGaw writes:

In accordance with the usual acceptance of the term Etah became a regular Station of the Mission in 1900 and this year celebrates its Tenth Anniversary. During the decade the ingathering has gone steadily on and it is this which characterizes the work of this Station for these years. This ingathering reached its climax in 1907-08, in which year 1,161, were brought into the Christian fold by baptism.

This rapid increase has been possible because of the efforts of the people to get their relatives baptized. The easiest part of this work for the missionaries has been to bring people to confession. Nor have any gone back, and yet the difficulties are great. To eradicate their old Hindu ideas about God, sin, man's free will and responsibility, good works and salvation, that is a task which taxes all our ingenuity and powers. False ideas have not only been inbred, but the prevailing atmosphere in every village is a most congenial one for those ideas which we seek to uproot.

During these ten years the church records show that over 1,000 have been admitted to membership on examination. Some of those who had been carefully taught fall into gross sin, even into idolatry. We believe that we have done right in not being afraid, as Bishop Caldwell of South India said, "of compromising the credit of the cause by receiving sinners," and we unite in the testimony of such a man concerning a similar class of converts: "Though naturally dull of comprehension, they are steadily and manifestly growing in divine knowledge and in many cases more than bear comparison with some Finalish Christians" English Christians.'

It has been difficult, also, to create an adequate appreciation of education, but we have kept it up and are gaining.

Training School.—

The training school has been running for the entire ten years. There has been no lack of grist for this mill. Something like 350 persons have been influenced in these training classes. Of these about 200 were young men. It is a very little knowledge they possess, but wonderful the effect that little has in their own lives and thus in quietly creating new opinions of Christianity in the minds of their relatives and non-Christian neighbors. This is one element in the leavening process that is going on. The non-Christians are unconsciously being influenced. The work we are doing for the outcasts is, in their eyes, scandalous, but it is also marvelous to them, both because of the nature and extent of the work and because of the results in communities and individuals, results which in some aspects their conscience after all approves.

A group of girls from the Prentiss School were on their way home for the summer vacation. The father of one was in charge and when he stopped for a roadside smoke, the girls kept on their way. They went on, singing, and were overtaken by a Brahman on horse, who at once became interested. When the song was finished and the girls realized that they had a listener, they began to tell him things they had learned about Christ and salvation, and to ask him questions about things spiritual. He was as dumfounded as were the doctors of the law who talked with the boy Christ in the temple. When the father came up, the man told him how astonished he had been, that he had never heard or seen the like, that he could not answer them a word, and that he was going home to tell about the Christian girls he had met. Should a committee examine those girls, very likely they would pull their chaddars, answer in inaudible monosyllables, and appear stupid and scarcely worth the money spent on them, but they easily succeeded in impressing one as being worthy all praise.

We find cause for thanksgiving in another result of our educational work in the villages. Omitting the village teachers educated in the training classes, 67 are reported from the villages as able to read the Bible, 273 who will undertake to pray in public, and 500 who can recite one or more of the miracles and parables of Christ.

Agra Christian Endeavor Convention.—

Etah's delegation of some 300 got large blessings, the echo of which we heard again and again in the villages and from the workers. No one regretted the troubles encountered en route. At a meeting for testimony in one of the villages, held during our itineration, an old man spoke of having had three visions of his Lord, one of which was at Agra. The convention was a means of instruction and inspiration to all. One of our needs, for which we put forth constant effort, is an esprit de corps, a loyalty and zeal for the new community and new religion. In this the benefit of the convention will be felt very much and for years.

Dr. Annie Young writes:

The march of four days to Agra was a unique experience, one which opened my eyes to a few things that Moses had to endure; indeed, my appreciation of Moses has much increased.

Mr. McGaw sees distinct signs of advance, but realizes that what has been done is only a beginning.

In the Station conferences, the village Chaudharis are allowed to advise and vote and it is becoming more attractive to them. who come now do so at their own expense and often are real helps in getting things settled right. On three such men have been conferred, on behalf of the Conference, the title of Christian "Chaudhari," and as insignia of this office a white puggree is publicly bestowed on them. To secure such a mark of confidence and honor, the recipient must have approved himself as a helper in at least three matters: First, in the breaking down of old customs and introducing Christian ones in their places; second, in the collections of contributions from other villages; third, in the conducting of Christian worship in absence of or in connection with the teacher. Although illiterate men, in most cases, yet they are able to do valuable work for the Lord.

Measured by many of our own ideas, much work results in little which can be tabulated in the general work of evangelization, and yet we are convinced that the work on a wide scale for the despised outcaste, such as we are trying to do, has profoundly and favorably impressed the higher castes and is securing such a hearing for the Gospel as would not otherwise have been. This overwhelmingly large opportunity is molding the work as never before. The duty of complete evangelization has been ideal, but with a large body of co-workers, a possible 5,000 positive witnesses, the ideal begins to beckon us to practical present-day efforts. What some of these illiterates can do for their new Master, others can do.

One cause for a certain amount of friction in the Etah Church is the coming into the one community of fresh accessions from various castes which have to be assimilated. It is, as it were, "growing pains." This year the accessions number among them converts from Brahmans, Thakurs, Buniyas, Barbers, Ahirs, Chumars, Telis and Sweepers.

Plans for the future.—On the basis of what the Lord has done for Etah in the first decade of its existence as a Mission Station, we have large expectations, hopes and plans. In fact, our ambition is to work definitely toward complete evangelization of the district. In addition to the fact that we have the Lord's command, we have these Local Reasons for the Larger Undertaking.

(a) God has given us a base from which to work.

(b) He has turned something like 5,000 connected with our Mission to accept the Lord.

(c) He has given us a goodly number (about 100) of agents for the work.

- (d) Through the converts He has aroused the interest of other castes.
 - (e) He has drawn hundreds of Chumars towards Christianity. (f) He is raising up volunteers from among the converts.
- (g) The desire on the part of converts for education of their children has grown.
- (h) Promising candidates for Christian work far exceed our ability to train.
- (i) The Christian community has made decided gains in sensing its own responsibility towards its neighbors' salvation.
- With such forces, latent and patent, we appeal for such co-operation as will enable large plans to be definitely undertaken for complete evangelization.

If literal obedience to our Lord's command, which is what we desire, be undertaken, then nothing from the human standpoint is so much needed as a rapid enlargement and strengthening of all educational processes, secular and religious. This must be made effective in the most distant village as well as in the central station.

If this were done and done at once, it seems wholly within the range of possibilities to increase the evangelizing agencies, the active forces of this district, sixfold within fifteeen years, and that would seem to be sufficient, along with the volunteers whom we hope to raise up, to give the Gospel to the whole population in this generation.

Etah would welcome an alliance with some one who has ambition in this direction. In this there is no desire to divert anyone's interest or gifts, but it seems possible that there are individuals seeking new opportunities for going into partnership with the Lord in His great world-wide work.

EDUCATIONAL WORK.—The Prentiss Girls' Boarding School and the Horace Cleland Memorial School for Boys have each had their most successful year. Of the Girls' School, Miss Morrow reports:

The present number on the roll is 65. We have about 25 others quite regular in attendance, whose names are not required to be on the roll; their presence is always in evidence without calling their names. Neither are they classified, but visit all the classes in turn as they find opportunity, one of their favorite resorts being the superintendent's quarters, where the ink bottle, pen, pencil, etc., are a great attraction; one little child crept up and got the ink bottle, emptying the contents all over herself, fortunately without soiling her clothes.

The present number belonging to the boarding department is 41.

The present number belonging to the boarding department is 41. During the year there have been 22 others who have spent not less than one full month in school, making 63 who have been enrolled during the year. Some of these spent four and five mouths in the schools. Some of these who left us during the year did not go of their own choice. One was home for a few days and on her way back was captured by her lusband. She had been married in early childhood and the man had never become a Christian, but still he claimed his wife, and she had tried to live in the house with him and his other wife, who was a heathen; the life was unbearable and she ran off to her home, afterwards coming to the school. She was a good student and worked hard, making good progress, and seemed very happy. Her father and mother were ill and she went home to care for them; she was returning, her husband was lying in wait for her and took her captive. Inquiries were made as to the possibility of freeing her, but it seemed nothing could be done; so she remains a captive. Another who had passed through a similar experience was deceived and taken away by her sister, who promised to bring her back in a week; afterwards we learned that she had been made over to another man, not her former lusband.

MEDICAL WORK.—Dr. Annie Young has carried on much medical itineration. She writes:

At a village a large number of the Christians were ill. In one small room, about 7 x 15 feet, there were three persons with burning fever. The room they were in was the dirtiest I've ever seen. The chickens were much in evidence and I cannot say that the pigs were not frequent visitors. The principal treatment in that case was to get the beds and patients moved out into the courtyard, after Babu Gulzari

Lal had removed the rubbish and swept one corner of it as it never had been swept before. After this we had to give medicine by what we call force—a fact still remembered in the village. A quinine mixture is not just the kind of medicine to make a doctor popular, but I think that even the distrust and opposition to this will be removed when they see the benefits derived.

In another village a man was ill with pneumonia. A bottle of medicine was given, with instructions as to its use; also instructions in regard to food. He had been ill eight days before I saw him. During that time no food of any kind had been given. Two days later, as I was leaving for the next camp, I called to see him. He was much worse. On inquiry, I found that neither food nor medicine had been given. Why should they give either when he didn't want it? What possible good could milk do when he wasn't hungry? I've heard since of the man's death.

CAWNPORE AND GWALIOR STATION.

In Mr. Gillam's absence, the work at Cawnpore has been cared for by the Rev. M. C. David. An Indian worker has been in the Gwalior field also. The Mission is still waiting for the reinforcements which will enable it to reoccupy this needed and open field.

KOLHAPUR STATION.

The past year has not been without events for the Kolhapur Church, one of the outstanding of which was sending the pastor, Shivaramji, chosen by the Board as a delegate, to the great Edinburgh Conference. He returned so full of inspiration and impressions that we are all hoping his broader views of Christ and Christian work, his broadened horizon of men and manners, may put fresh oil into our sometimes feeble and flickering lamps. His flock as well as other flocks have already been seeing with his eyes, and hearing with his ears the things he was privileged to see and hear, both there and in Jerusalem. Concerning the church, Shivaramji himself says:

The church work has its own peculiar trials and struggles as well as its joys and rewards, which are unknown to others who are not engaged in it. These cannot be mentioned in a report like this. But one thing is certain, that the Chief Shepherd, the Lord Jesus Christ, cares, guides, purifies and builds up His Church. This has been my experience during the past year. There were times of humiliation, sorrow and joy, when His presence in our midst was felt. I can humbly say with a thankful heart that His goodness and mercy have followed us during the year under review.

In the beginning of May, Mrs. R. G. Wilder passed away peacefully. She was the founder and the oldest member of this church, who had most faithfully labored for her Lord for many years, and was patiently waiting His call for some time past.

EVANGELISTIC.—The following table will show the present numerical condition of the church:

Mr. Vithoba Hazari, our faithful Treasurer, reports the financial condition as follows: Receipts, Rs. 591.9; expenditures, Rs. 562.8.

The Sunday-school work has been most promising. The average attendance has been about 300 and the result of the last year's examination was quite satisfactory.

It is a matter of great thankfulness to God for the better spirit prevailing in the church, many of the internal troubles and misunderstandings having disappeared.

The favorable attitude of the Maharaja is most encouraging. It now remains with us Christians how we are going to take advantage of this opportunity in furthering Christ's kingdom. We have a great opportunity and by God's help we must seize it.

Miss Seiler writes of the Girls' Home Missionary Society, that this Society has also been contributing of its funds to send out evangelists and helpers on tours around the not distant towns and villages.

Concerning Mr. Simpson's work while on tour, he writes:

At the close of Mission meeting I took a helper and Dr. Graham's magic lantern to Panhala, and spent a week visiting some of the 120 villages said to be visible from the walls of the fort. Attention was confined chiefly to the Kolhapur side of the fort, since Kodoli maintains an out-station and does village work on the opposite side. Mr. and Mrs. Howard assisted in illustrated talks on the life and work of Christ. The exceptionally close attention and unconscious expressions of varying emotions on the part of the women present, always more ready to give free vent to their feelings, evidence the immense advantage which some have over others by reason of birth and early residence in India.

During the touring season 14 camps were made, 166 villages visited, 48 lantern lectures given, 11,819 people heard the message in part.

Many Scripture portions and other books were sold.

During the rains series of illustrated lectures on Bible subjects were given in the Kolhapur Church, Aiditvar schoolhouse, and, to a limited extent, outside of Kolhapur. The advent of the bubonic plague interfered with this work, but about twenty nights during the sason were so spent. Twelve shared in the work. The audiences were smaller than heretofore, but attention was in general better, and again and again the same ones came to see and hear.

Mr. Simpson also reports that while on evangelistic tour he, with his helpers, at pilgrimages, weekly bazaars, out-stations, etc., have, as heretofore, made a persistent effort to sell books. They report 1,141 Scriptures and portions and 3,035 Tract Society publications, amounting to Rs. 336-3-2, in addition to which the Bible Society's colporteur working in the same field reports 1,064 Scriptures and portions, making a total of 5,240.

EDUCATIONAL.—Girls' Boarding School.—

The proper study of mankind is man, of womankind is girls. We are still studying girls in the boarding school, and we report progress. In 1903 there were 16 girls in the Middle School. This year there are 67, exclusive of the High School class. The numbers are as follows: Primary, 18; First Standard, 13; Second Standard, 19; Third Standard, 20; Fourth, 37; Fifth, 29; First Middle School, 32; Second Middle School, 27; Third Middle School, 8; First High School, 7; total, 210.

School, 7; total, 210.

The staff of faithful teachers has been sadly depleted by sickness, death, and removal. The death of Joannabai, for twenty years a matron in the school, was more than a passing sorrow. The girls can never forget the earnest talks at morning and evening prayers, nor the sight of that beautiful worn Bible. No one of them will ever love it better than she did.

In September 13 of the younger girls were baptized and taken under the care of the church, while 6 were received into full communion. Some of these girls decided for Christ after a series of meetings held in the school by Mr. Stanes early in the year. Others have made the decision, but want to unite with the Kodoli Church.

About 70 girls sat for the All-India S. S. examination in July, and over 30 tried for the "Welfare of Youth" examination.

In recounting trials and blessings of the year, the marriage of 17 girls must be mentioned; a loss to the school, but we trust that the sum total of human happiness has been increased.

Five young women trained in the school are now doing efficient work as teachers.

Alice Home, not only because it is a school, in which the women, some late in life, are learning how to live, but because some of our teachers and many of our pupils come from there, seems to find its place in connection with the Girls' Boarding School, so Miss Browne continues:

Three new women came into our circle this year, making our number 22. Two are Bible women, 2 teachers, I an ayah, I a nurse, 2 are blind. The remaining 14 do the hard work of the family, wash for the Girls' Boarding School, and care for the little children of the nursery.

WOMAN'S WORK.—Bible Women.—The Bible women, so helpful in the home and so influential, are doing their service faithfully. Miss Browne writes:

Four, and part of the year five, Bible women have been visiting in Hindu and Mohammedan homes in the city. They report 81 new homes open to them; greater friendliness and a readiness to listen to the Word. Also a better appreciation of Bible truths. These women employ part of their time in teaching the Bible to Christian women. For the loan of two Bible women we thank Mrs. Richardson and Miss Ferguson. Sakubai and Krupabai are doing good work and keeping the peace.

The Plague, like some hungry monster, has, in spite of efforts put forth to safeguard the pupils, entered the school and carried away several. From the Primary, First and Second Standards dear little girls have gone never to return; their unfinished pieces of sewing work, neatly folded, as when they last put them away, being silent reminders of the dear little workers, who only a day or two before were full of life and hope and plans for the future.

On account of the anxiety and irregular attendance caused by plague, the examinations held this month resulted most unsatisfactorily. One passed from Primary into First Standard; three faces of from First to Second Standard; they from Second Standard to passed from First to Second Standard; two from Second Standard to Third; one from Third to Fourth.

MEDICAL WORK.—

After it had been decided to accept the offer of the Maharaja of Kolhapur with reference to the old military hospital on the Belgaum Road, Kolhapur, it became necessary for the Station to appoint some one to superintend the work of repairing that old but excellent building and the bungalow beside it, for which work His Highness had appropriated Rs. 7,000. Inasmuch as the work would require a great deal of attention, it was deemed best that Mr. Simpson should not interrupt his district work for this purpose, and the work fell on

Mr. Updegraff.

The work is now somewhere in the vague neighborhood of completion. A very nice hospital, with four private rooms and a ward for say sixteen beds, will soon be ready for patients. The latter will lie looking up at a light, neat steel ceiling, with a ventilator opening lie looking up at a light, neat steel ceiling, with a ventilator opening down the middle of it, through which the air will pass freely through the ventilating tiles in the roof. They will face walls nicely painted with buff and olive colors, and should they step out on the veranda they will look off over many miles of beautiful river and meadow scenery towards Satara. As yet there is no operating room, but the Durbar seems inclined to make good that deficiency.

Perhaps a report shouldn't contain a forecast, but it may be remarked that, if God shall make it possible and advisable, hopes are entertained for a group of schools at both Nipani and Radhanagari, as well as dispensaries. Hopes are sometimes disappointed, but prayers are always answered. Was it not David Brainard who said that "Prayer and pains, with faith in the Lord Jesus Christ, can accomplish anything." Then if this be true, we have surely the right to hope anything." Then if this be true, we have surely the right to hope for much, and we do.

RATNAGIRI STATION.

EVANGELISTIC.—Dr. Wiley writes:

The preaching on Sabbath has been for the most part by the missionary in charge.

The Sabbath-school, consisting of 110 members, has been regularly held. The International Lessons have been followed; but the entire life of Christ has been studied. A teacher's class has been regularly held on Saturday morning. In last year's Indian Sunday-school Union examinations, one of our teachers took first place in the teachers' division in the Marathi language section, and one of our boys took second place in the senior division.

Eighteen united with the church during the year, 4 by letter and 14 by profession. The year closes with 108 communicant members and 35 children on the roll, or 143 in all.

The total Indian contributions for the year were $80. The church is paying $40 a year toward the support of an evangelist in the district.

The attendance at the Y. W. C. A. this year has been good. A missionary meeting is held once a month and much interest has been The missionary countries have been taken up and studied in turn. On the other meeting days the "Life of Christ" and the Pauline Epistles have been studied.

The reading room has been kept open three hours a day during the week throughout the year. Many tracts have been distributed, and religious discussions have been held.

Bible Study.—Miss Jefferson writes:

At the end of September Mrs. Wiley examined a class of five women on the fifth and sixth books of "What the Bible Teaches." All passed, two women receiving a grade of 100. Three of these women have now completed the book.

Another class has been held on Sunday afternoon during the rains for those studying the first year's course for Bible women, viz., the Pentateuch.

House-to-house Visitation.—

Much could be written of the house-to-house visitation in Ratnagiri City and vicinity. The Angel of the Covenant has surely gone before and prepared the way, causing people to give us an entrance to their homes, and in the main to listen quietly to the message in song and from the Word. From Kondubai's monthly reports, I find that since January she has spoken to 2,156 people. There is no uncertain sound to her message as she teaches and preaches that Jesus is the Christ.

Lepers.—Monday morning visits have been made with little irregularity to the women in the Government Leper Asylum this year. If, for any reason, the visits have been omitted the women show they have missed their hymn and Bible story by asking why we did not come. Many inquiries have been made about Miss Minor, "our Missi Sahib," as they like to call her, and they sent a request to her to pray for them. One feels that if they were not bound by the restrictions of the Asylum, that some at least would ask for baptism.

Touring.-Miss Jefferson writes:

During the 25 days that Miss Unsworth and I, with 4 Indian evangelists and a Bible woman, were on tour, we were able to visit 35 towns and villages, or about 90 hamlets. The Gospel was preached on the streets, in fields, in shops, in schools, on verandas, and whereever the willing or unwilling listener could be found. Gospels and booklets were sold and tracts freely distributed. A new hymn, "Our Beloved Hindustan." composed by an Indian Christian, and since adopted as the national anthem of India, was very popular with all classes, and was sure to call forth a smile or word of approval. In many instances the Hindus joined in singing it. It was easy to supplement the words of the hymn by a few words telling of the love of Christ for Hindustan. In one school to our delight we found a copy of the Ten Commandments hanging on the wall. The Master gave permission to have leaflets distributed, and the boys heartily followed Miss Unsworth's lead in singing the popular patriotic hymn,

Pali Out-station .- Dr. Wiley writes:

Pali is the oldest of our four out-stations. Work was begun first at Patawne, but it was not opened as an out-station until less than four years ago, while Pali was opened as an out-station more than six years ago.

The school, for the first six months of the year, had an attendance of about 20, but the last half of the year the attendance has been reduced to 8. The opposition to the school, which has been manifested periodically, took form a few months ago in the opening of a rival school. Most of the children left the school and have gone to this other school, not because it is a better school, but because the Brahmans from the outside object to the Christian teaching in our school.

The opposition to village work has been thoroughly organized. Almost two years ago an organization was formed in Ratnagiri to oppose Mission work in the district. The district was divided into four parts, and a lawyer was appointed over each division to go about the villages for the purpose of advising the people not to sell land, not to rent houses and not to send their children to Mission schools. This influence has been brought to bear at Pali, so that the school is almost broken up.

EDUCATIONAL.—Orphanage.—Mrs. Wiley reports that with some slight exceptions the work at the orphanage has gone on without interruption. The school work has been kept up, the kindergarten being taught by one of the older girls of the school. A former boy in the school is now housemaster and through him good discipline has been maintained. If the cupboards are not tidy, or the rooms neat, the boys are reported, and some of the big boys have been sent home from school to put things in order. A housemaster was needed and the fact that one could be chosen from the pupils illustrates the thoroughness of the work done.

The account of Christmas as given by a scholar will interest those who helped to bring joy to the school.

On Christmas we had such a good time. All our brothers and sisters who had married and gone to their homes came back home for dinner, and some of them brought their children with them. Our dear friends at Edgewood Park sent us a box again; and this year the young ladies of the Sixth Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh, also sent things in the box. Several of us are making pretty quilts from the pieces sent; and what happy times we have had with the beautiful dolls. There is a box here from New Texas, Pa., that came too late for last Christmas, but we shall have those nice things this year. Our dear good friend, Mr. Emerson, of Titusville, Pa., never forgets those of us who are his children. He sent us our gift as usual, and 30 of us owe all we have to him. The rest of us have good friends also, who are supporting us, and praying for us; and we, one and all, thank them all for the happy home they have given us.

Our hearts are just full of joy, when we look out at our new school-house, that Mr. and Mrs. Carter have given us. We hope to be in it before Christmas.

it before Christmas.

At the Biblical examination, given by the Synod of our church, two of the scholars took prizes; one five rupees, the other a commentary of the four Gospels, and several got certificates of merit. In the India Sunday-school Union examination, one scholar took second place in the senior division, and another was third in the next division.

Station School.—Mrs. Wiley writes:

The year in some respects was hard because of lack of teachers. We feared what the results would be in the Government examinations, but they were very satisfactory. Eighty per cent. of those who took the examination passed. The Government examiners were very much pleased with the sewing and the kindergarten work. A low-caste boy, who has been in the school for several years, has now passed into the third English standard. Outside boys, as a reward for good conduct, are allowed to observe study hour with our Christian boys. The father of one boy always comes at about 9.30 at night for his son.

Dr. Wiley has continued to conduct prayers and a general Bible study for one-half hour daily, as well as regular teaching and examining.

The new building will fill a great need as the old building was much overcrowded. The boys' dining-room had to be used for the primary school, and most of the year there have been three classes on the veranda.

When the Superintendent of Public Instruction visited the school in January, he asked the missionary in charge to open the upper high school standards, because of the overcrowded condition of the Government high school. It is hoped that the two upper standards can be opened during the next two years.

Town School.—Miss Skilton writes:

During the rains there was an unusually good attendance in this caste school. Indeed the number increased, especially amongst the younger children, until it was deemed advisable to put in another teacher, and now the three teachers are kept very busy.

Six Musselman boys came in during the year to swell the roll, and have been a source of great inspiration to teachers and pupils alike. They are unusually bright and attractive, and Abdul and Kashim, the two oldest, have a noble bearing which draws the attention of all. Mahommed passed quickly from the company of the little tots into the First Standard, and then, pushing everything before him, in a few days was at the head of his class, and at examination time passed into the Second Standard.

Four scholars from the Fourth Standard have now entered the Station School under Mrs. Wiley, two of them being the first caste girls to be promoted.

The friendliness in the town towards the school and toward Christian teaching is very marked at the present time. It is shown in the increased attendance at school and at Sunday-school, and in the women's class on Saturday afternoon.

Ambe Seta School.—Miss Jefferson writes of the changed attitude of caste as follows:

This school was first opened for the low caste, or, more properly speaking, the out-caste children, the Mahars, the "untouchables," whose very shadow is a pollution in the eyes of the self-righteous Brahmin.

very shadow is a pollution in the eyes of the self-righteous Brahmin. For years only the "untouchables" attended the school. We were glad indeed to have them, but it was very up-hill work with them. We did not dream, however, that we should ever see a radical change in the attitude of the people and the character of the school. Surely this is the Lord's doings and it is marvelous in our eyes. The teacher, an energetic man, first went to the home of some of the caste children, and taught them out of school hours. When the parents saw they were making good progress the teacher said, "Now let them come and sit in the school, and I can teach them all day and they will learn much faster," and so after much persuasion two little boys of the oilman caste, under the strict surveillance of a cautious grand-mother, were permitted to sit on one side of the school-room, at a safe distance from the out-castes. The grandmother would bring them, and then stand outside the door to carefully guard them against any pollution. This strict oversight, however, continued but a short time. Soon the parents were convinced that no great calamity would happen if their children attended the missionaries' school. One by one other children of good caste were added to the number, until it increased to fifteen with prospects of more in the near future. The grandmother ceased to come, and the boys mingled freely regardless of caste. All the while the teacher was diligent in and out of school, teaching and trying to influence the people not to be bound by the superstitions law of caste. These parents make no objection to their children being taught the full Scripture course in school, and their homes are always open to our visits.

Patavani.—

A new and larger school-house, on a higher and more sanitary site, has been built. Though its roof is only of grass and its walls of mud, yet it serves the purpose for the present, and it proved sufficiently attractive to draw the shoemaker caste children who live near. They also belong to the depressed classes, and although many efforts have been made to persuade them to come into our school, they persistently refused to associate with those a grade below themselves in the social scale. The victory is won now, and nearly a dozen bright boys have been added to our roll, four of whom in four months passed their examination given by the Government Inspector. This has been a great encouragement to the teacher, and he is now making overtures, coupled with prayer and works, to the washerman caste to send their children. They promise to do so if we will build a schoolhouse outside the Mahar settlement.

The Widows' Home has been in charge of Miss Skilton.

The women have been taught drawn thread work and have been greatly encouraged by orders from England.

Malunbai, one of the native teachers, who helps in preparing sewing, and in giving suggestions about the work, deserves great credit. Her quiet, strong influence cannot but tell in their lives. The women have been studying the Gospel by Luke.

Having had little or no schooling, and no training in early years, these women know little of self-control, and the tongue and the temper sometimes run away with them. One recently, while under discipline, when asked if she wanted to stay in the Home, most emphatically replied, "Yes, I do; I intend to stay here all my days; I intend to die here and I want you to bury me."

WOMAN'S WORK.—H'oman's Class.—

This class was started by Miss Unsworth with the view of keeping in touch with the girls who had at one time or another been in the school, and of bringing the Gospel to them and to the mothers of the children. There was much prayer raised for them, and gradually they became more friendly and lost their fear. When Miss Unsworth left on her furlough in April the number ranged from 5 to 12. God has answered her prayers. During the first weeks of the rains, the number quickly ran up from 9 to 15, from 15 to 20, from 20 to 29.

and it is a great joy to realize that so many caste women are coming in contact with the Gospel message and the Bible women at least once a week.

KODOLI STATION.

The Kodoli Station was greatly crippled this year by the fact that Dr. Alexander S. Wilson was ordered by his physician to return to the States. Having been so long on the field, he and his family seemed almost essential to the work. Happily he is reported as fast recovering his health, and he hopes before long to return to the work. In the meantime those who are left are bravely carrying on the work.

EVANGELISTIC.—The Problem of Caste and Its Effect on the Church.—

The Kodoli Church is not simply a church in the sense in which the word is used in America, but it is a community of Christians in which all are brought together economically, socially and religiously. Many still think that the church (or the Mission) should supply them work or money if it expects them to be Christian and to attend regular church services. Systematic efforts are made to eradicate this idea and they are bearing fruit, but the large number on the church roll and the comparatively smaller attendance show that many are still under the influence of this notion. On the other hand, it is gratifying to see a good number of those who are financially independent faithful in their attendance at the church service. Socially, too, Christians are separated from other people by caste in a way which tends to make the church a social unit, in which arise social questions, disputes and quarrels which would not come before an American church. This makes it all the more necessary to emphasize the spiritual character of the work of the church.

The church closed the year in a comparatively good condition financially. Besides paying the pastor Rs. 18 a month, it has paid all miscellaneous expenses promptly, has given assistance to the poor and has contributed some to outside work, leaving a balance of Rs. 85 in the Pastor's Salary Fund, Rs. 32 in the Home Mission Fund, Rs. 21 in the Poor Fund and various other small balances. These amounts came partly from the Sabbath collections, but the pastor's salary comes mostly from the regular contributions of the Mission agents, who give a definite proportion of their pay to the object. The church could give much more if all the people would but awake to their opportunity. At the annual church meeting the Session was directed to make definite effort this coming year to have each member contribute something.

That day the church meeting had been rather stormy, one and then another and another had expressed dissatisfaction. Just how much Indian Christians should give and how to bring about the desired result was a hard question. Some suggested a tenth: others objected, because they had no regular cash income; some suggested giving in kind, peanuts, grain, rice, flour, eggs, and others smiled.

Itincrating.—

Many and frequent visits have been made to six out-stations by missionaries and Indian Christian helpers, by the young men and the Bible women. Evangelistic services, and series of services, have been arranged for in a number of entirely heathen villages near Kodoli. The willingness and heartfelt eagerness with which some of the Christian teachers have done this after a full day in the classroom has encouraged us. Samuel is our really eloquent evangelist. He is eloquent because he cannot help it. His own life was first true; then sin-stained to the very slough and reclaimed. It seemed miraculous. He speaks to men because he has had a threefold vision—a vision of his own sinful heart, a vision of his Saviour, and a vision of that Saviour's yearning for a fallen world. In July he went to the greatest Hindu festival in this part of India and was able to hold the attention of people even in that bedlam.

EDUCATIONAL.—

During this year the Kodoli Boys' and Girls' Schools have been made into one institution, the dormitories remaining separate. Results show the plan a good one. There is more esprit de corps that comes from a larger number assembled for morning prayers, an added incentive to both boys and girls to study and a considerable saving in the teaching force. There are 30 happy-faced big and little boys and girls.

Bible or New Testaments have been put into the hands of all who can read, and in addition to the memorizing of Bible passages to repeat at morning prayers, the children have responsive reading. They enjoy having Bibles of their own to read from. It is interesting to watch some of the little fellows whose Bibles are almost as big as they themselves are. Regular Bible courses in school and special classes on Sabbath keep up their interest in the Scriptures.

Efforts are being made to keep the standard of the school high. The Government Educational Inspector is to conduct the examinations in the spring.

Three of the teachers are young men who have been High School students. They are just beginning to take up actual work. There is good material in them, but much training and nurturing is needed if they are to develop into ideal workmen.

Miss S. G. Brouen writes concerning the Sloyd School that there is nothing new or great or wonderful to record this year. Of those boys who distinguished themselves in the past, all but two went their several ways at the close of the school year last March. Those now in the highest classes have not as yet shown ability either to think or to execute. Their work at the present time is of a steady, plodding nature, but perhaps, like the snail in the fable, they may yet win the race. Progress is, however, gladly reported all along the line, and some of the younger boys are showing marked ability.

Three Out-station Schools have been reopened in villages where work was carried on several years ago, and three other schools have been maintained, making six out-station schools in all. A special feature has been the night work. In these villages it is very difficult to persuade parents to send their children to day-school. They much prefer to send the little children to watch the cattle and the older ones to work in the fields.

We have had this year seven night-schools. Large boys, young men, and even old men, have gathered to study. These are not sent by parents to be kept out of mischief, and the result is more encouraging. In one village some 30 gathered in the evening. Several young men have learned to read the first book; an elder in one of the churches, already a grandfather, is now learning his letters. He is anxious to read the Bible for himself.

WOMAN'S WORK .— School for Women.—

Since Mrs. Wilson left the Woman's School has been in Miss Foster's care. She has put into it time that could be spared from other duties. These women are not living in organized institutions, or living and studying on schedule time. They are the mothers and wives, busy people. We often wonder, not that their progress in Bible is not faster, but that they have time at all and a willingness to take up this work.

The woman's prayer meeting is held on Fridays. Each woman in turn takes part. A young woman leads every other week, thus giving an opportunity to those who must be leaders in coming years. An hour a week they sew, making garments for women and children. The money received for these garments goes to the National Missionary Association.

MEDICAL.—

Since Dr. Wilson's departure, the hospital work has been looked after by Miss Foster and two medical assistants, major operations being sent to Miraj. There have been a good many calls into homes to see especially women and children who were ill. The dispensary has been kept open, though with a small attendance. The men in charge have worked faithfully under many discouragements.

SANGLI STATION.

MISSIONARY FORCE.—The missionary force of the Station has consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson and Miss Gauthey for the entire year, Miss Enright for six months and Mr. Alexander for seven months. Mr. Wilson has had charge of the Scholastic and Boarding Departments of the Industrial School and the Sabbath-school. After Mr. Alexander left for America Mr. Wilson also took up the Industrial Department of the school. Mrs. Wilson has had charge of the boys' sewing class and the woman's prayer meeting and woman's Bible classes. Miss Gauthey has done town work and village work, and since Miss Enright went home on furlough has had charge of the Mang Wada day-school and Sabbath-school and the woman's class in Sunday-school. Miss Enright's work until she sailed was town work and the Mang Wada school. Mr. Alexander's work has been the Industrial Department of the school; he was also engaged in language study.

The Indian force has had a number of changes. The teachers in the school have been changed in some of the classes.

A helper has been added for the evangelistic work.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.—

A (touring) party made up of two Bible women, two missionaries and two servants started out touring in November. The first camp was Teraward, a place about fifteen miles from Sangli. From Teraward fifteen villages were visited. The people were glad to see us and gave no trouble. They seemed glad to buy Gospels. In Kurun ward three good bazaar meetings were held. At the first 57 Gospels were sold, at the second 31, and 20 at the third, thus making 109 Gospels sold in one place. From these meetings two inquirers came often to the tent for discussion, and there was a hope at one time that they would come out. They went as far as to ask for baptism, and said when they were ready they would come to Sangli. These were Marathas. We are still looking for them. There were others very much interested. Two Patils came repeatedly to talk; they even attended the little Sunday services. Former Miraj hospital patients and women from the Alice Home in Kolhapur and some Kodolim school-girls were glad to see us.

During the months of February and early March the villages in the immediate vicinity of Sangli were visited. There are nineteen villages and towns within a radius of ten miles. This work was interrupted by the hot-season vacation, but in June this was resumed. Every Friday, with one or two exceptions, a party consisting of a Bible woman and missionary and one volunteer have visited the villages. The people on the whole receive us nicely. They did not buy books readily; still 72 Gospels have been sold. Sixteen towns have been visited. Twenty-two visits have been to the same. Some of these villages have also been visited by the pastor in company with a misionary and by one of our elders. This latter reports 22 towns visited. (These included places where Yatres (Pilgrimages) and big gatherings were held.)

Over sixty towns were visited. Together 126 visits were made and 538 Gospels sold.

During the last four months about 30 of the men and larger boys of the Church have gone out in four bands each Sunday evening to preach. A regular series of preaching places has been established, to which the different groups go in turn. At the close of the Church service the workers gather together for a short conference and a season of prayer before they go out. The work has been a blessing to those who have engaged in it, but as yet it has not shown any direct results in conversions.

EDUCATIONAL.—Scholastic Department.—

The Scholastic Department has been strengthened by the addition of three new teachers, two of these replacing ones of less efficiency. A new High School standard, the fifth English, has been opened with four pupils. One of the ex-masters has become office clerk and has already gained considerable ability in office work. The health of the boys has been good. The number of boys on the roll during the year has been 62.

Industrial Department.—

The trades followed during the year have been practically the same as before. Stone cutting and laying, carpentry, brass and aluminum work and sewing. There have been no students in blacksmithing, though we have to keep a blacksmith's shop for the sake of the rest of the work.

During the last fiscal year the total cost of the workshop was Rs. 991. Of this amount Rs. 501 went for teachers and Rs. 490 for materials, etc. The receipts from the shop were Rs. 442. This, however, does not fairly represent the situation. Work for the Mission which is to be charged to the appropriations is done usually at cost.

The addition to the workshop has been completed. Much of the work involved was done by the boys.

The success of the industrial work may be tested by two questions:

I. Does it help in the education of the boys?

2. Does it fit them to earn their own living?

To the first question we unhesitatingly answer, Yes. It tends to make a manlier and more efficient set of boys who are not ashamed to work with their hands.

To the second question we would say that a good number of boys are already making their living by the trades they have learned.

Four out of five masters in the shop were trained here.

Our records of school alumni are not complete, but in addition to the above we are able to count 16 more who are supporting themselves by their trades.

The problem which we are trying to solve is that of combining an Industrial School and a High School. From our experience it would seem that the thing can be done with profit to both kinds of

The main difficulty is to find enough hours in the day for the boys to follow a High School course with a Bible course extra and in addition to all their industrial work, all their grinding and part of their cooking and washing their own clothes.

At present the boys below the High School classes have three hours industrial work per day. In the two High School classes they have but two hours industrial work. The classes of the last two years of the High School will, when they are opened, probably have only one hour industrial work per day.

Day-schools.—

There are three day-schools; one in the Mang Wada in Sangli, one in Sangli Wadi and one here on the compound. The girls' school in the Mang Wada is well attended. The average attendance is about 8. The girls are showing some progress. Some of the larger girls have left and gone to their husbands' villages. A few younger ones have been admitted on trial. The Bible hour has been very encouraging. The school in Sangli Wadi reports a good year's work. The boys are showing a decided increase of interest in Christianity.

Sabbath-schools.—

The Sabbath-schools are held every Sunday. The main Sunday-school is on the compound which the boys of the Industrial School, and Christian women and children attend. The second is held in town in connection with the girls' school in the Mang Wada, and the third in connection with the school in the Sangli Wadi. This work has been encouraging, especially in the town schools.

Work for Women and Children.—

Bible study classes have been held during seven months of the year. (The courses of study have been in the First Class, Genesis through to Deuteronomy, and in the Second Class, Joshua to the end of II Samuel.) Members of two of these classes presented themselves for examination in January and in September, and 9 out of

The women's weekly Bible class has been held every Tuesday and has been very well attended.

On Thursday for most of the year a sewing class was held for our Christian women. Also a woman's meeting and sewing hour is held for the mothers of the girls of the Mang Wada School in town. This class is also attended by the girls who have left the school.

Daily there are classes held for women who wish to learn to read. In the Mang Wada School there is such a class. In this class II are enrolled, with an average attendance of 7. Three of the women who have been coming with marked regularity have now mastered their vowels and most of the consonants. These women may be reading in the course of time. The rest are still struggling with the vowels. To this class two of the former school-girls come. They are reading the Gospel of Mark and doing nicely.

MIRAJ STATION.

The past year has witnessed a considerable change in the working force of our Station. In November our numbers were greatly strengthened by the addition of Dr. and Mrs. Graham, who on their return from furlough were located in Miraj, and, together with Miss Patterson, have continued in the work throughout the year.

In March the Station welcomed a new medical missionary, Dr. C. E. Vail, whose arrival greatly relieves the pressure of hospital work, and his coming at an opportune season enabled the physician in charge to take his furlough without detriment to the medical work.

Dr. Vail came well prepared and thoroughly fitted for the great work he has undertaken, and he has already won the confidence of the people in a wonderful way. While we are always glad to add to, we are always loth to subtract from our working force. In March, Rev. R. C. and Mrs. Richardson gave up their much loved work for a needed rest in the homeland. In April Miss Thompson, of the Z. B. M. M. Society, refreshed from a year in England, returned with new enthusiasm for another term of service. In May Dr. and Mrs. Wanless sailed for the Edinburgh Missionary Conference, and later for their home in America.

EVANGELISTIC.—

The church has continued under the care of its pastor, Anandrao Padghalmal, who in March was regularly installed by the Kolhapur Presbytery. The church services are still held in the hospital dispensary, for the use of which the church pays annually a nominal rent. We hope the day is not far distant when a suitable chapel shall be erected, and services carried on without interruption from medical work, or by the patients who frequent the hall. As a large part of the church is made up of the employés and students connected with the hospital, the membership is constantly a changing one. The records show 63 communicants, 41 baptized children, and 2 baptized adults, making a total of 106 in the baptized Christian community.

Sunday-schools.—

The International Sunday School Lessons have been taught in six different schools. The church Sunday-school held in the hospital dispensary is superintended by the pastor. The average weekly attendance has been 25.

The hospital Sunday-school was superintended by Dr. Wanless until May and since by hospital assistants. Classes are held in the different wards by missionaries, students and nurses. Dr. Vail has a class in English for the students, Miss Thompson teaches the women, Miss Patterson takes the pupil nurses, while students and senior nurses teach the lesson whenever listeners can be found. These classes, well attended by patients and their friends, have been a great opportunity for seed sowing.

Young Men's Christian Association .-

The Y. M. C. A., composed largely of medical students, has a membership of 20. Meetings are held every Saturday evening, when each member is expected to take his part in conducting the meeting, or in the discussion of some special subject. These meetings have been a means of real blessing to many.

On Christmas Day the Association had a special meeting for the children of the congregation, and on New Year's Day the Association had a social gathering for the Christian community.

Woman's Work.—Except during the hot season, the woman's prayer meeting, superintended by Mrs. Graham, has been held every Friday afternoon. Once a month the same women under the name of the Dorcas Society meet and sew small quilts and garments. These are sold. At these meetings also a collection is taken. The women give cheerfully. A few of the women of the Station have been studying the course laid down for Bible women, but, owing to illness in their families, continuous study throughout the monsoon months was impossible.

Touring.—During the year Dr. Graham made three preaching tours. The first and longest of these was in December and January, when he and Mrs. Graham spent fifty-two days itinerating in the districts north and west of Miraj. Of their tour

Dr. Graham reports as follows:

We had with us two Indian preachers and a Bible woman. One of the preachers was the oldest, both in age and service, of all our Mission helpers. The other was a young man who had recently completed his studies and been licensed by the Presbytery, but as yet had no employment as a Mission agent.

Both of our preachers contended earnestly "for the faith (that was) once delivered unto the saints" (Jude 3), and like Paul, they preached "Christ Crucified," though He is still, and especially here in India, unto formalists like the Jews, a stumbling block, and unto self-complacent wise men like the Greeks foolishness, and they taught that His name is the only name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved. Such preaching does not offend the common people, and with very few exceptions we were well received and had a good hearing from the people wherever we went. We made eight camps. As is always the case when touring, so on this tour we had some novel and interesting experiences. In one town we talked to a big crowd in which were the patil, i. e., the head man of the village, and the kulkarni or town clerk. The people gave good attention except one man, who persistently kept bringing forward the objection that it was useless to preach that we ought to do God's will when we do not know what His will is. Our old preacher handed a tract to the patil, who passed it on to the town clerk. The next time the objection was made the preacher said, "On that paper the town clerk holds in his hand the will of God is summed up in ten commandments." He then asked him to read the first one, and when he had done so the preacher explained its meaning and showed how it applied to his hearers. "Now," said he, "read the second one." It was read, explained and applied as the first had been, and so in like manner all the rest of the ten. While this was being done, everyone remained quiet and gave close attention. The patil then turned to the man who had raised the objection with the question, "Now do you know what the will of God is?" and he at once replied, "Yes, for the first time in my life." It was something new to see a town clerk help a Christian in his preaching. Ordinarily town clerks, who are for the most part Brahmins, are our most bitter and effective opponents, but this one helped the speaker and seemed to enjoy his part in the preaching.

As we entered another town, we saw a man dropping sugar from a paper he held in his hand so as to make a long thin line of it on the ground. He was feeding a huge colony of ants. I said to him that I thought it would be more meritorious for him to keep his sugar for poor people who were not able to buy it for themselves. "These," said he, pointing to the ants, "are poor people." I asked him if creatures that infest their beds are poor people too. "Oh," he replied, "I wouldn't feed them; they are fiends and bite me!" Still there are people in India who do feed them, too, as an act of merit, and in so doing they are logically consistent in thus carrying out the doctrine of pantheism, which makes all things, however vile and loathsome, or however beautiful and excellent, alike divine, for this doctrine is the basis of all Hindu philosophy and religion.

We went to another part of the town, and while one of our preachers was using the incident to show how ignorant people are as to what is and what is not meritorious, the man who had furnished the illustration came up, joined the crowd and listened with the rest.

Book Sales.—No colporteur has been employed by Miraj Station during the past year. All sales have been made by the missionaries when on tour, or by Indian agents engaged in some other form of Mission work. Tracts and leaflets have been distributed gratuitously, but no books have been given away.

The sales have been as follows:

Bible portions
Total	363
Proceeds of salesRs. 63-14	- 9.

EDUCATIONAL.—Day-schools.—There are five schools carried on by the Station. They are in the town, the Mahar wadi, the Mang wadi, at the out-station of Vita, and in the Leper Asylum. There are Christian teachers in all of these schools except that in the Leper Asylum, which is taught by a Brahmin who is a leper himself and an inmate of the asylum. These schools are all primary in grade, although a few pupils have reached higher standards.

MEDICAL WORK.—Hospital.—

The hospital, dispensary and medical school have been conducted without interruption during the year. Dr. Wanless continued in the work until May, when Dr. Vail assumed charge. Work in the hospital has not differed materially from the previous years, except perhaps in the fact that a larger number of incurables have applied for relief and a greater proportion of serious cases were treated in the wards. The number of in-patients treated was 1,492. There were 2,996 surgical operations performed during the year, of which 1,550 were recorded as major.

The most pathetic feature of the work is the ever-increasing stream of hopeless cases who come for treatment. Attracted by cured patients, these poor hopeless chronics turn up from all over the Presidency. Some of them spend a considerable sum of money to reach the hospital, and then only to be told that nothing can be done for them. The usual plea is "We have heard the name of this place and have come a long way, traveling many days. Are we not to be helped? Is there really no hope?" Some of them have spent their all and to no purpose, and, alas, we, unlike our Divine Master, are helpless to relieve them. Were it not for the many we are able to halp life here would be depressing indeed. There is satisfying comhelp life here would be depressing indeed. There is satisfying compensation in the blind who see again, in the lame who walk, and in the well-nigh dead who are raised to life again. As some of the patients have said, "I was blind, but now I see. I had no sleep for months; now I sleep with pleasure. I could not take curry and rice for years; now I eat and enjoy it. My limb was crooked; now it is straight. My nose was cut off, but you have made a new one and have saved me from everlasting disgrace, and even from suicide," as was the case of a village officer who was assaulted in a field by four ruffians who brutally cut off his nose with a sickle. He was advised to come to the hospital and is now rejoicing in a new nose which he affirms is handsome.

The evangelistic work in the hospital has been conducted by nurses, as in former years, and consists in daily evening prayers, conducted by nurses, students and assistants, the Sunday-school, and sale of Christian literature. All services are optional to the patients.

Miraj Dispensary.—

Morning and afternoon clinics have been conducted by the senior and junior assistants and by the missionary physician. The preaching services have been conducted mainly by the pastor and evangelist aided irregularly by the physician and visiting preachers. A large number of Scripture portions and religious books have been sold and distributed to the patients and their friends. That the people of India are becoming more interested in religious and moral subjects is evident from the increasing sale of such literature.

The attendance shows a slight decrease as compared with the preceding year. The total out-door attendance was 25,320, of which 10,346 were new and 14,820 were returning patients, 154 visits were also made to the sick in their homes. This year Miraj suffered again from a mild epidemic of plague, which reduced what otherwise would have been a record year in the history of the work,

Out-station Dispensaries.—

Ashta.—The work at Ashta has continued in charge of the medical assistant, S. B. Gorde.

The town was visited by an epidemic of plague in the latter months of the year, and as usual resulted in a greatly reduced attendance for the time being. We hope ere long to establish a school for low-caste children in this village.

Vita.—Vita was in charge of the medical assistant, P. J. Hevale, until May, when J. S. Powar, L. C. P. and S., took up the work. Our dispensary is the only medical institution and we believe ours is the only medical man in the taluka. The Brahmanical opposition to our work is gradually subsiding, and the people of the town and district will, we doubt not, come to more and more appreciate our work.

Nursing.—

Miss Patterson has continued her work of training the nurses, the Miss Patterson has continued her work of training the nurses, the ward boys, and ayahs, superintending the care of the sick, and attending the hospital sewing. In her work she has received assistance from Miss Thompson, who, aside from her own duties, is always ready to help out when emergency arises. Miss Thompson teaches the nurses singing and has a class for Bible study. Two girls have completed their term of service as pupil nurses and their names are now added to the list of regular hospital employés.

Leper Asylum.—

The Leper Asylum is a group of nice-looking buildings by the roadside on the way to Sangli, a little more than a mile from the Mission compound. The chapel in the centre lately erected by Mr. Richardson adds much to the appearance of the place. It will seat comfortably considerably over 100 persons. The men's quarters are to the east, and the women's to the west of it. At the close of the year there are 56 inmates in the Asylum-40 men, 14 women, and 2 children.

The lepers have a school taught by one of their own number, a Brahmin, who formerly held a good position in Government service. Their progress is proof of his ability and efficiency. They are fond of music, and the music, both vocal and instrumental, is an attractive feature of their Sabbath services. Dr. Graham, who has charge of the Asylum, preaches to them every Sabbath afternoon and always has an attentive and appreciative audience. The men have Bible study twice a week, and Mrs. Graham's Bible woman daily teaches the women. They have a Sunday-school and are much interested in the study of the International Sunday-school Lessons, Eight of them took the All-India Sunday-school examination. The report showing the result of the examination has not yet been received, but if as good as in former years it will be satisfactory.

VENGURLE STATION.

EVANGELISTIC.—The Church.—

For the last year Mr. Hannum has had general charge of the local church, which is still without a pastor. The officers consist of two elders and one deacon. Members admitted within the year have been: By letter, 10, and on confession of faith, 4; total on roll on September 30, 33. Baptisms during the year have been: of infants, 6, and of adults, 1. The one adult referred to was a young Brahmin woman, who came as a result of treatment in the hospital, and now, after a year of practical testing, has publicly taken the name of Christ. Mr. Hannum has usually done the preaching in the services on Sundays, but with frequent help from the men. The Sunday services in recent years have been very slightly attended by non-Christians, and hence we have adopted the practice of speaking informally after the formal service is over. These talks have been attentively heard, sometimes by 50 or 75 men and boys, and religious questions have been earnestly discussed. Sometimes the speakers would go instead to the business streets of the town. The message this year has with scarcely any exception been attentively and respectfully received, a most welcome condition after the opposite events of past years.

The week of prayer in January was observed, as usual, with daily meetings. More recently a movement has arisen for the speedy erection, by the church, of a house of worship, as it is not the policy of the Mission to erect such buildings for the people. The building fund, which has been accumulating ever since the organization of the church nearly nine years ago, contains over 150 rupees, and the people seem earnestly desirous to add to that, what they can, and then to build an humble edifice. The women have become quite unusually enthusiastic in the matter, and have recently formed themselves into a near villages, in company with our lay preachers and teachers.

"Building Society," which has five officers.

Street Preaching.—

As opportunities have occurred, Mr. Hannum has continued, although with many interruptions, the street preaching in the town and near villages, in company with our lay preachers and teachers.

In May and June there are many local pilgrimages and fairs at villages near Vengurle, which afford good opportunities for us. At Tulas, for example, we found many groups of listeners and sold scores of Scripture portions. At many such places former patients at our hospital are found, and they are always friendly.

Sunday-schools.—

The central Sunday-school has, as before, for want of a more convenient place, been held on the veranda of Mr. and Mrs. Hannum's residence. It has this year been divided into five classes, two men's, two women's and one children's class. They are taught by the missionaries. The annual examination held by the Indian Sunday-school Union, in July, was taken by 20 candidates here, 6 in oral classes and 14 in written.

Besides the central school, the children in the primary schools in the town of Vengurle are assembled at their schoolhouses on Sunday morning, for the study of the lesson in the International series. We have had three such schools this year.

EDUCATIONAL.—Primary Schools.—

Of the six schools in the Station, five have this year fallen to Mr. Hannum's care—those in Bhatavadi, Parabhavada, North Anasura, South Anasura and Pala. The first named two have been mainly visited by Mrs. Hannum, being situated in convenient walking distance, the others being impossible to reach without a rough steep climb. Our schools were officially examined in February by the Government Inspector. He was a Brahmin, but made sympathetic with Christian missions by his training in the Wilson College in Bombay. He gave high commendation to our schools, and was most friendly to the Christian masters.

As a means of raising the efficiency of the teachers Mr. Hannum arranged for regular meetings with them to consider matters of educational concern, at first monthly, and afterwards weekly. In the rainy season, Mr. Hannum secured the services of Mr. Penase, head-master of the largest municipal school here, and he ably and most kindly managed the class on Saturday afternoons. Unfortunately, however, he fell very ill and, coming too late to the hospital for treatment, died on the operating table. To add to the terrible sadness of it, his widow, moved no doubt by the traditional Brahmin feelings about widowhood, drowned herself in a well. We hope to resume the normal class, for it is a most promising means.

WOMAN'S WORK.—Women's Classes.—

Last year and the first part of this year Mrs. Hannum has taken five of the more backward women through the first five books of the Bible. This class found study uphill work from the first and a great load rolled off their shoulders in March when they appeared for the examination. Three out of the five passed quite well, while the other two failed most pitifully. It was hard work toiling through the blessings of Jacob, or even the names of the twelve tribes of Israel, and yet it is to be hoped that the main lessons will be remembered, even if Jacob's blessings and cursings pass entirely out of their minds. It is most interesting to observe the ostentation with which a woman who has learned to read, and has completed a Bible course, will find places in the Bible for her slower sister, or refer with pride to the time she was frightened in an examination on such or such a part of the Bible.

Visits in the Homes.—Mrs. Hannum has made a few visits in the homes of the people, and of them she says:

I always have been welcome. At one house I asked whether I might come in and talk a little. The woman most cordially said, "Yes," and, placing a low stool for me, said, "The missionary that used to come and see me, sang for me. Can you sing?" I said, "Yes, a little," and began a simple Marathi hymn, "Christ, my Saviour, is very dear to me." A lad standing near the door threw himself on the floor, and rolled over and over in convulsions of laughter. It was a little disconcerting, but the old grandmother soon put him out with what might be translated into "Get out of this, you ill-mannered boy; don't you know this is a white lady?"

Another day, as I was going to school, I passed a neatly dressed Brahmin woman walking around a sacred tree. Each time she passed a certain place in the tree, she bowed low with both hands to her forehead. I feared to disturb her, but when I returned two hours later she was standing wearily by the tree, and was apparently inclined to talk. I asked her how many times she had gone around. She said, "Over 800 times since sunrise, but I must finish 1,000 before I eat." I asked her if her head did not hurt her, and she answered, "Yes, very wery much." I looked around the tree to the place where she bowed, and saw a picture—an ordinary photograph, in a little frame—leaning against the tree. She had put some fresh flowers about it, a little incense and some rice grains. I asked her who the man was, but she became less communicative, and all I could learn was that it was the picture of a Swami, a very holy man. She wearily took up her long chain of beads on which she was counting the circuits. I saw her often after that, but not often was she willing to talk to me.

Mrs. Goheen takes great pleasure in the visits she sometimes makes with her husband when he is called professionally. At such times every one is friendly. While Dr. Goheen is examining the patient, Mrs. Goheen talks with the women of the house, and sometimes manages to have an interesting conversation with the retiring and sad-featured widows found in nearly every Indian home.

MEDICAL.—

That psychology of the masses can be very profitably studied in connection with Mission work of all kinds is perhaps generally recognized. Certain it is that a medical missionary in a small community like that of Vengurle can read the psychologic meter on the faces of the passersby in the bazaar as easily and almost as correctly as he can make use of his clinical thermometer. The degrees of friendliness are almost as distinct as those of fever. If in the Mission hospital there lies ill some one of note in the locality; or if after a long delay the Doctor Sahib is called to visit some despairing, suffering, well-known citizen, then the whole town knows it. The fact is indicated by profound salaams and good wishes, and perhaps even prayers on the part of some for the erstwhile unwelcome foreigner. If after the first visit some immediate improvement is noted and a prompt cure follows, not only the town, but the neighboring villages possess the news, and the dispensary and hospital are overworked. But if the outcome is less happy, averted faces, ofttimes sullen looks meet the Doctor Sahib, and for a space he can have his meals on time, and has leisure to wish that all diseases were curable, and that all people might be patient and fair, obedient and good, enlightened and respectful.

All except widows and orphans and the manifestly poor are asked to pay 2 cents for two days' medicine at the dispensary. These do not yield a very large revenue, but serve to greatly decrease the numbers, for all of whom free medicine could not be afforded, and to attach a greater respect to the mixture given out. It is generally recognized the world over that anything worth while costs something. If our charges were higher we would certainly have fewer patients, but probably better results from the medicines. More pills would be swallowed; fewer thrown away. The dispensary attendance is much smaller than reported last year as a result of these charges. It is as

Males5,366 Females3,642 Total9,008

The hospital patients have been more—174 as against 120 last year.

Total from the opening of the hospital, 334, classified as follows:

All kinds and classes have been admitted except Mahars; none of the latter having dared to apply for admission. People are as yet extremely afraid of surgery, and that is not to be wondered at in an ont-of-the-way district like this. Most of the cases seeking treatment are therefore medical cases, and a large majority seek relief from consumption, and that usually in the last stages. We admit some under protest, and refuse as many as possible, for they seldom make encouraging progress, and only serve to depress the other patients and their friends, as well as the staff in charge.

Miss Rebentisch writes:

In the hospital work we have sad days and glad days. Many times one's heart aches for those who must be told that there is no cure for them; that they have come too late. Sometimes if it were not for the trust in the loving All Father who knows and cares, it would almost be unbearable to witness the expressions of grief of the bereaved widow or mother. On the other hand, there are many cases that give joy and encouragement. Many patients go away with grateful hearts for restored health, and with at least a little knowledge and appreciation of Christian truths.

During the year steps have been taken to bring about a closer relation between the Village Settlement at Islampur and the Mission. Mrs. Wilder's death, which was a common sorrow to all the missionaries, seemed to suggest that the work which was so dear to her and her daughter might be given Mission oversight. Miss Wilder was invited to meet with the Mission at its next meeting and the invitation was gladly accepted. Miss Wilder reports that, in spite of interruptions caused by her mother's illness and death, the work has gone forward successfully and the future is full of promise.

A notable step in the history of the work of our Church in Japan has been taken in the consolidation of the East and West Japan Missions into one Mission, to be known as the "Japan Mission." It will be a large Mission, but the facilities of travel and intercourse and the unity of the problems, and the advantages of a free interchange of the relations of the missionaries to one National Church, were reasons for the unification of all the work of the Board in one Mission.

The work in the Hokkaido and Tokyo suffered the loss of five missionaries during the year: Miss Campbell, Miss Moore, Miss Dooley and Miss Quinlan leaving the work for marriage or health or to return home; and Miss Youngman, after a long and notable service, passing on to her reward on high. The Board put on record its appreciation of Miss Youngman's character and service in the following minute:

The Board learned with deep regret of the death, in Tokyo, on September 29, of Miss Kate M. Youngman, for thirty-seven years a missionary of the Board in Japan. During all these years Miss Youngman worked for the people of Japan with deep and undivided devotion. Her heart went out specially to those who were most helpless—the leper and the poor. For the lepers she built up a little institution which has rendered truly Christian service, and her own home was always open to little children and to all who were in want. From the beginning of her missionary work in Japan she was interested in "poor" schools, and conducted a number of such schools in Tokyo. But no responsibility for institutional work could absorb all her boundless energy. She was ever out among the people, working in the churches or planning and conducting evangelistic activities. During recent summers, with the aid of Japanese evangelists, she carried on several Missions in tents at the Japanese resorts, where great companies of people heard the Gospel and received books setting forth Christian truth. During some of her later years Miss Youngman suffered much from ill-health, but nothing could suppress her missionary energy, and to the last she gave both herself and her means to the cause of Christ in Japan. Apart from the children whom she had taken into her own home, and who are bereft as of a mother in her, there are many in Japan who will join with the Mission and the Board in mourning the loss of one whose strong and vigorous personality, whose untiring energies and whose true life have been given for more than a generation to the one task of comforting and uplifting those whom she found in need in Japan.

THE HOKKAIDO.

The Hokkaido was, until the Russian war gave to Japan a part of Saghalien, the northern island of the empire. The island is developing rapidly, the Government investing large sums of money in opening it up to settlement, and rapidly building railroads throughout it.

Mr. Pierson writes:

The Government is making traveling easier year by year. The west coast is now accessible by rail, and the line to Kitami on the northeast is two-thirds done. The line due north is being produced rapidly. The purpose of these lines, I feel confident, is not ultimately for military purposes. But they afford facility to the Church militant. Not only so, they afford our enemies equal facility. Buddhism is appearing in a garb resembling Christianity. The Hongwanji temple in Hakodate is built in such modern style that when I showed a postal picture of the building to Dr. Nitobe, he thought it was a Government building in Korea. The Buddhists are imitating our Y. M. C. A., our women's meetings, and, what is more important, our doctrine. Amida is all perfect; hence, if you need wisdom or power or mercy, ask of him. Christianity labors with its doctrines of a personal devil, of the continuity after death of the individual man, etc. So said a traveling priest in the train the other day.

The new sect of Shinto, Tenrikyo, already numbering twice or more the number of Christians, progresses with us. Ten gods are worshiped as one. Healing by faith is taught. Two Morman missionaries worked in Assistance for the health was and they withdraw.

in Asahigawa for one-half year and then withdrew.

It is hardly fair to say that the people in the Hokkaido deliberately choose all these things rather than the Cross of Christ. The sad fact is that they do not understand either Christ or Him crucified.

The church at Asahigawa having become self-supporting, Mr. and Mrs. Pierson have given most of their strength to opening up new work. Mrs. Pierson gives the names of five coast towns and twenty-one railroad towns, most of which are new, where she and her husband have labored more or less regularly during the year. She adds that sporadic work was done at about 100 other railroad stations.

In June Mr. and Mrs. Pierson made a trip through Kitami province. Mrs. Pierson writes:

Altogether we covered something over 500 miles by boat, railroad and on horseback, during which we held about 20 meetings at 14 different villages, reaching perhaps 1,000 people, of whom 237 joined the Pocket Testament League and 20 received baptism.

One of the great difficulties of the work in this northern region is that during the short summers when travel is pleasant, the people are too busy to come to the meetings, and when they have leisure, it is too cold to leave the warm fireside. To quote Mrs. Pierson's graphic language on this point:

When the mercury fails to 20, 30 and 40 degrees below zero Fahrenheit, life resolves itself into a struggle to keep warm. When all your food—meat, milk, eggs, vegetables and fruit—has to be thawed before it can be cooked; when your lamps go out because the oil in them is frozen; when your clock stops, and the water in your bucket freezes while you are carrying it home from the well; when the only way to get your bread to rise is to take it to bed with you—your interest in spiritual things is apt to be not even lukewarm.

Of the work among prisoners, Mrs. Pierson writes:

The work in Obihiro Prison is at a standstill as far as the prisoners are concerned. We are still denied access to them. But the Koji, the prison evangelist, having received special permission from the Minister of Justice, Mr. Okobe, to visit and address the prisoners of all the great prisons in Japan, has twice visited Obihiro Prison this year, in September and October, on which occasions several prisoners were converted, and the old Christians strengthened and helped. I have now a list of 42 Christian prisoners in Obihiro Prison who are keeping the faith. Some five or six discharged prisoners have called on us this year on their way from Obihiro to their homes in the south. I have 16 names of Christian ex-prisoners on my prayer list, from whom we hear from time to time. One, a murderer, was baptized by Mr. Pierson in our home this year. Mr. Koji also reports 4 conversions among the prisoners in Nemuro Prison, 6 in Kabato Prison and 93 at Abosbiri Prison. The church among the officials at Obihiro Prison is in a good condition, being visited by one evangelist from Kushiro monthly, and occasionally by Mr. Pierson.

Of the work among the Ainu, Mrs. Pierson also reports, but we can only take space here to state that the old Ainu chief, Monokute, became a Christian a few days before he died, and also his son who died a short time after. Any results of our work among the Ainus is turned over by comity agreement to the Church of England.

The organized work of the Mission in the Hokkaido is now under the general care of the Hokkaido Presbytery Joint Committee. Reporting for this committee, Mr. Johnson writes as follows:

This committee has charge of the evangelistic work carried on in eight preaching places and in ten or more ont-stations. To meet the demands of this work we have at present only six evangelists, to whom we pay the sum of yen 2,412 per annum.

Takikawa seems the most difficult field, as it is a strong Buddhist centre. There was one baptism there during the year and there are 10

inquirers.

At Muroran there has been steady advance. Early in August there were 6 baptisms, and at present an equal number is ready for baptism.

Of the Hokusci Jo Gakko, or Girls' School in Sapporo, Miss Smith reports:

Number of students	134
Baptized Christians	36
Baptized during the year	20
Not baptized, but professing faith	67

I have never known the students to be so uniformly industrious, or the general spirit of the school so good, so satisfactory as the past year. Our new sewing room is a daily delight. The number of regular pupils enrolled in our three Sunday-schools is 220. This does not include the church Sunday-school, for which we also furnish teachers, only the three under Miss Monk's and my own special care.

Miss Rose, of the Otaru School, has been at home on furlough during the year.

TOKYO.

In Tokyo Presbytery the organized evangelistic work of the Mission has passed into the hands of the joint committee of the Mission and Presbytery, which supervises the work of many centres in and about Tokvo. This committee also cared for the work in Formosa, which the special gift of Mr. John H. Converse made possible. The place selected was Takao, in the southern part of the island, and the principal port of the district. There are now 6,000 Japanese living there, and the place is rapidly growing. Mr. Kawa writes regarding it: "In two years it has changed from a village to a city." The committee appointed Mr. Iyo as its evangelist, and he began work early in July (1910). There is in the place a little group of Christians, among them a number of minor officials. By the courtesy of the English Presbyterian Mission, they have the use of a Mission chapel for a service on Sunday. According to later reports the work is quietly growing.

Dr. Thompson writes that since handing over most of his former evangelistic work to the joint committee, he has carried on work with three evangelists at Ueno Park. Mrs. Thompson work with three evangelists at Ueno Park.

son's work has been chiefly in some eight Sunday-schools of the churches supported by the Mission.

Mrs. McCauley reports a total of 29 in the Rescue Home, though at present there are but 12. During the year three of the girls have been married; three placed in service and four are in Mission schools. The work is decidedly uphill work, but it must be done.

Miss West reports 56 children in the Shinagawa Kindergarten, and writes of the Bible women:

The Bible women under our care are all busy and are proving that if the right woman is in the right place there is an abundance of work, and a very important work for her to do in connection with the church, or, better still, in personal evangelistic effort for women. The great problem now is to find women of suitable age, education and qualifications to train for this work. For this reason the number in the Bible school is small.

EDUCATIONAL WORK.—Meiji Gakuin.—At the time this report was written there were 286 students in the Middle School Department and 19 in the Koto Department.

Number of Christians	53
Baptized during the year	5
Y. M. C. A. members	70
Average attendance at Sunday-night service	40
Average attendance at Literary Society	50
Students in dormitory	50
Graduates last March
Number of Japanese teachers (9 of whom are Christian) Number of foreign teachers (1 giving a few hours)
rumber of foreign teachers (1 giving a few nonis)	-4

In general, writes Mr. Landis, the school spent a quiet, prosperous year. Dr. Ibuka has a catechetical class of boys who are preparing to receive baptism. Mr. Kumano has just started a class for the non-Christian teachers. Mr. Landis adds: "We feel that the school during the year has gained in religious intensity."

There were nine graduates of the Theological Department, six of whom were from the Regular and three from the Special Course. In September there remained but seven students to begin the new year.

Joshi Gakuin.—The attendance remains at about 250, nearly one-half being in the dormitories.

The present Senior Class in the upper department consists of 13 girls, all but 2 of whom have made a profession of their faith. Thirty of the girls teach and help in various other ways in 16 Sunday-schools in different parts of the city. The Y, M. C. A. is composed of the two upper classes and is carrying on a special course of Bible study aside from the regular daily class-room Bible lesson which is required of all classes. * * * The Christmas offering from the school went toward the Christmas supper given to 130 and the dresses given to 70 poor and old and sick by Mr. Tonomura and his helpers in the very poor district where his work is carried on.

There have been 20 baptisms during the year. About one-third of the families represented are Christian. Somewhat more than a third are friendly to Christianity, and the remainder are indifferent or hostile.

are friendly to Christianity, and the remainder are indifferent or hostile. A great part of Miss Milliken's work for the year has consisted in visiting in the homes of the girls. She has met with the greatest cordiality, and as an outgrowth of this visiting there is now a large women's meeting once a month, and also a Bible class, both being held at the school. The girls and their parents seem very eager to have visits from their foreign teachers, and this work could be much extended if the number of workers could be increased.

Mrs. Yajima, the Japanese principal, celebrated her seventy-seventh birthday during the year.

The Tsukiji and Shiba Keimo schools in charge of Mrs. McCauley have had a good year. Of the Shiba School Mrs. McCauley writes:

The pupils are from the middle and lower classes. Twenty are orphans, 6 charity pupils, 2 cripples. Fifteen Christian homes are represented. At a parents' meeting 68 families were represented by either the father or the mother. Many mothers come with children to school. From 12 to 20 outside children attend the Sunday-school. We know of ten of our children who have left us and who are now church members. The second generation is now in the Kindergarten.

Lepers' Home.—Mrs. McCauley writes there were 68 patients in the Christian home at Meguro. She adds:

We went on Christmas Sunday to the Government Lepers' Home out at Higashi Mura Yama, expecting to have a sermon and song service as we had last year. We were surprised to find the large room beautifully decorated with evergreens, and flags, suitable Christmas motto, and an appropriate Christmas program arranged for, and carried out creditably, all done by those lepers, who, a year ago, were street paupers. They had the assistance of the doctor's wife and our little Christian man-servant, given over to them from the Christian Lepers' Home. And lately, a Christian nurse (a pastor's daughter) has gone there. The fruit of the year's twice a month service, largely the work of those earnest two, is now about 30 carnest seekers.

KANAZAWA STATION.

The evangelistic work of this Station covers, or, to be more accurate, makes dots upon, the 2 prefectures of Ishikawa and Toyama, total population, 1,545,000. That this is not a mere figure of speech will be apparent when it is stated that there are in the 2 prefectures 3 cities (population 109,000, 57,000, and 34,000 respectively), 7 towns of over 10,000 each, 16 towns of 5,000 to 10,000 each, and 467 villages of under 5,000 each, these again being subdivided into many smaller villages and liamlets; and that out of this total of 493 communities, we have so far been able to do regular work in only 6—namely, the 3 cities, 1 of the 7 larger towns, 2 of the 16 smaller towns, and none of the villages. It should be said that a work which we trust has not been fruitless has been done by correspondence, by sending the little Bible study paper, Yako, and sometimes other literature, to some hundreds of individuals scattered among these unevangelized places, but practically no preaching or visiting has been done in any of them.

Our work in this field is now a little over 30 years old. The visible results are 2 churches in the city of Kanazawa—I self-supporting and the other approaching self-support—a small mission church in the city of Toyama, and a smaller and unorganized group in the third city, Takaoka. Then there are a very few Christians scattered elsewhere through the field, but hardly a group of even 3 or 4 anywhere.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.—The Mission's share in direct evangelistic work in Kanazawa is limited to the maintenance of two street chapels, one on Kotatsuno on the site of the former Boys' School, and the other in Morimoto cho, in the eastern part of the city. The work in these chapels is carried on by Mr. Toda, pastor of the Tonomachi Church.

Mr. Dunlop, who has been in charge of the evangelistic work both in Kanazawa and Fukui, reports:

We had an interesting illustration of its intolerant spirit early this month. Komatsu goes with the Seiyu party, in politics. At the beginning of this month the prefecture was toured by a group of the leaders of the opposite party, the Kokuminto, or Nationalists. The visiting orators were such men as Shimada Saburo, Kono Hironaka, Hattori and Inukai, men of national fame. In Kanazawa they had a great welcome and held enthusiastic meetings in the park, in the East Hongwanji temple and in the Board of Trade rooms, and were invited to address the students of the Government college. But Kanazawa is a city of 109,000, and correspondingly big and liberal in spirit. Komatsu, which has only 13,000, gave them a different tale to tell. No inn would harbor them, no restaurant would serve them with a meal, no theatre or temple could be rented for a single meeting, the little tuppenny hapenny town park was refused for an open-air meeting, and when at last a political adherent secured for them the use of a vacant building lot, a neighboring school refused the loan of a table and a few chairs for the use of the speakers. The incident is eloquent of the West coast spirit, especially as we find it in the smaller cities and towns.

Our other out-stations in the Kanazawa field are the cities of Toyama and Takaoka. There has been only one baptism in Toyama during the year, but there has been a great deal of faithful work

On the occasion of my last visit but one, in March, 2 young women, school-teachers in the city, were baptized, and our celebration of the Lord's Supper was the largest and most joyous communion ever held in Takaoka. That 2 primary school-teachers could openly confess Christ without precipitating a storm of protest and persecution indicates some progress in the great change for which we daily pray and which we know is surely coming in our West-coast Provinces.

Another sign of the times is that Takaoka has led the way lately in rebellion against Buddhist pillage. The East Hongwanji's great scheme for raising 6,500,000 of yen throughout the empire calls for 2,000,000 as the share of our 3 Hokuriku prefectures. The people in the neighborhood of Takaoka have their backs up and refuse to pay, and the local priests are siding with them and there is consternation at headquarters in Kyoto. We rejoice in every sign of approaching emancipation, and pray God to be made and kept faithful and worthy to have a share in the good times that are soon to come in these poor priest-ridden provinces.

Of the Sunday-school Work Miss Johnstone reports:

We feel that the prejudice against Christianity is being slowly but surely broken down.

Of all our work that of the Sunday-schools is perhaps the most prosperous. We have three Sunday-schools in Kanazawa besides our two church Sunday-schools.

On Flower Sunday three Sunday-schools met together in Tonamachi Church. Besides flowers for the hospitals the children brought clothing, books, etc., for the poor children in the city poorhouse. The city cannot take proper care of its poor, so these children are often in dire need. Though most of the children in these three Sunday-schools come from very poor homes, they brought nine little dresses and three coats, besides a great pile of books and pencils. A collection was taken up which amounted to I yen 80 sen. The officers of the church and the Sunday-school teachers were delighted that there had been such generous giving, and were enthusiastic in their appreciation. After the service the flowers were taken to the hospitals by the smaller children. The big boys carried the things to the poorhouse.

Besides its educational value to the Sunday-school children, Flower Sunday is a good advertisement for our Sunday-schools all over the city, and the attendance at Sunday-school increases. Everyone on the streets, seeing bands of children carrying flowers, asks what it means and everyone appreciates the giving to the sick and poor.

EDUCATIONAL.—Kindergarten Work.—The graduating class in the kindergarten numbered 32, the largest in the history of the school. One of the kindergarten teachers, from a strong Buddhist home, was baptized. A new kindergarten was opened in April in Toyama, with two girls trained by the Station in charge.

Miss Johnstone reports of the Girls' Schools

This year we had the largest graduating class we have ever had. Twenty-nine girls graduated and 20 of these left the school. Nine have come back for post-graduate work.

Of these 29 girls, 17 were baptized Christians, and most of the others had acknowledged themselves Christians, but, owing to opposition, had not been baptized.

As only 10 girls in this class were dormitory girls, it was particularly hard to reach them. All of these in the dormitory were baptized Christians.

During the year 10 girls have united with the church; 9 of these were baptized, and 1, who is from a Christian home, had been baptized in infancy.

With Miss Gibbons' competent help, an advance step was taken in the matter of music teaching, which has advanced the standing and reputation of the school.

LITERARY_—

"Yako."—Dr. Fulton's helper has continued to publish the Yako twice a month throughout the year. Fifteen hundred copies are published. This helper, Mr. Ito, says that many people are much interested in the Yako, and that in places where no Christian work is being done many students and others are reading this little paper.

FUKUI STATION.

Mr. Dunlop reports:

A year ago the Mission appointed a special committee to investigate the subject of village evangelization, and in connection with that investigation some of us have been looking up statistics and learning more about the number and size of our towns and villages than we had learned in years before. In Fukui prefecture we learned that the total population is 626,650. These are found in one city, Fukui, population 50,036; 3 towns of over 10,000 each—namely, Takefu, 1,062; Tsuruga, 17,173, and Mikuni, 10,056; 3 towns of 5,000 to 10,000 each—namely, Ono, 9,633; Obanna, 8,521, and Katsuyama, 6,834; and 169 small towns and villages, or rather groups of villages, the groups averaging 2,905—say 3,000—each. We are at work in only 5 of this total of 176 communities. As for other denominations, Methodists also are at work in 5 places, Episcopalians in 3, and Congregationalists in 1.

My Bible class of Normal School students has been more satisfactory this year than a year ago. The students have shown greater appreciation—a small matter in itself—but they have come more regularly, and one of their number was baptized some months ago. He came to his decision very deliberately, after he had been in the class nearly 3 years. He is one of the best respected and most influential students in the school. Others in the class, though not baptized, are undoubtedly converts.

A very pleasant incident at Takefu this spring was an invitation to address the city Seinenkwai. About 80 of the more prominent young men of the place were present. The other speakers were a Buddhist priest and an ex-petty officer in the navy, who described the battle of the Japan Sea, the meeting being held on the anniversary of Togo's great victory. In conversation with the young priest, I found that he had frequently attended Christian meetings when a student in Tokyo, and had been a Bible class student of a Tokyo missionary, Dr. H. H. Coates. The formation of these Young Men's Associations in all parts of the country is being encouraged by the Tokyo anthorities, and in May a general convention of such associations was held in Nagoya and over 3,000 delegates from all parts of the empire were in attendance. The country primary schools and primary school-teachers certainly will be, and the Young Men's Associations possibly may be valuable points of contact with the rural population in the new work which we hope to see developed all over Japan in the next few years.

In Imajo the "Tuesday Cluh" work among railway men, which

In Imajo the "Tuesday Club" work among railway men, which was such a pleasant feature of the Fukui Station work during 8 months of last year, came abruptly to an end when the friendly and high-minded station-master, Mr. Wada, was transferred to another post and was succeeded by a Buddhist station-master of vile private life.

KYOTO STATION.

Mr. Gorbold reports last year "by all odds the best year on the Mission field," and adds:

There is no way to get people like getting after them. I have tried to do this by means of Bible classes, children's meetings, evangelistic meetings, and personal work, as for which latter there are as many opportunities as there are people in the empire and I have found greater joy and more blessed results through personal work than ever before.

Nineteen persons have been added to the Muromachi Church and the Gojo Chapel.

The leading elder moved to Tokyo to become the treasurer of the Dendo Kyoku (Japanese Missionary Society) and to do active church work there, giving up an army commission which brought him a salary of 150 or 200 yen a month, and now receives 15 yen per month.

There is no better opening for an investment that would pay and spread blessings far and wide than this for building a church in this thickly populated section of a great city where gorgeous Buddhist temples number almost 1,000, but where crowds of people eagerly listen and are ready to believe in the Gospel.

The Yoshida Church, erected during the year, will seat 250 people, with 100 more in the galleries. By opening the various surrounding rooms an audience of 900 or 1,000 people can be made comfortable.

The Kitano Tent Work is more satisfactory than ever. More people hear the Gospel here in one day than hear it in all the churches in Kyoto in a month. With our seven places for work we find that all inquirers at the tent meetings live within easy reach of some one of the chapels. We send a Christian paper to all inquirers, free for a year.

Idzumi.—We continue to publish 1,500 copies of the Idzumi (Fountain) each month. This is a great help to the preachers in their visiting and is the only Christian paper which most of the Christians ever see.

The customary Sunday-schools and kindergartens have been conducted and Mr. Gorbold has, in addition to all his local work, traveled far and wide with Mr. Tonomura on evangelistic tours in Japan, Korea and Manchuria. He reports:

In all of these meetings some 9,000 people attended, more than 1,500 have signed cards which signified that they want to know of Christ. Some 200 or more have been baptized.

What a privilege we have to labor here. Hundreds of Japanese are praying for the evangelization of the world. As I think back over the year and the people and the open door; when I think of how many, many young men were turned away from the meetings in Fusan because the little chapel held but 80, even after the organ was removed; when I find young men going out to the mountains (as in Okayama) and there spending hours wrestling with God in prayer, and at last surrendering and asking for baptism; when young men come and grip your hand and say, "I want to preach that Gospel"; when young men stand before large audiences and hold up their hands asking to be prayed for and testifying that they want pure, clean hearts, or, as one young fellow said to me in Kyoto on last Monday, after he had listened to an address, "I have heard lots of Christian lectures. I used to go to church and study the Bible, but where I went they taught that Jesus Christ was only a man and so I gave up studying Christianity. But if He is what you say He is, I want to be taught, I want to believe Him in my heart." Or when I think of strong young Japanese manhood in such persons as the young man who has been in a Bible class of mine and after which we always went together across the city to a prayer meeting. This young man called me out of a meeting last Sunday morning and asked if he could see me in another room. I said, "Certainly, here is a good place," and led him to the back of the chapel separated from the people by some distance. I had not noticed his emotion, but no sooner had he said, "My parents forbid me to be baptized," than he burst into tears. So I led him to a room upstairs, where he told me all about it, and the tears flowed. The same old story of a Buddhist home. He is a bright young man just graduated from the a Buddhist home. He is a bright young man just graduated from the university. I told him that it was his own fault, that he had not tried to teach his parents and little by little lead them to Christ, and now that he had grown away from them in his faith, they were shocked when they heard that he wished to be baptized. His tears stopped and he said that he would surely try to lead them. When I think of the multitudes everywhere as sheep not having a shepherd-when I think of all these—I become tender, I love Christ more and I love them more.

OSAKA STATION.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.—Dr. Hail reports:

Our churches and chapels in Osaka and suburbs, in common with other Christians, took an active part in the forward movement campaign commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of Protestant Missions in this country. It began with the inevitable fellowship meetings in the Naka-no-Shima town-hall, February 13, 1910. Some 2,500 Christians were present. The first five days in March were devoted to simultaneous meetings in the 44 churches and chapels. simultaneous meetings in the 44 churches and chapels. The work closed with another general rally in the Hamadera town-hall, another Osaka suburb, May 21. The town-hall was filled with an earnest body of Christian people who listened to an earnest practical address from President King, of Oberlin, on the subject of Effective Witness Bearing. The numerical results of the campaign was the enrollment of 1,042 names of candidates for religious instruction.

The residence of a permanent evangelist in Sunniyoshi furnishes a rallying point for the faithful band of Christians in this large Shinto centre. One interesting conversion here is that of a young woman of such a spicidal mania as to bring her under the constant surveillance of such a suicidal mania as to bring her under the constant surveillance of her family and of the police. Her conversion so thoroughly changed her into a cheerful and contented Christian as to draw other members of her family to Christ.

These churches in Osaka have been plunged deeply into debt through the speculations of a defaulting elder, who succeeded in mortgaging the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Horn, since returning, have made their headquarters in the village of Takaradzuka, and from this centre have worked into Osaka suburbs and surrounding villages.

Miss Ransom has located in Tondabayashi, a town 15 miles from Osaka, where she has worked among the women and maintained Sunday-schools in five towns. She writes of a not uncommon difficulty:

Many children in Tondabayashi have been told that if they attend the Christian Sunday-school they will be made to drink human blood and eventually be crucified.

Miss Alexander has found her health restored by living in a little seashore village, Hamadera, which has proved another splendid centre for work, as many of the better-class Osaka people live there and tens of thousands of visitors come there in the summer. The field is occupied by no other Mission. Miss Alexander writes:

The last of February I was able to take up again a Bible class for high-school boys at Ibaraki, which I had been compelled to discontinue on account of ill health. I did not have time for more than two afternoons a month. In the meantime, Mr. Van Horn took the class the other two weeks. We began with 15. For unavoidable reasons the class had to be discontinued for a month, and when we started the second time, the last of April, there were only 3 boys present. One of the church members said it was too bad for me to come so far to teach so few, sixteen miles by trolley car and eight by train, so advised giving it up, but I felt impressed that God wanted us to continue, and said I was willing to go even for 3. We changed the hour to better suit the boys, got one of the high-school teachers interested, and the next week there were 18 present, the next 30, the following week 50, and the number so went up by bounds till one day the little chapel was crowded almost to its limits, and on counting the geta (wooden clogs) at the door, we found there were 87 present. Eager, overflowing with life, and many of them so evidently receptive, it is a joy to teach these boys. I can never be thankful enough that I decided to continue this class. I hope to report many of these boys Christians next year.

Mrs. Hail's report contains some incidents of the work for women and girls:

Our Sunday-school, known as the "flower-loving Sunday-school," because principally composed of those who were inveterate flower stealers, is in much better shape than it was a year ago—then we held our meetings in the yard, covering the grass with straw matting; now we have a neat little Sunday-school chapel, converted out of a cow-stable, formerly owned by Mr. Winn. Its enlargement, its brand new mats, with its bright wall paper, and its glass windows all conspire to give it quite a cheery appearance. In it, also, we hold women's meetings, girls' classes and socials. The Sunday-school itself has improved in numbers and conduct. The boys, ranging from ten to fourteen years of age, often came in smoking their cigarettes. These, in the course of a few months, we organized into a Loyal Temperance League, meeting Saturday afternoons. We got along swimmingly for a while, until the spring "festival of the fox," at which time they "fell from grace." We did not know that they were joining in it, until one morning they came into our yard drawing a big cart, with the big drum, and reported the situation with commendable frankness. They told at the top of their voices, whose incoherent utterances were sufficient confirmatory testimony, that "we are drunk." There is no help for it. Our fathers made us drink sake this morning in honor of our household gods, so we cannot belong to the temperance league any longer." So saying they started back staggering in their walk as they bowed themselves out of the gate. Since that day we have not had the heart to hold a separate meeting for them, but do what we can in that line in the Sunday-school.

In addition to her music teaching in the school, Miss Maguet has carried on a very interesting work for boys and young men, whom she has organized into a Stephen Bible Club. Of her language study and music teaching she writes:

· With physical endurance increased; knowledge of the language and people somewhat increased; more work to do; a stronger belief in the truths I am trying to teach; and best of all, a real assurance of the constant help of God in my work, the year has passed quickly and joyfully.

This year, if all goes well, I expect to finish my language examinations. This will be a relief, as you doubtless know from your own experience. I ought to finish successfully if the prayers and good wishes of my Japanese friends count for anything. One says, "I hope you will pass examinations with greatest success. I know from my long experiences (he is about 18) that examinations is troublesome work and needs courage and fortitude, but when you are being through with it you will have, not merely the sense of relief that the thing is done, but a sense of manhood and self-command which is one of the most pleasantest things in life." I don't know about the sense of manhood, but I certainly shall feel all the rest of the things he speaks about.

This year, as last, my work in the school has been confined to music teaching, with the exception of an English class during the last term. It is a satisfaction to note the improvement made by the girls. They seem to really enjoy our music, and I think it is just as uplifting and ennobling (begging the globe trotter's pardon for my difference of opinion) to cultivate this talent in them, as it is to teach them painting and literature. Pianos and organs are every year becoming more plentiful in Japan, and girls who can play and sing and can teach these arts are in demand. Japan is an old nation, and the dust and cobwebs of the ages cling to her music, but I believe, as the spirit of joy and gladness of the more modern music sweeps the length and breadth of the land, the nation herself will be revived and refreshed and the love and peace of the Christian religion will find a more easy entrance into the hearts of the people.

Of the Stephen Bible Club she reports:

 Γ A beautiful spirit of friendship and brotherhood is creeping in which is good to see. While the boys have lots of fun, it is innocent fun. We have club songs and club yells, games of various kinds, often a literary programme, etc. Of course, our meetings always begin with reading of the Bible and prayer and singing of hymns. The common sentiment of the boys regarding these meetings is, as one of them puts it, "I have never seen such a joyful and peaceful meeting." When members are sick they go to call and sometimes carry flowers. In several instances they have called on long absent members. Recently one member has had an imaginary grievance against the club. Several boys called to try to ascertain the difficulty, and finally three called in a body if possible to change his attitude. They were as much worried as I that we should have any discord, and prayed earnestly that it should be removed. The boy afterwards, in a letter to the Secretary, professed shame and sorrow for his actions. When a boy has attended our club a few times and then drops out the boys who know him seem as unwilling to give him up as I am. A boy writes concerning a friend who had come a few times: "Mr. K. seems to be triumphed by sins. Well, I shall subdue the enemies and bring him back to our church where he may breathe in the air free from sins." The boy came a few more Sundays, but is out again. The friend, however, has not given him up, but says he will call again.

The young men have to meet many temptations both from home and from abroad.

EDUCATIONAL WORK.—Four young men were graduated from the Evangelists' Training School and received licenses from Presbytery.

Wilmina Girls' School.—The alumnæ of the school erected a cottage which they presented to the school. Of the school work, Miss Morgan reports:

We had 165 on the roll from September to graduation in March. The total new pupils for the school year was 54; total enrollment, 191. Five girls graduated from the post-graduate course and 25 from the regular course. One of the post-graduate class, a fine girl, was unable to graduate because sickness in her family kept her out so much the last term. She was living in a relative's family who would not let her join the church. The 5 graduates were Christians and all teachers in Sunday-school.

Twenty of the graduates from the regular course were members of the church visible, and the other 6 all wanted to be, but could not get permission. We believe they are true members of the church invisible. At the beginning of the school year, 54 girls were church members, 17 joined during the year, 36 others professed a decision to live a Christian life, and join the church as soon as possible, leaving 78 who made no profession, these being mainly the younger girls.

I must not forget the Sunday-school work the girls do, with the teachers, in and near Osaka. I think it would be a conservative estimate to say that nearly 700 children had been taught during the year by teachers from our school. Three of these schools depend entirely on teachers furnished by our school.

MATSUYAMA STATION.

Mr. Worley reports:

The church at Matsuyama, numbering 78 members, is growing and its membership is active. It has a well-organized Sunday-school, with an average attendance of 125. The church is fortunate in having eight or nine school-teachers in its membership, who are very active in the Sunday-school, as well as in other departments of the church work.

The church has two organizations, one for men and one for women, which are quite active and productive of much good. The Young Men's Society, composed of about 15 young men, conducts the Sunday evening service once each month, furnishing the speakers from among their number. They also hold evangelistic services every Saturday night in a "kogisho" in another part of the city. These services are all given of their free will and the arrangements were made at their request. Once each month this society holds a literary meeting in the home of the missionary, at which time efforts are made to enlist young men outside of the church. These meetings are decidedly religious in tone, while giving attention especially to literary culture.

This spring, after careful and prayerful preparation, a series of special evangelistic services were held in the Matsuyama Church. The results of these meetings were beyond the expectation of every one concerned. Two hundred people very clearly indicated their wish to become Christians. Not only did they sign cards to that effect, but came forward in the presence of the entire congregation and then in an after-meeting prayed audibly for themselves. These people are not counted converts, although we do not doubt their sincerity, but are being taught and admitted into the church as fast as they are prepared. About one-third of these preferred one of the other denominations working in the city, therefore their names were handed over to the pastors of those churches, although the meeting was not a union meeting in the usual sense of that term.

Recently we have opened up work in the larger town of Mishima, one "ri" from Kamibun, a place of much greater promise, being the site of several good schools, among which is an agricultural school. Three of the teachers of this school are Christians. There have been five baptisms in this part of the field.

In one other way we have tried to do something for the work in general. With the stereopticon and moving pictures we have held 59 services, 48 in Japan and 11 in Manchuria, with very large audiences, aggregating, at a low estimate, 45,000, and we trust accomplishing permanent good. One result of the pictures before a Christian audience is to produce a desire for greater consecration, on account of the vivid representation of the sufferings of Christ, while on a non-Christian audience the effect is to stimulate, to a remarkable extent, a desire to read the Bible. During these services 2,475 Testaments were sold. These were not simply portions, but complete New Testaments, and in more than half the cases many more could have been sold, had the supply been equal to the demand.

Mrs. Worley adds:

We have had only two deaths, one an elder who is greatly missed, and the other the eleven months' old baby of another elder. How we did love him, and hate to have him leave us! Our hearts so ached for the little broken-hearted mother—the little bare, pine box looked so cold and hard, and we asked for the privilege of lining it for them. When we heard them say, "You have made death seem easier," we felt more than repaid for the midnight toil. Their faith was beautiful. When we asked the little mother what song she would like to have sung, she said, "God is Love."

WAKAYAMA STATION.

Dr. J. B. Hail reports:

The Kokawa field lies in the county of Naka. The population of the county is 100,828.

One feature of the work here is the morning prayer meeting. This is held for a week at a time at stated seasons throughout the year. Some of those who attend come for over three miles to be present. As the meetings are usually held about 5 o'clock in the morning, this necessitates their starting before 4.

At Nate, the preaching place is in the house of a man who was formerly a preacher in the Ten Ri Kyo sect of the Shinto faith. This man was baptized on the 24th of April this year, but before his baptism he opened his house for the Christian services. The inquirers and Christians at this place number 8 in all. They conduct their own services on Sunday.

The meetings at Ryumon were begun on the earnest invitation of the mayor of the village.

In Ogura one event has cheered the heart of the evangelist. While the teachers in the school are all Christians or earnest inquirers, and the mayor of the town also is an earnest Christian, in the office of the mayor was a man who was an infidel and a materialist. This man would either shun Mr. Suzuki when he came, or enter into argument with him. Lately, however, he has changed his attitude entirely toward him and is now an earnest student of the Bible. The reason for his change is this. He is a student of political economy. Some years ago, when the population of Japan was only 33,000,000, he had figured out that the empire had reached its limit of population. As there was no more available land to till, and as at that time the empire raised just enough food to feed its population, it was clear to him that if the population should increase beyond that number either men must eat less, or some must starve. Now, however, the population has risen to 50,000,000, and he did not see but that men lived as well or better than they did then. So he had figured it out thus: There must be an intelligent Being behind the increase of the population that with the increase of the people gave an increase of the food supply. And he thought that the Christian God must be that Being. So that now, instead of avoiding the evangelist, or arguing with him, he is trying to learn about the God Who has not left Himself without witness, in that He has given them "fruitful seasons."

The church in Wakayama is an independent, self-supporting church. Ninety inquirers have resulted from special evangelistic services.

One point worked from Wakayama is Dejima. We began work in this fishing village last November. As yet there are no Christians in the village, but a few are studying their Bibles. This they are not doing openly, but in secret. When we began the work here, we taught the children to sing in English, "Come to Jesus." All the children of the village now sing it, and a number of the older persons also. Now when I go down to the appointment there, the little fellows scurry around and call out, "Tum to Desus kita!" "Tum to Desus kita!" We are known in the village as "Come to Jesus." The children who come to the meetings and the Sunday-school are not yet little angels by any means.

One Sunday afternoon when a number of them came in naked, I said to them, "Get your clothes and put them on." They answered, "But, teacher, it is so hot." Another time when two of them were fighting I sat down between them and began to tell them that it was cats and dogs that fought and scratched and bit; boys ought to be kind to each other. "Now," I said, "what are you—boys or cats or dogs?" Quick as lightning one answered, "I am a cat," and suiting his action to his reply, he reached round back of me and scratched his antagonist on the neck. The other said, "I am a dog," and grabbed the other's hand and bit it. But these same little savages have little brothers and sisters, and they take care of them; and in this office they are the personification of care and kindness and patience. They are improving, and we hope in time to have an orderly Sunday-school. It is now virgin soil. In doing some house-to-house work in this village, I was told by a mother of one of the little ones who attend the services regularly, "My little girl when she goes to bed at night always prays this prayer, 'O Lord, make me clean in heart.' " As the mother told me this a tear stood in her eye and she said, "The children is teaching me. I feel that I also must learn this way." So that while there is much to try our patience, there is also much to encourage us here.

At Kanaya the mayor of the town and the postmaster, the head of the police and the judge of the court all are regular attendants on the services. Some of them also commend Christianity to their

TSU STATION.

The Rev. John E. Hail reports:

Tsu City is friendly to us. This is true, also, of the officials in the Kencho (who are under the Central Government), though in the latter case the friendship is not so marked as it was several years ago. Possibly the attitude of the American public towards Japan may be partly responsible for this.

At the invitation of the principal of the Third Middle School at Ueno, I have visited the school a dozen or more times, speaking to the students. Every time that I have visited Ueno I have had meetings or Bible study classes for the students in our little chapel. The school principal.has always attended these meetings.

The Misses Miller, of Princeton, N. J., in memory of their mother, Mrs. S. C. P. Miller, very generously provided the funds for the erection of a building for a kindergarten in Tsu. The teachers have been employed and the first class of 22 children is at work and play. The dedication of the building and the formal opening of the school will take place in September. At that time nearly 70 children will be admitted. For the first class, one now at work, we had nearly twice as many applicants as we could take.

Four branch Sunday-schools have been organized by the Tsu Church Sunday-school. The total enrollment in both the branch schools and the parent school is 460.

Nisai is a town of between 6,000 and 7,000 inhabitants. Here an artillery regiment has been located. Last fall I received an invitation from Mr. Shimidzu, M.A. of the Tokyo Imperial University, and for several years a lecturer on philosophy at the Nongwanji (Buddhist) Theological School at Kyoto, to conduct Christian services in his home. This we have been doing once or twice each month since last December. Mr. Shimidzu has not been baptized, not yet being satisfied as to the Divinity of Christ, although he avows himself to be a Christian.

Among other evangelistic activities, Miss Sherman had a series of meetings in her house on Tuesday evenings. writes:

This has proved an interesting item of our work. The meeting has been well attended by our neighbors and some others. Twice the young men from the church have told the story of Christ and illustrated it with lantern pictures. Mr. Hirao assisted in these lantern meetings and 150 or more were able to see and hear. At the close of the first lantern meeting our house carpenter said as he was leaving, "From this evening I accept the Christian belief."

At another time three workmen who were cutting timber from a lot near our house stopped when returning from work to ask if there was to be a Gospel meeting there that evening. We told them it was a meeting for women, but if they wished they might come. They told us they had first heard about Christ three years before at an open-air meeting at the Tsu Exposition. But living in another town where no Christian work is done, they had been waiting for the opportunity to hear more.

YAMADA STATION.

Mr. Hereford writes:

I have given three hours per week to English teaching in the Yamada Middle School since January of this year. It has made the young men and the teachers more friendly toward us, and I hope that something more than English was taught, for at the farewell meeting, given me at the school, it seemed to come to light that they had found out something about the Christian idea of duty.

We have o Christians in the Yamada School, and the total number of students is 500. In the spring two young men were appointed to contest with young men of other schools in essay writing. The two were Christians. One of them could not go, another had to be appointed, and he a Christian also. The best speakers in the school are Christians.

Shingu has recently been stirred by the action of the police in searching the houses of the evangelist and most of the Christians, and a Buddhist temple, seeking for evidences of socialism.

The population of this field is 480,000. We have had 40 baptisms during the year. No other Mission is working at any place in this field. There are about 225 Christians in the territory. Japan is not yet Christian. We feel that the number of baptisms does not measure the real progress, however.

We have 6 evangelists and 2 Bible women working in this field. I should like to see 20 evangelists and another Mission family in it.

Miss Riker reports:

We accepted the invitation of a young Christian teacher and held a children's meeting in the school hall of his village about a five-mile walk from Yamada.

I was the first foreigner the village ever saw and the children swarmed like flies. However, they were fairly orderly and attentive while we held the first public Christian meeting in that village. Efforts were made to find a meeting place for a bi-monthly meeting, but the place is wholly given over to the Heaven Reason Sect of Shintoism and would not let us in.

The girls' English class enrolls more new members than regular students. The brightest girls who come to me are usually daughters of the Shinto priests. They learn to read "It is a dog" quite readily, but they enjoy the Japanese Bible Lesson and Christian songs more than their home folks care to see and suddenly become "too busy" to study English.

But 10 or 12 young girls attend with good regularity and for them we labor and pray.

Since April I have taught two hours a week in the Boys' Commercial School at the request of the city fathers and the principal of the school. This to me did not seem like "Woman's work for women," but our pastor's wife urged me to undertake the work as a means of breaking down prejudice in our hard-headed city.

TANABE STATION.

Miss Leavitt writes:

The Tanabe Church, at the beginning of the year, undertook self-support. It was a hard pull, for every Christian had practically to double his contribution to church expenses; and beyond this they provided an expensive wedding present for one of my helpers who was married, and later presented a pretty little watch to the other Bible woman in appreciation of her long and faithful work for the church and Sunday-school.

One good old woman, in her last illness, prayed that she might be called home before I left so that I might be with her at the last. Her prayer was granted, and she passed away in great peace, rejoicing in the Lord.

Miss Robertson writes:

In October a request came from the Red Cross Hospital nurses for an English class, so I told them that I was not out here just to teach English, but that I would do it if they would accept a Japanese Bible class also. They liked the plan, so two evenings each week we went—Miss Sakoda and I—and gave them first a Bible lesson and then one in English. There was only one Christian in the class at first, but we had the pleasure of knowing that two more had been baptized before we left and that others were in the inquirers' class expecting to be baptized soon.

I have been much impressed by the number of callers we have had this summer who have come to discuss with Miss Leavitt problems about Christianity or ideas that were vexing them. To me this personal work seems the most important of all, yet it is what I am least fitted for because of such poverty in the language.

HIROSHIMA-KURE.

Miss Garvin has moved from Osaka to Hiroshima. She reports:

Hiroshima City.—The four work centres in Hiroshima have been the old First Church, the East Church, a Kogisho on Ote Machi, and Oko Village.

Oko Mura is a village at the foot of the hills east of Hiroshima. The suburban railroad line to Ujina runs through it. One of the men baptized at East Church in January, named Uyeki, is from this village.

He had been a Buddhist priest, and while very ill last year with a supposedly contagious disease, he was left alone in the house to die, deserted even by his wife. A friend had given him a ten-sen Testament, and reading it alone on his sick-bed he became interested and resolved that if he should recover he would give it earnest study. So he did. In the spring, upon the hundredth day after his baptism, he called together a small circle of his friends, for a praise service and presented each guest with a ten-sen Testament in grateful memory of his own conversion. He was the only Christian in his village, which is bitter, narrow and prejudiced.

In Hiroshima City I have repeatedly refused requests for English teaching. They came from the city prosecuting attorney, bank and business men, Higher Normal School students, and Middle School students; and from women of different classes. Some people wanted to come in the forenoon, some in the afternoon and some in the evening. And so, with the exception of regular engagements, I laid aside everything else to teach the Bible to these seekers at any hour they could come. Some could come every day. This continued from the middle of March till summer. It is perhaps early to speak of results. Some will continue the study in the fall. Some have left the city. About 30 people bought Testaments or Bibles.

Mr. Brokaw, in the absence of any ordained man at Hiroshima, has cared for both Stations. In addition to his other work, he reports:

The Fukuin Geppo came into my charge again from October, 1000. In December I changed it from a four-page paper to a slightly smaller eight-page paper, without additional cost. I have been fortunate in securing the co-operation of the Sanyo Presbytery workers, who contribute generously to the columns of the paper, giving it greater variety and readability, and necessitating only a brief article cach month by myself. The circulation has increased from 1,900 copies to 2,500. Of these 500 are used by the Yamaguchi Station, 300 by the Wakayama Station, 210 by the Matsuyama Station, and 35 by the Osaka Station. An advertisement was inserted on behalf of the three Stations in Sanyo Presbytery, offering to send any one Christian literature. I have received about 40 requests per month, and have sent out a package of tracts, with the Geppo each month, to each new inquirer.

YAMAGUCHI STATION.

Mr. Ayres writes:

Since I came to Japan I have never seen so many people who seemed to be really interested in Christianity as during the past year. In out-of-the-way places the seed seems to have found lodgment and to be springing up. People met on the cars and in various public places are more approachable on the subject of religion. Pupils in schools show more earnestness. Store-keepers and business men show a desire for some gain. And it is a seeking after truth. They seem willing to hear of Christianity, not so much because they already believe it is what they want, as because they want something, and think Christianity may be that something. This state of affairs has made it a busy and a happy year.

The churches at Shimonoseki and Chofu both have pastors and are flourishing.

Kojo Jo Gakuin.—Forty-nine have been enrolled in the Girls' School during the year, 7 of whom were graduated in March. Miss Bigelow writes:

During the winter there was a quiet revival. The Christian girls received a great blessing and 7 of the others professed their faith in Christ.

Afterwards the visit of Mr. Gorbold and Mr. Tonomura helped others to come to a decision, and in all 12 girls have joined the church this year.

The kindergarten has had a prosperous year. Forty children have always been on the roll, and we have had a small waiting list. Eighteen little ones were graduated in March.

The Sunday-school has been unusually good. During the last few months we have had an average of over 50 and once an attendance of 80.

Miss Wells has been located at Tokuyama, a place of 14,-000 inhabitants on the railroad. She writes:

Those who have been on furlough and then found themselves once more in their loved field of work, can readily understand what a joy it was to me to find myself once more back in Japan. The hills and mountains around Yamaguchi never looked so lovely to me as they did when I found myself once more among them last October, and this, combined with many words of welcome from the people, made it seem doubly good to be back.

At Yanai there seems very little change in the woman's meetings. As an evangelist is located there now regular Sunday services and a mid-week prayer meeting are held. The Sunday-school has increased quite a little, there now being 35 or 40 in attendance. We are always welcome at the factory, and I recognized several girls whom I used to see at the factory meetings. It means a financial loss to the owners of the factory, for they always shut down work an hour and a half ahead of closing time, whenevef we go there, for the meetings are held in the factory and they sweep up before the meetings. The head of the factory has organized a temperance society for men of over 50 members.

WORK AMONG THE JAPANESE IN KOREA.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis and Miss Luther have been greatly encouraged by the progress of the work among the Japanese in Korea. Absence from home and the openness of mind incident to settlement in a new land have made the Japanese in Korea and Manchuria especially accessible to the Gospel. In Riuzan, the Japanese suburb of Scoul, four or five years ago there was nothing but wilderness, whereas now there is a flourishing town of 10,000 people. Mr. Curtis reports of the work here:

Special attention has been given to dealing with individuals, and in nearly every place visited, one or more persons were brought apparently into the full light of salvation. These were from all classes of society—in one place the wife of a high official, in another a shopkeeper, in another a doctor—the last, who was also the headman of the village of Najn, where the first meeting (two years ago) was broken up by a drunken official. At the second visit, six months later, there was a fine meeting; at the third this doctor, who had been previously most helpful in making arrangements for meetings, I found critically ill. I prayed with him and gave him Christian literature, urging him to pray and seek God. He did so and during his illness read the New Testament through three times, and now on this last occasion he not only arranged for the meeting to be held in the upper part of the new private hospital he had erected, but himself took a definite step in faith, accepting Jesus as Saviour and Lord.

Of late, many of the Japanese in Korea are coming into the Kingdom, through the door of simple repentance and faith, rather than groping to find the way by intellectual study and the dim light of reason. There are many who with a consciousness of deepest need are finding in Christ a refuge from life's storms and victory over the temptations which had formerly mastered them. During more than twenty years of missionary experience, I have never seen so many or so severe cases of "hammon" (distress of spirit). Separated from home and country, and subject to most insidious temptations, many of the Japanese become despondent and are turning to Christianity as their only hope. My position as pastor has given me unusual opportunities for seeing the blackest side of Japanese social life. One and another has come to me unburdening his soul, as I had never supposed a Japanese would do, to one of another nationality. One man, a tailor, to whom we had given Christian literatures, realizing the great harm "sake" was doing him, wrote on a slip of paper his determination to abstain, and hung it on the wall, but this was not enough to help He was subsequently led to attend a temperance meeting! also to go and hear a sermon. He received much help, also, from the "Hundred Talks For Inquirers." God led him thus in a remarkable way, until one day he came to me with but one doubt left in his mind— Would God have mercy on such a worthless sinner as he? I pointed him to that wonderful epitome of the Gospel-John v. 16. "Well," said he, as he took it in, "if God loved me like that I must surely believe." Then, in a prayer of penitence, confession and thanksgiving, he found that "eternal life" of which he had just been reading. "Sappari shimashital"—"It's all cleared up," he exclaimed, as the light broke in upon his soul.

Mrs. Curtis and Miss Luther have been greatly helped in their evangelistic work among the women by Mrs. Watanabe, wife of the Japanese Chief Justice in Korea, who, with her husband, have made the service of Christ their chief concern.

Mr. and Mrs. Winn have made their headquarters at Dairen in Manchuria, but have worked up and down the South Manchurian railway, the Japanese authorities supplying them with passes and every facility and encouragement in their work. Mr. Winn speaks of his rejoicing now at seeing every year richer results than he dared to look for during his whole first term of service in Japan, thirty years ago. Incidents from his report will show the character and promise of the work:

We have been surprised at how many are interested enough to gather at any hour of the day that we announce our coming.

The climax of surprise was reached when at a hotel as I handed out the usual "cha dai" (tip) the maid informed me that she had been instructed to refuse any for herself or for the hotel! The ex-planation given was that the Railroad Company had made that the rule in the treatment of all connected with the company, and as we were working for the good of those in the company, we had been included in the rule!

The South Manchuria Railway Company has employed five Christian men to give their time visiting the families of employés along the line to cheer and encourage them. When this departure was being planned for, the president and directors said it is a work that only Christian men can do, and they must have Christian men. These five men are not allowed to give positively religious or Christian addresses. But it is quite generally understood that their talks on morality are about Christian morals, and with individuals who desire to hear of Christianity, they may teach and pray.

A middle-aged man had been an attendant of the church for two years more or less regularly. He nearly always had a son of ten or twelve years with him. By invitation, last winter, he came to the inquirer's class at our house. When an opportunity was given for questions, he began by relating how he had earnestly studied Buddhism and Shintoism, but had not discovered how a man was to be pure and holy. He felt that he needed heart-cleansing, but no cleansing power seemed to inhere in those religions. He therefore had turned to Christianity to have this deep-felt need supplied. As yet he was not able to say that he had obtained it. He supposed that before he could become a Christian he must be made sinless. When it was explained to him that he would be pardoned and delivered from the penalty of sin at once through faith in the Lord Jesus Christ, and that he would in the end be made perfect in the likeness of the Saviour, light broke into his soul. I shall long remember with what eagerness he asked again to have that explained, and how his dead understanding seemed suddenly to have awakened and become the way to life and holiness. From that hour he was a changed man. He was one of a company of nineteen to be baptized in March.

The Christians in Mukden dedicated a substantial brick church building last October. There have been three churches built in Manchuria in as many years. Everywhere places for meetings have been provided by the people whom we visit. All the work in which we have shared has been carried on without the use of any Mission money, aside from that for the missionaries.

We have traveled, each of us, during the year nearly 10,000 miles, being favored with passes over all the lines of the South Manchuria Railway.

Mrs. Winn reports:

Soon after our return last fall, an experienced Bible woman of mature years came to help in the work among women, and she has proved a real blessing to the church. Her salary is entirely provided by the church and principally by an individual Christian, who in this way proves the sincerity of his repentance over a former life of sin and dissipation. She has been particularly successful in work among old women, and has opened a special meeting for them which has been attended by 10 or 12, 4 of whom have already united with the church. The oldest of the number is 78 years old. Her sister is one of the court ladies who wait upon the Empress, so she is of quite high rank, and conducts herself with suitable dignity. She is very deaf, but comes regularly to Sabbath services at the church, and generally comes in leading another old lady who is nearly blind. It was a touching sight to see these old women, who until very recently worshiped false gods, profess their faith in the one living God, and it was made all the more so by some of my Sunday-school girls uniting with the church at the same time.

The Women's Society connected with the Dairen Church has had a good year, with a membership of over 60. On special occasions they have had larger meetings than ever before. At our annual union meeting last May, to which women from other societies in Manchuria are invited, we had about 120 women present, and we had 80 or more out to hear Uyemura San when he was in Dairen last month.

Last fall the women of this society sent in a request to headquarters to have smoking prohibited on the electric street cars of the city. At first they did not succeed, but they tried and tried again and came off victorious this summer.

Our Christians seem to have grown in the grace of giving, and we are often amazed at their liberality. They never seem to be hindered in doing what they really want to do for money considerations.

The wife of a police sergeant told me that before her husband became a Christian, he used at least 15 yen each month in strong drink, and as they have a large family of children, it was very difficult to clothe them suitably to go to school, but now they rejoice, not only in having an abundance of things necessary for this life, but also in having a kind, good husband and father. This family have need of no further proof of the truth of Christianity, but are hoping to profess their faith in a religion which has brought about such a wonderful change in their condition. When this police sergeant became a Christian, he wrote to a friend in a neighboring town, urging him to also give up the use of sake and study the Bible. This friend, who is head of the police, was so much impressed by the changed conduct of his formerly dissipated friend, that he determined to follow his advice. On New Year's day, he, with the station-master of the little town where they live, pledged each other to entirely give up the use of all liquor, and endeavor to persuade all the men under them to follow their example.

In this they succeeded well, but felt it was impossible to become Christians without instruction, so they inquired of a mutual friend if it would be proper to ask Mr. Winn to stop off the train occasionally to teach them the Bible. They were assured that Mr. Winn would gladly come if only one man wanted to hear, and so it has come about that we visit regularly at this new Station of Sanjiu-rippo.

The third church built in Manchuria by Japanese Christians is at a small station on the Antung Moukden line, where a great tunnel is being built.

It happens that the officer in charge of the work at this place and his wife are sincere Christians. This officer, because be is so trustworthy, has repeatedly been selected by the Railroad Company to undertake difficult and dangerous commissions, and they all know he is so trustworthy because he is such an earnest Christian and does not require time to recover from dissipation.

When he and a few Christian sub-officers were sent with 3,000 Japanese laborers to this new post, they decided that they must build a church before their own houses were put up, and this is what they actually accomplished almost before the work on the tunnel was begun. They have a neat iittle church built almost entirely at their own expense, which was dedicated last December and it has proved a great blessing to their little community. It is used for Japanese meetings and afterwards for Chinese meetings every Sunday, and during the week it is used for a day-school for the children. There are many earnest inquirers at this place, about 15 of whom have already been baptized. This place, called Kyodo, has the reputation of being the quietest and most harmonious settlement along the line where the new railroad is being laid, and the work progresses so rapidly that everyone is amazed.

ON FURLOUGH DURING THE YEAR: Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Clark, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Hirst, Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Smith, Rev. Dr. and Mrs. S. A. Moffett, Rev. and Mrs. Graham Lee, Rev. and Mrs. Chas. F. The marriages of Miss Anna Heron and Miss Helen I. Taylor, and the resignation of Dr. and Mrs. Charles H. Irvin diminished the Mission force by four. Several new missionaries were sent out, but the net gain was a small advance for such a rapidly developing field. In other respects the year has afforded renewed reasons for rejoicing. A new Station has been opened at Andong, a field of large promise. The final division of territory with the Methodist Mission and with the Australian Mission has been amicably accomplished. The whole field has now been apportioned among the various Missions so that each Mission has now its own territory for which it alone is responsible, a few of the larger cities only being common ground. This is one of the greatest advance steps in the history of Korean Missions.

The Mission was visited by Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Brown during the year. The problems and questions that confront the Mission were dealt with by him in conference and thus both Board and Mission brought closer to each other and enabled each to understand the other's problems better. Then the coming of Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman with his party of evangelists brought spiritual uplift to all who heard them. The great revival, which had been in progress for several years, swept on with continued intensity. The evangelistic impulse strengthened till the suggestion was made that a million souls be definitely sought. To many of the individual members of the company that proposed it, the idea that a million souls might be added to the Church within so short a period scemed an utter impossibility in the ordinary way of Gospel propaganda, but that a million might, and could and would be touched by the year's prayer and effort, was quite within the range of hope and faith and love. The million mark was not reached, but the missionaries believe that the "million" word has had its good influence on the effort of the year.

SEOUL STATION.

The city of Seoul develops yearly surprises that tax the recorder to keep track of: new streets, new buildings, newly planted trees on the mountain sides, new ideas, new customs, in fact, a whirl of change and transition. Seoul is now quite a modern city, with frock-coated, top-hatted officials, courts of justice headed by a Japanese Presbyterian elder, handsome bank buildings, electric street car systems, water works, etc. The ambitions of the land, the struggles for preferment and political schemes all help to keep the city in a state of ferment, and make it a harder but none the less needful field for missionary effort.

Dr. and Mrs. Underwood returned to the field after an absence of three years and were warmly welcomed. Dr. and Mrs. Avison were also welcomed after regular furlough. The loss of Miss Heron and Miss Taylor, who married outside of the Mission, is deeply felt, but all good wishes go with them in their new happiness.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.—The method of instruction in Bible classes continues to be one of the main features of the work.

Eighty Bible classes of over four days each has been held. These Bible classes have been used by some of the ladies for the teaching of the native script, hygiene, care of the family, etc. Evangelistic services for unbelievers are always a part of these classes and many converts are made as a result of them.

The field of Seoul Station extends 70 miles to the south, 70 to the east and 40 to the west, including more than 500,000 people. Fifteen years ago a deathlike ignorance covered all this region. To-day from nearly every hilltop a chapel or church is in view, with school attached, where instruction is given.

The burden of itineration during the year has been chiefly on Mr. Clark and Mr. Peters.

The church leaders come out to greet us with glad faces as we enter the town, speaking their salutation of peace. Refreshments are offered on little tables with chopsticks, before which one sits cross-legged. After the meal, the place is cleared and Bibles and hymn-books come forth. The rooms are soon packed, all seated on the floor, the men and women apart. A hymn is sung, prayer is offered, and words are spoken of a Saviour who has come to set men free from sin. Great opportunities are open before the missionary.

To aid the "million" movement, the British and Foreign Bible Society agreed to print as many copies of Mark's Gospel as should be needed. These were for free distribution, giving one to whomsoever would promise to read it. One man bought 500 copies of Mark to give away. A group of Christians bought 4,000 for like purposes.

Winter Class.—Over 400 men attended this class, which was held in February. This was followed by the Women's Class, attended by 200. The attendants of these classes were the leaders of the country groups. They paid all their own expenses and asked in return only that we teach them what the Bible means and does for us.

In all, 2,636 communicants and several thousand catechumens were received. Money raised by the churches amounted to $6,690.

EDUCATIONAL WORK.—The educational work of the Station has gone forward through considerable difficulty.

The John D. Wells' Training School began the year with 152 students enrolled and continued till the early winter, when a number of them rebelled against the faculty, and had to be dismissed. It was several weeks before order was restored, and the classes began again with about 50 present. A new building is under way and bright hopes are entertained for the future.

The Women's Academy, under Miss Rittgers (now Mrs. Genso), has won a good name throughout the city and country. Twenty-two young women, with excellent records and happy faces; were graduated. Unable themselves to go forth to preach, the school-girls collected monthly their pin money and paid an evangelist all through the winter and spring months to go forth as their representative.

Frimary Schools in Seoul territory number 29, with 619 pupils. An understanding has been arrived at with the Government by which we have now a regular system of registration, course of study and reporting. The Government Educational Department has kindly given us all the help and information possible.

MEDICAL WORK.—Severance Hospital (O. R. Avison, M.D., Superintendent; Dr. J. W. Hirst, Assistant Superintendent).—Medical work has changed its relation since the incoming of the Japanese regime.

Once it was the means of drawing the ignorant of the West within the sound of the Gospel; then it became a means of relief to the Christians, almost the only place where medicine and treatment could be found. Crowds of people flocked to it, but now there has been a change—some falling off of patients—due to the increase of teaching in the institution itself, to the lack of funds, to the multiplication of shops selling western medicine, to the establishment of the Imperial Hospital, to the presence and efficiency of the army corps. All these have divided attention with the Severance Hospital and caused its efforts to be directed along new lines specially suited to the needs of to-day. The development of the medical school has been one result. Already seven students have been graduated, licensed, and are doing excellent work. Thirty-four students are at present enrolled. Four foreign physicians and two natives have assisted during the year, but four competent Koreans are to be available for the future.

There has recently been graduated also a Korean nurse, Miss Bessie Kim, who is to be employed as native head of the Nurse Department.

The Japanese Tai Hau Hospital in Scoul during the last year spent, including salaries of doctors and nurses, $80,785 in the treatment of 6,030 out-patients and 640 in-patients, while the Severance Hospital spent only $11,772.43 for 10,000 out-patients and 512 in-patients.

Government sanction has been obtained and general Mission approval, which together give promise of making the Severance the Christian medical centre for the whole peninsula.

LITERARY WORK.—The literary work of the year has been considerable. "Pilgrim's Progress" has been revised. Mr. Clark has finished and published Johnson's "Homiletics." The "Korea Mission Field" has been edited by Mrs. Underwood. The Sunday-school Lessons have been edited here. The Korean English Dictionary, which is approaching publication, has required much patient time in reading proof. Mrs. Pieters has revised her Arithmetic.

FUSAN STATION.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.—This year has been one of peculiar difficulty for Fusan Station. Mr. Smith, whose judgment and energy have been the mainstay of the work, has been on furlough. The burden of the work in this Province has been borne chiefly by Mr. Bruen, of Taiku, who is already overpressed with his own work. Those on the field are as yet new in the work and language. The future, however, is promising, for the missionary force is now larger than it has been for years. A new helper, a new elder and new groups have been added; 275 have been received into communion, 534 catechumens enrolled and 169 children baptized. The offerings for the year amounted to $2,786.90.

The final readjustment of territorial boundaries with the Australian Mission has been happily accomplished. This led to a readjustment in the helpers' circuits also. Two new helpers were added. All the helpers receive half pay from the churches and half from the Mission. The deep poverty of the people has made it difficult for the people to raise their share, resulting in hardship to several of the helpers. Mr. Bruen has met all the helpers, colporteurs and Bible women once a month at Milyang. In this way much counsel has been given and a firm hold kept upon the work.

A leaders' class, attended by 150 men from all over the Province, was held. The regular men's class was attended by 350. The members of the class pledged days of personal work amounting to nine years and purchased 8,500 copies of Mark's Gospel.

EDUCATIONAL.—The Station supports both a boys' and a girls' school. Sixty-five pupils are enrolled. In the "Girls' Model Training School," conducted by Mrs. Irvin, there are 70 pupils. In the country districts there are 21 schools, with an enrollment of 265.

MEDICAL.—Junkin Memorial Hospital.—A never-ending stream of sufferers come to the hospital and dispensary.

Through the work of Dr. Irvin and Mr. Smith, the leper asylum has recently been completed and there are now 12 of these pitiable suf-ferers who have been taken in and cared for by funds from gracious friends. 10,164 patients were treated in the hospital at a total expense of $1,579.48.

PYENG YANG STATION.

The fifteenth year of Pyeng Yang Station shows development along all lines. The movement to win a million souls this year has kindled the evangelistic zeal of the Koreans so that they have preached with more enthusiasm than ever before, and this has resulted in a large increase in church attendance.

The general work of the Station has been carried on as usual. Travel in the country, organization and oversight of new and rapidly growing churches, direction of Bible Training Classes and teachers' institutes, management of primary. intermediate and higher schools of learning, supervision of medical work, entertainment of passing guests and Korean callers, and many other things all take time and form a panorama of never ceasing interest.

Our working force was much depleted by the unusual number of furloughs. The Blairs were absent all the year. The Lees and Bernheisels left in the spring, and the Moffetts and Miss Best for five or six months each. Dr. Moffett was a delegate to the Edinburgh Con-

The Station was happy to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Mowry, Mr. and Mrs. Holdcroft, Miss Plummer and Miss Campbell as new missionaries. They have all been diligent in language study and have borne some of the burden which has fallen from the shoulders of those who have left.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.—The five city churches, as heretofore, have demanded considerable time.

The First, or Central Church, in charge of Pastor Kil, a Korean, has a constantly growing congregation numbering over 1,200. The Second, or South Gate Church, in charge of Mr. Swallen, though in the Japanese district, is in a flourishing condition. The congregation numbers about 500. The Third, or North Church, of which Dr. Baird has been in charge during Mr. Blair's absence, has a congregation of over 400, and is rapidly growing. The Fourth Church, of which Mr. Bernheisel is pastor, has proved too small for its congregation of 500, and enlargement is planned. The Fifth Church is now under the care of Mr. Swallen and Mr. Holdcroft. It meets in the auditorium of the Theological Seminary and has a congregation of about 900.

The general evangelistic work in the country is pressing and important. Some of the groups have not been visited by a missionary during the year, but much assistance has been given by the Korean pastors and helpers.

The growth is larger than ever before. During Mr. Swallen's fall itineration he baptized 670 persons and at one place sold an oxload of Mark's Gospels as soon as they arrived. Mr. Swallen reports that in one section, which has a population of 70,000, one in ten is a Christian, and in another region one in five. Mr. Bernheisel baptized 197 adults and received 270 catechumens, which makes a total membership in his circuit of 1,190 baptized, 690 catechumens and 62 baptized infants. Pastor Kil, on a trip of only a few days in Mr. Lee's territory, baptized 75 persons and admitted 113 into the catechumenate. Previously Mr. Lee had baptized 135 adults and received 325 catechumens. These incidents are given as examples of the gratifying growth general in all the Station's territory.

Bible training classes were held in nearly every church throughout the Station's territory.

The Pyeng Yang class for men had an attendance of over 600. The Bible Institute for men was held at the same time and had 170. During the winter class there was a wonderful outpouring of God's Spirit. The College and Academy students suspended their studies for a week and spent the time preaching to all who would listen. They visited every house in the city and many surrounding villages. All who would were persuaded to go to the evening services in the churches and about 1,800 professed faith in Christ. The men's summer class in June was attended by about 300. The men undertook a systematic, house-to-house campaign in the city and surrounding villages. In the evening special evangelistic services were held in all the churches.

For the women, eleven country classes were held by Miss Best, Miss Butts and Mrs. Swallen, with a total attendance of 961. In addition, 75 classes were taught by Korean women, with an attendance of 2,270. Fifty women attended the Bible Institute for two months, while 1,265 more came into Pyeng Yang for other classes, making a total of 4,548 women who have studied this year.

The Woman's Bible Training Class system has advanced a step in the organization of the Bible Institute which now has a course prepared to cover two and a half months. The purpose is to prepare the best women to go out as Bible teachers and leaders. Fifty women were in attendance this first year.

EDUCATIONAL WORK.—The Primary Schools are under the missionary in charge of the district. They form our most serious educational problem.

The rapid organization of Government schools, the dearth of good teachers in the country groups, and the lack of oversight by some one missionary who should devote his whole time to these schools, have all combined to make this problem a very insistent one. The needs of the more or less loosely organized Sunday-schools also call for attention. Mr. Holdcroft, who has had special training in Sunday-school work, is working to meet this need.

The Union Christian College and Academy, of which Dr. Baird is president, has had a good year. The Board of Control is composed of representatives of both the Presbyterian and Methodist Missions. The enrollment was 552 students, 54 of whom were in the college; 323 were Presbyterian and 187 Methodists.

A class of five was graduated from the College, and 22 from the Academy, making a total of 7 graduates from the College and 114 from the Academy. Former students of the institution are now teaching all over Korea, and 10 are in the Theological Seminary. The institution is steadily growing and more buildings and better equipment are imperative. It is a pleasure to state that a good recitation hall as well as dormitories are in sight.

The Union Academy for Women has also had a successful year.

Nearly all the ladies of the Station have assisted more or less. The school opened with 120 and increased during the year to 132, with a total enrollment of 164. Of these 81 were from the country and 83 from the city; 46 were Methodist and 118 Presbyterian. Work will soon be begun on the new buildings. To Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Davis we give our sincere thanks for the funds for this development.

The Normal School for men enrolled 100 and that for women 43. The first class, of 9 men, was graduated.

MEDICAL WORK (J. H. Wells, M.D., in charge).—The attendance at the Caroline A. Ladd Hospital was 14,216, including 2,529 friends and relatives who came with the patients. There were 369 surgical operations.

The evangelistic phase of the work has been most successful. There have been at least 300 genuine conversions. Miss Lucile Campbell, while giving most of her time to language study, has assisted at nearly all the serious operations, besides giving much time to the sick women in the school and in homes, especially in confinements.

The total expense for the year was $1,741.70. Of this $419.99 was from the Board, the rest being raised on the field, all but $26.21 being from Korean sources.

LITERARY WORK.—Mr. Bernheisel reports the completion of an American History in Korean, on which he has been engaged off and on for two years. Mr. Swallen, Dr. and Mrs. Moffett and Dr. and Mrs. Baird have original work and translations under way.

SELF-SUPPORT.—Financially the work of the year has been accomplished with $3,061.96, which covers all expenses exclusive of salaries of missionaries. When this cost of running one of the largest Mission Stations of the Board is considered, it will be conceded that the Board funds have been most carefully and economically used. For every dollar from America used in the Academy, College and Hospital, about three dollars are raised on the field by the Koreans, while in the evangelistic work, including the support of the church, primary schools, about $23 are raised on the field from Koreans to every one contributed from America.

TAIKU STATION.

EVANGELISTIC.—It has been a year of testing and sifting.

Many professed adherents have fallen away, while many others have come through the testing stronger and more energetic than ever. The distractions and new material interests of the hitherto unknown world that have opened up with the inrush of the Japanese have swept from their feet many not securely grounded spiritually. Again, the missionary force and trained workers have been inadequate for the instruction of the thousands who have come in. Small wonder that some lost interest in a thing that they have not perfectly understood.

On the other hand, there are more evidences than ever that God is working in power in thousands of truly regenerated souls.

This year has witnessed the greatest in-gathering in the history of the Station. Nine hundred and twenty-eight have been baptized and 1,808 catechumens received. There are now 152 groups under the supervision of the Station, with a total of 2,706 communicants and 12,067 adherents.

Many Bible classes for men have been held and blessed results obtained. The lack of country classes for women is especially felt, the good results of the one class held by Mrs.

McFarland last year in Kyung In being still evident.

The churches of this region have suffered from the pernicious teachings of an heretical sect under the leading of some so-called Japanese Christians. By a strenuous effort on the part of our leaders the body of the believers have been brought to realize the drift of the times and have drawn closer together and closer to the Lord and are preaching a pure Gospel as never before.

The city church has had a year of blessing.

The new church building is filled each Sunday with an audience of more than 1,200. Indeed a division of the congregation has been necessary, and a new congregation of about 150 was established in the village of Chim Sau, a mile and a half from Taiku, while a systematic evangelistic campaign of the whole city was conducted. On each Sunday at the close of the service from 5 to 35 new believers have signified their intention of following Christ.

EDUCATIONAL.—The year's work in the Academy has in all respects been the best yet. The quality of the instruction given and the interest and good spirit of all engaged have been very satisfactory.

There are four years in the course, but none have yet been graduated. Forty students were curolled and the year closed with an attendance of 36. This year the first equipment in the way of teaching apparatus was secured. It is still very small, being only $150 worth, but it will add greatly to the efficiency of instruction. Two dormitories, costing $1,250 each, have been made possible by the generosity of several donors.

The girls' school also has had a prosperous year. A Pyeng Yang Christian, mother of the teacher of the Academy, has proved a successful teacher and leader of the girls.

MEDICAL.—Dr. W. O. Johnson reports:

Daily prayers have been held in the hospital. The Lord's Prayer and the Apostles' Creed have been committed to memory by many patients. Audible prayer for patients, giving of Bibles to individuals and inviting them to read them, maintains a spiritual atmosphere.

Regular instruction has been given to the assistants. The three Regular instruction has been given to the assistants. The three senior students are now quite capable and are sent out to answer calls for assistance in obstetrical cases. The dispensary has had more cases than ever before. Although the request for $2,000 for a new dispensary was authorized three years ago by the Mission, no donor has yet been found.

There were 3,436 new patients; 2,960 return patients; 165 in-patients; 95 operations under anæsthetics and 510 visits in homes. The expenses amounted to $1,272.84, of which $420.25 came from the Board.

TRAINING CLASSES.—The Church Officers' Class was attended by 500 men.

Dr. Gale's presence was much enjoyed, as was the visit of Mr. G. T. B. Davis, promoting the Pocket Testament League. One evening 16,000 copies of Mark were purchased for use in the evangelistic campaign and 3,211 days of evangelistic effort were pledged.

The Woman's Bible Class in March was attended by 560. It was the best ever held in point of sustained interest and general attendance. Every effort is being made by normal instruction and otherwise to develop some efficient Bible women for the need is great.

SYEN CHUN STATION.

EVANGELISTIC.—

Three of the eight men ordained by the last Presbytery were from Syen Chen territory and one of them was honored by being elected as a missionary to open work in Siberia.

The Whittemores and Miss Chase were absent the latter part of the year on furlough.

EDUCATIONAL WORK .- The Girls' Primary School of the city enrolled 95 and the country schools 558. In the local girls' academy 8 were graduated, and 3 from the Wiju Academy.

The Boys' Primary School enrolled 165, while the 132 schools in the country enrolled 2,622, with 144 teachers.

Academy.—The Hugh O'Neil, Jr., Academy opened in September in the new chapel and recitation hall. The building is 90 x 40 feet and includes administrative offices, six classrooms and the Assembly Hall. The faculty consists of Mr. McCune and four Korean instructors with two assistants.

The enrollment for the year was 103, and 102 took the final examinations. Nine of the 16 students in the advanced class were granted diplomas. There have been evidences of spiritual growth. The students have shown much interest in their Saturday evening prayer meeting. More than half belong to the missionary evening prayer meeting. More than half belong to the missionary club, which has done much in spreading enthusiasm in direct evangelistic work. Definite decisions to spend their lives in the Master's service were made by 67 of the 102 students at the close of the year. Twenty-two of the young men have decided to study for the ministry.

The Wiju Academy has 3 teachers, 54 students enrolled and 11 graduated. The Nongchun Academy has 3 teachers and graduated 18 this year.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.—Syen Chun Station holds the record for attendance at both its men's and women's classes, the attendance being larger here than anywhere else in the Mission.

In the class for workers, held in the fall by Miss Samuel, there were 14 women in attendance. At the annual spring class, conducted by the women of the Station, 778 women were present. Mrs. Bernheisel and Mrs. Swallen, from Pyeng Yang, assisted. Over half of the members of the class were baptized, and 497 women partook of the Communion.

There are two Sunday-schools. The instruction of the teachers falls to the lot of the superintendent. Nine hundred and fifty women and girls study the Bible Sunday mornings. Mrs. Sharrocks meets with the new believers on Mondays and with the general class for believers on Thursdays, and Mrs. Roberts with the women catechumens on Wednesdays.

The summer class for church officers, second in importance only to the Bible Training Class, met as usual. Coming at a time when the season is unfavorable for itinerating, it gives the missionaries a chance to keep in touch with the country work indirectly and is a means of freshly equipping a company of church officers to be true leaders. One hundred and fifty were enrolled.

The regular winter Bible class was held in February and the attendance was the largest ever yet reported.

One thousand three hundred and eighty men and boys paid their enrollment fee, but the attendance exceeded this by some 200. Mr. Swallen was the chief human channel through whom the Divine blessing came to the class. Mr. Davis, of the Chapman-Alexander party, was also a great blessing. After presenting the Pocket Testament League, he was delighted to find that a large portion of the class had already promised to read a chapter a day. Thirty-two thousand copies of the Gospel of Mark were sold. One thousand eight hundred and nine days of preaching were pledged. At the final consecration meeting almost the entire congregation arose to surrender themselves unreservedly to the Christ as Lord and Master. One of the conspicuous results of the class is over 500 new believers in Nongchun.

A new feature in Sabbath-school work consists in the teaching by the missionaries of classes composed of students from their districts. This helps to bring the foreign pastor into closer touch with men who are likely to wield a potent influence in that missionary's territory.

The local church has been in charge of a Korean pastor since March, 1909. More than 2,000 believers are enrolled. Seventeen hundred is an average Sabbath attendance. The past year 181 were baptized and 183 catechumens received.

In the Country.—Miss Samuel had a week's class for Sunday-school teachers for the most advanced women at some central church in each county. Twelve such classes were held.

In Pakeliun the attendance grew from 40 to 140 during the year; in Osan, from 40 to 100, the church building having been doubled in size.

One of the practical benefits of the class in Nongchun has been the raising for the third time the salary of a missionary to the Island of Sindo. This lies fifteen miles off the coast, has a population of about 1,000 and a church of 80 adherents.

Wiju is the banner county in the number of churches. It is historic ground, being the place where one of the earliest Protestant churches was built in Korea. In Wiju City, on the Yalu River, overlooking Manchuria, there are two congregations worshiping regularly, which enroll more than 1,500 believers.

Altogether 1,580 adults have been baptized this year and 2,250 catechumens received. The adherents total 25,902.

CHAI RYUNG STATION.

Chai Ryung now enrolls the largest number of missionaries in its history, eleven adults. God has been gracious to the Station this year, bringing a constant succession of joys.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.—This year has seen 1,169 persons received into communion and 1,198 catechumens enrolled. There are 142 groups, and the offerings for all purposes were $9,659.16.

Chai Ryung was greatly affected by the recent division of territory with the Methodists. Six whole counties and parts of three others were given over. The population of the territory for which Chai Ryung is responsible has been reduced from 758,202 to 410,000. Forty-three groups, 460 baptized and 1,940 adherents were given over. One strong group and scattered adherents totaling 200 were received in return. These figures should be borne in mind in comparing this year's statistics with last.

Miss McCune, with her Bible woman and teacher, has conducted 8 classes during the year in the various circuits, doing also much visitation work. At several classes a marked revival spirit was manifest.

City Church.—It is interesting to note the advance made since the entrance of the missionaries five years ago and to realize that the same influences are spreading through the country.

There has been 10 per cent, increase in the number of houses, and 15 per cent. in population; 30 new wells, building over sites formerly as per cent. In population, 30 new wers, binding over sites former is sacred to demons and dragons; reduction of places where liquor is sold from 500 to 50; departure of sorceresses; opening of barbershops and bathhouses; disappearance of one-third of the top-knots; no drunken women on the streets; increase in the number of shops from 2 or 3 to 40, and business transacted every day instead of just on market days. While these changes are not all due to Christianity, they are encouraging signs.

The church body, though under one board of officers and one session, meets in two congregations. The ladies of the Station have done calling and other personal work among the women which has borne good fruit. A Bible woman has been used with good success and it is planned to develop this work still further. The Sunday-school teachers' meeting enrolls 58 teachers, and the school 732 pupils.

The only striking movement of the year was the conversion of 170 persons during the local class. While there is now a coldness on the part of many of them, there are others who show by their persistence in prayer that the fire has not been lost.

The church officers have put off the building of a bell-tower for the church, a project in which they are much interested, until the home missionary's salary is cared for. The church was greatly helped by Pastor Kil, of Pyeng Yang, who came primarily to make the address at the closing exercises of the schools, but touched most of the church activities before he left.

One of the most encouraging features of the work has been the faithfulness of the helpers. During the past year the strongest helpers have been drawn to the city, but their places are being filled by new men.

In the Eastern Circuit there are 5 helpers instead of 3 a year ago. Only one church has retrograded, and that because of educational entanglements. There has been no great awakening. It is a period of waiting, the testing time for many churches, and if they hold out, the chances for a forward movement will doubtless not be long in coming.

At a class in Chang Yun, in Mr. Sharp's district, 400 were present, and there was manifested a spirit of revival such as spread over the country three years ago. Systematic giving was presented and adopted by many for themselves and their churches.

In the Northwestern Circuit, under Mr. Koons, the work, as a whole, is most encouraging.

Building of new churches goes on apace and the architecture is steadily improving. The example of the Eul Yul Church is to be commended. They are finishing a tile building that will scat 400, and though it was commenced last summer and the roof and walls finished, they have let it stand all winter and worshiped in the former building rather than go in debt for the doors, windows and flooring.

A new venture, the Bible Institute, was tried in January and was a success. Ninety-two men were enrolled, and most of them voted for a longer course next year. Plans are laid for a similar institute at the time of the Normal Class in June for men unable to attend in the winter.

Attendance at classes totaled as follows: Women Workers' Class, 37; Fall General Women's Class, 200; Men's Winter Class, 600; Bible Institute, 92; Spring General Women's Class, 200; Sunday-school Teachers' Class, 60; Leaders' Class, 150; in the country 301 classes for men and women, 13,406.

MEDICAL WORK (Dr. H. C. Whiting in charge).—New patients, 3,954; return patients, 1,754; in-patients, 85. Total expense, $705.93.

As usual, the cyangelistic side has been kept to the fore, the services of a preacher and Bible woman being added to the staff.

During the year 155 patients professed conversion.

The city has not been the only place to receive the benefit of medical service. Dr. Whiting has made three trips to the country, once going to the island of Chodo, off the west coast, where no foreign doctor has been before. In order to facilitate medical itineration, on the part of the doctor it is planned to have a Korean graduate doctor connected with the hospital.

CHUNG JU STATION.

The Station force was augmented during the year by the arrival of Mrs. J. V. Logan and Miss Grace Davis. Mr. and Mrs. Miller also returned from furlough. Much help was rendered the Station by members of other Stations.

EVANGELISTIC WORK .- Chung Ju's field now consists of 11 counties with a population of 270,000. It is divided into three circuits, one for each clerical man.

Southern Circuit (Mr. Cook in charge).—This circuit stretches 60 miles southeast. It is thickly populated, has been little worked and promises a rich harvest. There are only 16 communicants and 28

Eastern Circuit (in charge of Mr. Kagin).—It extends 35 miles to the east. In the mountain valleys lie many villages of 500 population, the sturdiest part of the population of the Station. There are 25 groups, ranging from 3 or 4 to 50 believers each. There are 77 communicants and 82 catechumens.

Northern Circuit (in charge of Mr. Miller).—This circuit includes a valley 3 to 6 miles wide and 30 long. After years of prayer and effort for this populous valley, there are now 18 churches there. Earnest efforts are being made to evangelize the whole circuit. Of the 82 communicants 21 were received this year. One hundred and forty-two catechumens are on roll.

Chung Ju City.—This church has 101 members and 95 catechumens. The attendance averages 240. The Sabbath-school has 11 classes of men and II of women, and they have to meet separately because of lack of room. The church has recently been enlarged to seat 500. The officers are collecting money for the new church building, and liope to commence the erection next year.

Elder Pak, whom the church has supported as its helper for the past year, graduated this year from the Theological Seminary, and the church expects to call him as its pastor.

During the winter the general class was attended by 115, doubling last year's record. In the country II classes were held, totaling 68 days and attended by 374 men. Some of these classes were taught by volunteers from the city church.

The Station's colporteurs sold 4,173 volumes during the year, traveling 7,125 miles, attending 239 markets, and dealing personally with 19,463 souls. 125,000 leaflets were distributed by the Christians. On one of the large market days the city Christians distributed 10,000 leaflets. This market work has been under Mr. Cook's care. His cornet attracts group after group to hear the Gospel, and thus the sown seed is scattered to the farthest mountain valleys.

The work for women goes on apace. The missionary women spend much time attending services, holding classes, visiting in the homes and receiving the hundreds of visitors into their own homes, where there is a splendid opportunity to sow the seed. The winter class for women was attended by 130.

EDUCATIONAL WORK.—There are 6 boys' schools with 139 pupils. All but the city school are entirely self-supporting. It is necessary to plan for an academy.

The girls' school in the city has 20 pupils. The country churches are sending their girls to the school and we greatly need a dormitory for them.

In the division of territory with the Methodists, Chung Ju gave up 17 groups with 65 full members and 75 catechumens (total 137), and received 27 groups with 38 full members and 92 catechumens (total 130).

MEDICAL WORK (Dr. W. C. Purviance in charge).— The influence of the dispensary work has been felt as far as 100 miles from Chung Ju. It has been the means of offering the Gospel to the people in a tangible form and the people are not slow to grasp it. There have been many touching scenes within the walls of our little mud dispensary.

A child was bitten by a mad dog. The parents were poor. The child must have treatment. Nothing for them to do but to come to the Christian doctor. The serum treatment is very expensive. What shall be done? Let the child die, or give it the best treatment known to the medical profession—go down into the dispensary fund and pay out one-sixth of the allowance for the entire year? That is what was done. The child lives. The parents are happy. Christianity is vindicated. This is a little picture of the problem of self-support in the dispensary work in Korea.

No patient has been able to escape from the dispensary without getting a tract or a Gospel or a good Gospel talk.

The work of the new hospital has been started. As yet there is no equipment. There have been 380 new patients, 1,790 return patients, 27 operations, and 48 visits to homes. Total expense, $441.83.

KANG KAI STATION.

Kang Kai, the most northerly of our Stations in Korea, enjoyed for one short year the distinction of being the newest Station. The honor has now passed to the far south. Much work had been done in this northern region before the Station was opened, and, as has generally been the case in Korea, the Station was opened not to inaugurate the work, but to follow up and conserve work already begun.

The Blairs were present all the year, the Mills most of the time, and the Rhodes moved up last spring. A number of visitors braved the terrors of the long overland journey of 200 miles and brought cheer and encouragement to the members of the Station at various periods of the year.

In February it became necessary for Dr. Mills to take Mrs. Mills to Seoul to the hospital, and Dr. Fletcher was sent to take his place. Dr. Mills returned in April with Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes, while Mrs.

Mills was not able to return until June.

Unfortunately, but of necessity, much of the first two years of the Station's life has been taken up with building activities.

There are many times when the missionary cannot help but wish that his own needs or wants might be fewer, that he might the more easily fit into the lives of those whom he has come to help. Erecting new buildings is in itself a pleasure, but when it must be done at the sacrifice of real missionary work, language study, etc., it is often more of a cross than a pleasure.

We were fortunate in being able to let the contracts for all four of our buildings to two Korean Christians, gentlemen of honor and integrity from Pyeng Yang, who knew enough about foreign buildings to do satisfactory work. They brought with them twenty-five carpenters and sawyers, fully half of whom were Christians. Our brick and tile contractor is a Kang Kai Christian and an officer in the church. Aside from one or two Japanese to superintend the making of the tile and half a dozen Chinese masons, all the work was done by Koreans. Unfortunately fire destroyed much prepared material and delayed the completion of the Mills' house.

MEDICAL (Ralph G. Mills, M.D., in charge).—

The medical work has been chiefly expectation this year—expecting supplies that did not come, expecting a decent place to work in some day, and expecting the hospital assistants at least to use a little common-sense. Especially in the latter was there disappointment, as one old man, tired of taking medicine for a chronic disease, met his death by submitting to the native doctor and his needle. It was a painful duty not long after to witness the similar end of this same doctor.

It is encouraging to report that the roof of the new building is on and that it will probably be ready for occupancy by fall or winter. It is the custom for some one or all to say a personal word to each patient, and frequently volunteers from the Christian community drop in and help in this work.

The new hospital is the gift of the late Mr. John S. Kennedy, and the news of his death was received with the greatest sorrow, not only by the missionaries but by the Koreans as well.

EVANGELISTIC.—Moving into Kang Kai has put the missionaries into the heart of their work. It was impossible before to realize what God was doing in this great district.

The City Church.—This church has occupied much of the attention of the missionaries.

The people prayed for years for our coming and have given us an honest and hearty welcome; but after we arrived it took quite a struggle to get readjusted to our presence. Scores of people had moved to town, largely because of our coming. Half a hundred new houses were built in the boom. The church was packed. But gradually they realized that our coming would not mean all they had foolishly imagined. Then the fact that we had given the work out by contract to Pyeng Yang men, who had brought their own workmen, disappointed those who sought labor. As a result, church attendance fell off during the summer. Heavy rains destroyed crops, and the whole district was a little heavy hearted, fearing famine. Dissensions arose in the church. At length proper discipline was administered, and the situation began to clear up. The church attendance has regained what it lost.

A big new church, 80 x 52, is being erected. With the new building, a new spirit in the church, and the missionary force ready for work, we believe the coming year will bring large results.

Country Work.—The country work has grown wonderfully. There are twice as many places where Sabbath services are held as last year. One helper works among the Christian Koreans in Manchuria. Two new helpers have been added. Six groups in Hu Chang Co., with their fifty believers, are the result of the home missionary activities of the Wiju Church. Bible classes for men and women were held in four centres, but the attendance was small because of the famine.

Thirteen thousand copies of Mark's Gospel have been scattered. Many have believed, and what the result will be cannot be prophesied. One day during the women's class, Miss Samuel came home bringing the covers of a copy of Mark's Gospel which had been given to a Korean woman by Mrs. Underwood many years ago, when in this region. Eleven years it had remained untouched before the woman became a Christian. Now she is one of the strong women of the church.

ANDONG STATION.

The opening of Andong Station will ever be linked in memory with the lamented death of Rev. C. C. Sawtell, who on his initial trip to help open the Station contracted typhoid fever, from which he died a short time later in Taiku. Thus in sorrow have the foundations been laid. Site-buying and fitting up temporary quarters have met and are still meeting peculiar and varied opposition. Native houses sufficient to house the present force have been secured.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.—The evangelistic aspect of the field is exceptional. The wealthiest, most conservative and aristocratic country gentlemen of Korea live in this district. One of these, whose father was formerly Governor of the Province, gave up one of his guest houses for a church. The rooms are large enough to seat 200 and have been filled. Brussells carpet is on the floor of the platform and an upholstered chair for the preacher, a strange contrast from the mud huts where the work usually begins.

The people have usually held aloof from the foreigner, but last summer there was a strange movement among them. They came by hundreds to study the Gospel. The helpers and leaders were overwhelmed by the numbers and an appeal for help was sent to Taiku. Three experienced men were sent. At one place some of the hangerson got to quarreling and some disorders followed and caused many to cease attending. Since then the work has been on a firmer basis.

Mr. Kerr, of Chai Ryung, spent two strenuous months in the district, visiting nearly all the groups once. There are 42 church buildings in the district, of which 21 were built or enlarged during the year. There are 56 groups, but there are many villages besides where services are held prayer meeting nights and Sunday evenings. Seventy-five of the 90 communicants were baptized this year.

As to the religious condition of the region in general, it seems to be wide open. The Christian message is news to most of the people, but they listen gladly. The "Yangbans," or aristocracy, have lost hope of getting anything out of this world, and it is probably only their pride which keeps them from accepting Christianity. The people are far more bound down to devil and ancestor worship than in the north, but they seem willing enough to listen to something better. In one place, for three years, a man and his wife, without help from any one else, lived up to what they knew about Christ, holding regular services for themselves on Sunday, and at all times letting the people see a kind of living which had not been known there before. Each Sunday they took up their little collection, and at the end of three years, when a neighboring house was put on sale, they supplemented the collections as best they could, bought the house and turned it into a church. Inside of two weeks there were 50 people in attendance. Now that building is used for a flourishing school, and a much more commodious structure has been erected for the church.

As yet the force of workers is utterly inadequate to cope with a situation so full of possibilities, and the message of the Christians is still quite limited, as they are so new in the faith.

MEXICO CITY STATION.

EVANGELISTIC.—During this year the supervision of the evangelistic work in the city has been in charge of a committee of Presbytery, of which Dr. Arcadio Morales is a member and which has imparted a greater degree of unity and effectiveness to the efforts in the various preaching places. All the workers living in the city have been assigned regular Sunday duty each month under the direction of the committee.

Owing to the fact that the Centennial Convention was held here and the great plan of personal evangelism called upon each one to do his own work in his own place, Dr. Morales was out of the city only on short trips and his presence in his own pulpit with greater regularity than usual will account for the large increase in his congregation. Dr. Morales closes his report with these words:

Finally, brethren, if perchance this should be my last report, I want you to record in your minutes, that Arcadio Morales was known as a man who put all his faith and confidence in the Triune God; and therefore dedicated all his energies, all his affection, all his loyalty to the service of the doctrines and the government of the Presbyterian Church in Mexico.

Divino Salvador .--

In this church we have three services on Sabbath, morning, afternoon and evening, and three during the week, with an average attendance of 70 persons. Besides we have a Sunday-school, which now has 12 classes. There are also two C. E. Societies—the Senior and the Junior. The Presbyterian Normal School has been identified with this church from the founding of the school until to-day. Because of the separation the church will naturally be affected in the attendance on the services and in the help which the school has given in other departments of the work. Notwithstanding this, we have the great satisfaction of having lived with the principals of the school not only in perfect peace, but in complete harmony, during twenty-seven years, in which we have been as one family, firmly united in the effort to form the hearts of the 66 teachers who have gone forth from this institution and who are giving such valiant service to our Church in different parts of the country.

Besides the congregations mentioned, we have in the city three day-schools, with an attendance of 120 scholars, who are instructed in the Word of God. Regular services are held also, and they are also taught the Shorter Catechism. There are 20 of these children who have learned the entire Catechism and we would like to see them examined.

In one of these day-schools we have established a Sunday-school and a Junior and Senior C. E. Society.

In Tacubaya we have a little congregation surrounded by a fanaticism irreconcilable and strong, cultivated by the nuns and Jesuits expressly brought from Spain to combat our services in this place. Notwithstanding this, we have some 8 or 9 believers whom we have shepherded until to-day. The expenses of the trips and the rent of the building are met by the "Divino Salvador" Church.

Summary.-

Thirteen congregations; 9 Sunday-schools; 10 Christian Endeavor Societies; 3 day-schools; 500 pastoral visits; 700 centennial copies of the Gospels were sold; 6,000 pamphlets were put in circulation; 28 members were received by profession and baptized; 38 co-workers of all classes; $139.92 raised by the "Divino Salvador" Church; $411.50 contributed by other congregations; 8 new places visited.

Work in Federal District and State of Mexico.—The work in the adjoining towns in the valley of Mexico is under the charge of Dr. Wm. Wallace. The following is taken from his field report: According to the action of the Presbytery of the City of Mexico at its last annual meeting in 1910, the whole field under the care of the Presbytery was divided into districts, the superintendence of each district being placed in charge of a Presbyterial Committee, which should have full authority over the pastorless congregations and evangelistic work carried on within its boundaries during the intervals between the annual meetings of Presbytery.

Ozumba.—The great twin curse of Ozumba, as lamented by both Roman Catholics and Protestants, is that of drink and prostitution. When Mr. Vergara arrived at Ozumba, and ahead of the railroad, there were only two pulque (native beer) shops. To-day there are 43.

The Mormons have steadily increased their force of missionaries, until now there are ten of them, some elders and others young men, lay workers. These ten have rented one of the largest buildings in town and go out in apostolic fashion on foot among the surrounding Indian villages with their well-thumbed Bibles in hand, pretending to open up the prophecies in wonderful fashion, as no Protestant minister would have courage to do, and, weaving together a few underlined passages with the dexterity and persuasive magic of well-drilled sleight-of-hand performers, they hypnotize many a poor unsophisticated Indian into the belief that the Mormon Church has truly restored the combined glories of patriarchs and apostles, with its galaxy of elders, prophets, apostles, tithemen, etc. Besides they play on the racial vanity inherent in every people, by palming off on them the Book of Mormon as the true history of the Indian tribes, and assuring them that they will be favored among all peoples by the fact that Jesus Christ has chosen the Northern American Continent as the scene of His second coming, which is a glory far surpassing that of the Virgin having appeared to one poor Indian, as our Lady of Guadalupe. They also promise the Indians great material prosperity in the acquisition and profitable cultivation of lands in the form of compact colonies under intelligent leadership. Is it any wonder that with all these incentives many have been led away? Especially as they say that they are not returning to the idolatry of the Roman Catholic Church, but are entering into the fulness of the Roman Catholic Church, but are entering into the fulness of the Gospel, and they sweetly call us "brothers," though considering us still in a sort of chrysalis stage of development.

Tepecoculco.-

At this point 32 new members were received by me at one service last year. They have continued faithful, although only 20 of them were at home, as during six months of the year the majority of the members go down into the sugar haciendas of Morelos, down in the hot country in the plains at the base of the volcano.

Xochimilco.—

This old Indian town, famous in the early annals of the Aztec empire, even before the conquest, famous because of its lagoons and the only remains of the old floating gardens, famous as the scene of a wonderful Indian gala day held in honor of Mr. Root on his recent diplomatic visit to Mexico, has been isolated from the capital for lack of communication, But in this centennial year, when for the first time the 30,000 inhabitants of the municipality of Xochimilco were tapped by the Valley Electric Car Line, Dr. Morales determined that, God willing, work should begin in earnest. This work was opened up by an humble lay worker, formerly of Zacatecas, and a peddler of goods in the market-place, but a man of prayer and acquainted with the Word.

EDUCATIONAL.—The Mexico City Girls' Normal School had one of its best and busiest years, graduating five girls at the end of the year and successfully carrying through the year's programme 60 others. The teachers in charge were Miss Cathcart and Miss Weidau, both of them rather untried in the experience in which so much responsibility was involved. In addition to the regular work of the school was the preparation, at the end of the year to remove to the new property purchased in San Angel, a suburb of the city adjoining Coyoacan. The property in Mexico City would not admit of the placing of another cot in the dormitories, nor another chair at the diningroom table. In the new property, just as it is without much change, 100 girls can be accommodated, and with the remodeling of a part of the building it will admit of indefinite expansion.

Coyoacan College.—Instead of giving the facts concerning the routine work of the College, extracts from the report of President R. A. Brown of a little different character have been made. It should be stated, however, that 83 boys were enrolled during the year, 8 of whom belonged to the Theological Department.

Our field is great. This truth may be better appreciated when it is known that in the Federal District alone there were enrolled last year 21,386 pupils in private schools and 76,432 in the public schools, or, in round numbers, 100,000 in all. Of these "Coyoacan" enrolled only 14! We could increase this number rapidly in spite of the fact that we are known as "Protestantes," provided the institution should be equipped with a reasonable supply of school apparatus, and provided the teaching force should be not only brought up to but raised above the standard of the Government schools.

The spiritual side of the College life at times has been low. There are however only a few of the boys not members of the church; II made profession of faith during the year; 19 at least are studying for the ministry. Two were driven from house and home because they had become Protestants.

Theological Department.—There was but one class in the Seminary during the year. Two of the young men came to us from Catholic institutions after having broken with their old faith.

THE PRESS.—From a very long and interesting report by Mr. Vanderbilt, the following extracts are taken:

Ordinary Work Done.—In our own work we have continued printing El Faro weekly, in an edition of 2,900. The S. S. Quarterly and Lesson Leaves were issued until the month of October, when the loose leaves were abandoned and a monthly Teachers' Help, of 40 or 48 pages, called El Fanal, has been printed, which has received a very cordial welcome from the workers of all denominations. Our issue of the Quarterly now is 6,200 and of El Fanal, 1,500. In addition to these periodical publications in Spanish we have continued the little magazine in English, Presbyterian Work in Mexico, printing 1,000 copies each in March, June, September and December.

In our work for others we have put through the presses 463 jobs, varying in character from a simple little letter-head to a book of 324 pages. Last year we had 288 jobs. In periodical literature we have been printing El Evangelista, a paper of 16 pages, twice a month, for the Southern Methodists; El Esforzador Mexicano, the monthly 16-page publication of the National Christian Endeavor Union, until September, when suspended for lack of funds; La Iglesia en Mexico, a monthly paper of 8 to 16 pages, for the Episcopalians; El Eco de Coyoacán, a monthly paper for the students of the Coyoacan College; and La Salud, a monthly paper of 24 pages for the Good Samaritan Hospital of Guanajuato, which belongs to the Northern Methodists. We also bid on El Libro de Oro, a monthly publication of the American Bible Society, but did not secure the work. Thus little by little it may be said that our Press is covering the interdenominational field. These churches and societies also give us their printing, so that by far the greater part of the printing done by us for others this year, with the exception of two books, was given us by the other Churches, who are very friendly to us. We have also done quite a good deal of work for the Y. M. C. A., the National Local W. C. T. U., and the American School.

A résumé of our work for the year, and a comparison with the output for the previous year of 1909, shows that we have made very substantial gains, as follows:

Religious		Pages, 1910. 5,140,200 3,504,221	Increase. 809,058 581,831	Per Cent. 18.6 19.8
	7,253,532	8,644,421	1,390,889	19.1

The above is not an exact classification, for by "Commercial" is meant the work that is done for others and by "Religious" that which is done for ourselves for the propaganda. The "Religious" are all religious and of the "Commercial" fully 1,500,000 pages were also religious. So that the grand total of strictly religious literature produced by our Press this year was nearly 7,000,000 pages, or an average of more than 20,000 pages daily for the working year.

That Mexico City is the natural distributing point for the greater part of the present Spanish-speaking world is fully evident. north there lie not only the most populous States of the Mexican Republic, but also the hundreds of thousands of Mexican and American citizens, speaking Spanish, who inhabit our great southwest from Louisiana to California and from the Rio Grande to the Wyoming border; to the east the larger islands of Cuba, Porto Rico, and Santo Domingo, in addition to the almost countless smaller ones with their teeming multitudes; to the south the group of Central American republics and those of the north coast of South America; to the west the Philippine Islands. With the opening of the Panama Canal, the entire west coast of South America will also be tributary to Mexico City. There is no doubt but that 30,000,000 to 35,000,000 Spanishspeaking people are living within the circle of which Mexico City is the centre.

El Faro.—This is a weekly paper of 16 pages, the official organ of our General Synod by a special arrangement with the Mission. Mr. Williams acts as Director, or editor-in-chief, having the help of six men named by the Synod as an editorial staff, and responsible directly to the Synod for their work.

Sunday-school Literature.—Mr. Vanderbilt, in his report as manager of the Press, speaks of our new venture in the realm of Sunday-school literature.

Our regular quarterly has been growing little by little till it reached 64 pages and a subscription list of over 6,000. The type was small and much worn, and as many of our schools are made up of people who read very little, there was much of the material, helpful indeed to the teachers, which was not being utilized by the average reader. Beginning with the first of October, the new Teachers' monthly was launched, with the name of El Fanal, or Search Light. It has new type, well-arranged material, and several new departments, two of these being translations of articles appearing in The Westminster Teacher. The Infant Department section has been prepared during the year by Mrs. R. A. Brown. Dr. Boyce is the one who has charge of the preparation of both the Fanal and the regular quarterly, which has been much reduced in size and in price and adapted to the needs of the ordinary Sunday-school scholar.

WORK IN GUERRERO.—The work in this field was much neglected for several years on account of changes in the Mission force, and was finally given to Mr. Williams in 1908, together with his other occupations. More has been accomplished toward correcting faults in administration and in propaganda during the year than in any time previous. The year closed with fairly bright prospects for a steady and healthy growth in many of the congregations. This has been due in part to the working out of the plan of Presbyterial supervision, which has proved very useful in the solving of many problems. The following extracts are taken from Mr. Williams' field report:

Because Tuxpan was near the railroad and the only place where we could count on the co-operation of the church members, the meeting of the Presbytery was held there at the beginning of the present month and a mention of it belongs to this report. The meetings were very well attended by all the members and a few others, and quite a number of our people from the congregations of the district came in. A common table was set and all contributed toward the expense of entertainment. On some days more than 30 were served. As a result of the meeting, several of the members promised to give up their practice of going to market on Sunday, and a sum of $170 was subscribed to rebuild the church which had been destroyed by an earthquake several years ago.

Lower Balsas Region.—Our present work is very small. We have practically only two congregations in the whole field though we have believers in more than twenty places.

At Ajuchitlán, we have a small congregation which is well cared for.

Across the river and within two days' ride of Ajuchitlán, are the following places, all of them centres of a large population: San Miguel Toyolapan, 1,000 inhabitants; Arcelia, 2,000; Tlapehuala, 1,000; Tlalchapa, 1,000; San Vicente, a rich mining camp, 1,000; Cutzamala, 1,500; Pungarabato, 2,000; Coyuca, county seat, 2,500; other smaller places of corresponding importance. This is a fertile valley where the heat in summer is almost unendurable, but where the crops are sure and the people fairly well to do. The climate affects the religious spirit adversely and there is not so much fanaticism as there is indifference and evil life.

On this last visit I had an opportunity to converse with the prefect of the district for a few moments and through him, curiously enough, I heard of a Presbyterian congregation which I did not know existed. The prefect, in carrying out the orders of the Government to take the census, had as enumerator for a certain point away among the hills a certain Juan Granados. When the reports came in he noticed that most of the people were registered as Protestants. For me the explanation was clear enough, as Juan Granados was one of the first believers in the country and is the father of E. N. Granados of San Juan Bautista. Though now an old man, quite eccentric in his ways, he seems to have done good work in evangelizing his neighbors in the place of his present residence.

VERA CRUZ, YUCATAN, CAMPECHE AND TA-BASCO.—The work in these four States is under the care of Dr. Boyce till such time as reinforcements to the Mission can relieve him of a part of the burden. It is really more than two men should have, and owing to press of duties from other sources, Dr. Boyce has not been able to do as much as usual in this vast field. No part of our work in Mexico gives so much promise of return for labor expended, and his report closes with a ringing appeal to the Mission and the Church at home to increase its force and its appropriation for this part of our work. Only a few extracts can be given place in this summary.

Vera Cruz.—

The last census puts this State second in the list in point of inhabitants, her population now being 1,124,363. Our work in the State sery widely scattered, and to visit it requires considerable time, and hard work. Our largest and best congregation is in the port of Vera Cruz.

In Mizantla there have been services held regularly by our people.

Tabasco.—

In San Juan Bautista there has been some progress in the work, but no great encouragement. Mr. Granados has a stiff proposition on account of the Spanish domination in the city. He keeps resolutely at work, however, and exercises a large influence in the city. He has a larger number of subscribers to El Faro than, I believe, any minister in the republic, and in distributing the paper comes in contact with his subscribers each week. He is perhaps as widely known as any man in Tabasco, and exercises a wide influence outside the town, sending out tracts and books to outlying towns. His sales of evangelical books last year exceeded anything ever done in the republic by any Protestant minister and the work is certain to tell in the near future.

Campeche.-

In Laguna del Carmen work was begun during the past year. This congregation asked that the Presbytery of the Gulf hold its next meeting in Laguna; and this meeting will certainly be a great stimulus to the work.

Yucatan.-

Personally I am far from satisfied that so little should be done by the Mission for the pushing of work in Yucatan. We have one congregation, started only three years ago, which has never had any financial support from the Mission, yet it has its own preacher, who teaches a night school and preaches on Sabbaths, and runs a shoe shop in true Pauline fashion to cover his living expenses while he works in the Gospel. The congregation helped him, however, to the extent of $300 during the year, and gave $275 for other purposes as well. Muna is the place, and three years and six months ago had a man attempted to preach in the town he would never have left it alive. Regular congregations average almost 100, and a number of the members of the congregation are out every Sabbath. Some of them, not yet members of the Church, are out in adjacent towns and plantations evangelizing as actively as the very best of the Korean Christians.

The second congregation in Yucatan in point of age is in Ticul, in the southern part of the State, yet it was not in existence eight years ago. It has built its own chapel, a solid stone structure, but already too small for the congregation. Quite a number of the members of this church go out every Sabbath to teach and preach in surrounding towns.

Work among the Koreans laboring in Yucatan on the plantations has not been mentioned, as the evangelistic effort has been mainly on the part of the Korean Christians themselves, and of the two evangelists supported by their brethren to work among their unconverted countrymen. Mr. Lope has counseled the evangelists and has baptized the converts recommended by the native Korean evangelists. In a letter received while in Wooster, Mr. Lope wrote me: "Yon will be rejoiced to hear that yesterday I baptized 39 adults and 11 children in the Korean church, and to-morrow I will go down to Maxcanu to baptize I do not know how many more of them." This work among the Koreans has influenced our work very favorably, and undoubtedly a good part of the active aggressive spirit manifested by our people is due to the example of the Koreans.

AGUASCALIENTES STATION.

During the year, Mr. Elliott was associated with Mr. Molloy in the care of the work in three States, Aguascalientes. Southern Zacatecas and San Luis Potosi. One or two of the trips were made together at the beginning of the year, and later Mr. Elliott took up the responsibility for the work in San Luis Potosi. As a result of this division, the Mission at its last meeting determined to reopen San Luis Potosi as a Mission Station and to locate Mr. and Mrs. Elliott there.

At Aguas there is an American congregation which has come to look on Mr. Molloy as its pastor, and, while not paying his salary, has contributed several hundred dollars yearly toward the support of various forms of his regular missionary work in the city and State of Aguascalientes. The congregation has fluctuated a good deal lately on account of the changes in the operation of the railroad employees, and Mr. Molloy has been giving himself more than ever to the regular missionary work of evangelization, for which he has peculiar abilities. We also have a flourishing native church in this place, with a regularly installed pastor, who is largely supported by his people. Colegio Morelos is situated in Aguascalientes and draws its constituency from the three States grouped around this Station.

EVANGELISTIC.—Some idea of the way Mr. Molloy does his work can be had from the following extracts from his personal report, which is taken largely from a regular diary which he keeps:

On my return home from last Mission meeting I spent two days in San Luis Potosí. In personal talks with individuals, my first conversation was with a young Mexican, a Romanist, who said that the Church began in Rome, I told him, no. He asked, "Where then?" I told him, "In Jerusalem." He then asked: "Where is Jerusalem?" I told him it was a long ways from Rome. My next personal talk was with a Spanish priest. As I sat talking to him a drunken water-carrier tumbled over in front of us. I said to the priest: "You, as priests, are not doing your duty in the cause of temperance." He said, "We teach against drunkenness." I said, "Yes, but you drink yourselves." I knew he could not deny that statement, for he was quite full at the moment, so he said, "Yes, I take a drink whenever I want it, but we oppose drunkenness." I told him that the people needed the teaching of example as well as precept.

In one of my trips to Jesus Maria, a town some six miles from Aguascalientes, I met by the roadside a man whom I thought to be an entire stranger, but he knew me and told me that he had read a San Luis Potosi. In personal talks with individuals, my first conversaan entire stranger, but he knew me and told me that he had read a little book which I had given to one Andrew, and Andrew had loaned it to him. He said that he liked the book; that it told him about our Lord Jesus Christ. I knew then that he was talking of a copy of the Gospel according to St. Luke. In the same trip I saw by the roadside a miserable wretch whom I asked if he knew the Gospel. He said, "Yes, sir." I did not believe he knew to what I had reference. He drew through the opening in his shirt bosom a glass-covered metal-framed picture of the Virgin, saying, as if this was all the proof he needed, that he knew the Gospel, "My Lady of Guadalupc." I said, "What is that picture for?" He answered, "To protect me." The sad part of it is that such persons do not know any other Gospel than that of the Virgin, and that not according to the Scriptures, but according to a fabulous story of a Virgin who appeared to an Indian near the City of Mexico. it to him. He said that he liked the book; that it told him about our Indian near the City of Mexico.

In my second trip to the Tlaltenango field I was out all the month of October, visited Juanasco, Mastranza, Buana Vista, Tabasco, Tlaltenango, Juanton, Rancho Grande, La Loma, El Picacho, Los Triguitos, San Juan de Teul, Milpillas, Huitzila, and Los Yerbanices. In the last mentioned place a few faithful people live a typical ranch life. Their faith is simple and touching. The owner of the ranch is a widow, a Mexican woman of rare character. She has taught her children to fear and trust the Lord and to honor Him with their material substance. The Mission now has for its use or disposition a cow, a nice yearling colt, a young mule, and a beautiful three-year-old horse, all gifts of the mother and daughters of the wild and remote ranch of Los Yervanices. May God bless the people of this ranch and incline the hearts of all Protestant people to honor Him with material gifts for the support of His cause in the Republic.

In the month of October I saw no one who spoke English. Much of the time I traveled entirely alone. The whole distance covered in this month on horseback was 425 miles, making for the year 1,000 miles of horseback travel.

SAN LUIS POTOSI STATION.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott are quite enthusiastic about their new field and have gone together to some of the out-stations to do itinerating work. The most promising part of the work in this State is in the lowlands not far from the gulf where our Mission is the only one doing any work. Mr. Elliott writes:

The scenery along the railroad from Las Canoas to Tamosopo can scarcely be equaled in America. The train hovers along the edge of the canyon, darting in and out of the tunnels. The canyon gradually widens until a full view of the valley opens up before us. After winding back and forth on the mountain-side, making a rapid descent, we come to the little town of Tamosopo. The place is just a small one of palm houses. Though there are only a few believers there we had an interesting service.

Axtla was our next destination some 10 leagues distant. We passed through Tancanhuitz on the way. This is about as rough a stretch of mountain road as one will find. Your horse has to travel more like a goat than a horse. We took dinner at Coscatlan and arranged for service on our return. In Axtla we called on some of the people and arranged for service the following day, which was Sunday. This is the great market day here and the Romish Church was doing her best with bells and fireworks to attract the people. We called on the priest, to his edification, I hope. We saw the power of Rome in full swing and it made us feel the great need of his people.

In Coscatlan we had two good meetings, both held in the school-house with large audiences. The evangelical work enjoys almost complete freedom in this town, and the great old church built in Spanish times stands in almost complete ruins, although a portion of it has a grass roof and is still used by the Romanists. The priest from a neighboring village visits here. The altar fixtures and vestures were left in a chest with a Protestant across the street from the church in whose home we stayed. Only a few attend services when the priest comes, while our service numbered some 80 inside and some 20 outside the door.

SALTILLO STATION.

This city is the centre of work in two States—Coahuila and Nuevo Leon. In the western part of the former State is an immense sunken lake now entirely given over to the cultivation of cotton. The soil is wonderfully fertile and the water for irrigation comes hundreds of miles, in some years in great abundance and in other years almost none at all. Large industries have sprung up around Torreon, the centre of this region, and our work has gradually spread wherever our members have gone seeking for work. It was in this region that the late Dr. T. F. Wallace did much of his hard labor and where we are now reaping precious fruitage. Since his sickness and death, the work in this entire region as well as the large work in other parts of the State of Coahuila and in Monterey and other points in the State of Nuevo Leon has been in the hands of Mr. Petran. How well he has done his work will indirectly appear in the extracts from the splendid report which he presented.

Torreon.-

Torreon is a railroad centre and a town of much industrial importance, having a cosmopolitan life, counting among its inhabitants hundreds of Chinamen, Frenchmen, Germans, Italians, Arabs and Americans.

The immoral life of the place is given impetus, by a sufficient supply of saloons, drug-stores that sell liquors and by prostitutes who in carriages go in daily procession at the noon hour through the streets.

Where our church should have been strongest and have given a ringing message—for some years—it has been weakest. Fussing, pulling, divided, where it should have been united, strong and aggressive.

When they were finally induced to call Rev. Jose Falcon as their pastor, history took a turn and the life of the church has been transformed.

It was found that the building was not large enough for the people who came and 1,200 pesos were spent in enlarging the place, so that now it accommodates between 250 and 300 people. Many of the Sunday-night services have had an attendance of 200, and up to 250, and 300 and beyond on special occasions.

The Sunday-school now runs between 150 and 175. It is conducted at present as one large class; then a second class is held for the small children. Both are conducted by the pastor.

children. Both are conducted by the pastor.

Several months ago, Mr. Falcón established an evangelical school, which has been self-supporting. They have had an attendance of 25, and the charge per month for each child is $5.

Gómez Palacio and Lerdo.—

These two churches have been under the care of Licentiate A. M. Arellano, who has an efficient helper in his wife. The work has made considerable improvement this year, the quota for self-support being paid in full, which has not been the case in other years.

Santa Clara.—

It was returning from Santa Clara that Dr. Wallace had an experience which, no doubt, contributed toward shortening his life. We had both gone on together to San Mignel. There we agreed that he was to stay in San Mignel and also visit Santa Clara while I made the tour of the rest of the field. He went out to Santa Clara with a driver that he had employed many times. It happened, however, that the driver's little girl was very sick. After the evening service at the ranch, a messenger came out from San Miguel saying that the child had died. The driver wanted Dr. Wallace to return with him, to help comfort his wife and also to conduct the funeral service. It was a bitter cold night and dark, but Dr. Wallace said that if he would wait till 3 o'clock in the morning when the moon would be up, he would go back with him.

Rio Grande.—

The priest at Rio Grande is a very enterprising business man. They were telling of him that he had contracted for several performances of a circus that had recently been in town, and then told his people to go to the circus, to amuse themselves and divert themselves that way rather than in other things. As a large attendance would swell his profits, people could understand why he should have some zeal in keeping them out of the saloons while his performances were going on at the circus. He is also reputed to be a stockholder in the bull ring. From his pulpit he has told his people, "Children, go to the bull fight." These are held on Sunday.

Montercy.—

The church has been towerless since its building, but this year the congregation decided to celebrate the centennial by building up the tower. A fund of 300 pesos was on hand, having accumulated in the stocking of the woman's society of the church during the last few years. A special subscription was made and 300 more was added to the amount, the money coming entirely from the members of the church. It is a singular fact that there are no American Presbyterians in Monterey at this time. A search for them, to get them interested in the tower, failed to bring any to light. There remains to be paid at this date about 150 pesos.

Last summer a gang of prisoners repairing the streets of Monterey worked one day in front of Mr. Rodríguez's home. He and his good wife prepared a splendid dinner for them, set their dining table out on the sidewalk and the family personally served them all, 16 in number. Later the prisoners wrote a letter thanking him for his kindness to them. The soldiers and officers were not served, but evidently were greatly impressed with what Mr. Rodríguez had done for the prisoners, for they have saluted him ever since in a very friendly way.

A Catholic Mission and What Came of It.—Two Spanish priests, one being from Cadereyta and the other an itinerating missionary priest, visited the Hacienda of Palmitos and later that of Refugio in October of last year, for the purpose of holding a mission. Both the places mentioned are near Durazno and Rodríguez, where we have had congregations for some time.

The theme of the mission was marriage by the Church. They preached night after night that those who were not married by the church ceremony were living in adultery and that their children were illegitimate; all being condemned and lost. The language used was so hard and they used such means to terrify the people that the whole district was stirred up and people were commenting on all sides on the work and preaching of the priests. Some were influenced by them and sold off their crops to get the money necessary to pay for the church marriage ceremony or brought loads of corn or sugar in compliance with the bargain they might make for the ceremony; others were filled with resentment at the way they were classed by the mission. At the end of the mission, the marriage ceremony was offered free to those who could not pay in any form, but the first ones to avail themselves of the opportunity were so thoroughly abused and humiliated that the free marriage did not become popular.

Last July, we made a pilgrimage through the whole district in an ox-cart. These pilgrimages are features of the work in the Allende District. A family or two, a number of young women and men accompany the workers to help in the singing and the meetings. It is a sort of moving evangelist campaign. Arriving at Refugio on a Saturday, we found that the house prepared for the meetings was too small for the 125 people that came out and we had to adjourn to the yard, as also on all subsequent meetings. On Sunday morning, under some orange trees, and surrounded by audience of 150, we received 30 people into membership, baptizing them in groups of five, singing a song or offering a prayer after the baptism of each group. It was a most impressive service. Some said that they had come to see how the Protestants did things, and several decided to come in with us after seeing the service. One boy of seventeen years sent his father around to ask us if he could not be received that same day. The father said that he himself had not decided yet, but that the boy had and that he came to speak for him. We decided that the boy had better wait with some others till the next time that we should receive members.

Saltillo.—This is the capital of the State and gives its name to the field which we have been considering.

The work of the church has gone on steadily during the year. It has a number of ting people that would be a credit to any organization, and they are taking an active part in the work of the congregation.

Saltillo Girls' Normal School.—This well established school finished another successful year under the leadership of Miss Jennie Wheeler. From her report the following is taken:

The reports from the teachers are usually good. We have graduated 137, 79 of whom are teaching, 27 of that number in various Mission schools. All except four of the graduates on leaving school were church members.

The enrollment for the year 1910 was 72 boarders and 10 day-pupils in the higher grades, making 82. The primary department was very small, numbering between 10 and 15. There are only a few small girls in our church families, and those who would come live too far away. The school location is hot, in a neighborhood hard on small children. It seemed best to close the department for a time, so when the school reopened December 15, the primary department was suspended.

The pupils of the higher grades returned promptly and there are 70 boarders and 10 day-pupils. There were 85 who applied for places in the house, but the number of boarders is limited to 70 or 72.

I am not able to give a report for full school year, but give it for the eight months we had school.

From February 1, 1910, to December 1, the amount received was $2,894.12. For December and January of this year there has been received $600.

This includes a gift from Messrs. James and Thomas Wallace in memory of their father, to be used for tuition for some girl. The Saltillo School does not need this gift of money whereby to remember Dr. Wallace. Remembrance of him is ever present. Yet we deeply appreciate a gift in his name and are glad the school and the girls seem worthy of such a kindly remembrance.

TEHERAN.

EVANGELISTIC.—The regular public services have been kept up with a larger attendance than usual. Thus on a hot Sunday in midsummer, by actual count, 120 were present at the Sunday-school, and about the same number at the preaching service which immediately follows. An enlargement of the chapel has begun to be thought and talked about as a necessity in the future, not so very remote. It is worthy of note that for 36 years the public preaching of the Gospel in the language of the country has been continued every Lord's Day, with the exception of two Sundays during the cholera in 1892, when the clerical missionaries were all engaged in cholera relief work at the hospital premises on the other side of the city.

Dr. Esselstyn reports:

For about thirty-five years the service held by our Mission has been the only English service in Teheran and has come to be a recognized and influential factor in the life of the foreign colony. During all this time our clergymen have ministered to the Protestant foreigners of the city in the things of religion. We have baptized their children, married their young people, buried their dead, as well as preached to them on Sundays. From time to time these ministrations have been appreciatively recognized in various ways.

On May 20, the memorial service for the late King Edward VII had a large attendance, including the Diplomatic Corps, Persian Government officials and military, with all the usual pomp and ceremony attached to such an occasion.

In speaking of the communicants in Teheran, we must divide them into those who have been formally received into the membership of the Armenian Protestant Evangelical Church organization, which consists entirely of Armenians, if we except two of mixed parentage, and those who have been baptized and admitted to the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper without enrollment in the membership of the abovementioned organization. There are 31 members of this organized church and 26 other communicants whose names are not on the church roll. Of these 26, 2 are Jews, 2 are ordained men, one is a communicant in the Church of England, and 21 are baptized converts from Islam. Of these 21 converts, 15 are men and 6 are women.

We do not seem to have been able as yet to lay down a definite rule to always guide us in deciding whom we shall baptize and whom we shall not of those who come to us professing conversion from Islam.

We could baptize many if we would baptize them merely on their confession of faith in Jesus Christ as their Saviour, as seems to have been the case in the New Testament instances referred to. But it is when we begin to insist that we ourselves shall have some knowledge of a consistent life confirming the confession, that we find the obstacles to baptism. We could baptize many more who could sustain satisfactory examination in the essentials of Christian belief and who give reasonable evidence of Christian living, if we could provide them with means of support.

ITINERATION.—After the close of school in June, Mr. Jordan, Mr. Potter and two young men, in training for evangelists, made a short tour of a couple of weeks in the mountains. The experience at two points is worthy of special note. At Gata Day we were given permission to camp on the roof of the village mosque. Mr. Jordan reports:

As it stood on the steep face of a hill, it was only two feet higher than the ground on the upper side, and callers came freely. All the men of the village assembled, and spreading our carpet on one corner of the roof we had them sit down. One of us would read until he was tired and then the other would take it up. We closed with evening prayers, reading the parable of the good shepherd, and tried to bring home to them that Jesus is the door, and those only who enter in by Him find life, that He is the Good Shepherd who gave His life for the sheep; that all God's sheep must hear His voice and follow Him. Two of these men had portions of the New Testament which they had bought from colporteurs years ago, and were familiar with Matthew and the Acts. One seemed especially interested, and asked to come to see us in Teheran. Another young man bought a Bible. So we went on our way, feeling that we had been quite successful in sowing the good seed in that village.

EVANGELISTIC WORK FOR WOMEN.—Mrs. Potter writes:

In this city, which is the centre of all the new movements in Persia, no changes have been more rapid or more marked than those which concern women. A more advantageous viewpoint from which to observe such changes could scarcely be had than to have gone to America just as they were beginning and to have returned after more than a year. The year before we left Teheran we first began to hear about Persian women opening schools for girls. The idea of educating girls was new, and some were hesitating a great deal in the matter. We were totally unprepared to find Persian schools for girls in every quarter of the city, and girls in groups upon the streets with their books, evidently going to and from school as we do now.

The European customs that have come to prevail in so many homes are not so surprising as the topics of conversation that the women themselves suggest. The newspapers, that have become so numerous, keep those who can read informed of much that is happening in the world. Some of us were rather embarrassed last year at being questioned about the flood in Paris a little time before we ourselves had heard of it. Halley's comet was read and talked about in the same way, and as the report of the earth's having to pass through the tail with its poisonous gases was circulated from one to another, losing nothing in vivid detail of the dangers and horrors to be expected, many were almost in a panic. Some, we heard, contemplated preparing sealed rooms which the gas could not penetrate. Others looked upon the anticipated end of the world with composure, but with such certainty that they would make no engagements for that week until after Wednesday.

When we left Teheran in 1908, one Moslem woman and two school-girls (one of whom was of Jewish parents who had become Moslem, and one whose mother was Moslem and the father an Armenian professing Islam) had been baptized. We were delighted to find that during our absence three more had received baptism. This year still another from the Girls' School has been baptized. This is an interesting case. Mrs. Jordan said of her: "She was accepted about six years ago; owing to her father's opposition, being unmarried, she was not baptized at that time. As she is now supporting herself she was received on her own responsibility. She chose the name of Elizabeth to be added to her Arabic name.

She and her sister have opened a school for girls and have nearly 50 in attendance; the sister doing most of the teaching, as Elizabeth is still in our Girls' School, from which she hopes to graduate next year. These two sisters have recently started an anti-smoking society "through the newspapers, calling upon the women of the city to join them in combatting this evil habit."

Miss Stocking writes:

One longs to tell those poor deluded people at home, who have fine fancies as to the glory and splendor of the Orient, that Persia of the present is not Persia of the old days, that the palaces of their imagination are not even air castles, but only mud, of the earth earthy, and the precious jewels are but bits of colored glass. Beautiful gardens there are, with fountains and flowers and nightingales, but one steps out of them only to find a loathsome beggar at the gate, and to meet a multitude of little children, dirty, half-naked, and faces often covered with horrible sores. Nothing can equal the brilliancy of this glorious Persian sunshine, yet sometimes I wonder if any other land ever lay in more God-forsaken darkness.

Five Moslem girls expressed an interest which we hope and pray is sincere and may develop into true and saving faith. A sixth Moslem girl we have heard of since school closed, through the following interesting conversation which took place between the girl's father, a druggist, and the truant officer of the Boys' School, who is a convert from Islam, and who reported the incident to us: "May I have a few words with you in private?" said the officer, and they turned off into a quiet byway. "My daughter has gone!" said the druggist. "Gone where?" "Gone to the Christians," replied the druggist. "How do you know?" asked the officer. "Because she doesn't say namaz (Moslem prayers) any more, and she reads the Engil (Gospel) all the time, and she says the Christian religion is the best in the world," said the druggist. "Are her morals and behavior better or worse than they were before this year in school?" asked the school officer. "Better," said the father; "but my heart burns for her." "My heart burns for you," said the Christian; "since your daughter is better for the change, I advise you to get a Bible and search out the way for yourself." I believe many girls are interested who do not dare to say so. Religious liberty is bound to come some day if the new regime continues. I feel that our school has made real progress the past year in a spirit of increasing toleration among the girls, and I think this is due largely to the fact that the three baptized Persian girls have stood out boldly for Christ, and thus have won more respect from their schoolmates than a less definite attitude could command.

EDUCATIONAL.—The Boys' School numbered a little above 300, of whom 180 were Moslem; and in the Girls' School, 235, of whom 110 were Moslem; a marvelous advance since 1890, when the Shah visited the school and caused great anxiety and trepidation when he examined the only Moslem pupil in the school (the little daughter of a Mission servant), thus calling attention to her.

The commencement exercises of each school passed off finely. Eight young men received diplomas, two being from Isfahan and three from Shiraz, which shows the far-reaching influence and attraction of the school. The English orations of the boys on the occasion called forth a letter of congratulation from the Hon. Charles W. Russell, American Minister to the Court of Persia. At the commencement of the Girls' School three young ladies were graduated, and modestly read their essays, acquitting themselves with credit to the school and their teachers. The appreciation of the Girls' School is shown by the remarks of some of the visitors. One said: "Your girls make better wives and mothers, and in every way better women than others." Another said: "I wish my wife had been educated, but I am determined that my daughters shall be."

Mr. Jordan writes of the Boys' School:

One of the far-reaching influences of our school is the outside work being done by the older boys and the graduates contributing to newspapers, helping to start schools—night-schools and day-schools, the former especially for the instruction of adults and boys who are busy during the day—teaching in these schools, and in the translation of text-books.

The nephew of our truant officer, a boy of thirteen, was visiting some of his relatives, and in the course of conversation remarked: "As I have understood it, the religion of Christ is true and all others are good for nothing and so I am a Christian." Naturally the boy's aunt was surprised and shocked at this and sent word to the boy's mother: "You had better remove your boy from that school; he is being led wholly astray." The mother replied: "I, who am a Moslem, would like to ask you what you have found in Islam? If my boy wants to become a Christian I shall not hinder him." And this mother is the sister who made it so uncomfortable for Mirza Mohammad five years ago when he became a Christian. One noon one of the little Mohammedan boys came rushing in to his teacher in great perturbation, exclaiming: "No-rooz (his eight-year-old classmate) is sitting down at the tea-house reciting to a group of cossacks all the Bible verses he knows." As the list contained John 3: 16, Acts 4: 12, and I Cor. 3: 11, as well as the Beatitudes, the Golden Rule, and various Psalms, the youngster seemed to think that it might be unwise to recite all to a group of cossacks on the public street. The teacher, thinking that such a proclamation by a little child might be effective where an adult would not have even a chance to speak, replied: "Let him be. It is very good for these cossacks to hear God's Word from No-Rooz." Both of the small boys in question are sons of cossack officers.

One day Benjamin Badal, the well-known colporteur of the British and Foreign Bible Society, was calling. He said: "I know that you are sometimes discouraged that a larger number of your boys do not become open Christians, but I wish to say this for your comfort, that I see that your work is not lost. Traveling as I do throughout the length and breadth of Persia, everywhere I see the effect of your school and always for good. Whenever one of your boys employed in post-office, customs, or commercial houses hears that I am in a town he looks me up, and, introducing himself, helps me in every way that he can, simply because he recognizes that I am engaged in a work allied to that of the school in which he has been educated." While this is not all that we could wish for, it is certainly a cause of gratitude that even those boys who are still nominal Moslems go out as the friends of Christians and Christian work and not as opponents.

Of the Girls' School, Miss Bartlett writes:

We enrolled 235. Nominal Christians, 115; Persian speaking, 120, of which number 110 are Moslems and the other 10 are Jewesses, though I am not sure that some of these 10 are not known as Moslems. Of the 235, only 68 were new girls. The friends of nearly everybody in school visited us, and some more than once, bringing with them their friends. It was very interesting noticing how they advertised the school. Nearly every child brought a "daughter of an uncle" before many days, and these visitors in several cases became regular scholars. . . . Most of our visitors were pleased with all they saw and heard. Many of the fathers sent pleasant messages. One said: "Your girls make better wives and mothers and in every way better women than others." Another said: "I wish my wife had been educated, but I am determined my daughters shall be." Another: "I want my daughter to take her diploma and then give her life to the education of the Persian girls." Another: "The best I can look forward to is the education of my daughters." An Armenian of wealth and influence is reported to have answered to a remonstrance against sending his little girl to us, instead of to their National School: "Did I ever refuse to give you money? I will continue to help support our National Schools, but I must send my daughters (he has five) where they can readily obtain an education. After they graduate from the American school they can learn in one week all you can teach them about going to theatricals and dances. An education is a different thing." Another friend was telling us that next year his sister would send her girls to us, and when I asked why, said, "Every Moslem in this city understands that your school is the only one where the girls really learn anything."

The first public meeting of Persian women was held in a large garden on April 22, 1910. Its object was "Female Education," and several of our large girls had to be excused to attend. It certainly is most interesting and astonishing and we wish we had better leaders, for they are in dead earnest and mean to educate their daughters. Some of them are much interested in the latest styles, and, looking at our out-of-date sleeves, innocently remark, "Has that sleeve come in again?" Some are most patriotic, refusing to wear any but Persian-made clothes and drink their tea sweetened with raisins rather than use Russian-made sugar.

We have had a very persistent demand and entreaty for teachers for many Girls' Schools newly opened. Some of our larger girls, in spite of our advice to the contrary, taught in different schools after their own work was done here. We have been compelled to command them to stop it, as their strength is not equal to it. Several of our best Moslem girls are studying with great interest and enthusiasm, hoping to become qualified teachers. Every child in school was in a Bible class. We daily taught the Bible with very little opposition. One mother was very persistent in sending us word that "that lesson in the Holy Book" was altogether "without profit." She even came herself to prove her case, but as long as the girl was in school she stayed in a Bible class. A father, a Sayed, complained to a friend that he had "lost" his daughter, that she had left the Moslem faith and accepted Christianity. It is a wonderful opportunity to teach the Bible day after day to 120 Moslem girls, many of them having bright eager minds.

After about thirty-five years we have graduated only five classes, consisting altogether of thirteen girls. To understand this, you must remember the long years of struggle before we could keep a child after she was twelve or fourteen years old. This stand against early marriages is one glorious change that I have seen with my own eyes. Although our alumnæ are only 13, we have some 800 girls (women, now, most of them) who owe the best of their lives to this school. Very often we hear some word of their quiet patient living, enough to show us that they have not forgotten what they learned here.

MEDICAL WORK.—Notwithstanding the increase in the number of foreign doctors during the last few years and the opening of other hospitals, there has been no lessening in the number of patients who have come to us. Two hundred and thirty-four patients were admitted to the men's wards, and of these more than half were surgical cases of such a nature as to tax the strength and skill of the surgeon to the utmost, especially when at the same time the assistants had to be trained and taught at every step of the operation. "In the women's wards 51 patients were received, the youngest four years old, the oldest 70." Dr. Smith, with untiring devotion, has remained in the city this summer and kept up her dispensary and medical work. Dr. Smith reports:

In calling to mind these patients, there comes before us the picture of much poverty, suffering and unhappiness. One of our patients, an Armenian, and a member of our church, said: "I do not see how you stand it all the time, there is so much sadness about your work." She herself is very poor and has had much sorrow, but she felt she had a great deal to be thankful for after being in the hospital and seeing and hearing of the suffering of others. But then comes the other and brighter side, and we see the little old blind woman, who had walked nearly all the way from Meshed and whose desire and hope was to be able to go on to Kerbella, going from us with sight restored. The little Parsee woman who, though quite blind, was able to bring a laugh from her companions by her sayings, now, with sight restored in both eyes, makes her living by selling milk. One day a mother came with her daughter who was very ill, and for whom we could do nothing unless she would stay with us. We took them to see the rooms and the patients, and on going back after a time found the little mother in tears and the daughter on one of the beds, saying, "I am going to stay; I will not go home with you to die." was a spoiled and petted only daughter, used to having her own way, and so she stayed. Later her husband and other friends came to take her home, but no, she would not go. She was with us for quite a long time and was happy to go home with health restored.

The Medical Department deeply feels the loss of Dr. Wishard, who has so honorably represented the medical and surgical skill of the West, and has caused the American Hospital to be highly esteemed. Just before Dr. Wishard's departure from Teheran, a remembrance of silverware and a beautiful illuminated testimonial signed by most of the doctors of Teheran was presented to him.

LITERARY WORK.—Dr. Potter has seen through the Press a Persian hymn-book, prepared by Mr. Hawkes and his associates.

HAMADAN.

In the evangelistic work in the Station Report, Miss Holmes writes:

In examining the report on Church work, I find 9 services held on Sabbath; 17 communions in seven different places during the year; 9 new members and 6 inquirers; 28 baptisms (mostly infants); 8 deaths; 2 marriages; while in the nine places there is a combined membership of about 200.

The St. Stephen's Church is in the Armenian quarter; the Peniel

Church is frequented chiefly by Mohammedans and Jews.

The report of Peniel Church says: "As this church is in such a thoroughfare many are attracted by the sound of the organ and come in for a while. One day a finely dressed Sayid took his place behind a post, where his face could not be seen, and remained all through the lesson for the women.

A notable memorial service was held in honor of Dr. George W. Holmes, who died in America, but whose influence abides as a great power in Hamadan.

The St. Stephen's Sunday-school has had an enrollment of 115 and II teachers.

Outside of Hamadan the work has gone over in Sheverine, Leelehan, Kanda, Geapale, Davoodabad and Kirmanshah, where Kasha Mooshee reports that he has made 250 pastoral visits and had religious conversations with 3,000. There have been three deaths among the members, and there are now 12 members in the church and 6 inquirers. He writes:

We have three persons baptized: a Moslem, a Jew and the girl of Yosif, the servant of Mr. Stead. But I am glad to say that there are six other persons seeking for their life in Jesus Christ. I am glad to say that among all these troubles, God has opened my way to preach Christ to more than 3,000 persons during the year. I had good times to have religious conversation with Jews, Moslems and Babies, and many others. I have spoken with the noble men of Govenor, with Princes, Turkish Consul, the members of Bank and Customs and Mullas, Sayids, Jewish Director, with poor and rich people. I had a very good religious conversation with a great Mujtahid coming from Najaf going to Teheran. We were in Garee on the way to Sahna. I spoke to him without fear, and eight persons were hearing us. I proved to him our Holy Bible. He was not able to give answer. I cannot write to you about all the work, about every point on every conversation, but what I have to say is, I do not refuse to complete my duty or to bring the sinners to our Lord Jesus Christ.

Miss Montgomery writes:

Native preachers and teachers are not more scarce in proportion in Hamadan than in other Stations of Persia; but it is heart-breaking to see so many of our young men forsake the work for the lucrative positions they find in the bank and elsewhere.

EDUCATIONAL WORK.—Boys' School.—Mr. Zoeckler, who has had to take the school without adequate leisure for language study, writes:

The year shows an average monthly attendance of 84, an increase of 12 over last year, of which 50 were Musselmans, 29 Armenians and 5 Jews. The total number that attended the school at any time during the year passes the landred mark. This large and increasing proportion of Musselmans presents an opportunity for presenting the truths of Christianity. In the Boarding School, also, we have provided for a larger number, ten being accommodated there as against seven the year before.

What was said in the last report of the Christian spirit prevailing in the school still maintains; but that is not enough. There is a large field open for definite and specific Bible work, which at the present time is not being developed. To my mind, this work should be carried on from the very lowest grade clear through to the Senior Class. For this work, especially that with the smaller boys where English cannot be used, an efficient teacher has not been available.

The means with which to broaden out and intensify all through the school, especially in the matter of definite Bible work, constitutes what seems to me the supreme need of the school at the present moment. It will not always be day in Persia; there is a night coming. But while it is day we ought to seize the opportunities that lie at hand. God give us insight to see the opportunity, courage to seize it, and strength to improve it.

Faith Hubbard's School.—Miss Montgomery reports:

This year we had an enrollment of 103, 26 of whom were Moslems. Of the 77 Armenians, 20 were little boys, many of whom are large enough to go to the Boys' School this year, and our household numbered about 40. For these 103 pupils, we had, besides Miss Holmes, six Armenian teachers, all our Faith Hubbard School girls.

Our Class of 1910 only numbered three, but we feel that no other class has graduated with better prospects of being a blessing in this land. Two are the daughters of our pastors, and the third, the daughter of one of the best women in the church, so every help possible for the development of their spiritual life will be given them. Physically beautiful they were as they stood before the large audience in the church and read essays on translations or recited poems in English, dressed in the dainty white garments their own fingers had made, with faces bright with the intelligence gained from years of study and aglow with the spiritual fire kindled by love to the Lord Jesus, whom, in the words of their class motto, they were pledged to serve. The motto was: "O Lord, we are thine, Thee will we serve," and we feel almost sure their lives will be what our school motto demands: "Ever, Only, All for Christ." That they were all able to play some hymns, and that so many of the tiny girls could play exercises, with which the work of the day began, was a fine testimony to the painstaking care Miss Holmes had given to the music lessons, in spite of most serious difficulties. One beautifully unique feature of this commencement was presenting an honorary diploma to our faithful matron and teacher, Deerohee, who had completed her 21 years of service as teacher. In giving this, I told the audience I was honoring Hamadan, as well as the Faith Hubbard School, for I knew of no Persian lady teacher who had served so long and faithfully without once breaking hearts by saying, "If you do not give me more money I will go elsewhere."

Two Moslem girls among the boarders who had to be sent home had confessed their faith in Christ before the session of St. Stephen's Church and had asked for baptism. They were accepted and were to be received at the next communion, but when they found the Boarding Department was to be closed, they begged for a time of delay, as they were so afraid that they would not be permitted to live as Christians should in their own homes. One has been married and gone with her villager husband, the other is acting shepherdess for her father's donkeys and cows.

MEDICAL WORK.—Dr. Funk reports, after returning from furlough, of the work carried on in his absence:

The death of Dr. George W. Holmes reminds us of the fact that much of these results is due to the influence which he exerted over all with whom he had dealings and to the skill and medical knowledge, together with the spirituality which were his in so large a degree.

On my return to Hamadan late in August all of my native callers, particularly the Mussulmans, who had known Dr. Holmes, spoke most reverently and enthusiastically of his character and works while among them. And one of the things that had impressed them most was the sort of young men whom he had educated and trained in medicine.

Almost without exception these young men have turned out to be unusually brilliant and successful practitioners, and at the same time are respected because of their religious principles and scruples.

The return of Mr. and Mrs. Stead from furlough will make possible the resumption of the evangelistic itinerating work between Hamadan and Kermanshah, and it is hoped that they will soon be able to settle without Kermanshah, the money having been provided for a residence and dispensary.

RESHT.

Dr. Frame, who has been alone in the Station during the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Stead on furlough, writes:

During the year there have been no political events to markedly disturb our work, but since the deposition of the king the liberal party have been so self-confident and so busy trying to govern the country that they have not had the time to visit us as much as they did when they were the under dog. The Behais also, though more active than ever in the city, have visited us less frequently than they did a few years ago, being forbidden by their leaders. In spite of this the opportunities for quiet personal work and preaching the Gospel have been more than we had the time to accept.

In the evangelistic work the regular preaching services have had an average attendance of 25, with a somewhat larger percentage of Persians than formerly. The men's Bible class attracted a number of young men and culminated in a series of studies bringing home to inquirers and communicants the duty of each in carrying on Christian work in Resht. Several of the young men recognized their duty and have since taken more part in our work. They have also pledged varying amounts per week toward the support of a boy in the Hamadan Boys' School. Perhaps the most interesting and successful feature of our evangelistic work has been the Sunday-school.

Of the Women's Work in Resht, Mrs. Schuler writes:

There has been throughout the Armenian community a very unhappy non-religious sentiment. This has been very manifest in the methods of teaching in the Armenian National School, where the Bible and the God of the Bible have been held up to ridicule. The Armenian mothers have been displeased at this; a number of them have made inquiries as to the admission of their daughters into our school.

During the year (ten months) the Sabbath-school has been doing some foreign missionary work. About $15 has been gathered in the weekly collections, of which $9.16 was sent to our Board to be used in school work for the children of the Fang tribe in Africa. Never did children give more delightedly! Dr. Frame contributed a small box which had held some optical instruments. A kind Russian carriage-maker painted the box a light blue and cut a slit in the top, all for five cents. Into this box, carried around by the treasurer of the Sabbath-school, a Greek boy, the children weekly cast their mites with smiles of cheerful giving, worth much more than the coins.

Dr. Frame adds:

Two women have been teaching in the Sunday-school. The class Mrs. Schuler had has been increased by the attendance of several Persian women. Since Mrs. Schuler's departure three Armenian ladies and two young men, besides the writer, have been teaching. One of these women has been faithful in spite of her husband's efforts to lead her into Behaism. To the Behai urgings she replies: "I have a jewel which has been entrusted to me and I must surrender that only to its owner when he comes for it. Why should I give it to another?"

The day-school was closed on June 15th; 33 in daily attendance, 17 in the Girls' Department and 16 in the Boys'.

MEDICAL WORK.—Dr. Frame writes:

The increase in numbers did not, however, come up to our expectations. The most apparent reason for this was a cause for pleasure rather than disappointment. In the first place, the local assembly opened a dispensary for the poor, which was under the care of a Persian physician for several months. Secondly, there has been a great influx of Persian physicians, all of whom advertise to treat the poor free. Some of these are fairly capable men, while others are unmitigated quacks. On the whole, however, it seems that the quality of the native physicians is improving and the Persians are doing more for their own poor than formerly.

The dispensary and private work has continued throughout the year on the basis outlined in last year's report, i. e., a free clinic three days in the week, at which we dispense drugs at cost, and as much private work to support this as we can obtain. The records show no distinction between pay and free patients, the totals for the year being as follows:

9,633 Of these, 404 were calls in the city. The total for last year during the ten months we were in the city (we have been here the full twelve months this year) was 3,587.

Our greatest interest this year has been centred in the hospital and surgical work. During the autumn our two beds were generally full, and often we had two or three patients sleeping on the floor. During the autumn our two beds were generally full, and often we had two or three patients sleeping. May we closed the ing the winter there were fewer admissions. In May we closed the hospital, expecting to take an itinerating trip. The hospital was too humble to attract well-to-do patients, and we did not have the means to treat many poor unless they could furnish their own food.

Our evangelistic opportunities in connection with the city medical work are far beyond our abilities to accept. We have daily prayers in the dispensary, and engage in private conversation as we have time, but there is no one to talk with the patients while they wait, or to give as much time as is desirable to the hospital patients. The Bible class for our assistants attracted a number of their friends as well, and has encouraged us to continue, but the interest of our Persian assistants has proven very evanescent, and one of them has been so negligent and dishonest that we have recently dispensed with his services.

WEST PERSIA MISSION.

URUMIA: a fortified town, 480 miles north of west from Teheran, the capital. Station begun under the American Board, 1835; transferred to this Board in 1871. Missionaries—Rev. F. G. Coan, D.D., and Mrs. Coan, Rev. W. A. Shedd, D. D., and Mrs. Shedd, Rev. Robert M. Labaree and Mrs. Labaree, Rev. C. C. Sterrett and Mrs. Sterrett, Rev. E. W. McDowell and Mrs. McDowell, Miss M. K. Van Duzee, Miss Mary E. Lewis, Miss E. D. Lamme, Harry P. Packard, M.D., and Mrs. Packard, Mrs. J. P. Cochran, Rev. Hugo A. Müller and Mrs. Müller, M.D., and Miss Lenore R. Schoebel.

Tabriz: nearly 360 miles north of west from Teheran. Station begun 1873. Missionaries—Rev. J. N. Wright, D.D., and Mrs. Wright, Rev. S. G. Wilson and Mrs. Wilson, William S. Vanneman, M.D., and Mrs. Vanneman, Rev. Charles R. Pittman and Mrs. Pittman, Rev. F. N. Jessup, Miss G. Y. Holliday, Miss Lillie B. Beaber, Mrs. L. C. Van Hook, and Miss Helen Grove.

Furloughs: W. S. Vanneman, M.D., and Mrs. Vanneman, Rev. W. A. Shedd and Mrs. Shedd, Miss Mary E. Lewis, Rev. E. W. McDowell and Mrs. McDowell, Rev. J. N. Wright, D.D., and Mrs. Wright, and Mrs. L. C. Van Hook.

At the close of the year covered by the report, Dr. Shedd, after a year's effort to recover on the field from a severe illness threatening tuberculosis, was obliged to leave to spend part of his furlough in Switzerland, with the bright hope, however, that he would be able to come back to Persia; while as an offset the Urumia Station was reinforced by Mr. and Mrs. Müller and Miss Schoebel, Mrs. Müller having taken her medical degree after a thorough course in Philadelphia. In Tabriz the only reinforcement was the appointment of Miss Helen T. Grove, who had come out to teach some of the children of the Station, and who, as in the case of Miss Lamme, was glad to stay for the regular missionary work.

In Tabriz the long months of civil war were followed by a year of peace—the whole city suffering, however, from the effects of the struggle. In Urumia:

No one could with honesty praise the government of the past year, either for efficiency or for incorruptibility; but it may fairly be said that it was no worse than some that have preceded it in the palmy days of despotism. In the city itself there has been fairly good order and something has been done in the way of street improvements, but outside there has been a great deal of thieving, robbery and murder, very little of which has been punished. The wonder is that with the weakness of the Government there has not been more disorder.

The Kurds have not ceased from troubling, but their depredations have not been so general as sometimes. . . . Turkish affairs here are in the hands of an energetic consul, who is increasing his influence.

It would be idle to prophesy, but Turkish officials in Eastern Turkey do not hesitate to lay claim to Urumia and Salmas. A Turkish occupation of this region would seem to be a very possible outcome of any break-up of Persia. Perhaps in all this there is a call to us to turn more to the Kurds in our plans and efforts.

Nothing better illustrates the new freedom of thought which is now possible than the active propaganda of the Behais or Babis, and of the Tabi'i or materialists. Many Persian schools have grown up also, imitating the Western type of education. These are very inefficient, but they illustrate the new tendencies. The old order is passing away, but it is premature to say that a new order has taken its place.

URUMIA STATION.

The two features of the situation among the Nestorians or Syrians have been, first, the growing feeling of restiveness at the denominational divisions that have distracted the people and fostered hypocrisy and parasitism and so far blocked all attempts at national union. It is hoped that the continued growth of a legitimate national feeling will not only develop the sense of independence in Church affairs among the people, but will also strengthen the sense of honorable opposition to the divisive enterprises which have been started, some of which are of the most fraudulent character. The other special difficulty has been the depopulation of the villages, due to increasing immigration to America. Dr. Shedd writes:

It seems within limits to say that from one-tenth to one-seventh of the Syrians of Urunia are in America, these the most energetic young men, and most of them living under demoralizing conditions. The prospect is alarming. It is not simply an economic question; but the religious and spiritual problems of our work centre largely in this state of things. Imagine trying to get your church up to self-support, when three out of four young men as soon as they reach an age of from fifteen to twenty go off 8,000 miles for work. Some never come back, some come back after four or five years often to see for the first time their first child, and some return to die of tuberculosis contracted in an American factory or lodging-house. A few, honor to them, keep clean and true. These are the odds we and our native co-workers fight against, and in spite of all we are gaining slowly.

Two effects of the tide of immigration are seen in the diminished birth-rate and the diminished average attendance at the village schools.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.—This year marked the seventyfifth anniversary of the Mission to the Nestorians. It was hoped that it might be a year of vigorous evangelistic effort, but the inadequacy of the force and ill-health prevented the Station from carrying on the evangelistic campaign contemplated, and the Church itself showed no special evangelistic activity. Mr. Labaree writes:

The result has been not more than average attendance upon our services, possibly less than an average increase of membership, and a great lack of enthusiasm and hopefulness on the part of workers and people.

Our working force has been lamentably decreased by the death of two of our active pastors. On the other hand, we have had the encouragement of seeing a number of bright young men turning toward the Gospel ministry. Four have been under instruction the past year in theology, and from present appearances there will be a class of nearly twice that number to begin their studies this next fall.

But the chief obstacle has been and is the circumstances in which the Syrian Evangelical Church has been placed for the last decade or more. We doubt if there is a missionary field in the world where there are so many rival so-called Christian forces at work as are to be found here, and where the baneful effects of such rivalry are so painfully felt. When Russian Orthodox, Roman Catholic, Presbyterian, Anglican, Baptist, Lutheran, Methodist, Plymouth Brother, and Dunkard all struggle to get possession of a little people, and in the unseemly struggle resort not to the weapons of the Spirit, but appeal to all that is worldly and unworthy in men, some things are sure to result, and those results can hardly be set down as benefits. National conceit, parasitism, the making of religion a sport or a trade, deterioration in morals, a pitiful exhibition of Christian divisions before the eyes of Moslems, paralysis of effort and general demoralization,—these are the apples of Sodom which the folly and sinful sectarianism of Christian lands is feeding to this poor people. . . . There is a second reason for this seemingly pessimistic outlook, and that is the scattered condition of our church. The membership of the Evangelical Church is divided among nearly fifty villages on our plain, ranging from two or three members in a place up to two or three hundred; only in a very few villages are there sufficient Evangelicals to form a self-supporting church. There should be and there is an effort to group congregations under the care of one pastor, but such a plan has of course its limits; and so, hemmed in as we are by other bodies of Christians, it would seem as if we should have on our hands for a long time to come a number of these small churches incapable of standing alone. And a final and after all the chief cause working against independence of the native Church is the drain of foreign countries upon the best blood of this people. It is startling to see how few young men are left in most of the villages; the great majority of them are in Russia or America trying to make a better living than they could here; and, still worse, hundreds of them are gaining not money, but physical and moral ruin in their new surroundings.

The preaching service in Turkish has been kept up the whole year without interruption. The congregation meets in the city church each Sabbath morning before the Syriac service. The attendance has varied from three or four Moslems to fifteen; and in addition there have been present each Sabbath a number of Armenians who have no other opportunity of attending an evangelical service in a language which they can understand. Until now an independent missionary to the Mohammedans has united with us and occasionally preached for us; but for personal and sectarian reasons he has drawn off and started a service in Turkish at the same hour as our own. Thus has the divisive work which has cursed the Syrian people begun to cast its baneful shade over our efforts to reach Moslems.

The congregation among the Nestorians in Tiflis has been kept up under the care of Mr. Moorhatch.

Of her tireless evangelistic work among the women Miss

Van Duzee reports:

When I moved into this house, about the middle of October, I asked that the rooms might be used of God in His service and He has answered by sending me over 2,000 callers, besides a total attendance of more than 900, who came expressly for Bible study in my seven regular classes. After the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Sterrett, I was relieved of the duties of assistant treasurer, which has given me more time for outside work, and over 600 calls have been made in the homes of the people. These have been mostly on Moslem women, though Nestorian, Armenian and Jewish have had a share.

EDUCATIONAL WORK.—Urumia College.—Dr. Coan reports:

The Commencement exercises were held in a rented tent, and although it was announced that there would be no dinner, about 1,000 attended the exercises and showed deep interest. Twenty-four young men, the largest class for many years, graduated from the Academic Department and received diplomas.

The enrollment the past year was as follows: Theological Department, 6; College, 1; Advanced Class, studying in the city, 5; Academic, 87; total for all departments, 99. Dropped out during the year: Academy, 18; Theological Class, 2. Total left at end of year, 79.

A spirit of insubordination has cropped out several times during the year, demanding severe discipline, and for the first time since my connection with the College it was necessary to expel four boys.

A brighter side was the spiritual interest shown during the year when 9 students and 8 others were received into the College Church and 22 other students who expressed the desire to join the church were recommended to their different pastors.

Fiske Seminary.—The Seminary had a total of 95 students in the Syriac Department—63 boarders and 32 day-students.

The most interesting and perhaps the most important feature of our work this year was the establishment of a department for Jewish girls, a day-school.

The school started in December and we had a fairly regular attendance during the winter, of from 12 to 15 or more girls. In the spring the number increased daily, until the end of school, when we closed with an attendance of about 40.

The Persian Boys' School had a total enrollment of 73, of whom 42 were Moslems and 9 Jews. The grade of the school has advanced, and the attempt of a Persian teacher who, after a secret propaganda in favor of Behaism, was dimissed from the school and sought to disrupt it, simply resulted in the firmer establishment of the school and the clearer definition of its distinctly Christian character and purposes. The crisis through which the school passed served to bring out all the more clearly the reliability and value of Mr. Jacob David, one of the teachers, specially supported by a small committee of Baptist friends in America, who, under the leadership of Professor Brown of Newton Theological Seminary, have from the beginning worked in heartiest harmony with the missionaries.

Persian Girls' School.—The maximum attendance of Mohammedan girls in the Persian Girls' School was 62. The maximum enrollment was 83. The school closed with an attendance of 45.

Should we count every name we could report 140 names for the year, but some of these only came for a day or two. Asking for tuition drove some away; fanatical parents kept others from coming longer.

At the closing exercises:

Over 160 Moslem women were present, 30 Syrians and a number of foreigners, including all the missionary ladies. The room was crowded to overflowing. Seating such a crowd in the Seminary school-room was not an easy task. Extra benches and all chairs available were brought into service. All were filled. Great precaution had to be taken in seating the people according to their proper rank. All classes were represented. On such an occasion our greatest concern is not so much how to control the girls, but how to manage the audience. But each year we can see some improvement in their power to listen and keep quiet.

Village Schools.—Fifty-five village schools were conducted, an increase of 15 over the preceding year, with a total attendance of 1,521, an increase of 281 over the preceding year.

MEDICAL WORK .- Dr. Packard reports:

The great event of recent years for the hospital was the coming of Mrs. Cochran to be matron. The difference in the appearance of the rooms, the comfort and happiness of the patients, the tidiness of the linen closet, the pictures about the beds of the little patients, the good-will among the servants, are only some of the more obvious evidences of the blessings of her presence. If you could understand Persian, Turkish, Syriac, Armenian, Kurdish, Arabic and Russian, you might hear her praises in any or all of these languages. Her presence is a blessing to them all; and not to them only, but to many others also, both in the Mission and outside, who find her rooms a place of delight

Two more important journeys, besides more than one hundred trips to the villages, have been made during the past year. One of these was a visit to the home of Mar Shimoon, patriarch of the East, who is the head of the Nestorian Church. The family of Mar Shimoon is large, and the servants are many, and the visitors are so numerous as to make a great host to welcome each newcomer who is important enough to excite their curiosity. Rarely as few as 100, and sometimes as many as 300, eat at his board. The housekeeper said that they use 700 loads of wheat and 200 loads of rice every year. (A load is 340 pounds.) A traveler is never turned away, no matter what his faith, and people are not put out, no matter how long they stay. In such a place you can well imagine the family and following of Abraham and the other patriarchs. The present Mar Shimoon, though only 25 years of age, is a man of deep piety and eager for the spiritual welfare of his people. With such a head of the nation, and with a constitution in the Turkish Empire, which should stop the persecutions which drove these people into the mountains, and the opportunity which should now come to them to seek homes where they may be more prosperous and happy, the Syrian nation should enter upon a new era of progress and prosperity.

Sheikh Rasheed of Nochea came to the hospital just at the time that I was planning to leave for the mountains, and this delayed my journey for two weeks. On his return I went with him into the mountains, and so had a most noble escort. The sheikh accompanied me to the home of the Archbishop and remained there until I was ready to go with him to his own home, which is three or four miles over the mountains from the home of the Archbishop. Time would fail me to tell of the great building of the sheikhs, built on the site of a Christian church, and containing the stone that had once been a part of the church, with its forty rooms, many of them finished as well as most rooms could be finished in the West, with walnut floors, and walls tinted a heavy dark green, and the ceiling made of beautifully polished knots of black walnut. Here I saw all of the members of the family, for many of them were ill. The women of the household lead such a life as would not make anyone well and strong. They can do no work—they are above that. They can neither read nor write. The sewing is all done by the servants, and one servant has learned to sew well on the machine. They do not know how to do fancy needlework. What shall they do? What can they do? The tobacco of their country is the best in this part of the world. They can learn to make good cigarettes and smoke. This they have learned well, and attend to most faithfully. Turkish coffee, which is enjoyed by many of us, is also a delight to them and they drink much of it. Tea is always ready somewhere in the house, and when they are not smoking or drinking coffee, they can drink tea. Is it strange that there is shortness of breath and palpitation of the heart on all sides? Is it strange that there is loss of appetite and dyspepsia?

Each time that I have gone into the mountains of Kurdistan this hardy, independent people has been getting a hold on me that I cannot get away from. There is no Mission for all these people. A little has been done in Souj Bolak and a passing word has been spoken by the missionary in the mountain journeys; but no one is living, planning, dreaming, working, praying—giving his whole life just for them. Along with all of the appeals for the rest of the world, shall we not put in a most urgent appeal for one man for the Kurds? The difficulties and dangers for one who should try to work among them would be great, for their suspicions of him would be great; but some one must enter Kurdistan with as much zeal and consecration as Paton entered the New Hebrides, and the same kind of fruit will be borne here as was produced in the islands of the South Seas.

During the year 360 patients (320 surgical and 40 medical), have been received into the hospital, and 130 other minor operations have been performed, making 450 operations for the year. In the dispensary, in trips to the villages, and on journeys, 15,000 patients have received medical aid. One hundred and five trips have been made to the villages and two longer journeys have been made. One thousand one hundred and twenty-three visits have been made to the homes in the city.

THE PRESS has been conducted as usual, but with many limitations because of the inadequate equipment. In the Book Department nearly 8,000 books have been sold, of which nearly 6.000 were school books.

THE MOUNTAIN FIELD.—For the first time in ten years a Knushya or central convention was held in the moun-

Fifteen preachers were in attendance, also five winter workers and a number of our teachers. The regular Knushya was preceded by a three days' spiritual Knushya, at which were present, by special invitation, the Bishop of Jelu, two old church Kashas and some Maliks from Ishtozin, Jelu, Baz, and Tkhoma. Kasha Ishak Malik Yonan and Rabi Ephraim, special delegates from the General Knushya of Urumia, greatly added to the pleasure and the profit of both these meetings. Having been deprived for so long of this privilege, our mountain brethren appreciated and enjoyed to the full their attendance at this church court.

Another interesting feature of the mountain work has been the opening of Asheetha, the old centre of Dr. Grant's work:

Asheetha has not less than 500 houses of its own, and around it, only a few hours distant, are the populous valleys of Tiary, Berwar, Holmon and Guraman. It is the geographical centre of the entire field, and in its strength it is the key to the mountains. The difficulties in the way of its occupation by resident missionaries are not to be minimized, but faith, patience and tact are well able to overcome them.

Mr. McDowell writes:

Regarding the field as a whole there is cause for encouragement. The entire field, I think, was never more open to us than at present. In almost every village I have visited this year there have been evidences of special interest in spiritual things. There are indications that the Spirit of God is breathing upon these "slain." life is manifesting itself in places unexpected by me. It is becoming a conviction with me that the day is drawing near when God will again visit this ancient Church with a great spiritual blessing.

The best that can be said of political conditions is that they are in a state of unstable equilibrium. There is much to be seen and heard that would make a pessimist hope and as much that would make an optimist despair of the triumph of law and order in this land of misrule.

In the cities and larger towns the newly appointed officials give evidence of a strong and sincere purpose on the part of the governing power in Constantinople to reform the Government and to introduce modern ideas among the people.

On the other hand, in these same centres there remain cliques of local officials who are able to neutralize in large measure the good intentions of the Young Turk officials.

In the country the main highways were never as safe as they are to-day and the Christian villages nearest the Government have been enjoying a respite from the oppressions formerly practiced upon them by their Kurdish masters, but there is much to indicate that it is only a respite.

The common Kurds are as desirous as the Christians for the continuance of the reform Government, but the Kurdish nobility are openly and bitterly opposed to it.

These last freely assert that it is only temporary, and frequently threaten the Christians with their vengeance when the old order is restored. An Agha said to one of our Bohtan Christians, "If we ever get another chance at you we shall not leave one of you alive." It is to be feared that this is no idle threat. It is the universal testimony of the Christians that such is the sentiment of the powerful Kurds. The Kurds' hatred of the Christians has undoubtedly been intensified by recent events in general, and they especially resent the enrollment of the Christians as soldiers.

Number of village schools, 43; high schools, 1. Total enrollment of village schools, 703, of which about one-eighth were girls; high school, 31; making a total of all pupils, 734.

TABRIZ STATION.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.—

The chief event in the life of the Tabriz Church was the visit of Baron Abraham Malik Jehaniantz, of the Swedish Mission, Baku, to conduct a series of evangelistic meetings for Armenians. He came early in December, and from the start crowds, largely of young men, gathered evening after evening in the Memorial School to hear him. There were between 300 and 400 present each night and an increasing spirit of interest. But after about ten days the Armenian revolutionaries became alarmed and organized opposition, sending bands of men to make disorder and try to break up the meetings. When they found this insufficient, by threats and acts of rowdyism they frightened away the better and more earnest class of listeners and tried to scare the evangelist and to hire some one to poison him. B. Abraham went to see the chief of the disturbers and to reason with him. The man told him very frankly: "We have been at work ten years in Tabriz and here in ten days you threaten to destroy our work. You are trying to make these Armenians men, to persuade them to be Godfearing, to soften their hearts. We don't want their hearts softened, we want them hardened; we don't want to make them men, but wild beasts!"

The meetings continued a month, but the disorder and opposition seemed to quench the spirit and the meetings failed to produce the results sorely needed, and were followed by the reaction often observed after evangelistic services.

The evangelistic work has lost during the year the faithful service of Rabi Yakob, but Baron Garaped has been spared in the midst of many perils to continue his remarkable work.

Rabi Yakob was perhaps our best Mohammedan evangelist, a man combining great zeal, fearlessness and willingness to undergo hardships, with most attractive winning qualities, tact and humor, apt illustration, ready wit. He had at one time studied some medicine with Dr. Cochran and had helped nurse Dr. Shedd in his last illness. On his tours he put his medical knowledge to practical use, and would sit down in a village street, open his medicines, and draw a crowd. But while he thus secured good-will and often helped those with sore eyes and other ailments, his first aim was always preaching the Gospel. Dr. Luther of Ardabil tells how, when visiting that region, he used to go off day after day to the villages of the wild Shahsavans, and return at night to exhibit with a comical smile his medical fees—three or four cents! But he had found fine opportunities to preach Christ, He adapted himself to the ways of those whom he sought to reach.

With his head quite bald on top and long locks hanging Moslemfashion below his black Persian cap and with flowing coat and tunic he looked quite like a Mohammedan doctor. In Ardabil he went alone to visit the famous ancient mosque with its many rare treasures. The custodian, taking him for a holy pilgrim from Meshed, insisted on removing Rabi Yakob's shoes himself, bringing him tea, and showing him all the sights without asking the customary fee.

Rabi Yakob was ready to learn from anyone. Noticing what a wide hearing the wandering dervishes gain as they narrate in a singsong tone long poems about the imams and Persian heroes, he composed many similar poems telling the life of Christ and the Apostles and explaining the way of salvation. He found these were listened to with great interest by the common people, and has had dervishes ask to learn them from him. Alas, I fear they have not been preserved. Asked once what he did when he found the crowd growing angry and threatening under the truth, he replied that he usually told some Old Testament story. David and Goliath or Daniel in the lions' den would interest and quiet the crowd and disarm anger.

Last year, because of the health of his wife, the Urumia Station offered to appoint him pastor of a village church where he might settle down, but he refused, saying that his heart was in this work of Moslem touring, and that he hoped to keep on as long as he lived. His wish was realized. He died in harness. A few hours before his death, when he could no longer speak much, he pointed upwards, smiling, saying, "Heaven, heaven. I am ready. I am ready." grant that many more such earnest and able workers may be raised up to go about from village to village in Azerbaijan, following in his steps as he followed Christ!

B. Garaped has spent 206 days out of the year away from home touring, the best record of any of our evangelists. Four months of this was spent in company with Miss Holliday in Salmas and Khoi. He has also visited Tabriz twice, the Dukhargan and Uski regions once, and made several short trips among the Kurds and Sunnis near the Turkish border. He reports on one visit to these Kurdish villages meeting a man much interested in religious conversation who began asking him questions. "Can you explain who God is, and how Jesus is a Saviour?" etc. After Garaped had attempted to answer, the man replied, "I have here a book which explains it all!" and pulled out a package in which a small volume was carefully wrapped. Taking it up, he began to read: "Who is God? God is a Spirit, infinite, eternal and unchangeable," and so on to the end, and then Catechism in Turkish! He also had a New Testament. A robber, and probably a murderer, he had somehow gotten hold of these sources of life, and he told Garaped that he would not part with them for anything, that he studied them and read them to his friends.

The Station has sought to take advantage of the remarkable openings among the Mohammedans. Mrs. Wilson writes of the woman's work:

Among Moslems, too, we visit in the low, cellar rooms of the poorest and the homes of the richest, where again the profusion of refreshments makes distraction, and we long for a chance to talk quietly. One of our warm friends is a Princess, whose wealth, rank and intelligence give her high position. She sometimes invites us to a garden-party, and as we enter the garden full of gorgeous bloom it seems a Persian Paradise. To our surprise she receives us in a Paris gown and velvet hat, which shows the feminine love for novelty, even in the land of the Medes. Another lady invites us once a year to spend the day, and, after a lunch of delicious Persian dishes, we have the long afternoon for reading and talk on religious subjects which they welcome. Even at the chief Mujtahid's (religious chief), we are free to speak of our religion and our hostess says laughingly, as I talk with her old mother, a very bright woman, "See them preaching at each other."

EDUCATIONAL WORK.—Memorial School.—Dr. Wilson reports:

The enrollment at 240, though 70 more names have been enrolled for some months. Some leave on the demand for tuition, some move to other cities, others are peripatetics, going from one school to another—their ignorant parents expecting them to learn everything in one term. Armenian pupils are in the majority in the lower classes, and Moslems in the upper grades.

A European, not a Protestant, said a few days ago, "I like the young men from your school. They are of a superior stamp." An Armenian teacher from Salmas said to me this week, "Your two graduates of our corps are the only ones of us who have faith in God."

The closing exercises were in two or rather three divisions. One was for the mothers of the little boys, especially Persian ladies. Another Armenian, the third for the Persian pupils and High School. This was honored with the presence of the Governor-General, Mukhbiri-Sultana, Hadji Nizam-i-Doulah, the Commander-in-Chief and Head of the Council, the Ijlal-il-Mulk, Kala-Begi, Judges and many Persian officials, not a few of whose sons are our pupils, the American, British, French, German and Osmanli Consuls. It was the largest audience of prominent men ever assembled in Tabriz for any exercise under missionary auspices. There were examinations and declamations in Persian, Arabic, English, French and Russian. The examinations in Physics and History in English were a surprise to many from the knowledge of that language displayed. The French Consul gave a prize to the student who had passed the best examination in that language. The Bulletin was distributed to those present. The exercises closed with a contest in basket ball, the first of its kind in Tabriz, Hearty commendations were heard on all sides.

Girls' School.—Miss Beaber reports:

As large a number of pupils applied for admittance as in former years. We had decided to increase the tuition from two to three tomans for the Armenian day pupils, and to as high as six tomans for Moslem day pupils, and our rigid adherence to this decision sent over 200 applicants to the Roman Catholic school, where many were admitted freely. It made our hearts ache to see this long line of pupils daily pass the school which they had learned to love because our insufficient appropriations demanded that we make a stand for increased tuition from them. We hear that many of these former pupils are dissatisfied and wish to return to us, but parents are not yet sufficiently educated themselves to distinguish between quantity and quality, and they refuse to pay for their daughters when they can be admitted freely elsewhere, even though they are dissatisfied with the progress made.

The political progress in Persia has opened the door wide for the admission of Mohammedan girls to our Christian schools. The first pupils must still suffer persecution in fanatical centres like Tabriz, but the fact that 33 Mohammedan girls attended our school this year, and of these 22 were boarders for part or the whole of the year, proves beyond all doubt that we have a wonderful opportunity to-day in Persia. Twenty-two Mohammedan Girls Paying to Eat the "Unclean" Bread of Christians in Order to Gain an Education Which They Very Fully Realize May Be the Means of Turning Them From Mohammedanism to Christianity, proves beyond all doubt that our Moslem Department is no fantastic project.

During the spring application was made for the admission of a very bright little girl belonging to a well-to-do Moslem family, but the stipulation was made that she be not required to attend our chapel exercises and that all religious instruction be omitted, as she would have that in the Mosque. We boldly replied that it was only for religious purposes that our school was established, and that all our pupils were required to be present at the prayers, also that we would accept no limitations whatever, as all of our pupils, both Armenian and Moslem, have daily Bible lessons. After some demur and hesitation two children of this family were sent, and the older daughter became so fascinated by hynnus, instruction in the New Testament and prayer, that she advertised it so at home that her mother and other relatives were frequent visitors at our devotional exercises. The mother has frequently expressed her regret that her home is not nearer so that she herself could be present every day, and has testified to the sweetness of the Gospel story. It was very sweet to see how the Moslem girls treasured their New Testaments, which constitute the Third Reading Book in Turkish in our school, the girls being started out with a slip on which is the alphabet, then given a tiny Turkish Primer, which they usually finish in a few weeks, then the "Sweet Story of Old," a delightful short story of the life of Christ, and finally the New Testament.

The closing exercises of our school were held the last week in June. On Tuesday 65 Persian ladies of high rank were present by invitation at the exhibition of the Persian girls. We had short recitations in Geography, Physiology, Arithmetic, English, Persian and French; then a programme of songs, all of which were religious, in English, Persian and Turkish, and recitations in French, English, Turkish and Persian, many of which were Psalms and selections from the New Testament, as well as from the old Persian poets. Then the audience was conducted to the yard, where the Persian girls gave a calisthenic drill in costume, followed by a drill by the Armenian pupils of the Kindergarten, First and Second Grades, and another drill by the older Armenian girls in costume. All the ladies were much pleased, and the principal of the Rakhim Khan School for Persian girls told us her one hope was to make her school equal to ours!

Twenty-two Moslem girls returned after a two weeks' vacation for lessons from 8 to 12 during the summer.

Bible Distribution.—Mr. Jessup writes:

Tabriz is a hard place to sell Scriptures. This spring we had a visit from the well-known colporteur of the British and Foreign Bible Society at Isfahan, Rabi Benjamin. A native of Urumia, he is now seventy years of age, having been for forty years engaged in this work in Russia, all parts of Persia, the Turkish and Indian frontiers, and Arabia. He speaks Syriac, Persian, Turkish, Arabic, Russian and Armenian. He is a man of great zeal and courage and of Paul-like experiences. He has been brought before rulers and governors and Mohammedan high priests and scribes, has been put in prison, beaten with rods, left for dead; he has been in labors more abundant, in dangers often, in journeyings often, in perils of robbers, in perils by his own countrymen, in perils in the city, in perils in the wilderness, in weariness and painfulness, in hunger and thirst, in fastings, in cold and nakedness. He and the assistant he is training stayed in Tabriz several weeks and then made a trip to Julfa, selling several hundred portions of Scripture in that region and again returning to Tabriz to make another attempt before going on to Urumia, where he hoped to be able to stir up the young men to more zeal and to enter his work. He told us several times that in all his forty years' experience he had never found so hard a place as Tabriz for Scripture sales. In other parts of Azerbaijan—Ardabil, Sararb and the Julfa region—he had found many buyers, but in Tabriz hardly a dozen, after weeks of effort, daily going through the streets and bazaars with his pack. He did not know whether this was due to the general poverty after the long hardships of civil war here, or to hatred of Christians engendered by the Russian occupation or to the natural characteristics of the people. . . . Recently there has been a confirmation of Rabi Benjamin's statement. B. Garaped, the evangelist, who some years ago was in charge of this book-room and was the best agent we have had, has for a week spent his afternoons going about the city with a companion, trying to sell Scriptures: thus far in vain.

MEDICAL WORK.—Dr. Vanneman has been at home on furlough, and, in spite of all its effort, the Board has been unable to find a surgeon to be associated with Dr. Vanneman or a woman physician to take Dr. Bradford's place. Dr. Vanneman reports on the year before his furlough:

This year of medical work has been the heaviest of the twenty years I have been in Persia. The attendance at the dispensary was much larger than any other year and the visits to the homes the equal of any previous year.

The dispensary work and the visits to the homes reach all classes in the city and many come from the surrounding villages, often several days' journey.

On my leaving the field last June both the men's and women's departments are closed.

The Mission has had another good year, as the following statistics show: Adult members received into church, 1,297: chapels built, 13; students matriculated, 633; treatments at hospitals, 32,088.

MANILA STATION

During the year Dr. Rossiter closed his successful pastorate of over six and a half years in the American Church, Manila, and sailed with Mrs. Rossiter for the homeland. He was held by all Americans in high esteem for his signal ability as a preacher and his genial personality. The fine new manse was occupied a few days before Dr. and Mrs. Rossiter left for the United States. The Rev. Wm. B. Cook was chosen as Dr. Rossiter's successor and arrived with his sister before Dr. Rossiter left.

On Dr. Rossiter's journey home, an overwhelming bereavement befell him. At Benares, India, where they had stopped for the Sabbath, Mrs. Rossiter suddenly fell dead upon the station.

EVANGELISTIC.—Mr. Wright has continued in charge of the Malate and Ellinwood congregations and of the leper work, and Dr. Rodgers in charge of the work in Cavite Province. There has been normal progress during the year.

In the city of Manila the work of the Tondo Church has been well conducted. Pastor Estrella has been faithful in the discharge of his duties.

The Batangas work under Pastor Zarco has been successful. One hundred and five new members have been received during the year and work has been opened, although perhaps not permanently, in five new towns.

In the entire field there have been 289 baptisms of adults during the year. The year has been unsatisfactory in many ways. The rush of other work has limited the time given to firect evangelistic work. The advance hoped for in establishing settled pastorates has not been realized. The chief reason why the people do not call pastors is because they do not feel the need of them. It is to be hoped that when some more of our young men are prepared for work, the churches will appreciate them and call them for service.

During the year two important publications have come out in Tagalog: the word edition of the new Hymnal published jointly with the Methodist Mission, and a translation of the Hurlbut's Teachers' Training Lessons.

Ellinwood Bible Seminary.—The Ellinwood Bible Seminary, in conjunction with the Nicholson Seminary (Methodist), have published an annual containing the course of studies and catalogue of students.

The Ellinwood Bible Seminary was founded by the Board early in 1904 in memory of a daughter of Dr. Frank F. Ellinwood, a Secretary of the Board. In the same year, the Methodists began training men for the ministry, and in 1906 received a generous gift, making possible the purchase of lands and the erection of the Florence Nicholson Bible Seminary. The Union Seminary plan has been followed for four years, with increasing satisfaction. For three years, there have also been on the rolls one or two students from the United Brethren Mission.

We have graduated three young men in whom we take a deep interest, and from each of whom we expect good reports. Forty-six students were matriculated.

Ellinwood School for Girls.—The fourth year of work for Ellinwood School for Girls has been carried along lines developed in the preceding year—six months of actual school work and six months of provincial work.

When the school closed in December, most of the girls did excellent work in their home towns in training the children for the Christmas programs in the Sunday-school. Reports came from 18 places where the Christmas entertainment was given under the girls' direction; in some cases the school repeated the entertainment at two or three different places, in response to the interest of the people.

Either Miss Kalb or Miss Bartholomew attended each of the four Bible Institutes held in the Province.

Twenty-seven girls were enrolled as Bible students, two-thirds of them for the entire term. They came from six Provinces. As in previous years, they did all the work of housekeeping, cooking and laundry, each taking her turn at each kind of work.

Four open-air Sunday-schools have been carried on for some years by the boys and girls of the Ellinwood schools.

Preaching service has been held every week by the evangelists who are studying in the theological school, and the girls go to assist in the singing. There are usually from 60 to 100 who listen. We feel very strongly that the Lord has placed an opportunity before us here which must be seized at once in a definite way.

ILOILO STATION.

The work has gone forward with gratifying progress.

Dormitory work for the students of the provincial schools, work among the Americans and Europeans in connection with the Union congregation and young men, the evangelistic work in Iloilo and Autique Provinces and the medical work in the Sabine Haines Memorial Union Mission Hospital, have all been carried on as usual. In April Dr. and Mrs. Hall found it suddenly necessary to return to America on account of the doctor's serious illness. We are glad that his condition has improved sufficiently to warrant his return early next year.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.—There are 2.846 communicants connected with the Station, 217 having been added this year. The organized congregations, with their chapels, now stretch in an unbroken chain from Iloilo across the mountains into Antique Province, to Culasi, the northermost out-station, 125 miles from Iloilo. It is now possible for the missionary to visit two congregations each day on the way up and spend a night with a different congregation each day on his way back. The bicycle and the motorcycle, the continued improvements in the roads of the two Provinces, will soon make it possible to go from Iloilo to Culasi in a day.

Besides these nincteen chapels, there are ten other congregations partially organized, including the Chinese congregation in Hoilo, where services are held every week, making a total of twenty-nine places where the Word is preached and studied every Sunday with believers. In several of these nine congregations chapels are now being built. Six congregations are in municipalities or towns, the rest being in barrios or villages. They are looked after by five paid evangelists, each one of whom is in charge of a district containing a number of congregations, five local preachers supported partly by the Mission and partly by the congregations which they serve, and eighteen local preachers who serve without remuneration. Four new congregations were organized during the year and two new chapels have been dedicated.

The Iloilo congregation has been served this year by its new pastor, Jose Molota, who was ordained last Easter. In order to secure a quorum of the Presbytery it was necessary to hold the examination by the bedside of Dr. Hall the day before he was taken to the hospital. For a time it was difficult to raise the new pastor's salary, but now it is being done.

Training classes are held in March and September a month each time.

We have begun this year to hold a separate class for the preachers and to divide those who attend into grades. In connection with the training class last March, the usual Easter Assembly was held, lasting through the last four days of Holy Week. About 300 people gathered from the interior and a very instructive and inspiring conference was held, the large tent erected in the chapel yard being crowded with audiences of six and seven hundred.

The work among the Americans and Europeans continues to be done through the Union Congregation and the Y. M. C. A. Responsibility for the former is now shared by the Baptist Mission which has charge of two services every month.

DUMAGUETE STATION.

EVANGELISTIC.—The evangelistic work of this Province gets little attention from the missionary force except during the vacation. We have six young men preaching in the Province, besides the preaching done by the young men in Dumaguete. Under the care of these preachers, the congregations are manifesting a steady and healthy growth. During the school vacation, Mr. McIntire spent four weeks in itineration in this Island and in Siquijor. While we sometimes feel that such a large school detracts from the evangelistic work, yet when one goes out preaching in vacation time and finds a little group of students in each town forming a nucleus and ready to help, he feels that in the long run the effect even on the evangelistic work is very beneficial.

About 150 members have been received since last Mission meeting.

A new chapel has been built in Polo and chapels are in the course of construction in Tanjay and Payabon. The congregation at Bais has been organized with two elders, one of whom is an ex-governor of this Province. The present Governor is also one of our members. New work has been opened in Valla Hermosa and Tayasan in the northern part of the Province; in Polo in the central part, and in San Juan in the Island of Siquijor.

Silliman Institute.—In March of this year, Silliman held its first regular commencement. Three young men received their bachelor's degree. This institution is the first under the new regime to receive from the Government the right to confer degrees. The Government stamp of approval also carries with it the right of those who have finished the Sophomore year to enter any department of the new University at Manila without examination.

Hitherto we have been hindered from reaching the goal of graduating a class by the fact that advanced students were constantly yielding to the tempting offers of positions and left school without finishing their course. One of the graduates expects to study law, another theology, while the valedictorian is teaching in Silliman. In January, the first Inter-Visayan athletic meet was held on Silliman Field. Eleven schools and Silliman were represented. Silliman won; but each one of contestants went home carrying some portion of the English Bible; many of them had never seen it before.

The number of students thus far enrolled is 560, though the present attendance is 456.

A number of our students have been taking turns preaching at the regular Sunday morning service at the Dumaguete Chapel, while some member of the faculty preaches in English every Sunday evening in the College assembly room. This service is also well attended by the Dumaguete Americans. Since last Mission meeting 22 students have been received into church membership.

Industrial Department.—An average of 80 internes were working students and 170 externe working students. Of these practically all received some industrial training, the larger part of the shop work being done by 100 of the students.

The total time of work was increased from three hours to four hours per afternoon. Students were also graduated on a wage basis of from 5 to 17 cents per hour, so that beginners will have to do some work in addition to the regular time, while advanced students will either be excused or will receive some pay for their work during the latter part of the school year.

The value of the work done by the average of 45 shop students (exclusive of printing) amounted to $2,500, or $500 per month (this report covers only five months), as against $265 for last year. This is aside from a $1,000 lighter built for the Compania Maritima, on which hired carpenters were almost entirely used, and an ebony desk built in payment for some ebony logs and which is priced by its owner at $400. The $2,500 mentioned consists of 775 small articles valued at $275; 215 pieces of furniture valued at $1,400; other work, $825. Last year only 50 pieces of furniture were made, but considerable time was spent on the new building.

Mention must also be made of the work of the students in agriculture, under Mr. Eskridge. A garden of 100 plots has been under cultivation. The students are getting a splendid practical training in this important subject.

MEDICAL REPORT.—Small-pox in the Province led the faculty to have 500 students vaccinated.

An epidemic of chicken-pox appeared among the students. As the Hospital has no isolation ward, it was necessary to rent a building in town for these boys. This is the first epidemic of any kind that we have ever had in Silliman, but it brought us face to face with the fact that a small building is needed on our property where contagious diseases among our students can be isolated and under our control. Such a building could be arranged and made available for tuberculosis patients.

A number of improvements have been added to the Hospital during the year.

The most important is the ice plant. Funds for this equipment were given by Mrs. George R. Clark, a teacher in the public schools. It is a memorial to Lillard Hubbell, son of Mr. Clarence Hubbell, Director of Public Works for the Philippine Islands. Lillard Hubbell was drowned shortly after their arrival in the Islands. Mrs. Clark's mother, Dr. Rorick Bennett, of Detroit, Mich., assisted in securing the funds for this splendid equipment.

There has been a daily average of six in-patients during the year. The number of treatments at the Hospital is over 8,500 for the ten months included in this report.

CEBU STATION.

The outstanding feature this year was possibly the call from Oslob and Santander congregations to Rev. Ricardo Alonzo to become their settled pastor. They pay his salary in full and are also building a house for him. There has been much blessing in reclaiming backsliders and indifferent members and all seem to be pressing onward as a happy and united family.

Mr. Dunlap until September I had charge of the west coast of Cebu.

I made one trip, visiting all the congregations and baptized 50 adults and 10 children; found members who were living questionable lives and felt the need was great for closer supervision. The people in most of the congregations were a small average in attendance considering the number that have been baptized.

Mr. and Mrs. Jansen spent three months itinerating among our northern churches, Mrs. Jansen being the first white woman who had ever visited those parts.

It was a delightful privilege to unfold the Scriptures to the people hungry for the Word and who never missed a chance of being present. We learned much about the insufficient and poor food the greater portion of members in some of these congregations put up with. We are planning how we may help them and their bright children to something better. While we were there we could get neither eggs, chickens nor rice without sending to Cebu or other far-off place for these commodities, and the people themselves lived on corn leaves and roots, etc. However, we believe that some door will be opened before them whereby they will be able to have the proper schooling for their children and a tolerable degree of comfort for themselves.

All our congregations have been visited from three to five times, nearly half of Mr. Jansen's time having been spent itinerating.

The work has been strengthened by monthly conferences and Bible studies with workers and church officials, who have gathered the last two or three days of each month for the purpose. These times seem to have been a blessing to all.

The English work has suffered from the fact that the missionary has had to forego services in English in Cebu a number of Sundays to attend to Filipino congregations, and we have not this year had laymen who have felt themselves able to conduct such a service in his absence. It is greatly to be regretted; for the importance of Cebu as a centre is becoming clear to all, and many have expressed their surprise that a city of that size did not have a resident missionary or minister; funerals, for instance, at times having to be conducted without the help of such a man. The report adds:

We are not discouraged, but almost at a standstill. Opportunities present themselves constantly to extend the work, but we are barely able to take care of the present work.

LAGUNA STATION.

Early in the year the Station put into operation the plan of working the field according to its natural fourfold divisions, with an evangelist or native pastor in charge and residing in each district. Rev. Roman G. Amorante is the first native pastor to be attached to Laguna Station. Pastor Amorante is a member of the first class completing the course at Ellinwood Bible Seminary, having graduated in 1908.

The usual annual Workers' Conference for the churches of the Station was held in Pagsanhan in January. Forty were present from outside towns and the season was one of good profit.

Four new chapels have been finished and dedicated, viz., at Pila, Santa Cruz, Binan and Tiaon. For a week preceding each dedication meetings were held nightly, and when the day arrived the usual services were held in the morning. About 3 o'clock a procession was formed in front of the chapel, having a brass band to lead, and carrying banners and mottoes of Scripture texts. The line of march was pursued through the principal streets, brief stops being made where short discourses were delivered.

For the first time we have a full-fledged Y. P. S. C. E. with officers, constitution and by-laws.

Little has been done this year in conducting services for the Americans at Pagsanhan. The number there has been diminishing until at present there are only four, including the missionaries.

Summary.—Members received, 84; children baptized, 18; chapels erected, 3; chapels dedicated, 4; congregations organized, 1; congregational expenses, $588.01; benevolence, $63.15.

LEYTE STATION.

Evangelistic work on the island of Leyte has shown marked improvement during this past year. There has been nothing startling, but conditions have been much improved and friends of the work are more numerous. During the absence of Mr. Rath, who has charge of the evangelistic work, the supervision was admirably administered by Dr. Carter, assisted by Rev. Francisco Ibalarosa, the ordained Filipino.

Maasin is the headquarters of the Station and there are seven out-stations.

The condition of the congregation in Baybay is not altogether healthy. Tacloban, which was considered a hard field, is beginning to show signs of activity. The members there are desirous of building a chapel to replace the one destroyed a year ago, but do not feel able to do it of themselves as they are very few. At present there is no evangelist at Tacloban. Maasin has the largest congregation.

Seventy-one members have been received into the church; 4 were suspended; 1 was dropped and 12 children were baptized.

MEDICAL REPORT.—Every day has brought patients. The number treated has shown a large increase and the evident results obtained have been greater than in any previous year.

Among the most interesting cases have been the victims of attempted murder; these have averaged nearly one a month, the treatment resulting most satisfactorily. The murder of witches has been common in Maasin, and two such victims were brought to our door, whereupon other in-patients promptly departed, but returned later. The young man who helped to take care of these two witches was baptized recently, and we hope that some day he will go to Silliman and Ellinwood to prepare himself for the ministry.

Confidence in our medical powers seems to be gaining ground. Not long ago we were invited to treat a patient that, on further inquiry, we discovered had already reached the cemetery!

Increasing numbers of patients have come from all the surrounding towns, and even from many of the neighboring islands.

Summary.—First nine months of the year: Dispensary treatments, 8,020; in-patients, 10; days spent by in-patients in hospital, 314; visits to out-patients, 134; minor operations, 104; total number of treatments, 8,468.

ALBAY STATION.

The spirit of persecution breaks out occasionally even if the Philippines are American soil.

In Pambuhan, the worst persecution was suffered. One of our members from Tobaco touched at this place in the pursuit of his business. Naturally, as he would breathe, he commenced talking about the Bible and they were interested in his teaching. Then the priest commenced preaching against him, and one day attacked him in the house of the Teniente and it was with difficulty he was pulled away. A day after this, towards evening, as he was looking out of the window, he was hit on the head quite severely, and was saved from a grievous wound by the stick hitting the window sill. After this he returned, asking us to send one of our evangelists with him to Again they were persecuted, and one night fled for their lives. At this place they have built a fine chapel and the work seems very hopeful.

In Matnog one of our brethren was hit two or three times by the presidente, because he would not help carry the image of Mary through the streets after he had accepted Christ.

In Tulatula, near to Polot, where we now have a chapel, Rev. Dia was stoned by an irresponsible party, for whom the whole barrio made

Work has been opened in nine new barrios with encouraging prospects. God abundantly answered the prayers of Rev. Dia. His family has been opposed to his profession of faith. Now his elder brother, the ex-presidente of Bacon, came over here expressly to accept Jesus. It was a joyous occasion. His faith was firm and true. He came unsolicited by either of us.

Another chapel was dedicated in Polot, where Sr. Moralda lives. In Pambuhan the opening of the chapel was marked by the reception of 20 members.

A total of 264 for the year were received into membership. We failed by one of coming up to last year's record, but it was because we could not get around to the various places.

Money raised for various expenses, supplies and improvements, amounted to $6.12.

TAYABAS STATION.

The work has never gone by leaps and bounds, but has had steady excellent growth. The field is a large one and has about thirty towns separated by bad trails or inlets of the sea, and with few and poor means of transportation. We have nine regular congregations established, four of which are organized churches, and having a total membership of more than 600.

All of our congregations, save one, have their own chapels. Five have iron roofs and will last for a long time. Three chapels have been built and dedicated during the last year, the best one, which was built in Luchan, cost $1,500, besides 500 days of contributed labor by the members. We have six organs in use in our work which add a good deal to the singing. We have received 104 members during the year and baptized 14 infants. These churches have nearly all contributed to Home Missions during the year, besides keeping up their own incidental expenses and contributions to the building and repairing of their chapels.

At our annual Bible class in Lucban, about 50 members of the various churches attended and studied regularly for six hours a day. In the evenings evangelistic meetings were held, attended by large and interested audiences.

At various times services have been held in about ten or twelve towns, where we have as yet no organized congregations. In three of these towns, there are a number who are very much interested in the Gospel and are about ready to organize regular congregations and conduct their own services. A good number of Bibles and Testaments have been sold and many tracts given away.

In June the Provincial Normal was held in Luchan for six weeks. About 200 teachers, together with 8 American instructors, attended. Special services and stereopticon lectures were given for the teachers, who seemed very appreciative.

BOHOL STATION.

Dr. and Mrs. Graham continue to be the only missionaries on this island. Most of the work has naturally centred around the dispensary.

Though the "Medico" (doctor) had sometimes to take doses of medicine himself to prove that he was not giving out poison to reduce the population of Bohl so that America might seize the land, they are at last beginning to believe that we have no heinous intentions against them.

During the year there were 5,120 treatments in the dispensary, and of these over 2,000 have been surgical cases.

There seems to be less inclination to come for medicine than for surgical treatment, as the Boholan thinks that he has a very complete system of therapeutics in the application of leaf poultices, which as a rule do little harm. Lately, however, two cases of complete blindness have come to our attention caused by the application of croton oil plant juice. Nine hundred and twenty visits have been made to homes of patients in and around Tagbilaran.

Mrs. Graham did personal work in the waiting-room of the dispensary. The Bible has been read and explained to all the patients so persistently that they seem to think that this is part of the treatment. One day Mrs. Graham had gone upstairs and a man waited around a while, explaining that he had not had his preguntas (questions) yet.

During the year 26 adults and 36 children were baptized, and 80 enrolled inquirers are studying the Scriptures and awaiting baptism.

The service for Americans has been continued in the missionary's house Sunday evenings. To this service 18 or 20 Americans come; the average attendance is 12.

Receipts for the year from the dispensary have been $325. We have conducted in our home a small dormitory for poor boys who are anxious to attend school in Tagbilaran. Many of them have been obliged to leave after a few weeks on account of the interference of the priests, but several have continued with us. We have a Bible lesson with them every night and they seem to enjoy this opportunity to ask questions about things spiritual. Four of these boys have been baptized. One of the advanced students has declared his intentions to study for the ministry. Eighteen boys in all have passed under our interest in this way for a season.

Mrs. Graham says:

In the beginning of the year Mr. McLaughlin sent to Mrs. Graham the MSS. of the Pentateuch and the Psalms in Visayan to be revised and typewritten. A pleasant task, I thought, a pastime for afternoons; so it has been, for nearly every afternoon since. When you in the Visayan field begin to grumble about it, please be thankful that at least we have removed "eggplants" from the tabernacle hangings and priestly garments, and taken the Israelites out of the house of the barber: prevented conflicts of the Messiah from being fights of Moses in which belts were broken and ropes were thrown; saved several men from being some kind of malefactors, when they were said to be natives of certain places, and so on.

CAMARINES STATION.

The auspicious opening of our work in Camarines is an encouraging thing to report this year. The situation was delicate, as stated last year, but through God's grace and the tact of Mr. McDonald, a fine feeling is now manifested and a large field of usefulness has been opened to our Mission. Services have been held for the American colony of 25 to 30 with an average attendance of 6. Four services have been held for the Filipinos. The attendance averaged about 12. Requests have come for the opening of work in various parts of the Province and all signs seem to indicate Camarines as a very hopeful field of labor. We already have 13 baptized members in Nueva Caceras and 6 in Calabanga.

Beginning with the new fiscal year (April 1, 1911), the two Provinces of Camarines Norte and Camarines Sur will form a separate Station, with headquarters at Nueva Caceras and Mr. McDonald in charge. The city, which is the provincial capital, has a population of 18,000. The region to be worked from it has 240,000 people and is 125 miles long and 90 miles wide at the widest part. It forms a large part of the southern peninsula of the island of Luzon and lies between the provinces of Tayobas and Albay. There is no other Protestant work in this entire region.

BANGKOK STATION.

EVANGELISTIC.—The First Church at Samray has within the past year torn down its old building, which was beyond repair, and has completed and dedicated a very attractive new church on the old site.

The former building, the first Presbyterian church to be built in Siam, was erected in 1860. The work of the new building was carried on entirely under the leadership of the pastor of the church, Rev. Kroo Yuan, and by the Siamese members. The building, which costs over 7,000 ticals ($2,600 gold), was dedicated in June, entirely free from debt, with a small balance to its credit: this was almost entirely the gift of the Siamese Christians. The occasion was truly one of rejoicing and thanksgiving.

* As the Report goes to press word comes of Dr. Bulkley's marriage to Miss Bruner.

The Second Church, at Wang Lang, has received four of the school family into membership during the past year. Until his departure on furlough, the Rev. J. B. Dunlap preached regularly every Sunday. Since that time, Dr. E. Wachter has been Moderator of Session, but the pulpit has been supplied by others as they have been able to take this extra service.

The Third Church, the Rachawongse Chapel, has moved into new quarters, more airy, comfortable and centrally located.

The new place has been crowded at every service, more than 100 new faces appearing at the first service. Rev. F. L. Snyder preaches here each Sunday afternoon, and a Sunday night service is held at which the members preach in turn. Fifty-six have been received into this church the past year on confession of faith and 10 by letter. This Church has had the reputation of having received new members at every Communion service held since its organization about fifteen years ago.

The Fourth Church, Krit Sampantawongse Chapel, has been under the care of Dr. Wachter since Dr. McClure's departure. The afternoon service here in English has been kept up as usual, the various ministers taking turns in the pulpit.

Sunday-schools are held at Samray, at the Wang Lang School, at the Christian High School, at the Conference Chapel and at the Ban Moh Chapel,

Mr. Snyder has made several short tours and one of considerable length. On his last tour 3 were received into church membership and 11 were placed on probation.

The three King's Daughters circles have met regularly and have gained in their spiritual life and have strengthened the churches with which they are connected.

EDUCATIONAL.—The educational work of this Station continues to hold the lead for character building in Bangkok.

The Christian High School for Boys at the first of the year began making monthly reports to the Government Educational Department. The boys go up for Government school examinations, the Government certificates being of great value to them.

In March came the annual entertainment. Three hundred people. were seated in the gymnasium and many saw and heard from the outside. The programme furnished a variety of entertainment. Two silver cups were presented by the Alumni to the boys of the Senior Class, making first and second rank.

The High School has maintained an excellent record in athletics. Sports have been entered into with various Government schools, the High School boys winning special honors in each contest.

There has been a diminished attendance, caused by the extensive Government conscription for the army; this has disturbed the school

Sunday evening the Christian boys conduct a religious meeting in the chapel, leading this meeting themselves.

The Samray School for Boys, with an enrollment of over 90, is under the management of Kroo Kim Heng and under the supervision of the Christian High School. Boys are promoted from this school to the Christian High School.

The Harriet M. House School for Girls has just closed the best half year's work it has ever done. Teachers and pupils have alike striven to accomplish this. While only four of the school family have united with the church, two others are only waiting for our next Communion service. Twelve others have manifested a special interest by requesting to have a weekly class for their special instruction.

To our usual Christian exercises were invited teachers and students of five little schools, started by our graduates. These schools are springing up here and there all over the country.

The next event of note in our calendar was the celebration of the Swinging Ceremony. This year the special honor of the occasion was given to His Excellency Phya Vissuddhi, Assistant Minister of Education.

In March came our annual entertainment and bazaar of fancy work, and the graduation of 6 girls, 4 of whom had passed the highest Government examination given to secondary schools.

Upon Mrs. J. B. Dunlap's departure for America, Mrs. Conybeare kindly took her place as musical instructor.

One of the red-letter days of each month is the exhibition day on which the sewing, crocheting, lacemaking, etc., are displayed for inspection and the individual class standings of the preceding month are read to the school. This is followed by a picnic or some other sort of pleasure trip.

The Industrial Department of our school has, we feel confident, done more than any other one branch of our work in character building and in preparing the pupils to solve the problem of their home life.

MEDICAL.—The physician in charge, Dr. Walker, being on furlough part of the year, Dr. C. C. Hansen, formerly of our Laos Mission, has had charge since the former's departure. · Charitable efforts for the poor, specialties for the rich, and evangelistic efforts for all have characterized this work.

The addition of two new wards to the hospital at the beginning of the year has increased its capacity materially, there being now 40 beds, making accommodation for that number of in-patients.

A special effort has been made along evangelistic lines. Before Dr. Walker's departure on furlough, he conducted daily services there and his helpers also came daily to give personal help to each patient. The result of this is manifest in the 27 accessions to the Third Church this year, which came from the hospital alone. Owing to the fact that Dr. C. C. Hansen was engaged to give only two honrs of his time daily to the hospital, the work has been somewhat curtailed. even so, regular weekly services have been held, while operations on the eye, operations for stone, tumors, and many minor operations have been successfully performed.

THE PRESS.—During the furlough of Mr. J. B. Dunlap, Mr. E. M. Spilman, the assistant, has been in charge. The Press is keeping up its work of putting before the Siamese, at the lowest possible cost, religious tracts and Scriptures.

This year, in addition to tracts including 5,000 copies of "Faith and Practice," we printed a 10,000 edition of Ruth and Esther. In the Press now is a 4,000 edition of Matthew to be followed by the Psalms,

The Sunday-school lessons with comments, and also the colored picture cards, 700 in number for each Sunday of the year, received blank from home and printed in Siamese in our Press, add much to the helpfulness and interest of the Sunday-school.

The Siamese magazine published by the Mission has been steadily improving and is increasing in favor and circulation. It is under the management of the Wang Lang School, but different missionaries and a number of Siamese friends assist with articles.

Of the outside work, the most important was the reprinting of Dr. G. B. McFarland's English-Siamese Dictionary, a 2,000 edition of over 650 pages. We also have in the Press an illustrated Anatomy by the same author. This together with the printing of the Annual Survey Department Report in English and Siamese, a school book for the Government Educational Department and the numerous "jobs" for the various business firms, has kept the Press taxed to its utmost in the output of the work.

THE BOON ITT MEMORIAL.—This is an integral part of the Mission's effort to reach the young men that have graduated from our schools and the many others who have flocked to the metropolis from the smaller cities.

A marked change has taken place in the Boon Itt Memorial Institute. Last year we had an excellent building, but empty and unused. The inside has now been suitably furnished. Outside, the place has been fenced, the grounds have settled and some work on the lawn has been done, though more is required before outdoor sports can be engaged in. Several socials have been held. The last social was especially pleasant as it was a reception to welcome the 25 new members who had just been enrolled.

Educational classes in English, French, and music are conducted by Mr. Conybcare, Dr. Wachter, and Mr. Caldwell. Other classes will be formed as demand arises. Well-equipped game rooms prove an attraction. Two stereoptican lectures have been given and more are made possible by the recent gift of a lantern and several hundred slides.

A religious service has been held weekly. The institution is fortunate in having the services of Nai Pasadi, an earnest Christian man, who does a great deal of personal work with the members, and whose Christian influence permeates everything he does.

The possibilities of the Institute are unbounded and all are longing for its success along educational, social and spiritual lines.

THE SANITARIUM.—The Koh Lak Sanitarium proved its value when Dr. and Mrs. E. P. Dunlap and Mr. Spilman were obliged to go there to recuperate.

Dr. Dunlap had been ill for several weeks and had failed to regain his strength in Bangkok; but two weeks in that beautiful place by the sea did much toward restoring him to health. No others of our Station have been forced to go there because of ill health.

PETCHABURI STATION.

(INCLUDES WORK AT RATBURI.)

EVANGELISTIC.—Ratburi Church.—Mr. and Mrs. Cooper have been alone in charge of the Ratburi work throughout the year, Mrs. Cooper teaching to the limit of her strength in both the day-schools, being frequently left in sole charge.

In August, it was necessary for her to take a health trip, and through the courtesy of Nakawn Station, Mr. and Mrs. Post took charge of the work for three weeks.

charge of the work for three weeks.

The regular preaching and Sunday school services were maintained with the usual attendance of pupils and increased attendance of adults, the chief gain being from hospital patients and their attendants.

Needless to say that the touring of this field had to suffer and we are grateful to Mr. Snyder and Dr. Carrington for their month's evangelistic tour up the Ratburi River.

Petchaburi Church.—At Petchaburi, Dr. and Mrs. Eakin and Dr. Bulkley kept up the usual services—church, two market chapels, midweek prayer meeting, beside the weekly morning meeting for women—the daily hospital service, meeting for girls, and one for the school-boys and young men. Forty-one persons were received into the church.

In two of the Laos villages II were brought to Christ through the work of Miss Lucy Dunlap. It is not unusual for Christians and others to walk in to Petchaburi to church service recently from long distances. At the happy Communion service, the church was almost full. Three school-boys and a man and his wife from near Bangkaboon were received into membership.

Out-stations.—The church at Tah Rua Ban Phy has revived somewhat. The widow of an old member who died recently found Christ at the bedside of her husband, and was baptized. Their son has also been received into the church and has since brought his cousin, who has been placed on probation.

In May Dr. E. P. Dunlap spent four days at Petchaburi, going with Dr. Eakin to visit the old church at Bangkaboon. It was largely through his influence that the people there decided to build a new chapel. Five new members have been received during the year, and 4 children were baptized.

General Touring.—The touring work of this field has been arranged in six principal circuits, comprising thirty out-stations, and called the Pranburi Circuit, the Bangkaboon Circuit, the Up-river Circuit, the Laos Village Circuit, the Ratburi Circuit, and the Bangtaloo Circuit.

The first of these is the old Koh Lak tour, 200 miles in length, undertaken on foot, in February. During the tour this year at one point, where there had been little result previously, Dr. Eakin enrolled and the number increased to 15. A leader was appointed and they promised to meet for worship on Sunday.

At Nong Bua, where the visit last year seemed almost a failure, the patriarch of the village was baptized and 16 of his relatives enrolled as catechumen. At nine of the twelve out-stations on the Circuits, leaders have been appointed to keep up Sunday worship. The other Circuits, except Ratburi, have been covered at least twice during the year, some of the shorter ones, several times.

The Sanitarium at Bangtaloo has been enlarged by enclosing the quadrangle in the rear with bamboo sheds. A conference was held there last hot season vacation resulting in much spiritual blessing, and the increasing of the number of catechumen from 3 to 27.

It is at the farm village of Po Pra, that the greatest results have been; 75 have accepted Christianity, principally through the zeal of two baptized disciples. Nai Ame, one of them, has surely proven the power and joy of testimony, and we look for great things from his leadership in that village, now especially, that he has attended the recent Conference in Bangkok.

On the day and at the hour of the dedication of the new church at Samray, Dr. Eakin held a service at the village on the Ratburi River, which was the early home of Rev. B. T. Boon Itt. For years there has been strong opposition, but on that day seven of the most prominent people in the village accepted Christ.

The summary of touring work is 53 persons baptized, and the number of catechumens increased from 187 to 363. Fiftyfour others have been placed on a reserve list for lack of knowledge of their spiritual condition. Mr. Post has rendered valuable assistance in the touring work, as well as by preaching in the local church.

EDUCATIONAL WORK.—Ratburi Schools.—The active competition of several other schools, public and private, with free tuition or but nominal fees, has not crowded out the two day-schools at Ratburi. Thirty-eight girls and 100 boys is the enrollment for the year. In March, 3 of the boys passed the mission and Government examinations. There has been a decided gain in the number of pupils studying English.

Petchaburi Schools.—The Pradit Witiya School at Petchaburi has steadily increased until now, with a daily attendance of about 70, every seat in chapel is full. Mrs. Eakin has had two strong Siamese assistants, graduates of the Christian High School and H. M. House School in Bangkok, and three pupil teachers.

We are glad to tell of the increased interest in the women's meeting. Mrs. Eakin began this work several years ago with the five Christian women of the church; they were weak in the faith. When they prayed it was only a few sentences, scarcely to be heard. Now each of these has promised to pray a certain length of time each day. One who has promised an hour, said, the other day, that she rises before daybreak; when she shuts her eyes it is dark, and when she opens them, the world is flooded with light and her own soul also. The attendance each week is about 25, and they come eagerly. Mrs. Eakin writes: "I doubted that I should live to see the day when Siamese women would come asking me to pray with them, and even begging to be taught to read!"

In Miss Dunlap's stay of nine months at Petchaburi, she prayed with these women individually, visited them in their homes, found out their difficulties and helped them. One new Christian woman, whose eyes were opened by Dr. Bulkley, has a little shop in the market, and on Sunday the doors are closed, in spite of the derision of daughter and neighbors, and she goes happily to church.

MEDICAL WORK.—At Ratburi, the medical work has been in charge of a capable Christian Siamese, Tean Kean Koo. The steady growth of the work has been most encouraging. The total medical revenues for the last four months of 1909 were 992 ticals,* and for the first eight months of 1910, 3,163 ticals, a total of 4,155 ticals. These revenues now cover all current expenses, including Kean Koo's own salary. Some of the patients have been hopefully converted though not yet baptized. A new hospital ward is being built, so that it will no longer be necessary to keep patients in the basement adjoining the living rooms of the missionaries.

The Petchaburi hospital began the year with one patient, having been in charge of the Siamese assistant for a month, and closed with about 30. Visits to Ratburi, mainly for operating on cases beyond the power of the Siamese assistant there, have cut into the doctor's time. A month's illness and another six weeks' vacation and health trip to Chieng Mai meant loss to the hospital.

A successful cataract patient or two, secured only by untiring effort, led the report to go out that eyes can be cured here, and it has been pitiful to see the patients that have come for treatment, incurable, most of them. Some have been helped, mainly those with cataract or trachoma, there being a great deal of the latter; and no less important, many of these patients and their friends and attendants have heard the Gospel with joy.

Faithful work has been done in the hospital by the members of the station and the Siamese preachers, and not least by Miss Lucy Dunlap, especially among the women, preaching and reading to them, teaching and praying with them.

PITSANULOKE STATION.

EVANGELISTIC.—City Church.—Regular preaching services and Sunday-school have been conducted in our compound chapel and there has been a good attendance at almost every service. The U. S. Minister, the Hon. Hamilton King, was with us a few days during the Christmas vacation.

Four persons have been received into the church on confession and I by letter this year. The total membership at this time is 24.

The weekly market chapel service has been kept up also, and these services are well attended.

^{*}A tical=$0.38 gold.

Touring.—In January, Mr. Jones, with two evangelists, toured the river from Pitsanuloke to Paknampo and return in the motor boat, working both sides of the river thoroughly with tracts, Scriptures, medicines and preaching. In February, Mr. Jones and his family made a three weeks' tour to Utradit. From Utradit Mr. Jones went over to Pratan, the Mecca of the region, but interest in the bazaars overtopped all religious zeal, either native or Christian. Many shorter tours, mainly by rail, have been made during the year.

EDUCATIONAL.—Our school has continued to improve both in number of students and in the quality of work done. There have been from 4 to 7 boarding pupils and 66 day pupils, a total of 73.

Several English classes are taught, one being an advanced class, and English is what helps us to hold the students, even while pupils studying Siamese alone can get free tuition at the Government School.

MEDICAL.—The medical department has closed the most successful year in its history. Increasing confidence was won and untiring efforts were well rewarded.

Calls to the homes of the sick have increased nearly 50 per cent., and range in distance from the immediate neighborhood to an all day's journey by train. Some were across rice fields and through jungles on horseback, including the greater part of the night. Three hundred and sixty-five homes were thus visited. In-patients to the total of 119, and out-patients, 5,064, accepted the diagnosis and treatment of Dr. Shellman. This, notwithstanding the rather prevalent idea that disease is caused by an evil spirit and can be treated only by a Buddhist, and the superstitious notion that the foreign doctor, if he cannot cure, gives poison to kill. About 500 children were vaccinated. Smallpox was epidemic in January; scarcely a child unvaccinated escaped death, as isolation and proper treatment were impossible. Cholera broke out and spread rapidly in April, resulting in many deaths. After the beginning of the rains in May, malaria and dengue fever, in a neck-to-neck race, but with few deaths, rounded up almost all; only a few escaped the sickening fever and the agonizing pain.

Two medical tours with medicines, tracts and sciopticon were made. One was up a river not visited by a missionary for five years. The other was to inland villages reached only in the dry season by foot and not before visited by any missionary. White faces were sufficient attraction for crowds, which eagerly bought the tracts and attentively listened to Dr. Shellman by day or night, but were somewhat superstitious about the medicines.

A daily morning service is maintained at the hospital for all the patients who are able to attend. They are also asked to attend the midweek and Sunday services at the chapel. For those who can read, a supply of tracts and Scriptures is always available at the hospital.

NAKAWN STATION.

EVANGELISTIC.—Regular services at the home church and the Sabbath-school have been well attended throughout the year. One adult and 2 children have received baptism.

In January, Mr. Eckels made an eight days' tour, visiting the Christian community, at Tanien, holding daily services in their homes, and on Sabbath the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

In March and April, the long tour over the mountains continued for five weeks. The various groups of Christians were visited, many of them in their homes, and Communion services were held at three different places.

EDUCATIONAL.—Boys' School.—The growth of this school has been steady and gratifying, with a daily average of 30 from an enrollment of 40.

The highest standard is fifth-year work, with English in various stages of progress. With only one Siamese teacher, plus the fraction of Miss Cooper's time available, it was impossible to do justice to five standards. In May, a pupil assistant was secured from the Christian High School in Bangkok, whose six feet of quiet dignity commands the admiring awe of the small boys in his grades. The fees for the higher grades have been raised to meet the increased expenses. Mr. Post raised $850 toward a new building planned for this work.

Girls' School.—In response to the urgent request of prominent members of the community, this school was opened in May, 1909.

The expected attendance of 10 or 12 was quickly doubled and trebled. So precocious were they that one by one they graduated after a few weeks' study. The ups and downs were due to the lack of a suitable teacher and proper building. But the work has gone on without a break. The pupils have made good progress. The revenues have met all expenses. The final enrollment is 20, with an average attendance of 12. Most of these come from Christian families.

MEDICAL.—

The new dining-hall, with the reconstructed kitchen, and the new drains, have greatly improved the appearance as well as the sanitation of the hospital compound. The new well with pump, elevated tank and water pipes has so lessened the work that we have been able to dispense with the services of one "coolie."

The opening of the dining-hall took place in March. A number of the Siamese Christians came in, and joined the missionaries, who sat down with the patients, to partake of the first dinner served upon the new tables. After the repast, a happy hour was spent, listening to reminiscences. Nearly every one present took part in the speechmaking. Sometimes we laughed and sometimes we could hardly keep the tears back. But we parted feeling that our affections had been welded anew.

All royal and official visitors to Nakawn Sri Tamarat visit the hospital. And nearly all leave a present, if they have not already done so on a past occasion. This year H. R. H. Prince Naret, Minister of the Department of Public Works, gave us 100 ticals, and H. E. Phya Mahibal, High Commissioner of Monthon Chumpon, asked to have the privilege of paying for our new running water plant, which we had recently installed, costing 322 ticals.

The statistics for the year are: In-patients, 185; outpatients, 4,166; visits to the homes of the sick, 254; major operations, 66; vaccinations, 87; prescriptions and sales, 8,280. Receipts: Ticals, 7,856.84, or $2,985.

A two months' epidemic of cholera caused protracted anxiety and taxed strength and every facility to the utmost. The Governor requested our medical missionary, Dr. W. J. Swart, to take full charge of the situation.

Smallpox has not visited us for two years, which accounts for the small number applying for vaccination. Over 7,000 were vaccinated two years ago. During the history of this hospital, less than 2 per cent. of the in-patients have died. The majority of these have exhausted the skill of their Siamese doctors, and their diseases have become worse by improper treatment and prolonged delay before coming to our hospital.

TAP TIENG STATION.

In the early part of last year Dr. and Mrs. E. P. Dunlap made a three months' tour of the Malay Peninsula, spending six weeks of that time at the new Station, Tap Tieng. There they found the new hospital and the house for the medical missionary nearing completion. The hospital building is 133 feet long, with wide verandas on four sides. Besides spacious wards, it has a reading-room and a chapel. Its location is central, being only five minutes' walk from the new railroad which is being built across the Peninsula.

In September, Dr. and Mrs. Dunlap, as the evangelists, and Dr. Bulkley, as the physician, took charge of the Station and the work on the west side of the Peninsula.

Dr. Bulkley has been appointed surgeon for one division of the railroad, thus enabling the hospital, from the start, to assume a large place in the life of the Province.

His Excellency, the High Commissioner, has promised financial aid to our educational work, and Dr. Dunlap has been made a member of the school board for the Trang Province, thus giving him a part in the Government educational work.

While in the Trang Province, Dr. and Mrs. Dunlap made evangelistic tours to many places in the Puket region, ministering to the sick and preaching wherever they went.

CHIENG MAI STATION.

Dr. McGilvary spent more than three months in out-village work. The autobiography on which he has so long been at work is nearing completion. Mrs. McGilvary has helped each day in the girls' school and aided in Scripture revision.

Dr. Campbell has given most of his time to the care of the wide field of Chieng Mai Station when he alone has been free for touring work. Some incidents told by Dr. Campbell show how the leaven works:

A young man educated in our Christian schools married into a non-Christian family, and according to Laos custom went to live with his wife's family. The circumstance might easily have resulted in his backsliding. Instead, within a few months, he persuaded the whole household of six adults to become Christians. Another young man in like manner brought a household of ten persons into which he had married to Christ.

A man at whose home I was making my headquarters owned a fine herd of buffaloes, used for cultivating his own fields and for hiring out. He decided to tithe the buffaloes. A service was held, at his request, at which he made public his resolution, and prayer was offered that he might be blessed and the buffaloes kept and increased rapidly in numbers. The tithe applies to the proceeds of each buffalo sold and the hire of each buffalo used in plowing or harrowing either his neighbor's field or his own.

The training class has also been under Dr. Campbell's direction, and he has found time for a revision of second Samuel and Amos, as well as to oversee the multiplied activities of the Chieng Mai First Church, of which he has charge.

Mr. Freeman, having leave to visit the Tai in China on his return from America, spent December and January there and did not reach Chieng Mai until February 25. He was then unexpectedly called upon to take up, in the middle of the term, the place in the Prince Royal's College left vacant by Mr. Palmer's removal to Nan. As his health has not been as good as usual, the school work and the preparation of the Sunday-school lessons left him little time for touring. He says, however:

The brightest spot in the year was the six weeks spent in Lampoon, especially the four weeks of it spent in touring. It was our privilege to instruct and receive into full communion the members of the five households won to Christ in our absence by the Christian influence of their neighbors in Ban Dong. Together with adults in another village near the city, and two young girls received at Chieng Mai, it has been our privilege to receive 15 adults and baptize 34 children.

In addition to aiding Dr. Mason in the dispensary, Dr. Cort took charge of the Prince Royal's College till Mr. Freeman's arrival, and continued to teach several classes that term. He was also Mission treasurer and found time for one long and many shorter evangelistic tours. In August he went to Lakawn to take the place of Dr. Crooks, whose furlough was due.

Mr. Yates came over at the term of the Normal Class and helped in the college the fall term and relieved Dr. Mason somewhat at the Press.

The time of Miss Buck has been fully occupied in the girls' school, and the growth and success of the school testify to her faithfulness. While Miss Starling's main time has been given to the study of the language, she has constantly assisted in the girls' school, played the organ and trained a choir that has helped much in the services of the church.

Returning from furloughs in America, Mr. and Mrs. Harris reached Chieng Mai early in November, and Mr. and Mrs. Collins, accompanied by their daughter Marie, now under appointment of the Board, and Dr. McKean, arrived in January.

EVANGELISTIC.—Chieng Mai has now under its care 12 organized churches, but there are in all about 40 outstations where regular services are held. The most distant are three days' journey to the north and south of the city. It is no wonder that with our short-handed conditions the past year, it was impossible adequately to shepherd these 40 churches (for such in reality they are), with a total membership of over 2,500, or even to receive to the Lord's table promptly those who are ready to be received. We report 132 accessions on confession, but 57 others were waiting and were received in November and will be included in the report of next year. Accessions in every church and almost every outstation, the pledges of many to endeavor to win in the coming year at least one household for Christ, and the number already on the catechumen roll, show a healthy state of Christian activity and life.

MEDICAL WORK.—The staff this year has consisted of Dr. Cort and Dr. and Mrs. Mason. The latter had complete charge of the hospital while the men were away at the annual meeting in Pre.

The in-patients this year have numbered only 82, but this does not include the 3 to 10 people that came along with each patient to nurse (?) the sick one. Often while in the hospital, one or more of the people are sick and receive treatment of which no account is kept. As usual, the large percentage of urinary vesicle calculi is the most notable feature of our record.

The out-calls this year have been unusually heavy, due to the epidemic of dengue fever, which was followed by one of typhoid and an unusually malignant form of malaria fever. Not less than 2,000 calls have been made to the homes of the Europeans and natives by the two physicians during the year.

The total receipts of the dispensary for the fiscal year were 15,160 rupees and 90 satangs. Mrs. Mason gave valuable assistance in operations and taught lacemaking in the girls' school.

Of the work among the lepers, Dr. Mason reports:

The total number admitted to the institution from its beginning has been 29 lepers and 2 untainted children. Ten of these were admitted during the last year. There are now 22 lepers under our care, 13 men, 8 women and 1 untainted child. The segregation of the sexes is enforced in the asylum.

Help has come to this much-needed institution. We would especially mention that from the Mission to the Lepers in India and the East.

His Excellency the High Commissioner and his officials have also shown it their favor.

EDUCATIONAL.—Training Classes for Christian Workers.—In addition to the sessions for Bible study and instruction in other lines during the vaccinating season, two classes were conducted during the months of September and October. Each class continued for seven days. Seventy-four persons were in attendance, representing 37 towns.

At the close of the session many pledged themselves to endeavor to win at least one household for Christ during the coming year. According to the past custom, the vaccinators were called in for three days each month for instruction in the Scriptures and first aid medicine. About 100 were in attendance at these courses. These classes were held for three months.

Prince Royal College.—The enrollment the first term was 125, the largest number present at any one time being 110. Owing to a late rice planting season, to the beginning of work in English in the Government schools and to the fact that we refused to take local pupils who had not completed the work carried on at the Phraner Memorial School, the enrollment during the last term only reached 81. This is, however, about up to the enrollment during previous fall terms. The attendance during the Normal Class, although it had to be held at an unfavorable season, was a little larger than in any previous year. Thirty-four were enrolled, including 7 from Lakawn, and representatives from Chiengrai and Wieng Pa Pao. Miss Van Vranken and Mr. Yates assisted in the work. Miss Van Vranken's class in school methods was timely and appreciated.

Girls' School.—The first term had an enrollment of 108, and the second but 68. This falling off was due to the lateness of the rains and the consequent late rice-planting period. We were gratified to notice the growth of a higher moral tone. Eight of the school-girls were received into the church during the last term. The industrial department has greatly improved under the efficient assistance of Mrs. McGilvary and Mrs. Mason. There was one death in the school during the year, which is the third in the history of the school.

Phraner Memorial School.—The Phraner Memorial Primary School has held two sessions during the year, with an enrollment of 85. The work done by the pupils was excellent, and the two native teachers who assisted deserve high praise.

Parochial Schools.—Short sessions of schools have been held in many of the out-villages. A school was taught in Ma Po Kha Church for nearly five months by a former teacher in the girls' school and a young man from the college. It was largely supported by non-Christians. One for a shorter term was taught in Me Dawk Dang. Foreign oversight is needed to make these schools the success that they ought to be.

MISSION PRESS.—The general work of the Press has been as usual. There was a slight increase in the number of pages printed. There have been from 20 to 24 men and boys employed during the year. The receipts for the past year were 14,596.13 rupees. Mr. Collins being in America on furlough, Dr. Mason superintended the Press in addition to his medical work.

LAKAWN STATION.

Owing to the exigencies of furloughs, and the attempt to do for Pre all that was possible under the circumstances, the year has been one of considerable changes in the personnel of Lakawn Station. Only Dr. Wilson and Miss Van Vranken have been at the Station throughout the year.

Although it came near the close of the year, the fire which destroyed the medical house in October should be mentioned early in the report. Not only the personal property, annual supplies and medical library of Dr. and Mrs. Cort, but the personal belongings of Mrs. and Mr. Gillies, and Dr. and Mrs. Crooks, who had recently gone home on furlough, were totally consumed. The fire is the first in the history of the Mission. The Mission loss is readily calculated, but much of the personal loss can never be replaced, and is keenly felt.

Dr. Wilson has written and translated several additional hymns and still shares in the conduct of the Sabbath and other services and in the pastoral care of the Lakawn Church, although he has celebrated his eightieth birthday. Who can tell how much of the year's success is due to his saintly presence and prayer?

The time of Mr. Gillics, until his furlough, and of Mr. Callender was given mainly to evangelistic work. Dr. and Mrs. Crooks, while sharing in a measure in the evangelistic work, were mainly occupied with the medical and Sabbath-school work until their furlough, and Dr. and Mrs. Cort have assumed them since. Miss Carothers conducted the cool-season term of the girls' school, and Miss Van Vranken of the boys' school. Miss Carothers' furlough fell due in April, and Miss Van Vranken conducted the fall term of the girls' school, while Mr. Callender gave what time he could spare from the oversight of the church and evangelistic work of the Station to the boys' school.

EVANGELISTIC.—The Lakawn City Church was under the care of Mr. Gillies until July and that of Mr. Callender since. The Sabbath-school under the care of Dr. and Mrs. Crooks has had 8 native teachers, 4 missionaries and 3 native superintendents. Two classes for the training of teachers were conducted. Increasing interest has been manifested in this school and it serves as the model school of the Province.

The Sunday-school and church services are about alike in attendance, averaging about 100. Giving per capita in Lakawn City Church is greater than in some of the more prosperous districts. The records were burned and statistics of receipts cannot be given. The entire collection of one Sabbath in each month is given to the leper village near the city. Twenty-three have been added on confession of their faith during the year. Several under suspension have been restored or have expressed a desire to be restored.

Mitang Nyao.—

This year this Christian community has accomplished an object for which they have been laboring for a long time. Under Dr. Taylor they began to save and labor for a chapel of their own. June saw the little building dedicated, the church organized and 11 new members received upon confession. The Muang Nyao are justly proud of their little building, though it does not possess one piece of furniture, except a crude table and a chair, made by a deacon and an elder.

Chaa Home.—

It was hoped that a church would be organized this year at Chaa Home and a chapel built, but, although considerable material has been collected, an organization has not yet been effected nor a chapel built. It is hoped that this will be done next year.

Mr. Gillies toured for three weeks in the direction of Chaa Home, continuing north to Muang Wang where isolated members of the flock look forward eagerly to the annual visit of the missionary.

LITERARY WORK.—Besides the work of Dr. Wilson, Mr. Gillies completed his translation of Romans and an Introduction to the New Testament. Mrs. Crooks prepared the Laos Vernacular News until she left on furlough and translated a story from the life of Joseph which appeared in the News in serial form. Mrs. Cort's arithmetic is ready for the press.

MEDICAL WORK.—This department kept up to its usual high standard. Dr. Crooks was in charge till his furlough in August, when Dr. Cort came over from Chieng Mai to fill the vacancy. Records of receipts and patients were burned and cannot be given. To quote Dr. Crooks:

Hundreds of people have received treatment. . . . Many of the patients have shown great interest in our daily chapel service, and the attendance has been good. . . . The gate evangelist, a former patient in the hospital, has developed into an excellent Bible student and is an effective personal worker in the wards. . . Evangelists have spent one month in visiting former patients and come back with glowing accounts of how the people who had received treatment are still interested in religion and teaching their neighbors. It is a great joy that Dr. Huen, the hospital nurse, has been spared to his work.

EDUCATIONAL WORK.—Kenneth Mackenzie Memorial Boys' School.—During the first term Miss Van Vranken was in charge and Mr. Callender during the second term. The enrollment was 45, and the average daily attendance 34. Efficient work has been done. Mrs. Callender was of great service in teaching English and singing. On the last day of the school the two schools united in a program with most satisfactory results. Many of the parents were present and all were much pleased.

Girls' School.—The first term was in charge of Miss Carothers before she left on furlough; the second was in charge of Miss Van Vranken. The record of attendance from Christian families has been good. The older girls are all members of the church, able to lead in prayer, quote, reproduce and explain many parts of Scriptures. The aim is to give them a good fundamental education in their own language, Siamese, and Bible study, with practical training in plain sewing.

Forty-eight pupils enrolled, 10 of whom were boarders. Receipts were 100 rupees. In both schools self-support is kept before the pupils and parents. It has been more difficult to collect fees than usual, owing to a poor rice crop. The industrial department in the boys' school has experimented a little in basket weaving with encouraging results.

PRE STATION.

This year, also, Pre was without resident missionaries most of the time, but members of Lakawn Station superintended the work as best they could.

The soil in Pre is well prepared for the seed. Indeed, not a little of it has ripened into grain ready for the harvest. The missionaries before us have sown well, and we were permitted to reap some of the harvest. Everywhere we went the people seemed eager to hear the message and to receive our literature. The state of the Christians in Pre is remarkably good, considering that they do not have the advantage of resident missionaries. I have never witnessed more spiritual hunger, with the possible exception of Keng-tung. The Christians in one place in particular employed us all day long having prayers from house to house. Communion was administered in four different places outside the city. During our sojourn of about five months, 36 adults were received into the communion, 2 were restored, 26 children were presented to the Lord in the rite of baptism, and 1 elder was baptized.

The Holy Spirit is at work in Pre. Since returning to Lakawn 6 have asked to be received, but there has been no one available to go to receive them. If missionaries had been permitted to remain in Pre throughout the year, many more would have been received. Where are the laborers to work this needy and promising field? Time spent in Pre now means much for the Kingdom in that section in the future.

The greater part of the time of the visiting missionaries was taken up with touring. Nearly all the places where Christians live were visited, some of them several times. Provision was made for the elders to visit a few of the places afterwards. In most of the villages, several nights were spent preaching the Gospel by means of the stereopticon, the gramophone and picture charts on the life of Christ. Tracts and portions of the Scriptures were distributed.

Pre Station has for years been worked from Lakawn. Missionaries going to Nan or passing to or from Bangkok have given such help as they were able. At the last annual meeting, the Mission voted to reopen Pre on a four-family basis. New property has been negotiated for and our hearts are made glad by the fact that the Board has granted us aid for the work there. Mr. Callender had charge of the work in Pre this year, and spent five months there. One of his first duties was the dismantling of one of the houses, whose site was being washed into the river. Mr. Yates worked with him. The house was taken apart and the timber piled under house No. 1.

Together Mr. Callender and Mr. Yates visited Lap Leng, the most distant part of the Pre field, where work was begun more than three years ago. The native evangelists have been going up and down during the entire year. The training class for evangelists, called in for twelve days in February, included several vaccinators, as an evangelist and a vaccinator are sent out together. In connection with the training class, evening evangelistic services, conducted mainly by the evangelists, were held, among the Christian homes. During the last dry season eight men were sent out, while at least two were kept in the field all the year round.

The number received into the city church on confession was 23, at Muang Nyao, II; at Pre, 39; total, 73.

EDUCATIONAL.—Pre School.—A day-school was carried on for about three months. Noi Chun taught Laos and Siamese, and for awhile English was taught by Mr. Yates and Mrs. Callender. The latter taught the children singing.

Most of the running expenses were met by the church offerings. The enrollment was 30, with an average attendance of about 20. A number of pupils came from the out-villages and boarded at the Christian homes in the city, an arrangement of their own. So long as the missionaries remained in the city the pupils remained, but on our leaving the city for touring purposes most of the country pupils returned to their homes. A fine school could be worked up in a short time if the missionaries were residing in Pre.

PROPERTY.—Every member of the Mission feels that Pre must definitely be reoccupied. As the prospective terminus of the railroad for some years to come, it is bound to be an important business centre, possibly the capital for the north, and both for work close at hand and for that in territory as yet unreached, it is second to none.

NAN STATION.

For the first time in its fifteen years' history, this Station has had three men who could carry on the work with confidence and efficiency. In past years there have been occasionally three men on the force, but one or more was a student of the language, so that things moved at a lame pace. To have fully equipped men take up departments of work has given an impression of strength, efficiency and permanency most gratifying to all friends of the Mission.

· EVANGELISTIC.—Under the leadership of Dr. Taylor, the Church has grown in strength and numbers. Mr. and Mrs. Palmer, in training the pupils of the schools, have added greatly to these services. Children's day was one of the most delightful occasions in the history of the Church. The Sundayschool numbers 150 and is ably conducted by one of the elders. The contributions, amounting to 61 rupees, are husbanded for the employment of an evangelist for out-village work. The church contributions, amounting to 333 rupees, are more than sufficient to support an evangelist for the entire year.

There are six out-stations within the bounds of the church field where services are regularly conducted, at a distance from the city ranging from 9 to 100 miles. Thirty-three persons were received into the church and 15 infants were baptized.

The present adult membership is 221.

Itineration.—In March, Dr. Taylor, in company with the native helpers and an efficient evangelist loaned by Lakawn, made a long tour of the Province.

Starting south from the city, they passed through two important districts of the Province on route to Pre to attend the meeting of the Presbytery. From that point they traversed the districts on the west-ern border of the State up to Chieng Kham in the northwest, where Evangelist Kham Ai is located in our most important out-station. From Chieng Kham they traveled east, passing over three ranges of mountains to the northern part of the Province. In this region they worked in seven or eight of the districts, and visited all the centres where there are Christian communities, returning to the city from the Early in the year, Dr. Taylor, Mrs. Taylor, and their two daughters, made a trip down to Ban Hoie Keo, fourteen miles south of the city. At the communion, the first ever observed in that community, 9 adults were received and 3 children were baptized.

They also went to Muang Ooen, thirty miles northeast of the city, baptizing four adults and 5 children. Other trips were made by Mr. Palmer and by Dr. and Mrs. Peoples. The latter made a tour into the mountains to visit the Yows, of whom there are four or five thousand scattered in little colonies over the hill of the Province.

Six native helpers were employed for most of the favorable season of the year for itinerating.

EDUCATIONAL.—Boys' School.—Mr. Palmer had charge. The school opened with 13 pupils, but the number quickly ran up to 50, with an average attendance of 37. Of the 50 boys enrolled, 37 were boarders. Mr. Palmer also taught in English to 8 or 10 special students, including the Siamese judge of the international court, two of the Government doctors and the principal of the Government schools.

The temporary recitation building was so small and otherwise unsuitable that the principal was compelled to transfer the school to the ground floor under his residence. A Buddhist priest wanted to enter the school, but he could not go into an under story unless he had a hat to cover his head. A small skull cap was produced to protect his crown from desecration by tramping feet on the floor above. Later, it was found necessary to return to the temporary building because other priests wished to join the school. We gladly acknowledge the generous response of friends of Dr. Taylor in the First Church of Lincoln, Neb., for the purchase of land for the new site.

The spiritual condition of the school is good. The teachers are all Christian men and the pupils respect them. Forty-five of the 50 pupils enrolled come from Christian homes. Ten united with the church during the year.

Girls' School.—This school began as a day-school. It was conducted for three and a half months by Mrs. Palmer on the veranda of her residence. Later, when Dr. Taylor's health prevented further itinerating, he opened a school and at once 9 girls responded. The enrollment soon ran up to 28, of whom 9 were boarders.

MEDICAL.—The medical work has not received as much attention as usual because Dr. Peoples was absent from home much of the year, partly on various duties and partly on account of ill health.

The temporary hospital has two wards, each with a capacity of six beds. There were 32 in-patients and 1,560 out-patients, not counting the service done for the Government for the first seven months of the year. Five stone and two cataract operations were performed, beside a large number of minor operations.

At the end of April, Dr. Peoples withdrew from the Government service. The Government has provided three Siamese doctors to take charge of the various departments of its medical work which were formerly under the care of the missionary physician. In May, there was an epidemic of cholera in and about the city of Nan; the first in the history of the Province. The native doctors knew nothing about the disease, but they and the missionary physician joined forces and it was stamped out. There were 84 cases, with but little more than 50 per cent. of fatalities.

CHIENG RAI STATION.

EVANGELISTIC.—Dr. Dodd early in the year spent two months in evangelistic work in Keng-tung sub-station with a corps of assistants. He then started on his memorable tour of exploration through southern China.

Having charge of the medical work, boys' school, city church and building work, Dr. Briggs found little time for itinerating, but Mrs. Briggs spent six weeks in teaching and evangelistic work among three villages north of the city. Great interest was awakened. The Christians were strengthened and the way was opened for evangelistic work in new localities.

Overbrook Mission Hall, a solid brick structure, built during the year, has become an important centre of evangelistic work. The hall is open throughout the day with an evangelist in charge. Friday evenings, large crowds are attracted by the illustrated lectures, and this opportunity is also utilized for evangelistic work. The hall has also been used for evening Bible classes, catechumen classes and Sabbath services.

Mr. White and Mr. Beebe have been comparatively free to tour the immense territory surrounding Chieng Rai, but they are unable to give our many out-stations the time that they need.

Mr. White spent many months touring the districts of the Papau circuit. He writes:

The gramophone and stereopticon attracted large audiences and held the people while we presented the Gospel to them. At one point we counted 537 at our night service, at another 400. We have been greatly encouraged at seeing real signs of soul growth in rather unexpected quarters. In addition to the visits of the missionary, the various districts of the Papau Church have been extensively toured by native evangelists.

Mr. Beebe spent a large part of the year touring with native evangelists the districts to the north and east of the city.

Summary of the Churches.—

Chieng Saan, the oldest church in this Station, was formerly located Chieng Saan, the oldest church in this Station, was formerly located in French territory. Six years ago, to escape religious restriction and suspicion, the people moved to British territory, and for a time were much discouraged. Now other Christians have joined, backsliders have returned, and new converts have increased. They form a vigorous Christian community of 68 communicants, of whom 18 were received during the past year. They maintain a thriving day-school.

Chieng Rai City Church.—The year has been noteworthy for the amount of Bible study on the part of the Christian people. Mr. White took charge of the men's advanced class in Bible study, and during the heavy rains gave two evenings a week to this work. Mrs. White held heavy rains gave two evenings a week to this work. Mrs. White held a class of women daily at her home, for those living in that vicinity, and Mrs. Briggs for those living in the west end of the city. She also had charge of the woman's catechumen class. The pastor had charge of the beginners in Bible study, among the men and boys, holding three evening classes weekly. The men's catechumen class was under the charge of the medical evangelist, Noi Pannya. Noonday services were held in each missionary compound.

The Sabbath-school in the city has grown until 170 are often present. Mrs. Briggs conducts the woman's weekly prayer meeting, which is now a real power in the church.

Fifty-four new members were received on confession. Our communing membership is now 175. We have used the Overbrook Mission Hall for our Sabbath services, not now having any other building large enough for the purpose. 1,500 rupees have been pledged by the residents in Chieng Rai for a new church building. We hope to be able to erect it without appealing to the Board.

Papau.—This is a federation of the churches to the south and west of the city. There are five large Christian centres where Sabbath services are held. There are 349 communicants, made up of Christians living in thirty different villages, some a hundred miles distant from the city. Mr. White has covered the entire field, visiting the majority of the villages several times during the year. He reports some defections, but indications of greatly renewed interest in some quarters. The interest in the Sunday-school lessons has been excellent. A new chapel has been built and dedicated in Muang Pan and material collected for a chapel in Muang Fang.

Fifty-three have been added on confession during the year and 12 were received by letter. In spite of the rice failures, the contributions of the members have not perceptibly fallen off. Indeed many of the Christians generously opened their rice bins and helped their non-

Christian neighbors.

Nang Le.—This church is under the care of Mr. Beebe and has its members scattered in 9 out-stations lying to the north and east of the city. The communion was administered in all these communities. The spiritual growth in some of the villages has been very encouraging. The nearer places, some 4 villages, received many visits. Twenty-eight new members were received into the churches on profession of faith. A whole village of Musu were received by letter from the Chieng Rai Church. Thirty-seven children were baptized. At the end of the year there were 30 catechumens on the roll.

Keng-tung.—This church has been under the care of Dr. Dodd. He reports that the work is compactly organized, with competent evangelists located in each of the three out-stations, viz.: Keng-tung City, Muang Yang and Ban Fai. Dr. Dodd found the work in Keng-tung City in a promising condition. Elder Noi Kan, who with his family is stationed in a suburb of the city, is an energetic and tactful worker. There is evident also an increased spirit of evangelism among the Christians themselves. During the year 6 have been received into the church by baptism. Eight of these had come down from Kengtung and had studied in Chieng Rai. The whole number of communicants is 44.

The five churches of Chieng Rai Station now report a total membership of 667, of whom 159 were received on confession during the last year.

MEDICAL WORK.—Dr. Briggs reports:

We have had, strictly speaking, only 46 in-patients this year. Building operations have made proper accommodations impossible. A number of out-village patients have been treated in the homes of the city Christians. The Christians of the out-stations are beginning to appreciate the benefits of the hospital, and the good roads now radiating from Chieng Rai enable the sick to be carried to the city with comparative ease. This will lessen the number of cases where Christians, crazed with anxiety, consent to receive the services of native doctors, most of whom are demon exorcists. We have had patients not only from these places near by, but from Yunnan China, Keng-tung, Burma, Luang Prabang in French Indo-China.

On account of the failure of the rice crops last year, following the partial failure of the two previous years, the people have not only become penniless, but have parted with almost everything in their possession that could be traded for rice. The sales of medicine have therefore fallen off. Nevertheless, we continued to treat the sick irrespective of their ability to pay.

respective of their ability to pay.

The Overbrook Hospital is nearing completion. Complimentary statements have been made by official and other visitors who have seen the hospital. None gave more gratification than the pleasure expressed by the High Commissioner on his visit to Chieng Rai. We wish also to acknowledge the kindness of our friend, the Governor of Chieng Rai. In numerous helpful ways, though religiously neutral, he has helped and supported our building and other work.

EDUCATIONAL.—Chieng Rai Boys' School.—The school has now 53 boys in attendance. Of these 14 are boarders, and these are distributed among Christian homes because we have no other place to house them. Three departments, Laos, Siamese and English, are maintained. We secured the services of a young Siamese who is an ex-non-commissioned officer of the army. He has done excellent work in teaching and giving the older boys some proper idea of discipline. The singing of national songs and hymns has been a special feature and the boys thoroughly enjoy the English songs that they have learned.

Many of the boys who were not able to pay tuition worked on the hospital building in lieu of their fees and made considerable progress in plastering, bricklaying, carpentering, as well as in blacksmithing, etc. Four boys of the school united with the church during the year.

Girls' School.—This school was under the care of Mrs. Dodd for the first three months of the year. Since then Mrs. White has had charge. She has given her time unstintingly to the school. Attendance has increased and marked progress been made in many lines.

We wish to impress upon the Board and the Mission the absolute lack of equipment for our schools. We are making the best that we can of the temporary arrangements, but each school is greatly crippled for the lack of a proper plant.

The Mission closes its report with these impressive words:

What other Mission of our Board finds its field under the jurisdiction of four different governments? We have already a communicant membership in British, and French territory of over 200 as well as 4,000 in Siam.

What other field of our Board is of such continental extent, or finds itself in the midst of a territory where you may travel in two directions a full thousand miles and be understood all the way? Brethren, the Laos Mission is not laboring in a corner, nor planning for a tribe. It makes its appeal for a whole race that is at least as numerous as was the English-speaking race one hundred and twentyfive years ago. These people are in total darkness. Yet for all this great and growing people no other Church is anywhere at work. The field is before us and the responsibility is ours.

What does the Mission ask of the Board and the Church? First, that we definitely and prayerfully undertake to bring the Gospel to the whole Laos race wherever it is found, not as excluding any other Church, but as recognizing the responsibility that God lays upon us.

Secondly, now and at once to give to us re-enforcements with the increased means for native work involved.

In recognition of the supreme need and opportunity in Chieng Rai, the Mission has this year sent thither most of its reinforcements, and we do not ask more for Chieng Rai the coming year, but we must reopen Pre and strengthen Nan.

Third, with increased means for the expense of our schools and for evangelistic work, we must have also buildings to house the vigorous schools already established in Nan and Chieng Rai. A new residence in Chieng Rai for a family already on the ground and money to complete residences already begun there and in Nan. We are asking large things, but the day for large things has certainly come in the Laos field. Is the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America planning for anything less than the conquest of the whole Laos land for Christ?

SOUTH AND CENTRAL AMERICA.

CENTRAL BRAZIL MISSION.

Bahia: founded 1871. Church in charge of Native Pastor.

VILLA NOVA DA RAINHA, Estado da Bahia: founded 1900, 250 miles northwest of Bahia. Rev. Alexander Reese and Mrs. Reese.

ESTANCIA: founded 1902, 180 miles north of Bahia. Missionaries—Rev. C. E. Bixler and Mrs. Bixler, Rev. F. F. Graham, and Rev. H. C. Anderson and Mrs. Anderson.

Lencoes, Estado da Bahia: founded 1906 at a farm called Ponte Nova, 230 miles west of Bahia. Missionaries—Rev. W. A. Waddell, D.D., and Mrs. Waddell. Substation: Sao Joao do Paraguassú, Estado da Bahia-Miss E. R. Williamson.

Parishes of the Brazilian Presbytery: Bahia, Rev. Mattathias Gomez dos Santos; Cannavieiras, Rev. Salamão, Barbosa Ferraz; Cachoeira, Rev. José Ozias Conçalves.

CARINHANHA: Rev. H. J. McCall and Mrs. McCall.

The year October 1, 1909, to September 30, 1910, has seen a further development of the work of previous years, together with the permanent occupation of the large territory of the Upper San Francisco field in the Western part of the State of Bahia, which had been previously visited by Rev. Pierce Chamberlain and W. E. Finley.

In spite of the fact that the Mission has been short-handed, much progress has been made. School and evangelistic work have been continued with encouraging results. With only three evangelists there have been 121 professions on the field and 63 from the parishes of the Brazilian pastors.

In conjunction with the annual meetings of the Mission held at Ponte Nova, a reunion was also held of the believers in Dr. Waddell's field. The meetings were addressed by the missionaries and were largely attended by the people of the district, whilst many came on mule back from distances of 90, 100, and even 125 miles.

The Mission has been much cheered by the arrival of further reinforcements in the persons of the Rev. H. C. Anderson and Mrs. Anderson and Rev. F. F. Graham.

The annual meeting of the Mission for the first time in several years had a full attendance, furloughs, absence on long tours and sickness having during all this time prevented many from being present. Then for the first time for three years the Mission met with its ranks approximately filled. The present seems a fitting occasion, therefore, to make some comparisons with previous years.

(k.)

At the end of 1900 we had 313 members in the field, half of whom were in Bahia and Cachoeira; we close 1910 with 1,359 members, an increase in ten years of four times the original number.

The Sertao field, where our greatest strength now lies, has 478 members in 1910 as compared with 8 members in 1900.

SCHOOLS.—The educational system of the Mission is organized around a central Normal and High School at Ponte Nova, which offers a five years' course adequate to the needs of business life, primary teaching and the preliminary preparation of ministers and professional men.

This school is situated on a large plantation, and by combining work and study—all farm work being done by the boys and domestic work by the girls—the expense is reduced to $70 a year for living, tuition and books. Each pupil works 28 hours and studies 34 hours during the week.

Teachers trained in this inexpensive manner can afford to teach for low salaries and we are able to offer adequate primary schools at low cost. In this connection some 25 day-schools have been opened in various localities under the care of teachers from Ponte Nova. In about 20 cases these schools are supported by their patrons.

Three parochial schools which antedate the present plan are subsidized by the Mission, but all congregations and groups seeking to arrange schools from now on are expected to meet all the expenses. Teachers at reasonable rates, free supervision, and expert advice the Mission furnishes. The parents must supply the rest and do supply it in some 20 cases more or less completely under Mission control.

Taking the whole system together, $5 is furnished by Brazilians for every $1 furnished by the Board. There is a great and increasing demand for schools and a growing tendency for neighborhoods to treat directly with teachers and to make their own plans without recurring to the Mission.

In some places where believers are numerous or influential they have had our teachers employed in the public schools and even Romanist neighborhoods have made the same arrangement.

The school at Ponte Nova has continued its excellent work. Dr. Waddell reports:

Thirty-eight pupils were in attendance; 33 completed the year—14 boys and 19 girls. One boy and 4 girls were dropped for lack of ability. Of the 33, 6 boys and 4 girls were third year; 2 boys and 3 girls were second year; 1 boy and 9 girls were first year; 5 boys and 3 girls were preparatory. Of these we expect 11 boys and 16 girls—27—to return in 1911.

Baking, sewing, and other domestic occupations were put on a more educational basis with great advantage. As always, all indoor work was done by the girls.

The routine out-of-door work of wood, water, cattle, garden, mail, and market absorbs the work of 7 or 8 boys.

A room has been built on the boys' dormitory, a laundry, a room upstairs, a new wing of hall and four rooms, the front porch, betterments in the school carpenter's shed, small house for children's play and furniture for school and house make up the roll of the year's work. By April I we hope to have all fully completed for our present numbers—30 odd pupils—and will then begin permanent schoolrooms for 50 pupils—our probable limit.

PRESBYTERY AND MISSION.—Owing to the difficulty of finding a quorum of Brazilian Presbyters for the Presbytery of Bahia and Sergipe, three of the missionaries have joined it temporarily—Messrs, Waddell, Bixler and Reese. So soon as Brazilian Presbyters are forthcoming, these missionaries will resign in rotation according to experience on the field. This temporary arrangement, however, in no way modifies the plan of co-operation adopted some years ago.

The Presbytery has been gladdened by the fact that two of its candidates for the ministry, after years of successful study, are about to be ordained to preach.

In Ponte Nova School there are also three other promising candidates in preparation.

The Bahia Church has continued to make very fair progress. There have been 16 professions of faith; the Sunday-school and Christian Endeavor Society are in excellent condition. The church, whilst still not able to be entirely self-supporting, is making good progress in giving. A chapel is in progress of erection in a quarter of the city somewhat remote from the Church.

In the Cannavieras field, also under the care of a Brazilian pastor, there were 46 professions of faith for the whole year.

Stations under the care of missionaries.—In Villa Nova the work has been practically at a standstill, owing to the efforts of two who have tried to undermine the church. For some time, also, a blind beggar, passing himself off as an evangelist, settled himself on the congregation and caused much trouble, seeking to appropriate church collections to his own use. Some visits by Mr. McCall, and zealous work by a member of the church, together with the arrival of the resident missionaries, promise to rescue the situation. Moreover, as the congregation is in a financial position to build a chapel at once, the future is encouraging.

Mr. Bixler reports of the Estancia field:

The groups of believers have decided during the year to build chapels at Riachao and Urubutinga, the latter hitherto known as the Lagarto group. This group has already made substantial progress in the work of construction. This chapel, when completed, will ac-commodate about 150 people. The Riachao congregation has not yet begun to build. The mayor of the town, the political chief and the priest, have combined and so far successfully resisted our efforts to secure a site. The congregation, in case it fails to obtain unoccupied land, will purchase a building and replace it by a chapel.

Dr. Waddell, in addition to the Ponte Nova School, has had supervision of the Lencoes field, where there have been 65 professions of faith during the year. He reports:

It seems wonderful that these more than 400 believers, scattered over a space as large as Maine, called to Christ from and living in the midst of a Corinthian corruption, should show so little of the power of re-incident sin. It is the Master's power. To Him be glory for ever and ever.

In all journeys the people have been most cordial, unbelievers only less than believers in most places. The whole region is ripe for aggressive work.

Of the work at S. Joao do Paraguassu, where Miss Williamson is living alone, she reports:

In the beginning of July the work passed through a crisis, inevitable in such retired places. During a "Holy Mission," conducted by a disorderly friar and the indignant resident priest, plans were made to burn Bibles and evangelical writings at the door of the service hall, causing the destruction of the hall and the flat above it; this ceremony to be followed, so it was reported, by a general holocaust of all Protestants, declared and undeclared. A few Bibles were publicly burned, but in another part of the town, as the priests were forbidden to carry out their original programme.

The attempt, although severely censured by the better classes, had partially its intended effect, for the people were completely terrorized, religion being a prohibited subject, as all fear the brand of Protestantism. Of late, however, there seem to be some stirrings of renewed life and interest.

On the night of the 24th of December, the church gave a Christmas festival, the young girls visiting and personally inviting the people of the town, with the result that the hall was filled to overflowing, and those who could not get in crowded the window and doors.

Mr. McCall has had charge of the Upper San Francisco field, where the difficulties of the work have been unusual. He reports:

My report for this year is in some ways a repetition of last year's. The distances traveled are nearly identical, about 4,200 miles, and over half of this in the saddle.

We had tried in vain to find a really healthy place on any of the rivers, but so far have found all riverine towns subject to fever almost at any time, and fevers become epidemic just after the floods subside and the river becomes low, and small-pox and most other tropical diseases prevail.

Away from the rivers there are several places, from 72 to 140 miles distant, that seem healthy, but the pressing need of looking after the work already started in the riverine towns, the difficulty of trans-porting the few requisite household goods, and the generally dry condition of things made it advisable to have our residence close to the rivers all the year.

My family traveled with me over 400 miles in the saddle and many hundreds of miles in canoes, barcas and steamers.

We have found, so far, that the hardest places to work in are the little towns where a priest resides or visits. There is the place where idolatry, immorality, ignorance, and either intolerance or indifference reign!

The thing that has been hardest of all has been the need for so much discipline. It was heart-breaking to have to suspend one-sixth of the actual membership, but it was absolutely necessary if we want to build up a solid work. But it is not to be wondered at when one considers the few, short, and far-between visits of the missionaries, the general surrounding immorality, and the illiteracy of many of the believers. Still, the discipline is already bearing fruit.

The minor difficulties of persecution, insistent blood-thirsty insect life, and long rides through dry regions where a good drink of water can't be had for eight or nine hours at a stretch, are common to the other fields.

Mr. McCall reports, also, on part of the Villa Nova field, of which Mr. Reese has now been able to take care:

The Quixaba part of the field is wonderfully encouraging. On our first two weeks' visit a year ago, 8 were received; on this, 21; and from present appearances I should judge the number will soon be doubled or even trebled. We are reaching an influential class there, and I baptized two sisters of the political chief of Villa Nova, also two brothers-in-law; a brother is deeply interested, and his wife, I should say, is already a believer. I had a fine meeting in their house about ten days ago, and the interest manifested made one praise God afresh. The father-in-law of the above-mentioned political chief and another relative offer us a gift of ground suitable for a school if we care to open one in Villa Nova.

CAMPINAS: site of Theological Seminary, about 50 miles northwest of Sao Paulo. Missionaries—Rev. T. J. Porter, Ph.D., and Mrs. Porter.

RESIGNATION: Miss Belle McPherson.

ON FURLOUGH DURING THE YEAR: Mrs. G. A. Landes.

The Mission was reinforced during the year by the appointment of the Rev. Ashmun C. Salley and Mrs. Salley. Miss McPherson, who had been transferred to Curityba from the Central Brazil field, was called home by the illness of her father. Miss Gertrude Lukens, however, was able to go out from the United States, at no travel expense to the Board, to help for a year or two in the Curityba School.

CURITYBA.

EVANGELISTIC.—Mr. Lenington writes:

I can say without any hesitation, that this has been the hardest year of my life as a missionary. The men of this town have gone anti-clerically mad and the women are not far behind. There has been formed a club of free-thinking women, and a short time ago, at one of their public functions, the orator, a public school teacher, in her address, said, "It is necessary to take the word 'divine' out of the language, for this fiction about God has long enough held humanity captive." The priests, friars and nuns are getting hold of the rising generation and unfitting it for future service, for they teach nothing but superstition, and when these boys and girls grow up, they will break away in disgust from all religion as their fathers and mothers have done.

The work, I believe, shows signs of progress. The attendance at the services has increased a good deal. The Sunday-school has increased from an average attendance of about 30 to nearly 70. Five young women made their profession of faith during the year and two persons who had gone sadly astray have come back and are helping us in very practical ways. Four other persons are in a catechumen class preparing themselves to make profession.

Unfortunately, I have been able to visit the church at Sao Francisco only once during the year. I say, unfortunately, for Sao Francisco is going to be a very important place as the terminus of the Trans-Paraguay and Brazilian Railway, the shipping point for matte to all the west coast of South America and of lumber from the South Brazil Lumber Company to all the world. This company already has a large saw-mill which is shipping lumber to Sao Paulo and Rio, but is putting in a very large mill, to have some 2,000 workmen, with the intention of competing in the lumber markets of the world. Sao Francisco is to be the port. Hence the importance of our strengthening our work there. The services I held were well attended and there are a number preparing to make profession on my next visit.

EDUCATIONAL.—In the Eschola Americana in Curityba, during the school year ending November 26, 323 pupils were matriculated: 49 in the Secondary Department, 125 in the Intermediate and 149 in the Primary.

School closed on November 25 with appropriate exercises, largely of a patriotic character. The last day of the school year was a beautiful summer day with sunshine and skies that would rival Italy. At an early hour a large number of the parents of the children and friends of the school came, among them the Inspector of Public Instruction, a former pupil, and a State Senator, a former teacher. Another year had been added to our happy school work in Curityba, and we all rejoiced together over the prosperity of the school. Each pupil and teacher wore a badge of the Brazilian colors, with a touch of our red, white and blue. The exercises began by the singing of a patriotic hymn, "Deus Salve A Patria," followed by a prayer by Mr. Lenington and the recitation of the Beatitudes by all. Some of the younger boys and girls then sang patriotic motion and other songs in Portuguese and in French. During the "Marcha Grande," our guests had a good opportunity of observing how many different nationalities are presented in our school. After the march the younger children returned to their respective classrooms and the guests—as many of them as could crowd into our largest schoolroom—were entertained by recitations in Portuguese, French and English. At the close of this, and after the guests had examined the "trabalhos" (needle-work) and the drawings, they were escorted to the other house to see the "trabalhos" there, and to listen to exercises in each schoolroom. Everything passed off well in spite of the heat, the small space for the exercises, and the crowd of pupils, teachers, and guests.

PONTA GROSSA.

One of the most hopeful points in the whole field is now Ponta Grossa, where for a long time the conditions were most discouraging. Mr. Bickerstaph reports:

With Mr. Lenington's good help the Monday and Tuesday evening meetings in Ponta Grossa have been maintained, with only slight interruptions. The interest in the Gospel has increased so that we were obliged to move to a larger hall, paying 30 instead of 25 milreis per month. There are now seven families of Presbyterians in the city and one free lance with Baptist tendencies who cooperates heartily with us. It is true that all of these eight families have moved to Ponta Grossa within the last three years; but it is also true that several who can rightfully be called Pontagrossenses are coming to the meetings, the attendance being generally from 30 to 50, and at times reaching 80 or more. Meetings are also held regularly on Sundays by laymen, the Baptist brother taking his turn.

I have visited Jaguariahyva three times, preaching several times each trip to congregations of from 30 to 100. There are 8 persons in the village preparing to come into the church. All are delaying their public profession of faith for family reasons, although they had no hesitation in declaring openly their sympathy with our work; and all, so far as we can judge, are living Christian lives.

After an interval of several years, in which it seemed impossible to get a hearing for the Gospel in Pirahy, we are now sure of an audience of from 30 to 50 every time we preach there.

In August I visited Serro Azul, preaching four times in the village and five times amid the remnants of an old English colony on the River Turvo. The average attendance was from 30 to 40, but the Sunday I spent on the Turvo there were at least 100 at the midday meeting. Five were admitted on profession of faith and one member of the Lutheran Church united with us.

The congregation which has shown most signs of spiritual life this year is the one at Espigao Alto, 44 miles from Castro. The believers there, with the help of 250 milreis from this Mission (yearly), support a schoolmaster who not only manages a day-school of from 30 to 40 pupils, but runs a Sunday-school attended by about 50 and directs worship regularly in the absence of the missionary. He has also preached several times in the hamlet called Venerandas, where we have a chapel, recently repaired at his own charges by the principal man of the place.

GUARAPUAVA.

Far to the west, in the field of the South Brazil Mission, are Mr. and Mrs. Kolb at Guarapuava. From this centre Mr. Kolb has traveled about 2,400 miles during the year by horse, wagon and railway, visiting the various centres at Ipyranga, Imbituva, Monjollinho, Mandury, Prudentopolis.

EVANGELISTIC.—Of Prudentopolis Mr. Kolb writes:

The next point beyond the centre is the centre of a great Polish colony, composed of Polanders and Ruthenians, the latter in the ascendancy. Among these latter the Holy Spirit is evidently working. Led on by a young shoemaker, a "Literary Society" has been organized. This society intends putting up a building in which to organize a school and have rooms for various purposes. This same young man has already introduced a number of copies of the Ruthenian paper published by the Presbyterian Board of Publication. Besides a number of copies of the Rible have been circulated. Some of the recent ber of copies of the Bible have been circulated. Some of the recent colonists have shown Bibles which they had brought from Europe.

This same society will seek, through the agency of the paper already mentioned, a Ruthenian Christian, to come from the United States to open the school and propagate the Gospel.

EDUCATIONAL.—There are 104 pupils in the four dayschools in Mr. Kolb's field, with 200 children in the Sabbathschools. Of two of these schools Mr. Lenington writes:

Especially was I pleased with the schools in Guarapuava and Morro Alto, taught by Mr. Kolb's daughters, Misses Nannie and Bella. latter is a mere child in years, but is doing a woman's work in teaching those boys and girls who, but for her, would probably grow up to be of little use in the world. And then gathering the women and children about her in the evenings and teaching them God's truth and to pray for His blessing on all theirs and others' interests. Surely God will bless such work. Miss Nannie has easily the best school in Guarapuava and is holding in loving subjection and teaching a most uproarious crowd of youngsters.

FLORIANOPOLIS.

EVANGELISTIC.—The far southern section of the field, in the State of Santa Catharina, is cared for by Mr. Landes, whose headquarters are in Florianopolis. He writes:

From what I have seen and learned of the condition of this State I judge that it has made less progress than any other of the States of judge that it has made less progress than any other of the States of South Brazil, in agriculture, public instruction, and the development of its natural resources. The people are more religious and, in consequence of the Roman Catholic teaching (or lack of teaching), more superstitious and idolatrous than in other States.

We saw in the city of Florianopolis, the capital of the State, a procession in which the image of what they called "The Child God" was carried from one church to another. This particular image would be left over night in the church where the image of the Virgin Mary be left over night in the church where the image of the Virgin Mary is kept, and in case it rained the following day and the visiting image could not be carried back to its own chapel, the church where the image of the Virgin is kept would have to pay five milreis ($1.75) for every day the image of the Child God was obliged to remain. The inventions of the priests of the Roman Church to get money out of the people are legion. If such idolatry is common in the capital, much more is it to be found in the other towns and hamlets of the State.

However, notwithstanding these things, we are allowed to preach the Gospel, unmolested as a rule, in every part of the State.

The Florianopolis Church has 106 members. There are about 40 persons who take part in the Sunday-school. Miss Ethelwyn Porter and her two Brazilian helpers in the day-school have each a class in Sunday-school and all help in the work of the church in various ways. She has over 60 pupils in her day-school. The church is making an effort to increase its fund for a church building. It has a lot worth $1,000 and has $2,000 in the savings bank for a building fund. Over a conto of reis (over $300) was added to this fund during the year.

Mr. Landes' field includes the organized churches at Florianopolis, Jordao, and Camboriu, together with their respective out-stations: Tijiquinhas, Ganchos, Caiera, Tijucas, Laguna, and the congregation at Lages. Of Lages he writes:

The month of October was given to a visit to Lages, where I spent 15 days, preaching every day. Lages is a town of about 2,000 inhabitants, in a rich grazing district. The country is thinly settled, but the men who own the big ranches raise cattle, horses and mules, and arc, in many cases, very wealthy. It is the market where the people of a large district buy their supplies, and bring their children to be educated. The Roman Catholic Church has seen the advantages of making this a centre for their educational work and have already a large three-a centre for their educational work and have already a large three-story stone building in the town, with the purpose of bringing the youth of that whole district under their influence. They also have a nuns' school with about a dozen girls; but the friars have few, if any, pupils at present. The influence of the friars and nuns has waned for some time (in Lages) and is now nearly at zero. It seems to me that now is the time for us to begin work at Lages, and we should take hold with a strong and firm grip.

EDUCATIONAL.—Theological Seminary.—Dr. Porter is located in Campinas and teaches in the Theological Seminary of the Brazilian Church. He reports 12 students, divided into three regular classes, which study the Scriptures in Portuguese, Hebrew and Greek, Church History, Doctrinal and Pastoral Theology, the Art of Preaching and Evangelizing, and the Nature and Work of the Church, and a special class of men who for age, family or educational reasons cannot take the regular courses of study.

Mackenzie College.—Mackenzie College, while under an independent Board of Trustees, receives practically all the financial help which it gets from the United States from a subsidy from the Board of Foreign Missions, and its work is intimately connected with that of the Missions and the Brazilian Church. Last year the enrollment in the college and its affiliated schools in Sao Paulo has been larger than ever. Everything has been crowded. In the college the number of students reached its highest point since the opening of the schools. There were 30 in the engineering course, 103 in the general course, and 53 in the commercial course. During the year which closed November 25, 1910, the total enrollment in Mackenzie College and the affiliated schools in Sao Paulo was 827 students and pupils of both sexes and various ages from 6 to 28; 510 being of Brazilian parents, 137 Italian, 42 German, 33 Portuguese, 24 English, 21 American, 18 French and 42 of other nationalities. Of these 504 paid full price; 143 were received at reduced rates, and 180 were entirely free. Of the feminine sex, 210; masculine, 608. During the quarter of a century of the present administration no less than 13,475 pupils have passed through the college and schools, of which 2,883 day and 616 boarding pupils were entered free.

SANTIAGO STATION.

EVANGELISTIC.—The Av. Matta Church's present condition is one of prosperity.

The pastor, Rev. Juan de D. Leiton, has been faithful and zealous and tactful in the fulfillment of his duties. He is beloved of his people, and has been instrumental in leading men to Christ. He is one of our very best pastors.

The church has sustained, by way of providing speakers and others who attend the services, weekly meetings in two places outside of the church, and one at the church.

The following are the statistics from the church's report: Members a year ago, 128; received by profession of faith, 22; received by letter, 12; total, 162. Dismissed by letter, 8; died, 1; suspended, 23; total, 130. Baptisms, 26; marriages, 4.

Av. Brasil Church.—

There has been a gradual strengthening of the church during the past year, although the growth in numbers has not been at all what was to be desired. Were it not for the experience of past years, one might think that now a brighter future awaits this congregation, since July under the care of Señor Figueroa. But it will require patience and hard work to bring this church up to what it should be.

The Woman's League keeps up its interest, and has done good work throughout the year.

The coming of Miss Jarvis in October has helped the music of the church, she filling the place left by the transfer of Señor Celis to the Av. Matta Church. As she increases in her familiarity with the language and the people, she will undoubtedly render far greater service along this as well as other lines.

The church has met its financial obligations. Beginning with September they have paid 140 pesos of the pastor's salary, and beginning with January, 1911, they will pay 160 pesos.

EDUCATIONAL.—Dr. Browning reports for the Instituto Inglés as follows:

The total matriculation of the "Instituto Inglés" during the school year of 1910 was 268, an increase of 18 over that of the previous year. Of this number 125 were matriculated as boarding students, about 45 as half-boarders and the remainder as day-scholars. The increase in the total number enrolled may be attributed to the restoring of the Commercial Course, which had been suspended for some years. Only the first year of that course was in operation in 1910, yet the enrollment was around 30 young men, the number who Next year, 1911, we will have to care for the two years and the enrollment in the first year of the course will probably be in advance of that for 1910.

In general, it is the judgment of the teachers that the quality of the students who come to the "Instituto Inglés" is better from year to year. Certainly, in 1910 we have had some excellent lads, especially among the boarding students, although it is also true that we have had to dismiss quite a number because of their inability to submit to discipline or because of their known bad habits.

The usual religious work has been done in the school and the boys have, in general, shown interest in the Bible study and the work of the Y. M. C. A. In 1910 the number of hours of Bible study in each class was increased from two to three. In the advanced courses Dr. Lester took one of the three hours for his class of "Duty," and the other two hours were given up to the study of Sacred History with the Bible as the text-book. We have lost a few boys because of our insisting on this study, and some who remained until the end of the year will probably not return next year because of our refusal to excuse them from the study of the Bible. They have been told in every case that no one is excused from Bible study, this being the only class in the school which is absolutely obligatory for all students.

Every boarding student has had his Bible or Testament, which he has been obliged to show at the morning chapel service and use in the daily reading and the learning by memory of certain Psalms and other portions. At the end of the year the boarders could repeat several Psalms by memory, as also the Beatitudes and Ten Commandments, the Royal Invitation, and other scattering verses.

Mr. Elmore adds:

My work this year has been pretty nearly the same as last year. The fact that I have lived out of the building has kept me from as close personal touch with the boys, but by being in charge of the dining-room three times a day and by taking my turn in the Saturday and Sunday guard duty I have been able to see a good deal of them.

As before, I have had charge of the Preparatory Department, teaching 23 hours a week and supervising the work. This department needs developing and more equipment, for about one-half of the boys in school are in these classes and the lowest room was very much overcrowded. My other hours of teaching were with the advanced classes in English and Sacred History.

The Sunday-night services, where about forty-five boys have gathered to sing hymns and listen to a practical talk of about twenty minutes, have been one of the most delightful features of the year.

on Tuesday nights I have had charge of the Y. M. C. A. There were about 30 members, with an average attendance of more than 20. During the year an effort was made to get the boys to make devotional Bible reading and prayer a part of each day's programme. Some of the meetings were led by members of the Mission and by the teachers in the building, and on a few occasions the boys themselves led very creditably.

Apart from the school work I have given Monday night to a class of young men from the club of the Ave. Brazil Church who are studying English, and on Thursday afternoons a part of the time I have had a class of English and Spanish with Sr. Figueroa.

LITERARY.—Dr. Browning, editor of *El Heraldo Evan*gelico, writes:

We began the year with a weekly issue of 1,600 copies, but with the hope that we might report 2,000 at the end of the year. Instead of the gain, however, we are glad to report that we have held our own, rather than lost. In view of the financial difficulties of the country and the scarcity of money, it is felt that perhaps we have not done so badly to keep from losing subscribers, even if we have not increased the number.

It is one of our best evangelizing agencies, if not the very best, since it reaches all classes of people and goes to many places that even our colporteurs and preachers cannot reach. The expressions of interest in and affection for the periodical have been increasingly many during the year and it is becoming quite an ordinary occurrence to receive a letter in which not only the subscription is paid, but a donation is included of from 2 to 45 pesos. This shows that the paper is appreciated by its readers and meets a necessity which might not otherwise be met. It is the only Protestant paper, of any importance, on this coast, and circulates among all the Evangelical Churches as well as among people who have no connection with any church and probably receive no religious instruction save that which is received from El Heraldo Evangélico.

BUILDING COMMITTEE.—The Report of the Building Committee for the year 1910 is as follows:

In Valparaiso the only building in progress is the Escuela Popular, Mrs. Turner's gift of $5,000 was changed at a rate giving 24,000 pesos. It is thought that this amount, with the materials from the old building, and what can be raised on the field, will finish the building, so that no further help from the Board may be required.

The plans were drawn by an ex-alumnus according to designs approved by the Building Committee. No fees for architect's services have been paid, but Mr. Spining has had expert advice on all doubtful points from two of the best architects in Valparaiso, who pass the building every day on the way to their offices.

We were favored in the purchase of materials. A large concern was liquidated recently, giving the opportunity to buy new iron pillars, girders, etc., at less than half the market price. This meant a saving of over 1,000 pesos in iron alone. First-class pine flooring for the whole building was purchased at 3 centavos less per foot than the current price. The work is being done by masons and carpenters who are members of the church and is being well done.

This method of working is a heavy drain on the missionary's time and strength, but it is the only way devised thus far to crect a 50,000 peso building for 30,000 pesos.

The old building has been demolished, all the mason work of the basement and first stories is complete and work on the second story is in progress. The building will be almost under roof by the time the Mission adjourns.

VALPARAISO STATION.

The field comprises Valparaiso, 200,000 inhabitants, and Viña del Mar, 20,000. The workers are: Rev. and Mrs. C. M. Spining and Miss Florence E. Smith, missionaries; Rev. Efrain Martinez, an ordained minister; David Rey, an Evangelist; Jaun B. Aracena, student helper; Rosa Mutis, Bible woman.

In Educational work: Miss M. Annette Beatty, principal of the Escuela Popular, on furlough; Misses Dora Wesley, Effie Morrison, Olgaat Dunnum, Ella McGregor, Eduvijis Peters, Erna Peters, Sra. Rosa Duran, Virginia Borquez, Maria Beeza, and Sra. Eliza v. de Olivares.

The work comprises Valparaiso Church, with its services and Sunday-school, C. E. Society, Women's League, Young Men's Club, Young Women's Club, Training Class.

The Viña del Mar Church, with a similar organization, excepting the clubs for young people.

The out-stations, with preaching services and Sunday-schools, as follows: Mira Mar, Cerro Carretas, La Palma, Villa Seca, Escuela Popular, Cerroa Cordillera, Santa Inez and "El Nuevo Mundo."

The Educational Department comprises the Escuela Popular, and its three branches in Cerro Carretas, Mira Mar, and the Sheltering Home. There is a small independent school in Santa Incz.

"The Valparaiso Sheltering Home," an orphanage caring for 40 children (founded by the Mission and affiliated with it, but supported and managed by a local Board of Directors).

The year 1910 for Valparaiso Station has been one of difficulties and disappointments growing out of various causes, among which were the Tongues Movement of last year, which gave so many a very wrong idea of the Gospel and its propagation, and prejudiced them against the work; the letting loose of the forces of evil, so that at times it seemed that the world, the flesh and the devil had been turned loose in the church. The close of the year, however, brought encouragement. Seventeen were received into membership at the last communion and there seems to be a more healthy atmosphere in the church.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.—The evangelistic work has been the most encouraging feature of the year's activities. In all the out-stations there has been at least one preaching service per week, in each there have been some conversions, and from each members have been received into the church. From Cerro Carretas 5, from the Escuela Popular 3, from Mira Mar 3, from the Palma 1, from Villa Seca 4, from Santa Inez 9. The work in "El Nuevo Mundo" is too new to have produced such fruits. The writer of the report says:

I wish to mention here the real self-sacrifice of many of our volunteer workers. They are nearly all working men who, after a day's work, climb the hills to their homes, eat a hasty dinner and come down to the Monday evening Bible class, and then repeat the operation one or two other nights of the week in order to attend and take part in the preaching services. It is purely a labor of love, involving a sacrifice which only those who know Valparaiso hills can appreciate. The Christian Endeavor Society has had its ups and downs. It is not practicable to carry on the organization in all its departments, but we feel that it has an important field in developing the spiritual life and latent capacities of the 40 young people on its roll.

The Sunday-schools.—The Central School has an enrollment of 315 and an average attendance of 230. The Infant Department meets in a separate room and is divided into 10 classes. The main department has 13 classes. We use Lesson Helps from Mexico.

The Sunday-school in the Escuela Popular has been in charge of Mr. Thennet, with the help of Miss Beatty and some of the other teachers. The average attendance was 55, a little better than last year.

Viña del Mar.—The closé of the year finds the church in excellent condition. They were divided and discouraged a year ago; now they are united and working. They received 22 members during the year. They have made several improvements in the chapel and have a new organ.

The evening service has from 100 to 150 in attendance. They fulfilled all their financial obligations and will increase their part of the pastor's salary from 100 to 120 pesos per month. In all they raised during the year about 3,000 pesos. The Sunday-school enrollment is 150 and the attendance 115.

Santa Incs.—

The work here, which has been least expensive to the Mission and received the least attention, has been the most fruitful. The little chapel, built by themselves and seating 80 persons, is already too small for their ordinary congregation. They added a room at the rear for the Infant Department and there the prime movers in the work gathered in the children of the neighborhood and started a free day-school. The teacher has had but little preparation for such a position, but her school is full and she has wrought a wonderful change in the neighborhood. Her husband took me along their street to show me where the "evanjelicos" lived. In the two or three blocks there were but two or three houses which were not "evanjelicos" (adherents of the evangelical church). The policeman said he never went up that street any more because they were all good people and never had any trouble. There is the basis there for a good strong church. We are certain that they will be needing a church soon. Poblacion Vergara, of which Santa Inez is the farther end, is growing rapidly. Four large factories are already located there and others will come. It is the part of wisdom to secure a building site now, before land becomes more costly. Such land can be bought now for 12 pesos per meter and can be paid for in small mouthly payments. The rents from the houses in Viña and Mira Mar would be sufficient for the purpose if used in that way.

SUMMARY FOR VALPARAISO STATION.

Two churches; 263 members; 47 received last year.

Nine Sunday-schools; 785 enrolled; 625 average attendance per Sunday.

Nine preaching services per week, not counting the two church services.

In giving an account of her year's work, Miss Smith sends the following:

There is so little variation in my work in Valparaiso from one year to another, that one might almost take last year's report and say "ditto."

At the beginning of the year I made the experiment of going to live in one of our chapels, or rather, over it, in a neighborhood which at home would be characterized as "slums," setting up a little home with three young girls of the church who are employed as teachers or office assistants. At first my comings and goings were the occasion of much curiosity and comment, and not a little open hostility, but it has been interesting to see the confidence and friendliness develop.

We have Sunday-school at 9.30 A.M. I play the organ and teach the children's class. The Thursday-night evangelistic service has maintained an excellent attendance all the year. The young men of the church have had it in charge and have been faithful and active.

Tuesday nights I have attended the evangelistic meeting in Cerro Carretas, and for the past three months have had a catechumen class there for a half hour preceding the service. Since October I have had a woman's meeting on Wednesday afternoons in the house of Dona Paulina on Cerro Cordillera, and a children's meeting at 4 o'clock on Sunday afternoons. So many children attended that I opened a meeting for them on Sunday afternoons, and we have a usual attendance of between 25 and 30 inside, and a street full outside. At first there was a great deal of disorder and we were stoned twice.

Three afternoons a week have been devoted to visitation. Saturday evenings the young men of the church come to sing and drink tea at my house. The young women of the church organized themselves into an unofficial Young Women's Christian Association about midyear, and have met at my home. There are 18 members.

Devotions in the Escuela Popular once a month, Sheltering Home meetings, and the usual work as Mission Treasurer have been fitted in at odd times.

EDUCATIONAL.—Escucla Popular.—

The school and its branches opened under very favorable circumstances. The euroIment was ahead of the previous year. Then the small-pox appeared in our building in Mira Mar. That naturally broke up that branch. It was impossible to get many of the children back. There were only a dozen left instead of the 30 with which it began.

In Cerro Carretas the measles came a little later, but with as destructive force as the small-pox, which also appeared there a little afterwards. Four of our children died of the measles. The attendance dropped from 60 to 25—the wonder is that that many remained.

dropped from 60 to 25—the wonder is that that many remained.

In the main school there were 318 children enrolled before Miss Beatty left. A great many dropped out, partly on account of her leaving and partly on account of the epidemics. Others left the 1st of December to avoid examinations. The building operations took away the play-ground and made the work more difficult for the teachers. But nearly all who began December remained until the close on the 23d. Nearly 400 pesos were received that month in tuitions.

The Valparaiso schools have a total enrollment of 560 and the total contributions amounted to 1,631.65 pesos. Three members of the schools united with the church.

COPIAPO STATION.

EVANGELISTIC.—In spite of some attacks, the work as a whole is progressing and is very hopeful. The report says:

Beginning on the north, Tocopilla has held its own and gained. The spiritual life of the church has remained on the same high level as before and the pastor, Rev. Enrique F. Krauss, may be left to continue the same helpful work he has been doing for the last three years. There have been 10 members received during the year.

This church is a real missionary church. Last July the possibility of a visit from Tocopilla to Gatico was suggested by Sr. Krauss, and the church was quick to see the necessity in the case and at once contributed the amount necessary for the trip. The place was visited and services held with magic lantern views on Life of Christ, and two nights were spent in the largest mine in the district, the Toldo, where were found some 1,500 people. They were very grateful and considerable Christian literature was distributed.

Sr. Krauss has also visited the Pampa regularly. The Oficinas are

Sr. Krauss has also visited the Pampa regularly. The Oficinas are all open to the visitor who announces himself as a Christian worker, and especially so at those belonging to the Germans. At the Oficina Rica Aventura a permanent work has been established for some time, and was well attended. This group has grown until on the Sunday evening when we visited them there was an attendance of more than 100, with no especial attraction save the pure preaching of the Gospel and the celebration of the Lord's Supper.

Taltal.—Financially, Taltal Church has done well. They paid their promised help on the salary of Sr. Olivare, and now ever since Flores has gone there have paid his entire salary, $140. So for six months Taltal has been entirely self-supporting. Owing to a factional disturbance, the growth of the church has been arrested, but there are signs that this difficulty will be soon overcome.

Copiapó.—Copiapó gives a record of financial depression.

There was so much difficulty in gaining a living that many of the members left the district and went to better places. Consequently the attendance at the services fell off. Nevertheless within the last two months there has been a much better spirit reigning among the members, and on Christmas Day, when we held the Lord's Supper, every one in the town who could possibly attend was present and all partook of the sacrament.

CONCEPCION STATION.

EVANGELISTIC.—Owing to the trouble consequent on the mental breakdown of its pastor, the principal meetings of the church were held in the brick chapel on Orompello Street, known here as the Central Chapel, with Sunday-school at 2 P. M. and preaching on Lord's Day evening, and a conference meeting on Wednesday night. The Sunday-school has had an average attendance of 55 or 56 for eleven months, and the evening service averages nearly the same. This takes into account the smallest meetings of the long rainy season. On Wednesdays about 30 attend. The Sunday-school is the best of these services; its attendance is pretty regular, it has a good corps of teachers, a well-attended teachers' meeting, and is now an orderly gathering, as are also the other services.

In April, Mr. McLain and Mr. Boomer held a Bible Institute with the workers of their Stations in Concepcion for about a week. The Epistle to the Philippians, Homiletics and Church History were studied under the leadership of the missionaries and Mr. Figueroa. The men seemed to be profited with the course, and were so delighted as to ask to have the institute repeated.

The finances of the church have been efficiently attended to by the Board of Trustees, especially by the treasurer, and this phase of Christian duty has been treated of from the desk. But the church has not done what it could have done under normal circumstances. A number of members have failed to take a definite responsibility in this matter; quite a number have continued to contribute to the support of Mr. Moran's family. Nevertheless, over 1000 pesos have been collected, besides the gifts for church repairs.

Penco and Archal.—One member of the church, A. Rifo, recently elected deacon, has been most faithful in visiting and work in Penco. In the early part of the year he went while some of the independents continued their visits there. Since beginning anew after the rainy season they have left the field, but he has continued his efforts, whether others went or not, and with one or two interested ones there has helped pay the rent, hold a Sunday-school and help in sustaining an evangelistic meeting.

Chillan and Farral.—Mr. and Mrs. Herrera took Mr. Albert Moran's place in charge of these two churches early in the year, and at once made a good impression. The attendance improved and the work promised well. In Chillan the Sunday-school attendance passed the 80 mark, and there was quite a little interest at Easter time.

Traiguen and Los Sauces.—Notwithstanding the neglect of Los Sauces by Mr. Martí during a considerable part of the year, the Sunday-school has been kept up with about forty sessions, and a part of the time the week-night meeting has been attended to by others. Mr. Llorca, local evangelist of Traiguen, and latterly by Messrs. Zuñiga and Boomer.

SAN FERNANDO STATION.

South to Linarcs.—Owing to the change of missionary residence from San Fernando to Santiago on the 2d of August of the current year, this statement ought to include a portion of the year's work in the capital.

Rancagua.—The material progress of Rancagua has been a surprise to some and a revelation to others. Formerly it was an agricultural centre—a sleepy, provincial town—but within the past two years several manufacturing establishments have been erected and the Braden Copper Co. have made it the base of their extensive mining operations.

There is a great demand for unskilled labor and the town enjoys the distinction of having almost no unemployed.

The little group under the care of Evangelist Juan Enrique Reyes have adhered steadfastly to their vows and present an unbroken front. The persecution by the Roman Catholic Church has been incessant and merciless. Emboldened no doubt by the escape of Pino, the assassin of Colporteur Nunez, who was murdered last year a few miles from his brethren, the opponents of our doctrines and practices have tormented our members in a hundred petty ways.

The children of the congregation could not attend the public schools without suffering indignities; some of them suffered physical injuries, so that parents were obliged to withdraw them from the State institutions. About a month ago an Escuela Popular was organized. It is taught by the evangelist's sister-in-law and is conducted in one of the wide corridors of our spacious house.

Thus far there has been an enrollment of 14 children, almost all of whom are in the elementary grades.

A small fee is collected from the parents and the teacher is contented with the 20 pesos per month. Obviously, such poor remuneration is no inducement to a qualified teacher, but the experiment is worth continuing so long as it supplements the other departments of work.

Although there are only about 15 professing Christians in Rancagua, they have collected about 800 pesos for all purposes this year, part of which is pledged for the enlargement of the chapel.

San Fernando.—With one or two exceptions the members have been faithful. They have received reinforcements from Tocopilla and have asked that elders be appointed to take official control.

They have met all their financial obligations and have repeatedly avowed their adherence to the Mission. Two members have been received on profession of faith, but 7 have been dismissed by letter to other Presbyterian churches; two others have been added by letter, and one has died. The San Fernando membership, apart from those whose names appear in the roster but who are connected with Rancagua, is 4 less than last year.

Curicó.—The outlook in Curicó has improved during the latter half of the year. A better room has been obtained in a central location, where the meetings are attended by from 20 to 30 persons regularly.

Since Sr. Olivares, of Talca, could not visit this point every week, Elder Peña, of Talca, has opened a Sunday-school and evening service on the Lord's Day. Two years ago the Sunday-school was organized to the extent of nominating officers and holding one or two sessions, but for the past three months the children and adults have been meeting regularly for the study of the Bible and for worship afterwards in the evening. Let it be remembered that, thus far, no Curicó family has identified itself with us; those who constitute the nucleus are from other towns and most of them have heard the Gospel elsewhere.

There is one couple, however, who has been converted and whose admission to membership depends upon the legalization of their marriage. They are the most active Christians I have met in all the Central Valley and are growing in grace, in knowledge and in usefulness every day.

Talca and Linarcs.—The work at these two Stations has been carried on in the face of great difficulties, but in spite of these there are signs of renewed life and growth.

COLOMBIA MISSION.

Bogota: on the San Francisco River, the capital of the country; situated on a plateau about 8,800 feet above the sea level and four degrees north of the equator; climate cool; occupied as a Mission Station in 1856. Missionaries—Rev. T. H. Candor and Mrs. Candor, Rev. C. S. Williams and Mrs. Williams, Rev. T. E. Barber, Miss E. I. Towle, and Mr. J. H. Cruickshank and Mrs. Cruickshank.

Barranguilla (Bar-ran-keel-ya): capital of the Department Del Atlantico, on the Magdalena River; 17 miles by rail from the sea, 500 miles north of Bogota; about twelve degrees north latitude; climate hot as the thermal equator passes through; occupied as a Mission Station in 1888. Missionaries—Rev. W. S. Lee and Mrs. Lee, Miss Jessie Scott and Miss L. W. Quinby, Mr. C. E. Warren and Mrs. Warren, Rev. Alex. M. Allan and Mrs. Allan, and Miss Martha B. Hunter.

Caracas, Venezuela: capital of the country; situated at an elevation of 3,500 feet above the sea level; about 10 degrees north latitude; 23 miles by rail from the sea; climate like late Spring; population 75,000; occupied tentatively 1897. Missionaries—Rev. T. S. Pond and Mrs. Pond.

Medellin: The Board hopes to be able to reopen this Station during this year. Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Warren and Rev. and Mrs. Alexander M. Allan will be stationed here.

ON FURLOUGH DURING THE YEAR: Mrs. C. S. Williams, Miss L. W. Quinby.

The year has been marked by two things which have brought great encouragement. The first was the holding of the first Mission meeting at Barranquilla, September 13-23, 1910. The Stations of this Mission, including Caracas in Venezuela, are separated by such distances and the means of intercommunication are so poor that it has been hitherto deemed impracticable to get all the members of the Mission together for those annual meetings, which are such a helpful feature of other Missions. It was felt that the time had come when every possible effort must be made to bring the scattered missionaries into closer fellowship in order that they might be able more effectively to plan their work and to give it that closer supervision which new conditions require. The Barranquilla meeting proved a great blessing.

The second feature of the year has been the coming of long desired and long prayed-for reinforcements. The Mission is still inadequately manned when we consider that our Board is the only denominational agency at present doing permanent work in these two large and neglected countries. But the reinforcements now on the field give promise of a larger work than we have yet been able to do.

BOGOTA STATION.

The annual report from this Station must have been lost in the mails, for they had not arrived when these pages had to go to press. We know, however, from our frequent correspondence with the members of the Station throughout the year that the usual educational and evangelistic work has been conducted as heretofore. The Boys' and Girls' Schools have had a good year. It has not been possible to do much evangelistic work, for the demands of the two educational institutions have been so extraordinary as to require nearly all the time of the very small force of missionaries who are on the field throughout the year, only two men and their wives. When the new missionaries, who arrived during the year, shall have completed their language study, the evangelistic work of this Station can be pushed in a more adequate way.

BARRANQUILLA STATION.

Miss Quinby's short furlough left Mr. and Mrs. Lee and Miss Scott the only members of the Station, but as the year advanced, new arrivals gladdened the hearts of the lonely workers. August 24, the Station welcomed back to her old place Miss Martha Bell Hunter after an absence of five years spent in work in other places. November 11, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Warren and Mr. A. M. Allan arrived. Mrs. Warren was reappointed to the Mission, having spent four years as Miss Freeman in the Bogota Station. After Mr. Warren and Mr. Allan shall have acquired a working knowledge of the language they are to be given charge of the Boys' School and church work, allowing Mr. and Mrs. Lee to go on furlough. Upon Mr. and Mrs. Lee's return Mr. and Mrs. Warren are to reopen Medellin Station.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.—The church services and Sunday-school have been generally well attended by the adult members of the congregation as well as by the children, the classes for adults being among the largest in the school. The registration was 217 and the highest attendance on any single Sunday 131.

At Mr. Lee's Sunday night service the attendance ranged from about 90 to 140 of those who entered and were seated. No record can ever be made of the numbers who listened outside, sometimes in large groups in the entrance and doorway, often for lack of courage to identify themselves with us. The offerings on the first Sunday of each month continue to be for the Church Building Fund, which at the close of the year amounted to $418.35 gold, $106.35 having been raised during the year.

A special sermon to children is preached the second Sunday of each month. Special services were held in the week of prayer at Easter, and on Good Friday. A Christmas program by the Sunday-school was given on December 23, and a watch-night meeting was held to close the year. At the Christmas entertainment the service room was crowded, probably over 250 people being present.

At the weekly church prayer meeting the attendance ranges from 60 to 90, a better attendance than many churches in the United States can show.

The afternoon cottage Sunday-school and the Friday night cottage evangelistic meetings have been continued through the year by Mr. Lee and his personal workers' class of Colombian Christians.

The attendance is usually limited to the seating capacity of the house in which the meeting was held. The doors and windows are crowded by those who fail to get inside, or who are too timid openly to enter a meeting where the "New Doctrine" is being preached. The cottage meetings in this tropical city, with doors and windows always wide open, and with the street on one side and the "patio" on the other filled with eager listeners, has been likened to an open-air meeting in a northern city. The cottage meeting takes the message of the Living Saviour to all parts of the city, and many who would never think of taking a long walk through the sandy streets across the town to hear the New Doctrine preached listen attentively, though perhaps curiously, as it is presented so openly in the home of some neighbor or friend.

An inquirers' class for men and boys, a men's personal workers' class and a class for Sunday-school teachers were conducted by Mr. Lee throughout the year. Inquirers' classes and Bible classes for women and girls were trught in different groups by Miss Scott, Miss Quinby, Miss Hunter and Mrs. Lee.

Twelve were received into the church during the year; all other inquirers were held over for longer terms of probation. The Station decided that in most cases it is wiser to prolong the term of probation of candidates for church membership. This term was formerly at least six months.

EDUCATIONAL WORK.—The Station continues the effort to improve the schools.

It has been gratifying to us to see the standard of scholarship steadily rising and to realize that the American schools are not only declared to be the best in Barranquilla, but are setting the pace as is proven by the compliment unconsciously paid by imitating as far as possible our prospectus and our methods, and by coming to us to buy the text-books we import. If we are creating a necessity for improving the native schools, their text-books and their methods, we are accomplishing much.

In the Boys' School, 109 boys were registered this year; of these 10 were boarding pupils and 3 were "breakfast pupils." Two boys were graduated from the Scientific Course in the High School Department. Again we could distinctly see an appreciable advance over all former years in scholarship, regularity of attendance and in morals. Daily Bible lessons have been faithfully taught in every grade. The school has added another year to its record of self-support, paying not only all running expenses, but also for some repairs on the property it occupies.

In the Girls' School, the enrollment was 60. Three girls united with the church. Of the 60 enrolled, 17 were Protestants or from Protestant homes, 43 were Catholics.

Special mention of faithfulness and increasing ability as teachers might justly be made of the Señorita Olga Ackermann, of the Girls' School, and the Señorita Rosa López, of the Boys' School. Both were educated in our own Girls' School and have served many years as teachers.

MEDELLIN STATION.

The Board has decided to reopen this Station, which has been closed for several years for want of workers. Mr. and Mrs. Warren have been assigned to it and another family will be associated with them. They are now studying the language at Barranquilla, so that the actual reopening of the Station will occur during the coming year.

CARACAS STATION.

There has been more than the usual danger from epidemics, and many more deaths within the evangelical community than we have had for several years. No member of our church had passed to the other side during the past ten years, until within ten months five have died.

The presence of yellow fever and bubonic plague through most of the year has, to a degree, impeded our work, not only by death, but by the enforced closing of our school and its twice-repeated removal because of infection, and by the closing of our chapel in common with all other places of public assembly. This last, however, was not strictly observed, as we found, by opening, at first, for more or less private reunions, so that the chapel was not really closed, save for one meeting, and gradually the prohibition fell into disuse.

Mr. and Mrs. Pond were inoculated with lymph and serum—one

Mr. and Mrs. Poud were inoculated with lymph and serum—one 3 times and the other 4 times, in order to satisfy Government orders and the desire of friends. If we have been afflicted, we have also been wonderfully protected from the pestilence that walketh in darkness, and have been raised up from temporary ailments with new strength for the work before us.

Despite all untoward circumstances and conditions, Scripture portions have been circulated more widely than in any previous year. Over 10,000 copies, great and small, have been sold in Colombia and Venezuela—countries where not quite one-third of the people can read.

More public (not official), opposition has been manifested than usual on the part of "skeptics," but more thoughtful men have attended the services openly, and have asked for our literature and more Bibles have recently been sold here in the capital than was once thought possible. . . . And, generally, the former prejudice, which made cowards of many who desired to look into these things, has been destroyed, or greatly reduced, so that tracts, books, Testaments, and especially hymn-books are asked for and paid for, not only by residents of Caracas, but by not a few visitors from the interior.

Both of the great Bible Societies have sought and found helpers and colporteurs—and good ones—within our Mission, having absolutely none elsewhere, with one exception in Venezuela. This is good in its influence on the church, which has the satisfaction and stimulus of knowing, at first hand, the necessities and progress of the blessed work, and has the warm sympathy for the workers as being the motherchurch, and centre of a national work, in the steady growth of which they can already rejoice.

The work of the C. E. Society has been promoted with systematic regularity. Families have been reached by visits and have been interested permanently.

The contributions of the church are not less than those of last year, in spite of the frequent expense of illness and losses by want of work.

There has been peace, but not plenty. Poverty deep, pitiless, stark, is the element in which all life and feeling that can survive the test must move, exist, or have any being. The relentless grip of monopoly is on the throat of every man, woman and child in Venezuela.

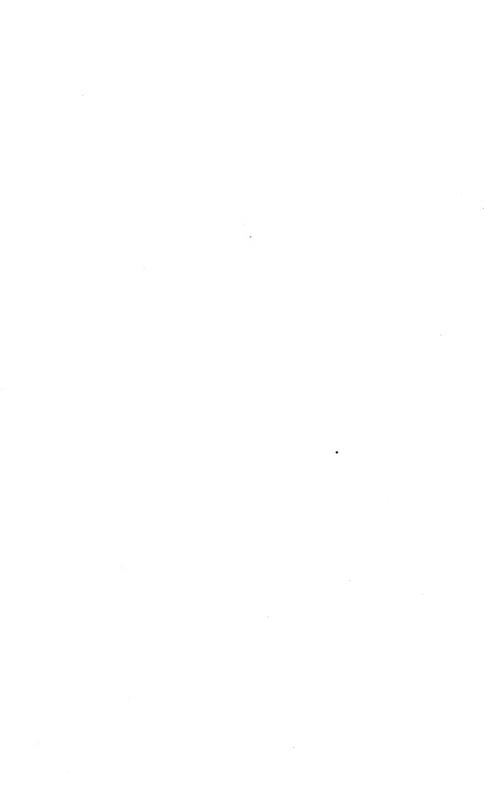

During the year two new members have been received, and four candidates are under instruction. The ever-widening influence of the lives and examples of the members constitutes the main value of the organization, for their good name has extended to all classes and no scandals to neutralize the good they may have received or done. The ordination to the eldership of Sr. Roldan and his licensure to preach were occasions of great thankfulness and joy.

BEIRUT STATION.

During the year the personnel of the Beirut Station has remained as heretofore, with the exception of the death of Rev. Henry 11. Jessup, D.D. He passed away, on April 28, after a long life of 78 years and a missionary service of about 54 years.

EVANGELISTIC.—Beirut Church.—The past year has been an uneventful one in the Beirut Chruch. The congregations have been larger than ever, including a number of Christian soldiers now in the city. The pastor, Rev. Assad A. er Rasi, has been faithful in the pulpit and out of it.

The admissions during the year have been 6 and infant baptisms 7. The number of communicants received since 1848 is 699 and the present membership is 324, of whom only 151 are present and 173 absent.

The Sunday-school, under the superintendency of the pastor, Rev. A. A. Rasi, had an attendance of 160 from January till June, and the contributions during the year have amounted to 1,239.25 piasters. Expenditures, 1,462.10 piasters.

The preaching service at Ras Beirut has been kept up by Dr. Hoskins, assisted by some of the professors and instructors of the College, and the attendance has been very encouraging. This service is in the building occupied by our girls' day-school, and a well-managed Sunday-school and evening service are held every Sunday afternoon.

EDUCATIONAL.—American School for Girls.—Miss Thomson's report for the school is such a model of condensation that I shall quote it entire, with the exception of the opening paragraph. She says:

The number of pupils enrolled during the year was 130. Of these 101 were in the Academic and Preparatory Departments. After the first week of the term we were obliged to refuse all applications, owing to want of room.

The year has been as a whole one of encouragement. A number of the new pupils were well advanced in their studies and all did good work. The following quotation shows what one father thought of the progress made by his daughters during the eight months of school. His letter was written in English. "Allow me to offer many thanks to you and all the teachers in your school for the great improvement which my two daughters obtained during their stay last year under your kind attention and care. I really found a great difference in them as regards education and manners. I am quite content, quite pleased with their English pronunciation and am quite astonished at the progress they have made. I beg you therefore to accept from me and their mother our profound thanks."

The girls in question are among the oldest and nicest of our pupils. They came to us from a Convent School in their city, and spoke French fluently, but knew no English.

In regard to the religious status of the school, there has been a healthy, wholesome interest in spiritual things. Three of the pupils joined the church. The Home Missionary Society divided its contribution between Dr. Mary Eddy's Tuberculosis Hospital and Mr. Schneller's School in Jerusalem. The Foreign Mission contribution was sent to New York to be used as the Board thought best.

At the close of school in July 5 pupils were graduated, 2 Protes tants, 2 Orthodox Greeks, and 1 Jewess, the second of her family to receive the school diploma. Two of these girls are teaching, one at Ras Beyrout and the other in Egypt.

Native Schools.—We quote from the Report:

Among the signs of the times are an increasingly larger number of native schools under native management financially and otherwise. In many instances these are boarding schools with day-schools attached and they are entirely independent of the control of the priests or any foreign societies. Quite recently two boarding schools were opened in Moktara, one for boys, which contains 35 boarders, and a good day-school; also a day-school for girls, which is soon to be converted into a boarding school. Also one of our former teachers, Mualim Naoum Kurban, made private arrangements with the people of Badtheran to teach the boys of a number of families who have agreed to pay Fr. £3. per year on each pupil. The people of the village who have charge of this school are Greek Catholics and they are accepting the services of a well-known Protestant teacher. The same movement is plainly in progress among the native Christian sects as well.

WOMAN'S WORK.—

Each year sees the sphere and influence of woman's work increased, and while their names are not so much in evidence in Annual Reports, I am sure that the men of the Mission are willing to credit the better half of their work to those who help the homes and lighten the hands of so many burdens. The women in the home bear the brunt of calls and callers, the travelers who come and go and a thousand acts of service to the poor, the sick and sorrowing. Mrs. Freyer has conducted an interesting Mothers' Meeting for the women of that neighborhood. Mrs. March has her class in the Sunday-school and the monthly missionary meeting at our girls' school, and Mrs. Hoskins has taken charge of the Maamaltain school and has conducted many meetings at the A. S. G., the Church of Scotland Jewish school, at the Taylor Memorial School for Druses and Moslems and at the hospital.

FREEMASONRY.—

The extension of Freemasonry during the past ten years will prove a fascinating subject for many minds. Whatever its imperfections may have been in Turkey, its influence as a whole is for brotherhood, resistance of oppression and education. The part it has played in the overthrow of the Old and the establishment of the New Regime is no secret. It is of especial interest also to know that the recently established Ottoman Chapter has adopted the Scottish Rite, which brings it much closer to all our work than if they had chosen the godless French form of Freemasonry.

MOSLEM WOMEN.—

In our churchyard at Beirut is a column marking the site of the first school built for girls in the Turkish Empire in 1835. We waited for exactly 74 years to see the first Moslem girl graduate from our girls' school in July, 1909. She was a star pupil all through her course and graduated with the highest honors. And yet she must needs veil her face in the Memorial Hall in 1909, and in the gallery sat the veiled women of her family. But underneath that veil are new ideas, new impulses, new desires, new demands. The veil is an ancient institution, but there may be in many cases a new woman beneath it.

NEW READING ROOMS.—

The Christian Temperance Reading Rooms have had a broken year, because the owner of the former premises tore down the building which had been occupied by the Rooms for some six years. Other suitable premises not being found, it was decided to close up during the summer months. In May the Mission offered to build a series of rooms on the shops which bound our Mission cemetery and face one of the squares of the city. A five-year contract, with an option of ten, was signed with the Reading Room Committee and the work was undertaken. There will be two large rooms, the one 42½ feet long by about 15¾ feet wide, and the other 41 feet by 19 feet, and lighted from both sides. Also four smaller rooms, all well lighted, and a well-lighted stairway. They will form a pleasant surprise to the committee and their friends, and will be ready for occupation by the middle of December.

MEDICAL.—Maamaltain and Tuberculosis Work.—Dr. Mary Eddy reports a busy year's work on the seashore and in the mountain at Shebaniyeh. The clinic at Maamaltain from January to July was well attended. The hospital at Shebaniyeh for tuberculosis patients was reopened for the third season and remained open until the first week in November. She writes:

During this time 58 persons suffering from tuberculosis in its various forms have come to the hospital and dispensary. They spent with us 1,272 days, of these days of treatment 352 were half pay and 103 days were entirely free. Towards the expenses of these patients 674 piasters were sent in response to an appeal, and five Turkish pounds given by Mrs. Daniel Bliss through Mrs. Dale. We had patients sent to us in every stage of the disease, except the early incipient stage. About half of the number had contracted the disease away from Syria. Six were from Jewish Colonies in Palestine, one a Jewish patient from Aleppo. Two were Moslems, one a Druze from the Hauran, another a Druze woman from Beirut. One woman, after a stay in a city hospital in Beirut, went forth seeking a refuge. She walked the streets for hours, but no one would allow her to rest a moment. Her looks told the story of her condition, and the people either cleared away from her or hurriedly hastened her steps away from them. Nightfall came and she found herself absolutely alone and homeless. She finally took refuge under the arches of the Beirut River bridge, where for five days the pebbles were her only bed and a stone her only pillow. She subsisted on food left by those who came to picnic on the river bank. Her cries and appeals to passers-by finally resulted in a roofless wooden but being built for her, but even here her miseries were not at an end, for the nearest neighbors, though many yards away on another hill, threatened nightly to come and pour coal oil on herself and her hut and consign both to the devouring flames. Alone and friendless, she started at every sound, fearing the worst. Through the kind interest of an S. P. College student, she had nearly two months of loving care, and closed her eyes in peace with none to make her afraid. What she must have suffered in mind and body during the fearful heat of those long summer days without shelter from the sirocco blasts or the blinding rays of the fierce sun, who can imagine or picture! All that love could do to blot out those sad memories was done for her during her stay with us, and many visitors heard from her own lips a story which we trust will never again be repeated in Syria,

THE PRESS.—

The Press has had another successful year, and is more than ever closely identified with every department of the activity in Syria and neighboring lands. Mr. Freyer's report shows in detail that 1910 is in many respects a record year. He gives us high-water figures in pages printed, Scriptures bound and distributed, and educational volumes of all kinds handled.

Forty million pages printed have been added to the grand total which now stands at 1,004,314,211, enough to girdle the earth at the Equator four times over (reckoning each page 6½ inches long). The average of the preceding ten years, 1900-1909, is about 35¾ million pages yearly. Not less than 95 per cent, of these pages were in Arabic, 75 per cent, of them religious and more than 70 per cent, were of the Arabic Bible in some fifty or sixty different forms. Of the 40,000,000 pages printed this year, 31,500,000 are Scriptures—nearly four-fifths, or, to be exact, 78¾ per cent.

The distribution of Scriptures is perhaps the most striking feature of the Press work. Taking the average yearly issues in four decades the growth is phenomenal. The yearly average of the volumes issued in the years 1872-1879 was only 7,286; in the second decade, 1880-1889, it increased over threefold—23,000. In the third decade, 1890-1899, it rose from 23,000 to 39,000 yearly, another gain of nearly 70 per cent. In the fourth decade, 1900-1909, it had leaped to a yearly average of 62,538 volumes, a gain on the third decade of over 60 per cent; while the first year, 1910, in the fifth decade, it has taken another leap from 62,538 volumes to 85,775. Compared with the average yearly issues in the seventies, this year's output is more than twelvefold—an increase of over 1,200 per cent. These results are truly worthy of a special thanksgiving service.

Then, too, in years past, while we rejoiced over the thousands of Scriptures shipped to Egypt, we always sorrowed over the few hundreds sold or granted in Syria, but the year 1910 shows a most gratifying increase. In 1909 Syria took only 5,647 volumes, while in 1910 she has called for and received 17,139 volumes or nearly three times as many. We sincerely trust that this great advance may be a harbinger of still greater blessing for Syria and her people.

LEBANON STATION.

The American Missionary force in the Lebanon Station of the Syria Mission for the year 1909-1910 consisted of two ordained men and their wives at Suk el Ghurb and Zahleh; two women missionaries stationed at 'Abeih; one assistant missionary at Suk School, giving her services voluntarily and not under appointment, and one assistant missionary at Shweir School, where he served as head-master.

On July 29, Miss Effie Stuart Hardin died in Beirut less than one week after she consented to be treated in the hospital for typhoid fever. She had come to Beirut expecting to get much needed rest and change in visiting her sister in Constantinople, but the fever was far advanced and could not be allayed.

On August 14, Miss Emily Gordon Bird died at 'Abeih, after a lingering illness of over five months. She was the grandchild of missionary ancestry and enjoyed the singular felicity of doing her life-work at 'Abeih, where her grandfather, Isaac Bird, and her father, William Bird, lived and labored so long and effectively for the welfare of Lebanon.

Her Christian simplicity, her sincerity, her love for the people, her devotion to the women and especially her tender regard for the children, were emphasized and made particularly attractive by her intimate knowledge of the customs and language of the people.

EVANGELISTIC.—The Report is as follows:

The ninety Syrian workers of the Station were classified as follows: Seven ordained pastors, one of whom is retired from service; seven licensed preachers; twelve teachers in boarding schools; forty men teachers in day-schools; twenty-two women teachers in day-schools, and two men in charge of free reading rooms.

When we look back over the work that has been done, it seems insignificant when compared with what we can see needs to be done. Of the hundreds of towns and villages in Lebanon and the Baalbec and Bukaa districts we have touched but about fifty with our preachling and teaching. Regular preaching was conducted in thirty-eight places. Irregular preaching in eleven more. The Sacraments were administered in 38 places and schools were kept open in 34 towns with two schools in 10 of them, making a total of 44 schools, with an attendance of 2,331, of whom 641 were girls. There are now 9 organized churches which send delegates to the Lebanon Presbytery and 30 unorganized groups of Protestant Christians, some large and some small. The total number of communicants is 776. Thirty were admitted on profession of faith during the year. The number of adherents reported is 2,182 and the average attendance on preaching services is over 2,000. Thirty-five Sunday-schools have been conducted with an enrolled membership of 2,295. The total number of pupils in day-schools and boarding schools for the year is 2,785, all from Lebanon Station. The total amount paid for education in the limits of the Station is 253,079½ piasters, exclusive of the amounts paid to the Syrian Protestant College. Inclusive of the sums paid to the S. P. College, the amount paid for church work and education reached the grand total of 512,885 piasters.

EDUCATIONAL.—Lebanon School for Boys at Suk el Ghurb.—

This year 9 sects represented in the school: Christians, 127; non-Christians, 35. The most noticeable feature is the large number of Druzes, about one-fifth of the school.

Two Turkish liras were sent by the school to Rev. Frederick N. Jessup, at Tabriz, and 700 piasters to help the Schneller Orphanage at Jerusalem.

Shweir School.-

With the coming of the new year, better days dawned for this school. Under the management of Mr. Scherer we now have cause to rejoice that they have arrived. At the opening of the new school year the local patronage was 89 per cent. greater than last year; while the school has insisted on full pay it has not lost anything by so doing. The fee has been paid and the numbers in attendance have decidedly increased.

TRIPOLI STATION.

The year 1910 will be known in the history of the Tripoli field as the year the railroad was built from Tripoli to Hums, and the wonderful awakening of its people out of the sleep of centuries to indulge in unheard of developments along all lines of business endeavor.

It is with regret we chronicle the fact that for health reasons Mr. and Mrs. Brown resigned their connection with the Mission and the Station, and sailed for America in April last.

In July Miss La Grange left Tripoli for the United States on her well-earned furlough, after eleven years of faithful service since her last furlough.

Miss Dora Eddy, the daughter of Rev. W. K. Eddy, reached Tripoli November 25, and began her duties in the Tripoli Girls' School.

Dwight Henry Potter, infant son of Mrs. Dwight E. Potter, after a brief illness, died on November 24.

EVANGELISTIC.—The most important item in the work of the Station during the year was the annual meeting of the Presbytery, which was held in the village of Yesedeyeh, August 3-7.

All the churches, with one exception, that of Beinu-which for special reasons was not represented—came to the meeting with smiling faces and presented, with manifest pride, some excellent financial reports. Every church had met its obligations in full to pastor and teacher, and in two places, Hums and Feruzeh, where on account of special needs there were deficits, there was no thought of repudiation, but shouldering the burden bravely for the next year.

The keynote of the meeting was Evangelism, and after heartsearching prayers, the meeting adjourned with the thought uppermost in everyone's mind that the time was ripe for a forward movement.

Contributions of the 10 churches (Beinu did not send in their report), are as follows:

Church.			Contributions. Piasters.
Mahardeh	I	8	3,313
Hama	I	9	3,204

The gifts of the churches for their own pastoral support increased 7,000 piasters over last year.

The benevolent contributions were less than last year, as that year there were many large gifts to the relief of Adana sufferers.

Average attendance at worship, 1,692, about the same as last year. Sunday-school membership, 1,795, an increase of 130, with a total of 27 schools. There were 3 received into membership outside the regular organized churches and 8 baptisms; a full total of 34 added to the church in all the field and 68 baptisms.

The work among the villages to the East of Hums is giving us great pleasure and we hear from time to time of the good work being done by our Protestants on their visits for business or pleasure to places where we have no organized work. In the last year's report mention was made of the bitter experience of our church members at Em Dulab; of the way they were driven out of their homes by the landlords, all because they would not at his bidding steal grain from the threshing floor before the tax gatherers took their part. Last year's report left these poor, distressed people scattered to many places in quest of a home, having lost everything, the accumulation and savings of sixteen years, but their bedding and animals. Notwithstanding their distress and auxiety, they never lost courage; that the Lord would permit them to lose in the end never entered their minds; the future looked indeed dark, but their faith was rewarded in a remarkable way. A rich Moslem, one of a family which has been the sworn enemy of the owner of Em Dulab, had a large tract of land an hour from Hums. Em Dulab is six hours distant. He said if all the people would come and work some of his land he would build them a village. They gladly consented, and in the early spring they took possession of their new homes. They call it Jedaideh-Em Dulab. They love that place so much they could not bear to give up the name, but as the landholder called the place Jedaideh, they joined the word Em Dulab. Last spring we visited them. We drove amid warm welcome from our friends into a wide yard, dismounted and went to the new room set apart for the church and school. As we neared, we noticed, written in large Arabic characters on the sides of the door, "I am Jehovah thy God, who brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage. Thou shalt have no other Gods before me" (Ex. xx. 2, 3). We joined the people inside the room—thirteen families, eighty-two souls in all—for the usual Sunday services, and we never saw a more happy gathering. Their homes lacked the plenty noted in the ones they left at Em Dulab, but, like the name, everything was new. The crop of grain was good; better than for several years; they were nearer to market; less fear of the dry season further East, and in a few years they will be better off than if they had not made the change.

WOMAN'S WORK.—

The women's meetings in the Meena continue to be of interest. They are held in three neighborhoods and excellent attention is given. One of the women who had been given a New Testament purchased for herself a whole Bible during the summer. Occasionally Moslem neighbors are induced to attend and seem to enjoy the privilege. The home of the family of the man mentioned in the Medical Report, whose son is to join the church the next communion, is one of the delightful places to visit; every one is so interested in everything said. Where the Spirit is there the Lord is waiting to save to the uttermost. The women of Tripoli Church maintained a weekly meeting throughout the year, with Mrs. Nelson as leader. The attendance ranged from 16 to 42, the average about 28. Systematic Bible study was faithfully carried on. Scripture passages and hymus were committed to memory. About half the attendants were Protestant women; the others almost entirely were from the Greek Orthodox Church, several of the latter being regular interested attendants.

Neighborhood meetings were held on Thursday afternoons, in the quarter of the city called the "Kubbeh." Different ones of the church members have helped Mrs. Nelson in these simple informal gatherings and a large number of women have heard the Gospel. Visits have been made during the year also to Moslem homes, where usually a cordial welcome was found and an open door awaited the missionary.

In April last Miss Hunting, Rev. Habib Subbiych, pastor of the Tripoli Charch, and Mr. Nicol spent two weeks at Sufeta, Yesidiah, and other villages in the north. They were very much encouraged, and the report they bring of the interest manifested leads us to hope for a far-reaching evangelistic movement during the coming year. In every place people were willing and anxious to hear the Word, and gathered in crowds to listen attentively to simple Gospel sermons. Dr. Nelson, at the same time as above mentioned, made a tour of the villages in the south of Tripoli and found much to encourage us in the hope of better things.

We report this year 29 elementary schools; 2 boarding schools for boys, including that of Hums, which is under native management, and 1 girls' boarding school. Teachers, 38 men and 17 women. Pupils, 1,164 boys, about the same as last year, and 628 girls, an increase of 100 over that of last year. Total number of pupils, 1,792, 258 of whom are in boarding schools.

There are 8 schools self-supporting, wholly or in part under native management. Seventy-four native workers, compared with 60 last year. Total contributions to all objects, 523,214 piasters, an increase of 44,000 piasters over that of last year.

The gifts of the churches for their pastoral support were increased 7,000 piasters over that of last year. The contributions of the churches this year was 106,316. Eighteen years ago it was 2,500 piasters.

EDUCATIONAL.—

The country has gone wild over education, especially native effort at establishing local boarding schools. In a small village south of Tripoli the people have printed a Prospectus for a new boarding school: "We have engaged teachers of the age. Pupils prepared for direct entrance to the Syrian Protestant College. We are prepared to lay the foundation of an education that will fit boys for the profession of Doctors, Lawyers and Teachers," whereas not a teacher had been engaged nor a single detail prepared. Another small village had engaged with a young man to take twelve boys into his home in the village and keep them there, the parents sending in the food each day. We hear of many ambitious schemes for the establishment of boys' boarding schools. We are delighted at the desire for education, and, also, that the natives have the desire to establish schools of their own, and trust the time may come when the missionary can give into their hands this branch of the work. But for the present, however, we see little indication that these ambitious schemes are going to amount to much, as the native as yet lacks the persistence as well as sound management to look further than the present, and any one who has had to do with boarding schools knows that he must have the future in mind as well as the present.

The Tripoli Girls' School reports the total number of boarders for the last year as 60, the day-pupils 122, making an enrollment of 101 in all departments, with an average daily attendance at school of 135. One of the boarders was a Moslem girl, daughter of the Kajmakam of Akar. Another Moslem girl was a half-boarder and others were enrolled as day pupils.

There was no decided religious movement among the girls, but there were three additions to the C. E. Society and three other applicants were put on probation. 1,723.20 piasters was raised, most of which went into the treasury of the Home Mission Committee, a lesser amount to Leper work in India, and one pound to the Woman's Branch of the native Society for the Education of youth. A class of girls was graduated June 24, acquitting themselves creditably on the evening of their exercises. The opening of the present year we have enrolled 55 boarders and 80 day-pupils, a total of 144.

Boys' Boarding School.—

The year was one of steady hard work in the boys' boarding school. The numbers in attendance were all that the premises would accommodate and the work done was satisfactory in every way. The graduating class was the best we have had, and five offered the entrance examination; all did creditably and were accepted by the College, though only three of them actually matriculated. During the year there were 75 enrolled as boarders, though there were never more than 71 present at one time. The number of day-pupils was the same as the boarders. Financially, the record of former years was maintained, and though the expenses of the year were large, the balance sheet at the end of the year was clear and about $175 worth of supplies were carried over to the new year. The Y. M. C. A. and the younger boys' society, the "Soldiers of Christ," held their regular meetings, and there was a good, earnest spirit throughout the whole year, though there was no distinct religious awakening. When the burning of the Jerusalem Orphanage was announced, near the end of the year, the boys in the society at once responded most heartily with a generous contribution for the help of their more unfortunate comrades.

The visit of Rev. Geo. B. Stewart, D.D., of Auburn, in the spring was a pleasant occasion and we wish we might have more such experiences in seeing our friends from abroad.

The native Protestant school at the Meena, part of Tripoli, under the direction of the Tripoli Church, has had a successful year, and was almost self-supporting from fees from the pupils.

MEDICAL.-

Dr. Harris begins his Twenty-seventh Annual Report with thanks to the good Lord for His goodness in giving health and strength to finish the duties of the day, to give healing to the sick, comfort to the poor and weak, taking every advantage of the many opportunities given us to preach, teach and talk of the love of the dear Saviour who died for our sins.

An interesting profitable four weeks were spent at Hums in the spring, and it gave us the opportunity to do many operations and see a lot of sick people. The people in these places are simple and almost childlike in their thoughts, and like a child they soon forget the lesson of the day. They at times drink in the truths of the Gospel, and we trust that the impression made at the time of the services before the clinics may be lasting and that they may gain some good in their lives.

Dr. Elsie Harris reports a happy and useful year. She spends every morning at the hospital, holds a clinic for women, assists at operations, some of which she does herself, with her father as assistant.

The afternoons she spends in the city, where she has a clinic room, and her practice, both at the house and in her visits to the homes of her patients, is increasing as time passes. She never lets an opportunity pass for speaking a word for the Saviour and His place in the affairs of the world. She emphasizes the fact in her work among the Moslem women that there is always a chance for personal work, for getting nearer their hearts, by showing an interest in their small family affairs. They hunger for sympathy, a thing they do not often get, and when they see that you have a personal interest in them, and are not selfish in it, you make an impression they do not soon forget. She tells us how glad she is and what a blessing it is to be able to come in touch with these simple women and to be of service to bring some bright moments into their dull lives

SIDON STATION.

WORKERS.—Rev. Samuel Jessup, D.D., Rev. G. A. Ford, D.D., and Mrs. Ford, Rev. and Mrs. George C. Doolittle, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart D. Jessup, Miss C. H. Brown, Miss M. L. Law, Miss J. C. Somerville, Mr. E. D. Ford, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Ford, 4 ordained preachers, 6 unordained preachers, 9 preacher-teachers, 22 men teachers, 12 women teachers, 2 helpers.

FURLOUGHS.—Mrs. and Mrs. S. D. Jessup and Miss Law were absent on furlough the entire year, and Rev. Samuel Jessup, D.D., from the 20th of May, at Edinburgh, as delegate to the Conference, then in America. We rejoice that they have all returned refreshed by their experiences.

EVANGELISTIC.—

There were 41 additions to the churches of Sidon Station this year; 48 infants were baptized, seven of these at one time in Mughdusheh, where also 8 adults were received into church membership, making it the banner Station in the Sidon field for the year. The brethren of this village, under the energetic leadership of their preacher, who is not above working with his own hands, enlarged their church building and erected a belfry. This is the place where sixteen years ago Rev. W. K. Eddy and a Syrian preacher were stoned out of the town.

In like spirit did the people of Ain es Shaareh add a belfry to their church in unwavering faith that the bell would some day be supplied. Then they repaired the church roof. Old, white-bearded men (the youth are all in America), women, boys and girls united in this willing service, bringing water in pottery jars from the fountain, mixing the clay, carrying the briars, and distributing the various component elements over the roof. Ain es Shaareh is our most distant outpost, beyond the Hermon range. The elder of this church is over six feet tall, simple of dress and language, an earnest, upright, consistent Christian. He lives by the Book, strictly observes the Lord's Day, abhors deceit, and is respected and trusted of all men. For a long time he refused to go to America, because he had heard that no one could enter the country or succeed in business without lying. In his youth he was a wild, lawless character, but a severe illness brought him near to God. He faced squarely about, and has ever since been a true Christian and a noble example.

Our youngest out-station is Kataleh, less than a year old. a village of forty or fifty houses, on the slope of a beautiful Lebanon hillside, some fifteen miles from Sidon, and has long been held under the sway of the Catholic Bishop. Displeased with his political intrigues and censoriousness, they threw off his yoke, and turned to the Americans for guidance. We improved this opportunity to plant the Gospel seed in Kataleh and the neighboring villages. after Sunday our best preachers were sent there, one of them for a long succession of week-ends. They were intensely eager to listen to the message, profoundly ignorant of the Bible. Their crass conceptions of Protestantism also revealed the malicious teachings of the Catholic clergy in the land. A Protestant to them had always meant an unbeliever, or a liar, or a trickster. When a text was announced from the epistle of Paul, the apostle to the Galatians, a murmur went around the room. "Why, they have the apostles! They do not deny the epistles and the gospels!" The women of Kataleh are deeply interested in this movement. In other such defections from the Catholic faith the women have generally been a stumbling-block in the path of reform. But not so here! One day last spring, by appointment with Dr. Ford, a large delegation of men and women came to Sidon, walking, and spent hours in catechetical instruction. The men had left their business and many of the women their babies, and walked fifteen miles each way for Gospel food! No loaves and fishes in that action! This work has been undertaken by us in faith, with no available funds in hand, and the people have been explicitly told this fact. No promises have been made, no inducements held out, difficulties and possible losses even magnified. But they have not wavered. Mr. and Mrs. Doolittle once spent a week-end there, taking the little missionary organ. Dr. and Mrs. Ford visited the place twice, on the second occasion accompanied by the Sidon elder. Communium was held the floor being as a grandful. by the Sidon elder. Communion was held, the floor being so crowded with worshipers that the elder could hardly pass among them to distribute the elements. Seven carefully chosen members were received into church fellowship, the beginning of the new order in Kataleh church life. Lately the Druze Bek, who owns one-half of the village, was induced to allow the Protestants to repair an old, roofless house and use it for at least five years as a school and chapel. This was a great victory for our party over the bigoted Catholic clergy, and the sting is more poignant, as this house adjoins the Catholic church!

The Syrian Evangelistic Society of Sidon has maintained the Free Reading Rooms and paid most of the salary of the man in charge, and has also paid the salaries of the teachers in a village school of nearly 100 pupils. They have afforded pleasure and profit by high-class lectures and entertainments, and have attracted and held the interest of the men of the church in these philanthropic endeavors. There is a balance of $500 in the treasury for future demands. The Reading Rooms have had an average daily patronage of about 25 readers, one-third of them Moslems. Catholic priests also visited the rooms. Many Bibles and portions have been judiciously bestowed and religious literature distributed.

The women of Sidon Church have conducted weekly meetings for Bible study, often in the homes of non-Protestants. As many as twenty families have thus opened their doors. Special meetings for Moslem women were also held.

Dr. Samuel Jessup made an extended tour in the summer of 1909. High up over the Hermon range, 8,000 feet above sea level, toiled the white-bearded veteran of 77 years, now the senior member among the men of the Syria Mission. He visited many places where primitive living is in vogue. In one he brought to an end a long-standing quarrel, after a heavy day's work of house-to-house visitation with the church elder. Then a peaceful communion service was held. At another point two new elders were elected on a Sunday morning; when the ordination service in the evening was about to begin one of the elders-elect fled and had to be hunted up and brought back. Like Jonah of old, he has since then served acceptably.

Indirect Results.—

Besides these open evidences of Protestant power and growth, there is the unseen, unnamed result of missionary work in hundreds and thousands of lives touched and influenced indirectly. Churches and schools, calls and business relations are all a means under the grace of God for good. On New Year's Day over 200 men of all sects and conditions called upon the missionaries. The importance of the Protestant faith in the world was emphasized by a memorial service for the late King Edward. At the request of the British Vice-Consul, a Catholic, the Protestant clergy of Sidon conducted this service in our Assembly Hall in the presence of Moslems, Metawily, Jews, Maronites, Greek Orthodox Catholics and Protestants. The Moslem Governor and his staff were present on the platform with vice-consuls of many nations. At the close of the exercises a representative of the Society of Union and Progress arose and in the course of his remarks thanked England for her firm, political backing during the recent revolution, but thanked America far more for the magnificent educational plant all through the Empire that had prepared and stimulated Ottomans to take the important step of July, 1908.

Is it not something worth while, when the Maronite Governor of a predominantly Maronite district, once a pupil in the Suk el Gharb Boarding School, openly proclaims, "I love those who love the missionaries, and hate those who hate them!" Without subscribing to the latter part of this statement, we may easily see the effect of Protestant schooling. The leaven is at work. The present political unrest, the ever-increasing desire for education, the frequent repudiation of clerical despotism, the acknowledged superiority of evangelical standards, the spirit of liberty, the groping after better things, all point to the dawn of a nobler day.

EDUCATION.—Educational statistics reveal a steady upward tendency, numerical and financial. In College and boarding schools, beside pupils from nearly every regular outpost, there were students from thirty other places in Sidon field. These pupils receive good teaching that they carry back with them to the places which we are unable to open for regular

There were 1,500 pupils from the Sidon field in village and boarding schools. Every out-station paid something toward education. The last place to submit in the payment of day-school fees was 'Alma. Those sturdy and stubborn farmers said that for all these years they had never paid fees, and they did not propose to do so. The teacher began his school on the appointed day and told the children that they must pay. Next day he rang the bell, but no pupils came. This continued for nearly a month. Religious services were also boycotted. Finally the villagers realized that the loss was all on their side and yielded the point.

Of the 24 schools under Mission and Presbytery control five made no call on us for financial aid. Beside these, several independent schools, taught by our pupils, solicit American interest and examination. This is due to the prestige gained by our schools throughout Syria. In Judeideh, for example, despite the presence of a well-appointed Russian school for girls, where everything is free—even books and stationery—our girls' school is full to overflowing and 2,180 piasters were paid in fees last year. Our schools are pre-eminently Biblical. Scripture verses, chapters, catechism and hymns are taught to all regardless of religious sect and without exception. The children learn the principal Biblical incidents, and become little seed-sowers as they study and review these stories in their homes. At the yearly examination of the "Book of Selected Scripture Texts" in the Sidon Seminary Dr. Jessup examined a class of girls for an hour, and not one mistake was made, though he called for the verses in many ways, in course, at random, by their references, by their first letter, according to the mornings or evenings of the week, verses for different members of the body, etc.

The total of all fees from pupils of Sidon field paid into College, boarding and day-schools amounted to 255,930 piasters ($9,140). Of this Judeideh expended 41,000, lbl 35,000, Sidon 32,000, Tyre 15,000, Hesbeya 13,000, and Jezzin 10,000. A quarter of a century ago the whole field did not expend what was paid this year by Sidon city alone. Again this year the harmony existing between our Mission and the British Syrian Mission was emphasized by an invitation to examine their city' calculation.

their girls' schools in and about Hasbeya.

Sidon Seminary.—The following is an epitome of Miss Brown's report of Sidon Seminary:

The school year began October 13, 1909, with seven Syrian teachers, all our own graduates and all church members. In the absence of Miss Law, Miss Somerville, of Beirut, conversant with the Arabic, aided Miss Brown. She rendered conscientious service in the higher English classes, in the singing, and in sharing various responsibilities.

In December one of the teachers, Miss Karimeh Kaukebany, died suddenly of a malignant pustule, the first death in the school since its inception in 1860. She was a faithful, conscientious teacher, and a true Christian.

The school was visited with epidemics of dangue fever and measles. Early one morning some shavings caught fire in our wood room. piled high with débris, but the efforts of the washer-woman averted a serious conflagration.

Upon the rearrangement of the artesian water supply, the old, rusty pipes were exchanged for larger ones. While Miss Law was in America she received two generous donations toward this object.

Despite heavy extra expense, the balance sheet for the year showed a credit instead of the deficit we had feared.

On March 21 a public exercise by the four graduates was held in our school-room. The diplomas were presented June 24 in the Assembly Hall in connection with the graduation exercises of the boys.

A day-school entertainment, prepared mainly by the two teachers, proved a great success. The special feature was a very pretty "drill."

During the year four pupils joined the church.

The school missionary society had pleasant and profitable meetings. $65 were distributed in thirds, one to Mrs. Edward Ford for work in Africa, one to Pastor Schneller in Jerusalem to help in rebuilding the orphanage recently burned, and one to the Home Missionary Society of Sidon.

The total number of pupils in school was 127, 46 of them Protestants. 32,000 piasters were paid in fees.

Gerard Institute.—The synopsis of Dr. Ford's report on Gerard Institute is as follows:

Mr. Edwards D. Ford, having finished his three years' term as special English teacher, left for the United States. He did thorough, conscientious work, that gave tonic to our standard of instruction.

Mr. Tenny S. Ford, with his bride, spent a year in Sidon, renewing the friendships of his previous three years' term as English teacher. He erected a tile roof over the new Ramapo Hall, that is probably unique in this country, covering an area of 120 by 70 feet, with no support of any kind except the four walls.

Mr. Jessup's absence was a good test of the quality of our Syrian teachers, who deserve high praise. Of the thirteen all but two (the teachers of French and Turkish) are consistent members of the evangelical church, and all but two are former pupils of the Institute. All but three are experienced teachers, well on in life. The policy of securing high-grade teachers has greatly added to the expenses.

True to our word, our numbers were reduced by nine boarders, though more was received in fees than last year. The booming of new boarding schools at Tripoli and Hums has helped to reduce the number coming from that field by about 15.

There was no Normal Class, but 14 were graduated in the Fifth Six of these have since taken up teaching, and six have entered College.

The Fifth Class for the new year (1910-1911) is 24, the largest in the school's history.

Imagine our surprise to receive lately a letter from Mecca, calling for a Catalogue or programme of studies of the Institute. And still more that it should come with a nice letter from the head of the Moslem school there, who signed himself "Your friend"!

Field Day came off in excellent shape and was carried on throughout with an excellent spirit. The blues carried a silk banner, on which was painted a hill, with the blues marching up it chasing the reds down the other side. Of course, the blues won, and the banner was sent by the captain to Mr. Jessup in the United States.

The new Ramapo Hall at Dar es Salaam was opened this fall with 42 boarders, all composed of the younger boys. The building was dedicated October 16, attended by the pupils and many people from Sidon and the near villages.

The Missionary Society, with Dr. Jessup as President, kept its high standard of interest and activity.

The Sunday morning preaching at the Assembly Hall, by the Superintendent of the Institute, for the pupils of both schools, was kept up throughout the year, as were the Endeavor Society and all the other religious activities, including the special meeting each Sunday after the preaching for church members and inquirers in the Superintendent's study.

We had not long ago a pupil from the Nusairi village of el Ghajar, on the brink of the upper Jordan. There is no more benighted village in our field. This Muhammed Said, before finishing the course, and after a year of preaching, emigrated to South America. He has just written back to his benefactress that he has dropped his name of Muhammed and become a Christian and is anxious to have his brother educated at the Institute.

There were 157 boarding pupils in the school, 20 orphans, 103 day-pupils, making a total of 280.

CHINESE AND KOREANS IN CALIFORNIA.

Rev. J. H. Laughlin sends the following report:

THE CHINESE.

The Board of Foreign Missions still retains its work at San Francisco Los Angeles Oakland and Alameda cisco, Los Angeles, Oakland and Alameda.

The Mission building at Santa Rosa, also, is the property of the Board, although the Chinese members are connected with the American church of the town, and the work is carried on independently of the Board's direction.

The building was a gift to the Board, by friends of the Mission, nearly thirty years ago. During this period the Board has paid for insurance, the laying of sidewalks, and (lately) the construction of street gutters; all other expenses have been borne by the Chinese members of the Mission.

SAN FRANCISCO.

The year has been one of beautiful harmony, and a good degree of encouragement. Attendance on the church services has averaged as follows:

Sunday morning I	OI
Sunday evening	55
Sunday-school	48
Weekly prayer meeting	48

The day-school, supported and controlled by the Occidental Board, has had a prosperous year, with an average attendance of 45.

The night-school was large until about the 1st of August, when the attendance began to diminish, and to the end of the year continued to fall away, making an average for the year of 36. The Missions of the other denominations had precisely the same experience. The explanation, probably, is, that some of the students left town, others got jobs that precluded their attending school, and that the uncommonly rigid enforcement of the exclusion law in recent months has prevented the coming in of new students.

The gain in church membership is 23—7 by letter and 16 on confession of faith in the Saviour. Because of the fluctuating character of our community, the net gain is only 6, leaving an Active Roll of 138 and a Reserve List of 132.

The contributions for the year are as follows:

LOS ANGELES.

Rev. J. H. Stewart, who is in charge of this Station, reports services regularly maintained on Sundays and Thursday evenings, with fair attendance, considering the widely scattered abodes of the members. The attendance at Sunday-school, on Sabbath afternoons, is 32. classes for the study of the Bible have been larger than in former years. Half of the members are not, as yet, avowed Christians.

The Morrison Missionary Band has regularly each month sent its contribution for the evangelization of China.

The Children's Missionary Band has held regular meetings.
The people of the church have contributed to the Boards of Foreign Missions, Home Missions and Ministerial Relief.

In the night-school about 75 men and boys have been under instruction, the nightly attendance being 17.

Only I adult and 4 children have been baptized. Mr. Stewart's heart is saddened by the meagreness of the harvest, but he gets consolation from the knowledge that the good seed sown has measured large.

THE KOREANS.

Rev. J. H. Laughlin:

Our work among them is confined to the towns of Southern California, with a somewhat loose connection with those living in Yucatan, Mexico. The Korean evangelist, W. C. Pang, continues to improve his mind by attending school in Los Angeles, making frequent trips for the inspiration and edification of his fellow-countrymen in the neighboring towns. He makes monthly reports to me. The following gains in membership have been realized:

	Los Angeles
4.6	Riverside	5
"	Claremont	19
"	Redlands	12
"	Other towns	Ι5
	•	ر

A loss of two was suffered at Upland.

The entire membership is now 183, less than 10 of whom are women.

All are connected with the local American churches.

Their contributions for the year amounted to $707.10, of which nearly $500 went to the furnishing and maintenance of their new Mission Home in Los Angeles. The rent of this Home costs $300, of which the Board granted $100. This fine body of Christian young men in California are also helping their poorer brethren in Yucatan to defray the expenses of the Christian Home there.

In Yucatan the Korean Christians have been in distress and peril, owing to the native revolution against Mexico. The religious services, however, are reported to have been uninterrupted, and real progress in the Lord's work has been witnessed. The membership has increased from 250 to 300, and the contributions of those impoverished Christians amount to more than $400. The two Korean evangelists are still at work among them, the one receiving from his native brethren $10 a month toward his traveling expense; the other entirely at his own charges.

OAKLAND AND ALAMEDA.

Mission under care of Rev. I. M. Condit:

The Missionary Society has met monthly in which the Chinese offer their gifts for the support of their native Church in China. The C. E. Society meets every Saturday night, except the consecration service, which is held on Thursday night on account of the union meetings of all the Chinese Missions. An interesting feature of Sabbath morning service is the large number of children that attend. Mothers often come, bringing their little ones with them. The Sunday evening service is mostly confined to men, many of whom being in American families cannot attend in the morning, but are in their place at the evening service. Many of the families who used to live in San Francisco before the earthquake have remained with us in Oakland.

A marked evidence of this fact is the large day-school of the Oc-

A marked evidence of this fact is the large day-school of the Occidental Board, our school-room being filled to its full capacity with children under Miss Hatch's efficient charge. Our night-school, mostly of heathen young men and boys, closes with a Bible lesson. This school was large early in the year, but has somewhat decreased. The reason for this may be on account of fear from the upheaval in the Immigration Department. The interesting Sunday-school for the Chinese is still held in the First Church, as it has been since the Mission was opened thirty-five years ago.

ALAMEDA is still under charge of our earnest consecrated teacher, Miss Belle Garrette. She gives the cheering report of five who have united with the First Church in Alameda, which gives the Mission her fostering care, and seven who have united with the C. E. Society. The night-school, which has enrolled 42 scholars, has been carried on each night except Saturday, when the Chinese Y. M. C. A. meets. Each night the school closes with a Bible lesson.

Several members of the Mission, as is true also of Oakland, are now in China, where we feel they are testifying for their Master, and we hope and believe sowing much good seed of the kingdom. At both these Stations the local expenses of caring for the Mission have been met by the Chinese themselves, and in Alameda they have also paid in part the salaries of the teachers in the school.

THE WOMAN'S OCCIDENTAL BOARD.

The year closing February 1, 1911, has been full to the brim of activity to the very close.

The report opens with an account of rescue work:

Five rescues of unusual interest have been made the past week, one of the touching cases being a young woman of the student class, belonging to a family of high caste, from whom she was kidnapped in China, drugged, taken aboard a ship and sent to accomplices in America, then sold in America for more than $3,000. She lived in degrading bondage until Miss Cameron rescued her about February I. Her family in China have been almost wild with anxiety until notified of her deliverance. She will be sent to her people under care of a missionary.

The Mission Home is full to overflowing, the latest addition being a family of seven, wards of the Board of the North Pacific. The eldest daughter was about to be sold by a drunken, dissolute father, who had already sought to kill the mother. The anxious little mother is troubled now as to how her big family is to live in a strange city, and an anxious Mission Board is wondering how the seven mouths are to be kept filled. This large addition to the Mission family makes more than 30 children under ten years of age, a tremendous care to ten or twelve young girls in the Home who act as little mothers to these orphan children.

The Board has found time in its manifold work to develop and send forth five teachers from its family of homeless girls:

Kum Ying was the first to take up the duty of teaching. Later she married, went to St. Louis, where she passed to her reward at the end of the first year, an honored and beloved little wife.

Ah Ching was given a kindergarten training by Miss Grace Barnard, who made it an offering to Missions. She is now at work in Shanghai under the fostering care of Rev. and Mrs. G. F. Fitch, of the Shanghai Mission Press.

Tye Leung is teacher and interpreter in the employ of the Government, stationed at Angel Island, the Ellis Island of California.

Ah Lou is teaching in the Chinese night-school of the Mission Church, 911 Stockton Street. She is well spoken of in her official capacity.

Margaret Woo was left by her mother a ward of the Board. She is assistant in the Home School and is most helpful.

All these young teachers are in active service, giving promise of increasing usefulness, but Kum Ying, who has passed to her home on

The added dignity and prestige which has come to the Educational Department of the Home, by the opening of classes in the Chinese language has brought a number of interesting children as boarders. Three bright young girls just over from China, whose father is a Methodist minister, are day-pupils and make good progress.

The Chinese teacher, Yung Yee Goo, is a refined, cultured woman, who has just come to us from China, who bears the stamp of the splendid Christian training received in the True Light Seminary under our own Miss Harriett Noyes.

Yung Yee Goo is a resident teacher in the Home, and her influence is felt in all branches. Even our babies are beginning to write Chinese letters—a branch of study heretofore much needed in our work.

EVANGELISTIC AND OUTSIDE SCHOOLS.

These two departments of work are from year to year being more closely united. The children in the outside Mission schools are becoming unconscious little missionaries by taking the Bible truths taught in the schools and also the Gospel songs into their homes and the fathers' places of business, thus drawing their parents toward the Church. Mothers attend the King's Daughters' meetings, and Christmas exercises in which they manifest a deep interest as the story of the Christ child is told them in their own language.

There are two outside schools under the care of the Occidental Board, The Occidental School, 911 Stockton Street, San Francisco, and The Condit School, Harrison Street, Oakland.

A copy of the Gospel is given each scholar as they begin to read men read them in their homes saying, "We learned to read in the Mission School."

Mrs. Chang, a Christian Chinese woman recently from the Christian College in Canton, is reading the Bible and teaching in the Chinese homes, the women listen eagerly to the Gospel truths.

Yung Yee Goo, the teacher, is doing evangelistic work in Chinatown as well as teaching in the Home School.

THE JAPANESE IN CALIFORNIA.

Dr. E. A. Sturge:

The past has been an encouraging year in the work for the Japanese in California. Sixty-five adults have received baptism. Two Mission chapels and a manse have been erected by the Japanese residents, and another Mission with preaching hall and class-rooms has been opened in the Japanese section of Los Angeles. Like the natural rains in this portion of the world, the spiritual showers have been more copious in the northern part of the State, only a few mercy drops having fallen in Southern California.

WATSONVILLE.

Watsonville, in the famous apple district, has been our banner Mission for the year 1910. The members have exhibited great earnestness and activity along every line of Christian work. After first giving themselves to the Lord, they contributed $1,200 for a new chapel, with a floor space 26 by 52 feet, to accommodate the increasing number of worshipers. This new house of worship will be ready for dedication next month. Twenty-one adults and 5 children received baptism, and 7 others were added by letter, making their present membership about 60. Their entire contribution towards self-support was $1,615 against $480 received from the Board. The outlook for the future of this work is very hopeful.

SALINAS.

This Station, in a valley of the same name, includes Carmel by the Sea, and Monterey, the oldest town in California. In Carmel an entire family, consisting of father, mother and three children, received baptism and consecrated themselves to God. There are only a few Japanese in this seaside village, which cannot be called a field; but which may be compared to a tiny window-garden, in which one consecrated woman has sown a handful of seed, which has already borne a number of beautiful flowers. In Monterey two young men were baptized and several hundred dollars were contributed to the cause of Japanese evangelization. We ought to have a Mission home and a resident worker in Monterey. In Salinas, Mr. and Mrs. Kobayashi have done excellent work. Nine adults have received baptism and the members have contributed $473 toward the support of the Mission, receiving $360 from the Board.

SAN FRANCISCO.

A lack of unity in the San Francisco Mission led to the resignation of the Japanese pastor, and interfered to some extent with the fruitfulness of the church during the past twelve months. We are glad to be able to report the addition of 12 adults upon profession and 1 by letter. We are beginning the new year with our new pastor, Rev. K. Miyazaki; and we have every reason to believe that our next report will be more encouraging. The rent and incidental expenses connected with the Sutter Street Mission are borne by the members, and amount to $720 per year. An interesting feature of this work is a daily Bible class, with an average of 8 members, meeting every evening for the study of God's Work. An effort has been made to make our Japanese Y. M. C. A. inter-denominational; but as yet this institution occupying our Haight Street building is composed of Presbyterians only, who now number 130, making this department of the work independent of any support from the Board.

HANFORD.

This Mission, under the care of Mrs. M. A. Harlow, includes unorganized groups of believers at Visalia, Fowler, and Armona. Regular visits have been made to these places by the Japanese pastor, Rev. S. Miura, with the result that 8 adults were baptized in Visalia, I at Fowler, and 4 at Hanford, making 13 in all. The combined membership of the church at Hanford and the Mission at Visalia is 49, and their contributions toward the support of the work $743.

STOCKTON.

The Mission at Stockton is self-supporting, and consists of two rented rooms, the larger used as a meeting place, and the smaller as the study and bedroom of the Japanese evangelist. The Christians are earnest and the meetings are well attended. Frequent street services have been held. It is difficult to tabulate the results of the year's work in this field. Many of the Japanese Christians of Stockton have the impression that baptism is not necessary to church membership, and as a consequence only one young man has received this sacrament during the past twelve months. The members have shown their interest by contributing $120 for rent and about $360 as the meagre support of their minister.

WINTERSBURG.

This self-supporting Mission in Orange County has accomplished wonderful things during the past year. Almost unaided, they have built a manse and a chapel, supported an evangelist and his wife, and been awarded the Christian Endeavor banner by the Orange County Union, as an evidence of their zeal in Christian work. Mr. J. Nakamura, assisted by some of the Christian members, during a two weeks' evangelistic campaign, traveled over 225 miles, visiting 40 families and camps, preaching to 450 individuals, and distributing 60 copies of the Gospel according to Matthew, and 18 copies of the New Testament. Four souls were converted during this tour. Five adults received baptism during the year. This little congregation of a dozen Christians, assisted by many of their countrymen who sympathize with them, should make some of our American churches blush for shame.

LOS ANGELES.

The Japanese church in Los Angeles is numerically next to the strongest, having 110 members on the roll, but, because of peculiar conditions, it has been for two years past the least fruitful of our eight Missions in California. Five were added to this church by certificate, and an equal number of young men are at present candidates for baptism. A heavy financial burden, and some misunderstanding that has arisen from the same, has greatly lessened the efficiency of this work for two years past. It is greatly to be desired that some way may be found of helping the members of this Mission to lift the debt of $5,000 which now rests upon their Mission property, in order that their attention may be more steadily fixed on spiritual things. A prosperous evening school with about 50 pupils, and well attended services in the new down-town preaching hall, are the encouraging features of this work.

PROPOSED NEW WORK.

There are in California thousands of Japanese living in small towns and camps where there are no Missions, and where they have no opportunity of hearing the Gospel in their own language. Our desire is to have an itinerating evangelist to visit these scattered groups distribute the Bread of Life, and to point out to these scattered sheep the way of salvation. The Bible Society will willingly pay the traveling expenses of such a worker. The $600 asked of our Board as the salary of such an evangelist would in all likelihood result in a harvest of souls. The work for the Japanese on the Pacific Coast is full of encouragement. About one in fifty of the Japanese here has made a public profession of Christ, while in Japan there is only one Protestant to every 600 inhabitants.

With 96 per cent. of the Japanese in our country unsaved, there is still a great work before us. It is the earnest desire of the Synod of California, that our Board should increase its efforts for the salvation of the Orientals who have found their way to our shores.

NEW YORK.

Rev. Huie Kin, in charge of the Chinese work in New York City, reports:

This is the third year since we entered our new home, 223-25 East Street, and the twenty-fifth anniversary of my coming to New York to enter upon missionary work among my people.

The year has been normal in its life and work: not a year of large numbers, nor marked by unusual events, but a year of well-sustained interest, work and spiritual growth. We have reason to be very grateful to our Heavenly Father for the many blessings that have come to us and for that which is to crown the year's work, the formation of the First Chinese Presbyterian Church of New York City, for which 38 have signed the petition for its formation.*

Ten young men were converted this year, one of whom expects to be baptized at the organization of the church. Five of our members have returned to China. Fifteen of our members are studying in institutions of learning. Two of our former members are superintendents of Missions in China. Six of our former members are now superintendents of Chinese Sunday-schools in Greater New York.

One of the Bible classes of the Sunday-school has organized a Chinese Layman's Movement. The New York Chinese Students' Club is a vigorous organization, with its headquarters at the Presbyterian Chinese Mission. The Chinese Athletic and Bowling Alliance Club is composed of more than twenty youths from Chinatown who attend the Sunday-school and other services of this Mission and hold its club meetings Saturday nights. A Chinese Bible class for Chinese women has been started with a Chinese lady as its teacher. A cradle roll has also been established.

We have been asked to establish an extra union preaching service at 11 or 12 o'clock for the Christians of different denominations in restaurant businesses who cannot attend the different Sunday-schools. More than three-score of the Government students visit the Mission. Dr. Arthur Brown says of these, "We would not ignore them if we wish to win the leaders of Asia for the service of Christ." The opportunities of this Mission are expanding greatly.

REPORT OF THE TREASURER

OF THE

BOARD OF FOREIGN MISSIONS OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IN THE U. S. A.

The financial operations of the Board of Foreign Missions show a surplus on the year's account of $20,003.44. For the third year in succession, the Board has been able to meet its current obligations and has not added to the old deficit, which at the end of 1908-09 stood at $105,000. Indeed this deficit at the beginning of 1910-11 had been reduced to $58,665.93. Applying the surplus of the year just closed, the books show a net deficit of $38,662.49. Thus, greatly enlarged appropriations have been met each year since the close of the fiscal year 1907-08, and approximately $67,000 of former obligations have been liquidated.

That the Board should be able at the beginning of a year to fix a sum for the twenty-eight Missions to use in their work during that year, which even when augmented by the necessary increases should prove to be $20,000 on the safe side of receipts, is remarkable, especially when we consider how large the amounts involved are, and how uncertain and varying the factors which go to make up the total obligation. The original appropriation was $1,284,120.56; the final appropriation, covering the whole year, was $1.670. 121.66. Between these two amounts lie the uncertain and incomputable factors, the amounts which cannot be gauged at the beginning of the year. The emergencies arising in the conduct of a work involving twenty-eight missions and a thousand missionaries scattered over the world necessarily require extra appropriations; these emergencies called for $153,500. The sending out of some sixty new missionaries and the salaries for their first year called for $62,500, while special appropriations on account of special gifts for purposes designated by the donors, amount to $170,000. To the appropriations must be added $28,401.36 paid out on Special Endowments, Contracts, etc., making a total Disbursement of $1,698,523.02, while Receipts, including income and other credits, totaled $1,718,526.46. These totals cannot justly be compared with the totals of the preceding year, as that year comprised eleven months only; but the disbursement is $195,000 larger than the total disbursement of 1908-09. Thus in two years the amount disbursed in its work by the Board has increased 13 per cent.

· This is perhaps a natural and normal growth. But we are in a business which cannot be held to merely natural or normal growth, nor by laws such as are found to govern the rate of advance in the commercial world: our business must be and is transcendent of human calculations which would fix the rate of expected progress. While adhering as a matter of course to the strictest business rules in the conduct of the work, we find that one cannot fix limits even in his own mind beyond which the enterprise of carrying the Gospel abroad may not go in any given time. In September, 1909, one would by natural and normal laws have estimated the Foreign Board's increase during the year to be somewhere between 5 and 10 per cent. In October, one month later, it became known to the world that there was to be an increase of receipts within a very brief period of more than 150 per cent. The bequest of Mr. John S. Kennedy to the Foreign Board of three sixty-fourths of his residuary estate, this share thus far having realized $2,250,000, was paid over to the Board on February 24, 1911. The payment consisted of the following:

Cash	954,375 00
at 129	580,500 00 187,500 00

There will be a small supplementary payment.

The Board recognized in this gift a peculiar responsibility and opportunity, and, after much deliberation and weighing many considerations, voted to devote the entire sum received to particularly designated purposes.* In order to do this effectively the amount of the bequest was not passed into the general Receipts of the Board through the channel of Legacies, but it was divided into four Funds, named in accordance with the purposes they are to serve, and these Funds were established on the Treasurer's books. The Funds are as follows:

Property and Building Fund	$800,000	00
Evangelistic Expansion Fund	621,428	57
Educational Equipment and Endowment Fund	621,428	57
Reserve Fund for Banking Purposes	207,142	86

These several amounts were arrived at by ascertaining first what minimum would be required to put the Board's present property on the foreign field in good order, and make such additions in land and buildings as seemed absolutely necessary for effective work. The Missions replied to the Board's letter asking for careful estimates on this point, that $3,600,000 would be needed. The allowance made from the bequest toward this estimate was, as stated, $800,000, of which $69,106.26 has been specifically appropriated. This Fund will suitably house the present missionary force and will provide the buildings and land most urgently called for. The balance of the bequest, after subtracting this Property Fund, was $1,450,000, which the Board divided into sevenths, assigning three-sevenths, or $621,428.57, to the Evangelistic Expansion Fund. This Fund, as its name implies, will serve to supplement the grants for direct evangelistic work and may be used, either capital or income, as the work develops and the Missions and the Board decide.

Three-sevenths, or $621,428.57, were assigned to the Educational Equipment and Endowment Fund; this Fund will serve the educational purposes of the work, but the amount now set aside will be regarded as endowment purely, the income alone being used where education most needs strengthening in order that a native Christian leadership may be more rapidly developed. The Board has made this Fund the nucleus and basis of a larger Fund which it is hoped will reach a total of $5,000,000. The larger Fund will bear the same name and be used for the same general purpose to the end that the educational program in the foreign field may be prosecuted without carrying it by the current yearly receipts. All estimates for expenditures from both these Funds are to be included as an integral part of the regular estimates for each new year, and appropriations will be made through the regular appropriation system.

One-seventh, or the remaining $207,142.86 of the bequest, was set aside in what is known as a Reserve Fund for Banking Purposes. For years the Board has felt the need of some such Fund and it was regarded as eminently fitting to strengthen its banking facilities with a part of the gift of Mr. Kennedy, who had long been desirous of having the Board's administrative expenses provided for as far as possible outside contributions. This Banking Fund will more than take care of interest charges on borrowings from the banks at times when contributions are not regularly remitted.

If we estimate the income from this $207,000 to be $10,000 yearly, it will mean that just so much of the administrative expense of the Foreign Board is endowed, and that contributions from living sources are relieved to just this extent. Add to this the net income from the Presbyterian Building of approximately $25,000 and we have $35,000, or nearly one-third of the Board's administrative expense provided by invested Funds. One might go further in this connection and contend that since the Board realizes more than $100,000 annually from legacies and devises,* the living sources of the Church are not taxed at all for the expense of administration.

Thus have plans been laid for the use of the magnificent bequest of Mr. Kennedy, and the Board stands to-day on the threshold of expenditures which will lift the Foreign Missionary enterprise of the Church to a higher and more efficient plane than it has ever hitherto attained. It is hoped that the Church will move forward in its own giving, in order that no diminution may be felt when the Funds which are planned to be spent shall have been exhausted, and when the work shall have been projected far beyond the present limits.

Turning to a comparison of regular receipts, exclusive of amounts received through legacies and miscellaneous gifts, it would manifestly be futile to compare the past year with the preceding one, inasmuch as that year had but eleven months. Comparing the year just closed with the fiscal year 1908-09 (two years ago), we find the church contributions have increased $81,269,84, an advance of 13.2 per cent.; Sunday-schools show a small decrease, or $1,759.50 less than two years ago-probably due to the fact that the Easter offerings were included at that time and could not be included this year; the total contributions from the Women's Boards decreased $5,540.62, but the decrease has been in legacies, not in contributions from living sources. All these sources of support are regular, and are relied upon for maintaining the work. If legacies and miscellaneous gifts should fail, these four organizations within the Church system would be expected to carry the Foreign enterprise of the Church. It is, therefore, interesting to note that, taken together, these four sources show a 6.5 per cent. increase in gifts in two years. Receipts from miscellaneous givers, those that were not contributed through any church organization, amounted this year to $228,308.71. Receipts from legacies were $222,837.25. These two sources of income together show a 19 per cent. increase over two years ago. If we take all these sources together, we find receipts have increased 9.7 per cent. in two years. So many and various factors enter into any calculation respecting the increase or decrease of gifts that it is hardly possible to fix causes for the results. Suffice it to say, the past year has not been one of typical American prosperity or activity in business; on the other hand, there has been a vast amount of new interest in foreign missions awakened in the home constituency, a good which will prove more lasting than the ill resulting from a temporary halting in business. We believe that the leaven of foreign missionary information and spiritual stimulus will work in widening circles and that this coming year will see no diminution of the interest already expressed throughout the land in the Church's work abroad

The Board finds itself in a far better financial position than that of a year ago. Its burden of obligations for the year has been comfortably discharged; past deficits have been reduced by $20,000 to a present net deficit of $38,000. The new year starts with the encouragement of an increase in appropriations, supplemented by Funds with which the regular work is to be splendidly fortified and advanced. The general assets of the Board have been much strengthened, and this entirely outside and in addition to the Kennedy bequest. Comparing the Investment Securities account with that of April, 1910, we find an increase of $149,476.25 exclusive of the Kennedy bequest securities. Of this amount approximately $83,600 represent new obligations in the form of new funds established for specific purposes, and $65,400 has been invested to strengthen the account and further secure the funds formerly established. While the item of interest on borrowings will be provided for in the future, as has already been explained, it would be vastly better if borrowings were not required at all. It seems a needless expenditure when careful planning and concerted action by the churches would obviate the difficulty. When systematic giving under the subscription method shall have become established, the Board will not have alternate seasons of prolonged dearth and abundance of cash. As it now is, the new fiscal year generally starts with some $300,000 of current funds in cash, but by July or August this has been exhausted. From that time until the middle of October, when the annual collections begin to be taken in the churches, cash must be borrowed at the banks in order to meet the requirements of the Missions.

The Board has been glad to enter into Special Gift Agreements with a number of givers during the year, paying a fair rate of interest on amounts given, during the lifetime of the donors. These gifts are in a measure a guarantee for the work in the future, and oftentimes are of great benefit and advantage to those placing their money with the Board. The agreements now in force with the Board amount to $304,502.56, approximately $96,000 having been added during 1910-11.

A number of friends have taken advantage this year of the opportunity to establish endowment funds for the benefit of some special part of the work abroad, or they have built buildings in connection with mission plants as memorials. The Board is always ready to co-operate with such friends in carrying out their expressed desires.

Recognizing the marked increase in interest shown especially by laymen in the finances of mission work, the Treasurer would direct attention to the carefully prepared schedules in the following pages.

The Balance Sheet will reveal the financial strength of the Board.

Schedule 2 shows Receipts and Disbursements by items.

Schedule 3 gives an itemized list of appropriations for the various fields.

Schedule 4 gives these appropriations by classes. These classes define the different kinds of work prosecuted on the field.

Schedule 5 is an itemized analysis of disbursements by the New York office, including those for Administration.

Schedules 6 and 7 show the Investment Securities held by the Board.

Schedule 8 gives the results of the operation of the Presbyterian Building.

Schedules 9 and 10 show the Endowment Funds held by the Board.

Schedule II shows the gifts made toward the erection of the Presbyterian Building, on which the Board is still paying an annual rate of 4 per cent.

Receipts and Disbursements for the work for the past ten years are to be found in Schedules 12 and 13.

Schedule 14 is made up of Receipts and Disbursements in the form requested by the Committee of the Assembly.

Certain comparisons of contributions from church organizations will be found in Schedules 15, 16 and 17.

Schedule 18 shows what proportion of the contributions came in during the four respective quarters of the year.

Following these Schedules will be found complete lists giving the amount of contributions from each of the several church organizations for the year, and every gift received through a legacy or from a "miscellaneous" source.

As has been the custom for a number of years, the auditing firm of Patterson, Teele & Dennis, of New York, have examined the books and accounts of the Treasurer's office, and a copy of their certificate will be found on a succeeding page.

WM. E. STIGER, Esq., Chairman Finance Committee, Board of Foreign Missions, New York.

SIR :-

We have examined the accounts and vouchers of the Treasurer of your Board for the year ending March 31, 1911.

The cash and securities have been verified, either by actual count or evidence of deposit, and found in accord with the book records.

We have verified the total receipts for the year, as shown by the Counterfoil Receipt books, and have ascertained that all of the moneys shown therein have been properly accounted for.

The statements of disbursements by Field Treasurers for the fiscal year just closed have not been received in New York at this date, consequently the deficit shown by the Balance Sheet is subject to change, according as the expenditures have been more or less than the appropriations for the past year.

We have verified the Balance Sheet herewith with the books and accounts, and, subject to the statement concerning the Field Treasurers' Reports for the fiscal year, the Balance Sheet, in our opinion, presents the correct financial condition of the Board.

Respectfully submitted,

PATTERSON, TEELE & DENNIS,
